

Van Leuven Elected Student Body Prexy For Coming Year

Daniels, Nash, Myhre, Irwin, Raudebaugh, E. Anderson, And Cribbhorn Other Officers Chosen in Election

As a result of the student body election held last Tuesday, May 15, John Van Leuven, winning over John Drebbels and Roland Swanson on the first ballot, will head the Associated Students of Pacific Lutheran College next year. Other officers selected Tuesday were: vice-president, Thelma Daniels; treasurer, Bert Myhre, and Graduating Class representative, Evelyn Irwin.

Because in all cases a majority was not reached in the first election, a second balloting was held Wednesday. As a result of this, Mary Nash will be the student body secretary and Eleanor Raudebaugh, the sophomore class representative.

Since there was only one petition handed in for the offices of commissioner of athletics and high school representative, Eldon Anderson and Harry Grimbigin, respectively, will hold these offices.

As there were no petitions for advertising commissioner, the officer will be chosen next year, along with the freshman class representative.

The outgoing Board of Control consists of: President, Clarence Lemming; vice-president, Alvenc Schierman; secretary, Kathryn Johnson; treasurer, William Zier; commissioner of athletics, Paul Fretz; commissioner of advertising, Clarence Monson; Graduating Class representative, Jean-Marie Fowler; Sophomore Class representative, Mary Nash; and Freshman Class representative, Bert Myhre.

Formal installation of the new Board of Control members will be held at the last student body meeting of the year in chapel next Thursday, May 31. At this time also, spring sports award winners will be presented their letters.

Mooring Mast Gets First Class Rating

For the second consecutive time, the Mooring Mast has won First Class honor rating, as judged by the National Scholastic Press Association, according to word received last Friday. This classifies the paper as excellent, as compared with other bi-weekly junior college papers.

Each paper for the fall semester was sent in February to the N. S. P. A. headquarters at the University of Minnesota for judging. The papers were rated in accordance with the quality of their editorial content, makeup, proofreading, style of writing and interestingness. The editorials and entertaining matter were commented upon in the scorebook as being especially good.

Since its first appearance in 1925, the Mooring Mast has steadily improved in quality. The first time copies of it were submitted for judging and criticism three years ago, a Second Class honor rating or "good" was awarded. Last year, during the editorship of Mary Lou Fretz, the Mooring Mast was judged to be excellent in quality rating has been upheld again this year. The one rating above First Class which is awarded is All-American or superior.

Graduates to Give 'Goblin Gold' In Gym Friday Night

Curtain Rises at 8 p. m. on 3-Act Prize-Winning Comedy-Drama; Stan Berentson Planning for Intermissions

At eight o'clock this Friday evening, May 25, the curtain will rise in the Pacific Lutheran College gymnasium on "Goblin Gold," a presentation of the 1934 Graduating Class. With practices having been held regularly during the past month, a successful production is anticipated by the coaches, Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Reid.

"Goblin Gold" is a comedy-drama in three acts, which was the winner of the first prize in the drama section of the Canadian Governor-General's competition in 1929. Isabel Echelestone Mackay is the author of the play.

With William Zier and Ella Johnson in leading roles, an entertaining presentation is promised. Of interest in the cast are William Zier as Simon Beamer, the kind old miner who keeps all his designing relatives guessing as to his actual financial circumstances. Jean-Marie Fowler plays the part of a restless eager child of almost thirteen.

First Bi-ennial Saga in P. L. C. History To Be Distributed Early Next Week

After several months of earnest labor, the staff of the 1933-34 Saga will place the first bi-ennial yearbook ever to be published at Pacific Lutheran College in the hands of the students early next week. Because of the nature of the book being prepared, much extra planning was necessary, which brings the book out later than usual. However, with the large amount of material on hand, the staff has been able to set up an interesting and decorative yearbook.

Due to lack of funds during 1933, the college staff felt it better to present a well-made biennial edition of the Saga in 1934, than to put out one of inferior quality for each year. Each Saga heretofore published at P.L.C. has been awarded First Class honor rating or excellent, by the National Scholastic Press Association. To uphold this high standard is the aim of this year's yearbook staff.

The Allstrum Printing Company, who are setting up the book, will announce no definite date of publication, but promise it at school early next week. However, when they do arrive, they will be given out at the Saga office on presentation of payment receipt, according to Roland Swanson, circulation manager. Mr. Swanson also announces that subscriptions must be paid in full by Friday of this week.

