KNUTZEN DREAM BECOMES
REALITY NEXT WEDNESDAY

The wishes of a PLU benefactor will come true Wednesday when radio station KPLU-FM goes on the air.

In 1951 the late Chris Knutzen, a PLU regent from Burlington, gave the University a radio studio as a part of Eastvold Chapel which was then under construction. Knutzen then expressed the hope that some day the studio which bears his name would be the home of a radio station.

KPLU-FM, owned and operated by PLU, will be an educational station whose object will be to serve the community with top quality information and musical programs. A 10 watt station, it will broadcast four hours daily, Monday through Friday, from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m.

KNIGHTS CLOSE OUT SEASON AGAINST WILLAMETTE SATURDAY

The chance to finish in a tie for third place in Northwest Conference play will be the incentive for the Pacific Lutheran University gridders when they travel to Salem Saturday to tangle with the Willamette University Bearcats. A PLU win would give them a 2-2-2 league mark as over against a 3-3 record for Willamette.

Saturday's 1:30 homecoming game in Willamette's McCulloch Stadium will be the final one of the season for both teams and will mark the first time the two schools have met in football competition.

Coach Roy E. Carlson of PLU lauded the offensive play of quarterback Tony Lister and the defensive work of line-backer Gary Nelson in last Saturday's game against Lewis & Clark which the Lutes lost, 33-13. Lister, who will be playing his final game this week, hit on 15 of 28 passes for 148 yards and one touchdown. He also scored a six-pointer. Nelson, also a graduating senior, made 11 tackles and had 3 assists in another sterling defensive performance.

Other seniors on the PLU team are tackle and co-captain Bob Krieger, corner linebacker and offensive end Art Hooper, and defensive end Oliver Johnson.

Freshman end Vic Eaton hauled in seven aerials last week to bring his total to 27 catches and 275 yards to lead the Lutes in that department. Lee Davidson, freshman halfback, is the leading ball toter with 275 net yards in 52 carries for a 5.3 average. Right behind him is Ken Harding with 242 yards in 60 carries for a 4 yard average. Harding has an excellent average in the kickoff return department. He has returned 15 boots for a total of 431 yards, an average of 28.7.

Ankle injuries sidelined Johnson and defensive back Owens Ray last week, but they are expected to be ready this week. Freshman quarterback Grant Spencer reinjured his throwing hand early in the Lewis & Clark contest, and may not be able to see any duty on offense, but he will be able to play defensive half.

SCIENCE PROGRAM RECEIVES GRANT FROM RESEARCH CORP.

To assist Pacific Lutheran University in strengthening its science program, the Research Corporation, a New York education foundation, has given PLU a grant of $198,567.

In making the announcement Friday,
President Robert Mortvedt of PLU stated that the three-year grant will enable the University to add eight science professors, reduce teaching loads so that professors can do more research, and increase the interdisciplinary character of its science education programs.

Dr. Mortvedt stated that the University will invest $271,091 of its own funds over a five-year period in the program.

Dr. Hal H. Ramsey of San Francisco, west coast representative for the Research Corporation, stated here that these Frederick Gardner Cottrell grants are made to schools which have sound plans for significant upgrading of quality in the sciences. "They must also have the capability and determination to carry out the plans and the strength in other academic departments to match the advances planned in the sciences," he said.

He added that research orientation is a major factor in the grants program and that schools selected must have plans for improvement of their science facilities.

PLU's program to strengthen its science offerings is headed up by Dr. Charles D. Anderson, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and Dr. Sherman B. Nornes, Associate Professor of Physics, assisted by the science faculty.

Faculty additions which will be made during the next three years include two physicists, two biologists, two mathematicians, one chemist and one geo-scientist. A full-time stockroom supervisor also will be hired.

Part of the grant ($44,000) will be used for research equipment and literature, and PLU will also contribute toward this expansion. But the bulk of the funds will be for salaries.

