New Profs. Join Staff As Fall Term Begins

By Phyllis Grahn

Five new faculty members have assumed their duties with the opening of the school year. Two others, the Rev. T. O. Svare, who was an exchange teacher in Norway under the Fulbright Act last year, and Dr. Otilie Elise Little, professor of German, who was on a year's leave of absence, have returned.

In his position as business manager,

Edward Jacobson will assume some of the duties of Dr. S. C. Eastvold, who since 1943 has been not only the president of the college, but also the business manager. Besides being treasurer of St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minnesota, Mr. Jacobson collected the college income, supervised the accounting and office, was secretary of the finance committee of the board of trustees and financial adviser for three student publications. Jacobson graduated from St. Olaf in 1922 and also studied at the University of Minnesota. A son, Jack, is a student at PLC this year.

Back at Pacific Lutheran for the third time—this time as an associate professor of history—is Dr. Walter G. Schnackenberg. He returns to Parkland from Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where he has been teaching in the history and political science departments of Augustana College. Schnackenberg first arrived at PLC as a student in 1935. After completing the two-year liberal arts program then offered, he transferred to St. Olaf to finish his work for the bachelor of arts degree. In 1939-40 he studied at the University of Minnesota. In 1942, he was returned to PLC as an instructor and dean of men. After two years, he received a commission in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Released from the Navy in 1946, Schnackenberg completed work for the master's degree at Gonzaga and the doctor's degree at Washington State College. The new faculty member is the father of three children—all girls.

The new assistant professor of economics and business administration is Dr. James E. Jensen of Madison, Wisconsin, who completed his work for the doctor of philosophy degree this year at the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Jensen also received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees at Wisconsin. Between 1950 and 1952 he taught courses in finance and economic principles at the University of Wisconsin, and was a research assistant for the state legislative council. The new professor is married and was raised as a member of the Wisconsin Lutheran Synod.

Student Body Buys Television for SUB

Recently purchased with student body funds was the 1953 super-deluxe Zenith table model television set seen in the upper lounge of the Student Union building. The set is another addition to the recreational facilities being installed there for student use.

Obtained from Pochel Distributing Co., 140th and Pacific, the new model was installed free of charge by Gene Pochel, a sophomore at PLC. Gene was assisted in the roof-top aerial Sheffield.

Unfortunately, the set, installed last Friday, was "on the blink" the next morning and had to be removed for repair work on the high voltage tubes. It is now back in operation.

Coming TV highlights are Saturday direct-wire football games and the World Series. Paul Wangsmo, student body president, emphasizes that girls are welcome, too. He says the set is of the type that needs no adjustments by budding technicians beyond the turning of the "on and off" knob. If all works out according to plan, comfortable chairs will soon be installed for television fans.

PLC Mooring Mast To Have New Look

This issue of the Mooring Mast will be the last edition run at the present five column, 14-inch size. The announcement was made today by John Osburn, new Mast editor-in-chief. With an increased allotment of $1.50 per student over last year's one dollar, the Mast will be able to expand to six columns, 19 inches deep.

The change in format was delayed until next week, inasmuch as the paper is currently operated by only a skeleton crew. However, since "the presses must roll," the Mast launches its publishing year today.

As editor, Osburn succeeds another Seattle junior, Dave Nesvig, who remains on the staff as managing editor. Into the newly-created position of news editor steps Don Keith, a third junior from the Queen city, and Betty Riggers, Gilford, Idaho, senior. Frosh Walt Schwinde, Spokane, begins his career on the weekly as business manager.

The feature staff has been bolstered by the addition of Dale Keller, Glenn Werner, and Bob Brog, with their variety column, "Caught in the Web." Phyllis Grahn, ex-assistant editor, has chosen to be proof editor. Though other department heads have not yet been selected, there will be a large group to choose from. At Tuesday's staff meeting, some 20 new students indicated their desire to work on the paper.

All students are welcome to LSA, invites Chairman Hal "We have planned this outdoor Roundup to accommodate everyone Sunday nite."

LSA Sponsors Roundup Sunday

"Friendship Roundup," featuring Dr. S. C. Eastvold, punch, cookies, games, and good times on the outdoor location known as Powder Puff Bowl has been announced by program chairman Hal Ruddick as the first regular meeting of Lutheran Students Association.

The Roundup starts at 6 p.m. Sunday, the last night of daylight saving time, with group singing, a girls' trio and the inspirational address on the evening's theme by Dr. Eastvold. Mixer games, refreshments and traditional Friendship circle will close the event.

