Whitman Pageant To Be Given Wed.

The honor of presenting the first dramatic production on the C-M-S auditorium stage will be realized by the cast of the pageant, "Marcus Whitman," which is to be presented for PLC students and the general public Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

With a choral background provided by the Choir of the West, the pageant is being shown in various cities throughout the state, in order to raise money to erect a statue of Marcus Whitman in Statuary Hall, Washington, D. C. The pageant was shown a few months ago at the Temple theater in Tacoma. The Washington State Historical Society sponsors all performances.

Written by Delia Gould Emmons, "Marcus Whitman" tells of the life and work of the missionary pioneer among the Indians in the Pacific Northwest. It recounts the introduction of both white settlers and the Bible to the Oregon Territory.

Featured in the cast of nearly one hundred are John Rydgron as Marcus Whitman, and Barbara Hedlund as Narcissa Whitman, his wife. John Waldorf assumes the role of the Rev. Henry Spalding, and the part of Mrs. Spalding is played by Anne Knorr. Glenn Johnson is the narrator. Tickets for the evening performance are being sold by members of Curtain Call Club, and will also be available at the doors.

A.W.S. Hobo Tolo On Saturday Night

In addition, games and refreshments are planned. Tickets may still be obtained from Marciel Fink, Donna Simkins, Thelma Stawick, and Marianne Pfeiffer. So don't forget—tomorrow night after the CPS game—the AWS Hobo Tolo. Hobo style clothes will also be in order for the game.

Letter To The Editor

We hope it won't happen again. The College Golf Course, and that includes the clubhouse, is for the students' convenience and, we hope—enjoyment. However, in the short time we have been managers here there have been several who have been hesitant to walk into the clubhouse thinking it was a private home. Believe it or not, there was one fellow who had been attending college for three years and living in the dorm who hesitantly opened the door one day and was amazed—"I didn't know this was here."

Thanks to the Coca Cola Company we now have a big sign—the best of its kind—and we hope it will serve as a welcome to all the students, the teachers and the public.

Chapel Quotes

QUOTES FROM SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS WEEK

Pastor Carl W. Segerhammar, Speaker

We have an unending blueprint for life in the Bible.

Some people approach life with no more concern over an Architect than many congregations do when they build.

Long, long before psychology became popular, the scriptures gave the way of happiness.

No character ever left so little, yet no character had ever left so much. Jesus left a body of friends, but he left a great deal more—He left the promise of the Holy Spirit.

Get a point of reference outside of yourself—that reference is the God you know through Jesus Christ. Serve Him wherever there is a need and you'll have a point of reference that will make life meaningful and eternal.

Wise men respond to God's grace by giving gifts. Wise men give unquestioning obedience to God. So often we come to worship but not to serve.

We need the historic faith of the past to build the future.

I wouldn't look any further for God, if I were you, unless you meant business when you found Him.

The length of life doesn't determine its value.

Could You Hear This At P. L. C.?

Conversation between professor, student and visitor on Chapel steps:

Professor: I have been really enjoying our new Chapel. It offers such a beautiful environment for worship.

Student: Yeah, but I sorta like a moor before third period.

Professor: Ah, yes . . . but didn't you find our guest speaker inspirational?

Student: Well, Prof, to tell the truth, I didn't hear all he said.

Professor: Oh? How so, was there a disturbance of some sort?

Visitor: I seem to remember seeing you reading during Chapel. Is that some modern way this college has developed to save time while worshipping God and Christ?

Professor: This college, as a Christian institution, compromises in no way on things of this sort. We believe there is no "modern" way to worship, our time in Chapel is for one and only one purpose.

Student: As a matter of fact, I'd rather pray by myself, somewhere away from people, where I can feel really close to Christ.

Professor: Matthew 20:18 tells us: "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

Visitor: So then, I see you still read the Bible. I had heard that most colleges, even Christian ones, think the Bible is old fashioned. I suppose the book you were reading in Chapel was some religious work?

Student: Well, no. At least not in the narrow sense of the word. I was reading "Cannery Row." I'm trying to find out how the other half lives to I won't want to be like them.