By reducing teaching loads the program will enhance research programs being conducted by faculty and their students and will make (continued on page 4)

SCHOOL OF MURSING GETS $35,000 GRANT

The School of Nursing at Pacific Lutheran University has received a grant of $35,000 for graduate nurse traineeships from the U. S. Public Health Service, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In making the announcement Tuesday President Robert Mortvedt of PLU stated that the grant will provide traineeships for 15 graduate nurses working for their baccalaureate degree in nursing.

Mrs. R. Eline Morken, director of the School of Nursing, said that the grant provides for full tuition costs, plus a monthly stipend of $200.00 for each graduate nurse who qualifies during the senior year in the school. "A nurse must be able to complete her work for a degree within the grant year," she added.

The grant to PLU is for a three-year program. PLU may issue four traineeships for the current year, five next year and six in 1968-69.

Mrs. Morken stated that this program enables graduate nurses to upgrade their educational preparation for positions of leadership in local hospitals and health agencies. She said that 25 graduate nurses are currently enrolled at PLU, and that 12 of them are full-time students.

KARL TAKING 12 DEBATERS TO OREGON U. TOURNAMENT

Prof. Theodore O. H. Karl (speech) is taking 12 debaters to Eugene, Ore. for the annual University of Oregon Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Topic for debate this year is: "Resolved that the U. S. Should Substantially Reduce Its Foreign Policy Commitment."

Students who will compete for PLU are Lynn Still, Lavonne Holden, Jim Henderson,
Don Gumprecht, Steve Morrison, Harry
Wicks, Henry Coates, Kathy Collins,
- 3 - Barbara Thompson, Lynne Moody and Cindy Moffitt.

In addition to debate the students will compete in oratory, extempore, interpretative reading and expository speaking.

possible the addition of further research activities.

Last year PLU started a program of interdisciplinary study in chemistry and physics. This interrelating of both teaching and research activities will be expanded to include all departments in the sciences. "This gives students a broader scientific base," Dr. Anderson explained, "and provides superior preparation for present and future varieties of research. Also, these cooperative approaches will aid and stimulate faculty members in the conduct of their work and will permit the University to make optimal use of its resources for scientific equipment and laboratories."

No appreciable expansion of the mathematics and science curriculum is anticipated. The major changes will be in the curriculum content rather than in the number of courses offered.

Dr. Mortvedt announced that PLU is planning an expansion of its present science facilities to meet the demands of the science strengthening program and the increased enrollment. An addition to Ramstad Hall is on the drawing boards, and it is expected that the physical expansion, which will cost well over $1 million, will be completed in 1969.

BETTY PARSONS COLLECTION ON DISPLAY IN CUB GALLERIES

The famous Betty Parsons collection of 63 drawings is on display in the art galleries in the College Union Building at Pacific Lutheran University. The gallery is open daily from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The Parsons collection from New York, assembled during the 1940's and 50's, reflects the phenomenal post World War II activity in America that was generated by the works of such avant-garde artists as Pollock, Rothko, Gottlieb and Guston. It also includes the adventurous spirit of Betty Parsons, one of the champions of abstract art. Her role in the development of American Art has been a major contribution.

The exhibit favors abstractions because of the abundance of work that was produced in this idiom during the time the collection was formed. There is also a diversity of styles from the international scene, including those of Rodin, Marini and Armitage.

The station is a member of the National Education Radio network, the only station in the area with this service. Through its ties with NER, the PLU station will offer programs featuring interviews with the top scientific, political, religious and educational leaders of the world. The network also furnishes outstanding musical programs by symphonies and ensembles from the United States and European countries.

A regular feature from 7:00 to 8:30 daily will be the "The Evening Concert Hour," featuring classical music.

The station will go on the air at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday with a dedicatory opening program. President Robert Mortvedt will throw the switch putting the station on the air and will speak briefly.

Prof. T. O. H. Karl, chairman of the PLU speech department, is manager of the station. Paul Steen is program director and his assistant is Judd Doughty. The chief engineer is David Christian.

