TV Specials Available For Campus Use

For the first time in the history of instructional films, television specials will be made available to the educational community immediately upon broadcast through the formation of the NBC National Educational Film Library, Judd Doughty, director of broadcast services, announced this week.

The library has been formed through an agreement with 12 of the country's major educational film libraries. Under the agreement, NBC Educational Enterprises will provide them with prints of up to ten NBC Television Network specials selected specifically for their maximum instructional value.

The NBC News one-hour special, "Who Killed Lake Erie?" has been selected as the first NBC-TV special to be made available through the facilities of the NBC National Educational Film Library. "Who Killed Lake Erie?" which was colorcast on the NBC Television Network Friday, September 12, 1969, graphically depicts the pollution of Lake Erie, the results of pollution and what is being done about it.

In effect, the presentation of these films on the NBC Television Network will be a national preview for educators around the country.

For further information regarding television materials feel free to contact Judd Doughty on ext. 269.

The curtain will open on Prince Armand, who must choose a queen. In the process of choosing he is transformed into a beast by a wily magician whose daughter desires to be the Prince's wife.

In an ingenious and suspenseful ending, Beauty breaks the spell and the Prince is himself again.

Children's Theatre was organized and is directed by Eric Nordholm (drama).

WASHINGTON STATE ARTS COMMISSION
COMMENDS PLU ON JOFFREY RESIDENCY

A resolution from the Washington State Arts Commission commending PLU for its support of the Joffrey Ballet residency was received this week.

The resolution read: "The Washington State Arts Commission commends most heartily the administration and staff of Pacific Lutheran University for its support of the residency and performances of the Joffrey Ballet. The remarkable assistance by PLU in providing facilities for residence training and performance of the Joffrey Company and its students, is noteworthy. Even more commendable is its provision of an ambience in which the art of dance is visibly and excitingly flourishing in this region. We note the cooperative and progressive attitudes of (former president) Dr. Mortvedt, Clayton Peterson (v.p. dev.) and Dr. Moe (dean, prof. studies) in making the continuing residency possible. We urge President Wiegman to continue and to enhance this program as well as the other cultural enterprises which make unique the place of Pacific Lutheran University in the arts of the Northwest."

PLU Enrollment Reaches Record High In 1969

PLU's 1969-70 full-time enrollment has reached a record high, according to figures released Tuesday by the registrar's office.

Total full-time enrollment, excluding 30 Teacher Corps trainees who are now considered part-time students, is 2,210 for the current school year, up 4.7 per cent over last year's full-time enrollment of 2,111.

Almost half of the total increase was realized in a record freshman enrollment of 668, a 7.6 per cent increase over last year's 621 enrollment figure. The second largest single increase was in enrollment of senior men, where the increase was 37 over last year, an increase of 12.8 per cent.

The graduate study program is also up substantially, while a slight decrease was recorded in number of part-time students. There was an understandable drop in sophomore enrollment, reflecting the difference between last year's freshman enrollment and the former record freshman enrollment recorded in 1967.

Total number of students on campus this semester, both full and part time, is 2,765.

Lutes Win 3rd Straight; Lewis & Clark 17-0 Victim

Coach Roy Carlson's Lutes won their third straight game and their sixth victory in the past seven games with a 17-0 shut-out of the Lewis and Clark Pioneers Saturday.

It took a couple of quarters to unravel the slanting Pioneer defense, but the Lutes took over as the second half began. Sophomore quarterback Jim Hadland ran a keeper for the Lutes' first score in the third quarter, and then engineered two more drives in the fourth quarter which resulted in a Gary Hammer field goal and a Dave Halstead touchdown. cont. page 6

Hadland enjoyed his best collegiate passing day, hitting on 16 of 26 passes for 168 yards. His prime receiver was Vic Eaton, who pulled in eight of the Hadland aeri-als.

This Saturday the Lutes tangle with the Linfield Wildcats in a game many have billed as the clash between Northwest Conference title favorites. The game will be played in McMinnville, Ore., beginning at 1:30 p.m.

PLU has been up for Linfield the past two years. In 1967 the winless Lutes almost upset the undefeated Wildcats before succumbing 24-21. Last year the Wildcats were also undefeated and the Lutes had yet to win. The result: A 7-7 tie.

Tomorrow the situation is reversed. PLU enters the game undefeated in three starts. Linfield has a 2-1 record.