Alums Open SUB Office

Something new for PLC—a separate, distinct and functioning Alumni Association office.

For years many members of the alumni have been working separately at the task of building up an alumni mailing list that could be used to bring the college and its alumni and former students into closer relationship.

Last year these files so obtained were taken over by Roy Olson, and his Public Relations office. Roy found these files rather inadequate as a great many changes take place every year. And as the college has to have the backing of a strong and loyal alumni in order to prosper, it was decided by the Alumni Board to establish its own office at the college, with an executive secretary and sufficient office help to attain the desired objectives.

This office plans to cooperate with the Public Relations office under the guidance of Roy Olson, and also with the Mooring Mast and other functions. (Continued on Page 4)

Eastvold Greet New Lutes

May I greet this fine new body of students in the words of ancient Cornelius, "And thou hast done well that thou are come" (Acts 10:33).

We have on many occasions, in public and in private, extended the glad hand of welcome to all new students as well as to new faculty people, and at the same time we have had exchange of greetings with many who have been here before.

We are looking forward to this year with sincere belief that it will be the finest year we have ever had. We have a great college with faculty, students, and equipment, plus thousands of supporting friends, all of which adds up to put us among the finest colleges in America.

May I say again, "Thou hast done well that thou are come."

Elwood Is Third PLC Rieke

Baseball has its DiMaggios, the theatre its Barrymores, and PLC its Riekes. The first of the Rieke clan, Betty Lou, graduated from PLC in 1948. Another, Bill, is presently number one man on the college debate

Clubs Plan "Nite"

"Club Night," the night when all students, especially freshmen and transfers, will have a chance to learn about the various organizations on campus, will be held Saturday night at 7:30 in the Student Union building recreation room," according to Paul Wangsmo, student body president.

Led by Rich Stuhmiller, the program will consist of a series of skits of approximately three minutes in length, in which the organizations will give the student an opportunity to see what each campus club stands for. They will, of course, encourage membership.

"The main part of the program should not take more than about an hour and it will be followed by refreshments served by the student body," commented Wangsmo.

Everyone is welcome to attend, freshmen, transfer student, or not.

Frosh Have Hectic Time

With seven tests during the first three days of orientation week, this year's batch of freshmen were introduced to college life.

Their purpose is to gain a better understanding of the individual, in order that proper guidance may be given concerning academic and social problems. Through these exams, many difficulties and failures that arise during a student's campus days, can be eliminated with counseling from the faculty. The freshmen could only gain by taking them.

Dean Eklund, who was assisted by Robert Nistad and Joyce Geaz, expressed his appreciation to Alpha Phi Omega, Blue Key, and Spurs for their faithful service during this project. "With their aid we were able to have the tests taken, sent to Seattle and scored, charted and in the hands of the advisers by Friday morning of the same week."

The sophomore class is also sponsoring activities for the frosh, but not entirely for their benefit. Initiation week, which was postponed, begins Monday and will feature some entertaining stunts by the frosh. Beans have already been purchased and some 300 of them will be seen covering the campus.

FLASH!!

Paul Arlton will show his movie "PLC on Parade" tonight at 7:30 in the upper SUB. The charge is free, gratis, and for nothing.

EDITORIAL

Every year at about this time the same two subjects arise over which we must rebuke ourselves and appeal to our maturity to correct. The crux of the issue is that we're getting exceedingly tired of asking for the type of cooperation that should be taken for granted for a group of straight-thinking Christian college men and women.

The first of these hackneyed problems is concerned with parking. The yellow curbed area in front of the campus is not a parking zone. Across Park avenue from Old Main are two large parking lots, providing sufficient space to answer that problem. According to Emily Post, considered by some to be fairly well versed in etiquette, it is perfectly alright for a girl to cross the street to her door if she is accompanied by her gallant escort.

The second crisis arises periodically 3 times a day at meal time. A comparison of this with former years will show that the all-time live-length records have been shattered within the last few days. After standing for seemingly hours in the heat below all of us must have reached the same conclusion as to others we're crashing in front of us. Yet why isn't that applied to our own specific cases? Just a little common sense will show us the trouble caused to others by our acts.

In short, two problems exist which in a college of our stature have no place. None of us want to be considered sheep, blindly following any leader on errant paths—let's become mature leaders in an adult organization.

We All Have to Go Sometime, But After All, in Only One Summer . . .

