MIKLOS ROZSA WORLD PREMIER CONCERT IS HUGE SUCCESS

Miklos Rozsa, the renowned Hungarian. American composer, scored a smash hit as an individual and as a composer when his new choral motet "The Vanities of Life" had its world premier by the Choir of the West Tuesday evening before a packed house in Eastvold Chapel.

Rozsa arrived on campus Monday afternoon and attended a rehearsal of the choir that afternoon. Following the rehearsal he was loud in his praise of the choir and of the interpretation of his work by Maurice Skones, director. That evening he was a guest of honor at a dinner with the choir and ingratiated himself with the group for his warmness and friendliness.

The audience Tuesday night gave the composer a standing ovation when the choir completed the new work, plus another Rozsa motet, "To Every Thing There Is a Season."

Bruce Johnson, Tacoma News Tribune music critic, hailed the new work and also the interpretation of the director and the singing of the choir.

SPECIAL TV SERIES ON "SECURITY" TO PREMIER ON UNIVERSITY IN PROFILE

"Man and his Search for Security," a four-part series dealing with the controversy of thought, will premier Saturday, April 3, at 3 p.m. on University in Profile over KTNT-TV, Channel 11. The series is being produced in cooperation with KTNT-TV public affairs department and PLU.

Purpose of the series is to present a concept or an idea that is of importance in our daily lives, that of security. It is intended to show that ideas are not isolated from life as well as to lead the viewer to an appreciation of the great heritage of ideas that is our birthright.

The central theme--"Man and his Search for Security," will be presented from the viewpoint of the four disciplines: history, art, letters and music. Experts in each of these areas will appear in the series moderated by J. C. Doughty, instructor of speech at PLU.

Each professor, with the limitation of a half-hour telecast, will approach the discussion of security from the viewpoint of his own discipline. Interested viewers can obtain a list of readings that will be discussed on the programs by writing the department of speech at PLU.

Appearing on the initial program with Doughty will be Dr. Walter Schnackenberg, chairman of the department of history at PLU, who will present his thoughts and ideas of how history becomes involved in this search for security.

Other dates, programs and guests include: April 10, art, George Elwell, assistant professor of art at PLU; April 17, letters, Dr. Paul Reigstad, associate professor of English at PLU, and Donald Reynolds, instructor of English at PLU; and April 24, music, Dr. Byard Fritts, associate professor of music at PLU.