Professor: Are you sure that you are not rationalizing an improper and unhealthy desire to be one of them?

Student: O, no. I'm smart enough to always know right, from wrong. I just want to understand how not to live.

Professor: Would that I were smart enough! But don't you feel it would be a wiser choice of time to listen and find out how a good Christian may live?

Student: Well . . .

Roe Offers Class in Bible Doctrine

More than 75 students attended the first session of a special class in Bible doctrine in the new Tower Chapel Wednesday night.

The class, conducted by Rev. Keler Roe, will meet weekly at the aforementioned time, for one hour. Purpose of the course, which is purely extra-curricular, is to acquaint students more thoroughly with the great doctrines of the Bible, particularly from the Lutheran point of view.

Prexy Says . . .

The first part of next week there will be some sketches posted in the main hall. These sketches will be of the proposed "all college ring."

The ring is similar in design to that of the University of Illinois. It will have engraved on one side of the ring the new chapel building, which represents the Christian atmosphere of the college. On the other side will be engraved the mountain, which represents the location of the college. A stone will be set in the face of the ring.

After you have been able to see the sketches and samples of the ring you, as the student body, will have to vote to adopt the ring if that is your desire.

The adoption of the ring requires the vote of the student body because we will have to make a contract with the company which makes the ring. If we decide to get the ring, any student or alumnus of PLC will be able to purchase it.

Del Olson and Bob Johnson are the two persons largely responsible for this new project.

TED and RON with the Sports Once Over

Seattle U.

We lost a ball game, but we're sure proud of our team! Eight Lutes turned in brilliant individual performances and integrated them into the outstanding team showing of the season. There was that great defensive game played by Glen Huffman; Jerry Hefly and Garnet Lund with their fine back-board work; hustling Bob Ross with that second quarter shooting performance; Ron Billings' ball handling; Bert Wells' normal fine floor play; Jack Johnson combining outstanding board work with some fine shooting; and last, but definitely not least, the Lutherans' outstanding player of the evening, our own 5'9" star, Eddy Brown. And, of course, it goes without saying, it took a good Seattle U. team to win out over this Lute performance. Yes, we saw a great ball game. Incidentally, shooting percentage for the game saw the Lutes making 22.2 percent, against 33.3 percent for Seattle U., while in the second half the Chiefs had 50 percent, against 33 percent for PLC.

Central

Now for the business at hand. We would like to give you a few quotations from the Central paper's account of the 66-46 victory they posted over the Lutes in Ellensburg on January 11.

Coach Nicholson had his five set up a 2-3 zone defense that was tighter than the Iron Curtain. Once they crossed the center stripe, all the Lutes saw of the bucket was infrequent glimpses between the widespread fingers of the Cat defenders. . . . A tight Wildcat zone that even a Wheatie couldn't have squeezed into kept the west tidens rattled and off balance. . . . Lee gave them a lesson or two in the fine art of faking and driving the length of the floor. . . . Keller collected a few foul shots when Lute elbows and knees went astray. . . . The usually somewhat volatile and voluble Mr. Harshman seemed as bewildered as his boys the first half. . . . Our compliments to you, sir (Harsh), your behavior was exemplary even if one or two of your young gentlemen were a bit, shall we say, over-enthusiast. Perhaps Mr. Johnson has forgotten that the time between January and March if given over to basketball and not to the more rigorous sport—football. . . . Captain Billy Lee was seen to walk rather dazedly from the floor after three Lute Heflys, Gerry included, ganged him on the 40-oops, on our end of the floor. . . . Did you notice the Lute managers going around picking up all the equipment that Lee, Keller and Teller were faking their boys out of?"

We thought we would pass these remarks on to you, so that you could see the relative merits of the two teams from the Central point of view. Summing it up, we find that our boys are a bunch of bewildered ruffians, while the fancy faking Wildcats put on a show to rival the Harlem Globe Trotters.

Speaking of fakes, it would seem to us that the biggest fake of all involved here is the job of reporting the game done by a certain sports writer from east of the Cascades. This is the game, you remember, where both teams took 33 shots in the first half and the ice cold Lutes trailed at half time 33-8. As for the rest of the comparison, we do not believe that any team could make the Lutes look like the "bushers" this article implies. How about coming down to the gym tonight and see for yourselves how Marv Harshman's club is bewildered by the "great" Wildcat team.