Upon completion of Mooring Mast statistics it was found that an alarming number of P.L.C. students and graduates from the preceding year have succumbed to the lure of 'I amour'. A quick review of the list shows fully 30 couples this summer said the fatal words or promised to do so in the near future.

Heading the list of the newly coupled pairs, by virtue of taking advantage of the first day of the Bride's Month, are Kathy Reule and Jason Bee. Also breathing a permanent type of sweet nothings to each other that month were Pat Pobst and Bob Curtis, on the 14th, Gwen Hovey and Rick Daniels, on the 29th, Phyllis Isvick and George Nowadnick; also the 29th, Millie Forster and Lt. Adalbert Topple; the 15th, June Humphries and and Helen Jensen and Larry Hauger on the 22nd. During the following month the only recorded "O Do's" were said by Jeanette and Bob Lester. Along came August and with it our went Amy Brown and Phil Thorliefson, Anne Knorr and Al Daniels (brother of the aforementioned Rick), Harriet Cook and Murray Martin, and Louise Stephenson and Bob Miencke. In September appropriate ceremonies solved the last name confusion for Joanne Wall and Larry Holme, Elaine Harms and Lawrence Schuh, Lois Snyder and John Lawler, and Cordy Proctor and Stan Kvern.

Also receiving certificates of merit for vow repetition this summer were Anne Wick and Dick Johnson, Elaine Sæthre and Bob Durkheimer, June Nystrom and Fred Wikner, Mary Larson and Gay Ness, and Margaret Kutz and Bob Nisjad.

Not yet done for, but definitely out of circulation, are the engaged couples, Mary Holmquist and Dave Knutson, Marcene Vohe and Bill Vaswig, Iris Wittingham and Ed Donovan, Charlotte La Qua and Bill Tollefson, Rosella Abrecht and Otto Wick, Joan

Caught In THE WEB

While exercising our spider legs through the greener than last year's campus, the "Web Members" noticed many more new faces than usual.

Immediately we took a survey of 553 returning students and politely asked their opinion of this year's freshman class. The results were as follows: 499 said it was none of our business, 23 and 4's were indifferent, 4 couldn't understand the question, 21 refused to answer, on coffee errands, 2 voted for Eisenhower, and the rest "Oh yes," did you hear about the be that married a door bell? They had a number."

We are happy to see Bob Ross's cousin from Sedro Wooley, Incoherent, turning out for quarterback this year.

Incoherent is 2-foot, 2.493 pounds, but he missed the CPS game due to a serious case of athlete's foot—in the small of the back.

Rumor has it that Betty Brown fell into a lens grinding machine and made a spectacle of herself.

This week's orchids go to the "Web" naturally, for their capitalistic adventure in a poultry farm. (Two chickens, result, one egg)

Onions go to Mr. Karl for buying aspirin with chlorophyll. He complained of a stinking headache.

Speaking of the election, we understand that Mattress is a sleeper this year.

FLASH! Schultz just had a stroke. Snuff chewed for now,

The Bilgewater Brothers. P.S.—Some of these freshmen are so dumb about world affairs, they think the "Kremlin" is a hair tonic.

Who will win the prize for the most unique entertainment? Who on campus has the most pep? Who on campus has the most school spirit?

Come to the A.W.S. Pep Rally next Friday evening, Oct. 4, and find out the answers.

Anyone can enter the Campus Pep Parade down Garfield. Judging will be done by campus notables. So, let's get behind our team when we play the Western Vikings and support them by turning out for the pep rally.

General chairman for the event is Joyce Genz, and she will be assisted by Kathy Henrichs, Janet Carson and Edith Engel. Watch the bulletin boards for further details.

News at a Glance

ALPHA PHI OMEGA MM
Commencing Monday evening, the initiation of pledges into Alpha Phi Omega, National Service Fraternity for men, will open the local chapter's heavy schedule of social and service projects for the fall term.

A large turnout of prospective members at an open meeting last night "promises an early development of our fall program," predicted Dick Borrud, APO president. Plans presently include pledging week Sept. 29 through Oct. 4, formal initiation and party for the pledges, members and dates on Oct. 10, blood drive Oct. 13-16, steak fry Oct. 25, a trip to Ellensburg, Wash., for the Western States APO convention in October, and an all campus contest Nov. 3-7.

The Big and Little Sister Tea, sponsored by AWS, was held Thursday afternoon, September 25.