LIBRARY MOVE

The following items from the office of Frank Haley gives us some advance information on the moving from the old to the new library. As his memorandum explains, classes will be seriously disrupted on Monday, December 5, and to a lesser extent on Tuesday, December 6. We all realize the importance of the effort, I am sure, and I know the library staff can expect our cooperation and support.

T. H. Langevin

Moving to new library quarters in the middle of a semester could result in severe dislocation of services to your classes.

The following steps are recommended:

- 1. By November 15 expand your Reserve lists to include every title you want your students to read, all, or in part, during the remainder of the first semester. It will take six weeks to straighten up after the move. Many volumes will be temporarily lost and unobtainable. Don't take a chance! Get everything relevant on Reserve status. See Mrs. Bemis or clerks at circulation counter.
- 2. Get all topics assigned for term papers by November 15. Urge your students to get their bibliographic work done prior to Thanksgiving and to BORROW their material just AFTER Thanksgiving and prior to the move December 5.

Classes will be disrupted all day
Monday, December 5, and a small portion on Tuesday, December 6, for the move into the new library. The students will be expected to report to their classes where they will receive instructions from their professors.
Then they will report to pre-assigned areas in the old library.

The participation and complete cooperation of their professors will encourage participation on the part of the students. Without this total participation of students, the move would be very costly and defor opening until January. During this period it would also cause unnecessary disruption of library service. The students only task (continued on page 6)

DEFENSE DOCUMENTATION CENTER

Technical Abstracts Bulletin and their Indexes, a service made available through the Defense Documentation Center, are available for faculty and research scholars use. Requests placed through the librarians - will bring without cost copies of any report on your government sponsored research.

The subjects on which research is in progress include: Aeronautics, Agriculture, Astronomy, Atmospheric Sciences, Behavioral and Social Sciences, Biological and Medical Science, Chemistry, Earth Science and Oceanography, Electronics, Materials, Mathematical Sciences, Methods and Equipment, Military Science, Missile Technology, Navigation and Communications, Nuclear Science and Technology, Ordnances, Physics, Propulsion and Fuels for Space Technology.

A further service that is available is the preparation of a bibliography of these reports on a chosen subject. This is done thru data processing so choice of key words must conform to their Subject Heading.

We are now receiving a newer publication of similiar type but with slightly different coverage, "Government-Wide Index." This is a single reference guide to Unclassified Government sponsored research and development in Physical Science, Engineering and Technology. Related to this is the "Technical Translations" which provides order information for translated scientific and technical reports, periodicals and books, (most of the material of Soviet, Eastern and Western Europe, and Oriental origin).

These services vastly expand our resources and access to Research reports. Consult the librarian on duty regarding use.

POETRY CONTEST

The 1967 Kansas City Poetry Contests were announced October 15 by Thorpe Menn, Literary Editor of the Kansas City Star, and Herbert Plotsky, Chairman of the American Poetry Series of the Jewish Community Center.

The contests which this year will offer $1600.00 in prizes include the Devins Memorial Award of $500.00 as cash royalties on a book length poem to be published by the University of Missouri Press, plus an appearance in the 1967-68 American Poets Series. The Hallmark Honor Prizes - six $100.00 for single poems submitted by full time college students. The Kansas City Star Awards - four $100.00 prizes for single poems. The H. J. Sharp Prizes - four $25.00 prizes for single poems for high school students.

As the contest enters its third year, thousands of entries are again anticipated from the regional and nation wide contests. Last year there were entries from 46 states including Alaska and Hawaii.

All the entries are judged anonymously by outstanding national literary figures and the winners of all contests will be announced by Richard Wilbur at the final readings of the American Poets Series at the Jewish Community Center on April 27, 1967.

A copy of the contest rules may be obtained by sending a self-addressed envelope to Poetry Contest Directors, P. O. Box 8501, Kansas City, Missouri 64114.

These services vastly expand our resources and access to Research reports. Consult the librarian on duty regarding