Those who worked with the faculty advisers, N. J. Hong and O. J. Stuen, and the editor, Margaret Wesson, to compile the book were Edgar Larson and Rhoda Hostenstad, associate editors; Myron Leque and Arnold Myhra, business managers; Norman Westling, Jane Williams, Gertrude Brunner, Norma Preus, and Jean-Marie Fowler, class editors; Ardis Aarhus and Norman Jensen, music; Alice Roe, Stanley Soore and Paul Hvidding, sports; Jesse Pfueger, Eldon Anderson and Herbert Nordmark, organizations; Carrie Hvidding and William Rasmussen, religion; Frederick Kay Schlanbusch and Arnold Anderson, art; Selma Bafus and Gauthild Larson, typing; and Eleanor Raudebaugh, activities.

In the business department were Evelyn Irwin and Leonard Wesson, advertising; Roland Swanson and Virginia Byers, circulation; Clarence Monson, publicity; Ruth Carlson, accountant; and Arnold Grimbigin and Emory Whitaker, snapshots.

Annual School Picnic Held

Friday at Lake Spansway
On Friday, May 18, the student body held their annual picnic at Lake Spansway. Leaving school about three o'clock, the students spent the afternoon in swimming, boating, and playing horseshoes and baseball. Refreshments of hot dogs and coffee were served by the student body.

The committee in charge of the affair follows: John Van Leuven (chairman), Mary Nash, Georgiana McClure, and Herbert Nordmark.

Honors Mother With Memorial to School

Sun Dial To Be Installed in Front of School Same Time as 1932 Class Gift of Lilly Pond Is Set in

The sun-dial which has been given to Pacific Lutheran College by Lewis G. Hunter, music director and student, in memory of his mother, Ida Hunter Chapman, has been completed.

The pedestal, which was designed by Prof. Pfueger and Mr. Hunter, is approximately three feet in height and about fifteen inches in diameter. The sun-dial, cast by a music pupil of Mr. Hunter's, is of solid bronze with the following words inscribed upon it: "My face marks the sunny hours. What can you say of yours?"

The memorial plate was made by Valborg Norby, Arnold Anderson, and Prof. Ramstad. Professor Hong wrote the words inscribed on the plate which are: "Presented to Pacific Lutheran College by Lewis G. Hunter in Memory of His Mother, Ida Hunter Chapman, May 1934."

Mr. Hinderle and Mr. T. O. Olson are responsible for the finishing touches of the dial and pedestal. Valuable suggestions concerning the size, design and place for the sun-dial were made by Dr. Thelstad, Prof. Haug, Prof. Xavier, Mr. Larson and Prof. Pfueger.

The sun-dial, which is temporarily placed in the rear of the building, is to be installed in the front of the campus in the near future, together with the Lilly pond which was given as a gift to the school by the graduating class of 1932.

55 Will Finish P.L.C. At Exercises In Gym June 3

Rev. E. E. Krebs of Castle Rock to Speak at Baccalaureate and Dr. J. H. Groth at Commencement

On Sunday afternoon, June 3, fifty-five students will be graduated from Pacific Lutheran College. Of these, twenty-six have completed the three-year normal course, seventeen the liberal arts work, and twelve the high school department.

For the commencement exercises, Dr. J. H. Groth, assistant professor of German at the University of Washington, will be the speaker. Music is being arranged by Prof. Edwards. Rev. E. E. Krebs of Castle Rock will deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the college gymnasium at 11 a. m. on June 3. Commencement will also be in the gym, with the hour set being 3 p. m.

A southern garden party idea has been selected as the theme of the class night program in the gym June 2, at 8 p. m. Preceding this, there will be the traditional planting of the ivy in front of the school at 7:30 o'clock. A graduate from the high school department will plant the ivy, while a college graduate will speak at the ceremonies. Members of the Graduating Class, along with their parents and close friends, will be honored at the president's reception.

Pocket Testament Drive Successful

The drive which the Mission Society has been sponsoring to get pledges for the Pocket Testament Movement netted almost fifty new members, making a total of about ninety members in the student body. The campaign, which lasted two weeks and was headed by Irene Dahl and Milton Nesvig, Luther League P. T. M. secretaries, was carried on by a group of students who volunteered their services. This group met three times during the campaign getting organized and receiving information regarding the movement itself.