Background music for the semi-formal event was provided by June Nelson, Marilyn Hanich and Jeanette Foss.

Mr. Theodore Schaffer, retired biologist of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, will address the Pacific Northwest Bird and Mammal society in science hall at eight o'clock tomorrow evening. Though he is retired, Mr. Schaffer is still remembered for his work in the Columbia Basin.

At this, the society's initial fall meeting, Dr. A. V. Alton, former professor of biology at PLC, will demonstrate his apparatus for imitation of bird sounds. Dr. Alton has worked extensively on the wild life of this area, and also of the Middle West.

Dr. Burton Ostenson, PLC biology professor and secretary of the PNB & MS, cordially welcomes all students who are interested in biology to attend the meeting.

A contest to choose the theme for this year's Homecoming activities has been announced by Marilyn Mykklebust and Vern Newhouse, co-chairmen of the event. Since the celebration will culminate in a football contest with the Eastern Washington Savages, November 8, the winning idea will have to consider the opponent's nickname as well as the return of PLC alumni.

Further information will be posted next week along with the opening date for entries.

The Women's Athletic Association will leave by bus at 1:30 Sunday, Sept. 28, for a trip to Mt. Rainier. A hike and a picnic supper has been planned by the officers of W.A.A., Ellen Hesen, Winona Kroeger, Kathy Biery, and Donna Simpkins.

The W.A.A. is open to all women students interested in sports as recreational activity. Any girl interested in this is invited to attend the meetings.

With Pi Kappa Delta's annual Student Congress coming up October 25, Bill Rieke, PKD president, recently appointed John Osburn this year's congress director. This event is sponsored each fall as a forensic event for high school students. The prepsters met in formal parliamentary session to discuss a number of important national issues. Assistant director of the contest is Alan Hatlen.

A board meeting of the Washington State Division of the American Association of University Women will be held in the CMS building on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m.

On Saturday the state workshops of this organization will be held in the library and CMS buildings.

More Coeds Means Another Remodeling of Old Main

"Old Main" underwent another of its frequent remodelings last summer as PLC officials tried desperately to accommodate this year's record number of on-campus students. Lodging space for 50 more women was made available in Main dorm, but even that was not enough, with an increased number of women students enrolled.

During the early thirties, there were as few as seven women living in the dormitory. In the fall of 1945, there were 42, and by last fall, the number has rocketed to 189. Main now houses 250.

Anticipating some rise in the number of co-eds, the administration converted the three classrooms and the typing room on Main second floor into dormitory rooms housing 30 additional women. Another classroom was converted into a beautiful lounge, the fifth on the campus. The annex building which, before the days of the Chapel - Music - Speech building served as music practice rooms, has also been remodeled to house 10 more girls. Some students have begun to wonder if Delta Phi Kappa, dorm girls' society, is going to be forced to establish branch offices.

The men, too, are having their dwelling problems. With Ivy Hall, Clover Creek Hall, and the government surplus buildings providing abode for only a minimum number of men and married students, more than 60 homes in Parkland have afforded shelter for otherwise homeless Lutes.

The hope of the college is that funds can be obtained to begin work on the proposed women's dormitory. When the new project is completed, Main dorms will be turned into facilities for the men.

Taking Miss Elsie Berge's place is Miss Kazuyee Takei, assistant in economics and business administration. She has been a graduate assistant at the University of Washington and has been teaching classes in shorthand, typewriting and office machines. Miss Takei received her bachelor of arts degree from the university in 1950. She has completed her course work for the master of arts degree and expects to have it conferred during the current year. Besides her academic training, she has worked as a secretary for eight years.

Carl Tandberg of Bregneveien, Oslo, joined the faculty as an exchange professor this year. He will teach in the Norwegian department, replacing Karl J. Skarsvik, exchange professor of last year, who could stay only one year under the provisions of the Fulbright Act. He is a graduate of the Bestheim School at Oslo and has been a lecturer at the University of Oslo.

Football Opens Fall Intramural Sports Slate

Tough football will raise the curtain on 1952-53 intramural sports activities, Director Mark Salzman announced yesterday.

On Monday, October 6 the round-robin schedule will get under way with contests to be played on the Lute practice field.

The intramurals will be divided into six teams, one less than last year. Districts represented will be Tacoma, Eastern, Central, and Western Parkland, Clover Creek ~~High and Juv. High~~. A seventh division, Suburban will not field a team this season; its members will be equally divided among the other six squads.