Luebker

This column would like to commend Earl Luebker, sports writer of the Tacoma News Tribune, for the fine coverage he has been giving PLC athletics all year.

Gladiators In Final Home Maple Series

Local fans will get their last chance to see the Lutes in action tonight and tomorrow night as Harshman's team meets Central and GPS in that order. The chips are down for PLC as they need both wins to stay up there. Central will be rebounding after those two losses last week following 7 straight conference wins. Coach Nicholson has built this year's Wildcat team around Ken Teller, 6-6 center transfer from Wyoming U., and Captain Billy Lee, playing his fourth year at a guard position with the Ellensburg team. The Lutes will be out to avenge a 66-46 loss handed them on the Central floor last month.

Tomorrow night PLC will try to make it 8 straight over our cross town rivals from CPS. Earlier games this year found the Lutes in a 71-49 and 53-51 scores. Since this, John Heinrich has picked up a couple more varsity ball players on the open market and the Loggers could be very rough for the Harshmen to handle. Bert Wells, Ed Brown and Gerry Hefly will be making their final appearances before the home folks in this one.

The Evergreen Conference race developed into a 3-team affair this week as the Central Wildcats dropped two games on a disastrous road trip. They were beaten by Eastern 63 to 56 and Whitworth by an 86-56 score.

Meanwhile PLC took a pair of weekend games, dumping UBC 74-55 and Western 69-43. It was the Lutes all the way in that free-scoring Friday night contest against the Canadians.

Glads Scare Chiefs Before Record Crowd

Les Whittles took a pass from Johnny O'Brien and sank a lay-in with two seconds left in the game. That's the story from Memorial's gym Tuesday night as Seattle U. handed the Lutes their first loss on the home floor this season. An overflow crowd saw the highly regarded Chiefs pull out all stops to come from behind and overcome a fired up Lute team.

With Ed Brown sinking long one handers, the Lutherans thrilled the crowd into a 12-11 first quarter lead. Bob Ross dumped in 8 points in the second quarter to keep the Lutes ahead 36-32 at the half. PLC lost Captain Bert Wells in the third quarter, but with Brown still hitting the long ones, built up a 57-48 lead going into the final quarter. In the last quarter, however, the Lutherans hit only 1 out of 11 from the floor while O'Brien and Co. layed in 7 out of 8 and that last one gave them the 67-65 victory.

Johnny O'Brien collected 8 field goals and 12 free throws for 28 points while Ed Brown added 3 charity tosses to those 10 long one-handers for a 23-point total.

The tall Seattle Papooses defeated the hustling Lute JV's 71-47 in the preliminary. It was too much height as 6-8 Joe Pehanick scored 23 for the Papooses and Jerry Schimke collected 21 points for PLC.

Eastern Team Loses First 'Mural Tilt

The intramural program was slowed to some extent during the past two weeks because of special activities on the campus, but Western Parkland livened the scene in the University league by causing a major upset Tuesday night.

League leaders, Eastern Parkland saw their lead shortened as Western, spearheaded by George Nowadnick with 13 points, downed them by a score of 28-23. John Liming potted seven counters to lead Eastern's scoring.

The one other game in the University league wasn't quite as closely contested. Central Parkland ran over Tacoma 57-25 and in doing so eliminated almost all hope of championship for Tacoma. Paul Wangmo was high for Central with 16, and Al Ahrens got six for Tacoma.

In the college league, Ivy Hall (c) was surprised by a fighting Clover Creek (b) squad, but managed to scramble out with a one point victory, 29-28. Ivy Hall (b) played good ball to come up with another victory. With Dave Kent's 17 points they defeated Central (b) 43-35. Merle Johnson pushed through 13 for Central.

Free Throw Contest

Start throwing for the free-throw contest any evening or afternoon that you can get on the floor.

All those interested in the free throw contest can arrange with Mark Salzman for shooting times. As the Varsity squad is going to be away next week, the afternoons and evenings will be free.