Those who worked in this drive were Jean-Marie Fowler, Rhoda Hostenstad, Ida Thompson, Mrs. Nash, Herbert Dahl, Elisabeth Stuen, Norma Preus, Ruth Hansland, Virginia Davis, Eunice Arneson, Bill Rasmussen, Herbert Nordmark, Osten Elisen, Roland Swanson, Paul Fretz, Jesse Pfueger, Henry Olson and Floyd Knutzen.

This Pocket Testament Movement, which has over four million members, is international in its scope. It was founded by a thirteen year old school girl, now Mrs. Alexander Dixon, in Birmingham, England. As the movement was a worthy one, it prospered and offices were established in London. Then during and after the war it grew, spreading throughout the world, until now it has two main offices, London and New York, and many branch offices. In the Norwegian Lutheran Church the Luther League is sponsoring it and there are now 15,000 members enrolled to date with pledges coming in at the rate of about one thousand a month. Those from school who signed up, enrolled through the Luther League.

Leave the Name Alone

Once upon a time a group of men and women left their homes for a foreign land. Being very religious people, they wished to build God a temple in their adopted country, and with much sweat and toil succeeded in completing it before they grew old. Then, proudly naming it in honor of the land from whence they came, they painted the name in golden letters over the entrance. It was a grand edifice very beautiful, and pleasing to look upon. But some of the children said: "We do not favor the name. It points to the past instead of the future. Let us change it." The aged builders bowed their heads in tears.

You members of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America who are determined to erase "Norwegian" from the name of your church body may be likened unto these children. Do you realize what you are doing? Do you realize that you are tearing the very heart strings of most of the pioneer fathers who now, weary from toil, are bending toward the grave? They are old now, these great Vikings, and not able to defend their rights as before. But they are proud of their church; and they love it. They love it, not merely because it is theirs, because they have slaved and fought for it, but because it is Norse, because it represents the best in the culture they brought with them from their homeland, because they inherited it from their fathers and mothers whom they honored and loved above all things on this earth.

You say erasing the Norse part of the name will open a larger field to your church. That, probably, will prove an illusion. What you gain among other races you will lose among your own, for removal of the Norwegian name from your church will kill the enthusiasm for your church and your schools in thousands of people of Norwegian blood throughout the country. The name has won historical importance; it is indissolubly bound up with the splendid tradition the Norwegian Lutheran Church has built up. Some day, undoubtedly, it must fall, but the psychological moment to erase it has not yet arrived.

But even disregarding these arguments, the offense which a change would be to your still living fathers and mothers is reason enough for keeping the old name. When the last one of these fine men and women, whose great love for the land of their fathers inspired them to noble efforts in building of their adopted country—making them more faithful citizens than those who lack such incentive, can ever hope to become, when the last one of them rests in the bosom of the great Mother who adopted them and loved them; then change the name if you must. But until then, leave the name alone.
—DANIEL TORVALD FLOTRE.

The Pocket Testament Movement

The Pocket Testament Movement, for which the Luther League has recently launched a new campaign in our community, deserves the earnest consideration of all who have the welfare of Christian interests at heart. This movement is affiliated with the international Pocket Testament League, founded in England in 1908, and totaling today upward of four million members. Sponsored by the Young People's Luther League since 1932, it has grown with amazing rapidity in the Lutheran churches. Among Pacific Lutheran College students alone it has nearly a hundred members. The purpose of the movement is to make those who are already Christians better acquainted with the Word of God by pledging them to read a portion of the Bible every day, or as often as possible, and to win those not yet Christians to Christ by persuading them to sign the same pledge. In other words, the movement relies entirely on the power of God's Word to win and hold its members for Christ.

Judging by the speed by which the Pocket Testament Movement has spread throughout the world, it is destined to become one of the most effective means of spreading the Word of God. We think, therefore, it is the duty of every Christian to familiarize himself with the movement, and, if upon thorough investigation he is convinced that it is of value in the fight for the principles of Christianity, to join it, and seek to persuade others to do so.

Final Choir Concert in Gym Next Tuesday

The Pacific Lutheran College scapella choir, under the direction of Prof. J. O. Edwards, will give its final concert of this school year in the gym Tuesday night, May 29, at eight o'clock. This concert will be the annual affair which is given for the Parkland Community and students who have not had the opportunity to hear the choir sing its complete concert program.