A team trophy will again be awarded for the most points over the course of the year. Points are awarded for order of team finish and also for individual events. Central Parkland won the trophy last year.

Included in the 1952-53 slate of intramural activities are: football, basketball, baseball, track, volleyball, badminton, tennis, and horseshoes.

"The intramural program is designed to give every student a chance to participate in his favorite athletic activity," Salzman commented.

What's With This Heinrick Hex, Anyway?

"The Heinrick Hex" held on only one play, but it was enough, as the CPS Loggers downed the Gladiators, 7 to 0 in a King's-X tilt last Saturday night in Lincoln Bowl.

That one play was a 31 yard pass from Art "The Arm" Vialore to end Joe Retallick in the closing minutes of the first half. Vialore faded back to pass on the fourth down, evaded a quartet of PLC linemen, and completed the T. D. heave. Wally Erwin added the point after touchdown.

A crowd of some 5,000 fans saw the John Heinrick aggregation win their seventh contest with the Lutes since 1947, against two ties.

Neither team broke any yardage records, with PLC gaining the edge on the ground, 142 to 140 yards and CPS leading in the passing department, 50 yards to 6 for the Glads. Both outfits earned 13 first downs.

Don Chesterfield on offense and Roger Larson on defense turned in top-drawer performances for the Gladiators, while Wally Erwin and Spike Schrette looked the best for the Loggers.

Entries are now being taken for a one-ball mixed pairs golf tournament sponsored by the physical education department. Play will begin a week from today.

Features of this tourney is that only mixed pairs, that is, a boy and girl, can enter. Partners will alternate strokes during the match, with the lowest score total determining the winner. It will be a single elimination affair.

Students interested in entering should give their names together Mrs. Young or Mr. Salzman. Mrs. Young emphasized that those who want to enter, but have no partner should sign up and a partner will be supplied. "A good way to meet someone new," she added.

Lutes Travel To Cal.; Play 'Jacks

Coach Marv Harshman and a squad of 30 players left this morning for Eureka, Calif. where they will take on the Humboldt state Lumberjacks in a gridiron clash tomorrow night. This intersectional battle will mark the first trip into the Golden State for a PLC football team.

Like the Lutes, the Lumberjacks were unsuccessful in their season opener, losing to Oregon Tech, 7 to 6. Head coach at Humboldt is Phil Sarboe, well known to local football fans. He formerly was coach of the Lincoln high school gridsters and then spent a term as boss of the Washington State footballers.

A member of the Far Western Conference, which is made up of five California teams and one from Oregon, the Lumberjacks, run out of the T-formation and are a fairly large aggregation. Their record last year was two wins and one loss in Conference play and four wins, three losses and one tie for the entire season.

Not knowing much about tomorrow night's opponent, "Gladiator mentor Marv Harshman worked the squad mostly on fundamentals in preparation for it. With the return of junior Bill Tollefson, letterman tackle, to the Lute fold, the loss of freshman guard Dave Ensborg was eased somewhat. Ensborg, an all-city tackle from Spokane turned in his equipment last week, just before the return of Tollefson.

Along with working on tackling, blocking and defense, Harshman had Al Fink sharpen up his punting and Fink, Ernie Jones, and Dick Larson trying their skill in the important department of place-kicking.

All of the squad with the exception of Don Chesterfield and Al Fink were in good shape at the end of the week's workouts. Both Al and Don suffered bone bruises and will see only limited action at Eureka.

Kimball Acknowledges Ping-Pong Champion

Art Kimball, PLC senior, currently holds the title of all-school ping-pong champion. He won the singles championship in the last week of the spring semester, too late for coverage by the Mooring Mast.

Naomi Roe, also in her final year here, teamed up with Art to win the mixed doubles.

Another all-school ping-pong tournament will be held next spring.

He had choked her. She was dead. There was no question about it. He had listened to her dying gasp. Now she was dead, cold as the hand of death. Yet in his anger he was not convinced. Furious still, he kicked her again. To his amazement she gasped, coughed, then began to hum softly.

"Just a little patience is all it takes, John," said his wife from the back seat.

The new alumni office is located in the Student Union building, next to the office of the Mooring Mast.

The immediate objective is to a revised and correct mailing list. To obtain this, we need the help of every student and faculty member who can drop in and supply us with names and correct addresses of alumni and former students.

For the information of the alumni, it may be stated that the Association, at its last reunion, voted dues of $3.00 per year per member or family.