Information Given On Chimes And Radio Studio In New C-M-S Building

With the completion of the new Chapel-Music-Speech building several outstanding features have attracted special interest.

The new Stromberg-Carlson electronic chimes, toned from the famous Westminster chimes, now call together and dismiss classes. They also toll the 10 o'clock curfew hour. Installed early this week the bells were played officially for the first time at the chapel opening Tuesday.

The chimes are custom built and operate on a seven-day schedule. They are automatically set on a daily schedule by a system of special regulating clips, but can be switched to manual for the use of the keyboard, phonograph or loudspeaker system. The system consists of 28 notes and is one of the largest mechanisms constructed. It is set on a manual console and will be connected to the organ manual when that is installed. At the present time the control and volume board is in the Public Relations office.

LSA To Observe National Prayer Day

Universal Day of Prayer will be observed at the LSA meeting, Sunday, 6:00 p.m., in the SUB.

On the program are Miss Anne E. Knudson and Miss Grace Blomquist. They will give two book reviews. Special music is planned and the closing will be given in the Tower Chapel.

The Regional LSA Retreat at Camp Wascowitz is scheduled for March 29 to April 1. Registration for the retreat is $6.50. Camp Wascowitz is located five miles east of North Bend.

Volume conducted by four large speakers to all parts of the campus can be regulated individually. This week engineers will check the tone and balance of the chimes and make any necessary alterations. According to the committee this is one of the most flexible instruments in the Northwest.

The carillons were purchased by the graduating class of 1951 and some of the money still remains to be collected.

A second feature has been constructed on the first floor across from the speech department offices and consists of a stage, control room, announcer's booth, dressing room and radio studio. By the end of this week or the first of next week the contract for approximately $13,000 worth of equipment will be completed. The C. & G. Radio Supply in Tacoma will handle the equipment. The setup consists not only of the studio, but also of recording tunes in the basement with a transmitting switchboard.

Constructed like a regular studio, with the exception of the stage, the room was designed by an architect and school representatives and has been checked by an outstanding California electronic and sound engineer. No two services are parallel and sound is the same in the rear as it is on the stage. A special cork floor has been installed to aid in sound control.

The stage will be used for one-act plays, small recitals, and later on television, when it becomes more practical. The dressing room will be used alternately for a light control room.

Curtain Call and Alpha Psi have taken the lighting system as their personal project. Later a curtain will be added and the Baldwin piano will be moved from the SUB for recording purposes.

From the studio it will be possible to broadcast directly to Tacoma, to broadcast and then record and mail the tape, or to broadcast and then send tape over the line at a later time for rebroadcast. It will be possible to record chapel exercises directly through the Maine console. The public address system for the main stage will be controlled from the control booth. It will also be used for sound effects.

All studios, classrooms and stages will be able to broadcast and record directly. According to Mr. Theodore Karl the system is "very flexible."

At the present time three classes are being held in the studio, including Radio Production, Beginning Interp and Advance Interp.

Alpha Sigma Lambda Elects Officers

At the January 30 meeting of the Alpha Sigma Lambda, the Social Science Club, the following officers were elected: Bob Johnson, president; Vern Newhouse, vice president; Deloy Johnson, treasurer; and Esther Brun- die, secretary.

Named to the advisory board were Gay Ness, Louise Stephenson and Ed Morken.

The club is sponsoring a Daffodil Parade float for PLC, with the aid of the Parkland community. Two groups of members, headed by Ed Morken, were selected to aid in soliciting prizes for the Saga Carnival under the sponsorship of the Saga business manager, Paul Wangmo.

Tentative plans for the club concern a Spring cruise, selection of a candidate for Saga Queen, and the construction of a Saga booth. Also considered was the possibility of an "Old-time Action" and "Corny Variety Show."

Chest X-ray Unit To Be Here Feb. 18, 19

The Pierce County Mobile X-ray unit will be on the PLC campus, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 18 and 19, from 9-12 in the morning, and 1-4 in the afternoon.

Students should make out x-ray cards in advance. They may be obtained in the Health center.