To complete their season's concert series, the "Choir of the West" traveled to Oregon last week-end, May 12-13. Saturday evening they sang to large crowd in Rev. Arthur Pierce's church in Warren, Oregon. After the concert, they drove on to Portland where they were over-night guests in Lutheran homes.

Sunday morning they sang at the services of the Augustana Lutheran Church of which Rev. Paul V. Randolph is pastor. Under the auspices of the Lutheran Ministerial Association, the choir gave a concert in the afternoon at the Westminster Presbyterian church. The audience, which numbered approximately one thousand, also had the pleasure of hearing Dr. O. A. Thagstad speak on behalf of the college.

At Rev. Arthur Knudsen's church in Longview, the choir gave its last concert Sunday evening. Following this, they returned to Parkland.

Kampus Komments

By Clarence Monson

The fashionable fashions, so daintily displayed by a number of our co-eds yesterday afternoon are going to be responsible for a lot of new ideas in the line of spring sports wear, evening gowns, et cetera. Just ideas, by the way, just ideas. Judging from the price tags.

K K

We noticed that Berentson, Redeen, and Martin are back in the Dorm. 'Tis funny that the old roosting place has such an attraction. The situation is a peculiar one. We live and learn, but although we learn, we'll know why 'goats' should be mistyrs.

K K

Who said that one becomes poetic in the spring! Ah me, 'tis only the moonlight that creates that aesthetic quality within one, but though the hot sun beating down upon one's conk, produces nothing but a blank verse. Ask the professors.

K K

The school picnic was a raging, raining, roaring success. Van Leuven used up a half a tank of gas (as usual); Bert Myhre clouted out four circuits in a soft-ball game (very unusual); Dutch and O'Connor wearing knickers (the big sissies); Coach Olson paying for a hot dog, tish tish; Dr. Tingelstad scoring evenly in a horseshoe game (a medal score); and Osten Ellason looking for Edna Johnson.

K K

"A word to the wise is sufficient," says the great Trulson. "The various infatuations flitting so fluently around our school must be broken up," he continues, without taking his feet off his desk, "else there will be many broken hearts this summer."

K K

The apex of all activity seems to be centered around the Delta Rho Gamma girls. If there's anything new, they've thought of it; if there's anything old, they've forgotten it; if there's anything to do, they'll do it. It's organizations like that that put a school on the map.

K K

There is one hopeful soul in the Dorm that is looking forward to graduation with more delight than the entire Graduating Class combined. 'Tis "Barney" Janssen, the president of the Dormitory Union. He looks upon it only as a miracle, but we see it only as an achievement. All the boys are clamoring for his picture. They say, "Barney may be great some day."

K K

What makes one's blood boil is to see so many of us become concerned about little insignificant things, when there are such big things that we might center our attention on. "What a man thinketh, so he is."

K K

Under the able direction of three efficient coaches and nearly a month and a half of intensive work the senior play, "Robin Hood," not only promises to be a huge success, but success is inevitable. Says I.

K K

The close of the school year is near at hand, and from the standpoint of the graduates, the thrill of this rare occasion is not so great as what might be expected. True, it is the beginning of something new, but it is the end of something far better. The rarity of it all is the recollection of our petty jealousies and grievances which come back to us as something distasteful—something we could have eliminated.

K K

We've seen many impressive scenes, but one of the most impressive yet was that which the choir presented on Mother's Day. At all three appearances that Sunday, all the members wore carnations on their vestments to honor their mothers.

Lincoln and C. P. S. Defeat Glad Golfers

On May 14 the P.L.C. golf squad lost still another encounter, a practice match with Lincoln High on the Parkland course, by a score of 11½ to 6½. Under favorable playing conditions, both squads played fairly good golf. Feldman of Lincoln was low with a 72.

Lineups:

P. L. C.	McCormick	1	Fadur	2	Lincoln
	Preus	2½	Nordlund	3
	Hinderlie	0	Feldman	3
	Lehmann	¼	Unger	2½
	Stuen	½	Brockway	2½
	Thompson	2	Brotten	1
		6½		11½

On May 10 the P.L.C. golf squad dropped a close match to the C. P. S. golfers on the Fircrest course by a 10 to 8 score. This was the second of the home and home matches between the two teams, the first over the Parkland course being won by C. P. S. The long Fircrest course offered plenty of difficulties to the Gladiators, who were outscored although they won three matches to the Loggers 2. Anderson, of C. P. S. was low man with an 84, while McCormick led the Lutherans with an 85.

Sport Slants

By Milton Nesvig

"Why does it always have to rain when we have matches scheduled?" This is the mournful cry of our golf and tennis teams. The tennis matches, of course, are postponed; but the poorer golfers have played every one of their matches in adverse weather conditions. By the looks of things good weather will prevail from now on; but the links men have but one match left, and that's in Bellingham Friday. The tennis men, however, will be playing steadily for the next two weeks, and this will probably go places.

Looking back at this year's golf season, we find that it is the most disastrous since its innovation here. Out of seven matches so far, they have won but two, both from the Aberdeen Junior College outfit. These two wins were impressive, as far as scores are concerned; but the competition was poor, so that the matches were cinches. However, against good competition they looked miserable, their scores being in the high seventies and into the eighties. Every man on the team is capable of shooting under seventy-five consistently on the Parkland course.

The golfers played one good match, though, and that was against the College of Puget Sound outfit on the Fircrest course in Tacoma. Fircrest is a tough course with many holes over four hundred yards and our boys came through with some good scores that day. The Loggers just managed to eke out a 10-8 win.

Our tennis men haven't done much so far, dropping both of the matches they have had to date. Lack of practice due to the weather slowed them up, but they're a good outfit, and we think they'll be chalking up some wins with the renewal of competition.

Bert Myhre, number one man, has displayed some real tennis, winning decisively over his Aberdeen opponent and giving St. Martin's ace, Bob Hull, a real battle before losing 5-7, 6-8. In the Centralia match he had his man 6-2, 5-2 when rain stopped the play. Bert can be relied upon to win most of his remaining matches. Keep it up, Bertum Oscar!

It's too bad when we have such a good tennis team that we can't get enough matches for a good season. Lack of funds, on the part of other schools has caused them to cancel scheduled encounters. Tough luck, guess you can't win, fellows.

Say, you barnyard golfers, how about getting your games played off in the tournament? The upper bracket is going great guns, but the lower one is way behind, some of the first matches yet to be played. All those who haven't played their matches must get them over with before the week is out, so that the tournament may be completed before the school year ends.

Well, the ball standers in the intra-mural league have undergone quite a change again. The Dorm team, which was going places, kinda' hit a slump and dropped three games in a row. However, the teams are still close in the win and loss column and no team has the championship cinched. The Day outfit might get it, but both the Shack and Dorm will be out to knock them off their perch the next two weeks, which will be the last round.

When Norm Westling graduates, we lose one of our most consistent golfers. During the past three years, Wes has won 26 points in golf competition. In '32, out of a possible twelve points, he won eleven and a half, and last year he won eight out of nine. We might add that last year he was the only one on the team to garner over five points. This year, as is the case with the whole team, he hasn't done so hot; but to date he has scored six and half out of fifteen. That gives you 26 out of 36 or an average of .723, a good batting average in any league. Nice record, Norm, you'll be missed next year.

Golfers To Close Season

The last golf match of the season will be played Friday, May 25, when Coach Olson takes a five man team to Bellingham for a return match with Bellingham Normal. The Normalites copped the first match.

Speaker, Music, Mark Ascension Day at P. L. C.

Ascension day was marked at Pacific Lutheran College by special chapel services on Thursday, May 10. The student body program which was to have been presented was postponed until Friday, and Rev. Ramstad was in charge of the Ascension Day festivities.

Rev. J. N. Halvorsen, evangelist of the Lutheran Free Church, who was on the coast from Minneapolis, was guest speaker. Rev. M. Bjornson, of Seattle, representing the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, was present and sang several numbers. Rev. A. S. Berg of the Free Church of Tacoma, in whose church Rev. Halvorsen and Rev. Bjornson were conducting revival meetings, accompanied the visitors to Parkland.

Stressing the "Inheritance of Christ," Rev. Halvorsen presented an inspiring message to the students. He stated that because we have gone astray in the first Adam through the inheritance of sin, death and judgment, it was necessary that Christ become a second Adam so we could inherit eternal life from His sacrifice. That God has pledged Himself to bring His precious inheritance of eternal life to each of us was told, and the students were reminded that it is up to the individual if he will accept this gift from God.

Day Boys Head Baseball Standings

During the last two weeks the Day Students have regained the lead in the intra-mural baseball league. In one of the three contests held in the last fortnight, a rejuvenated squad of Shacksters walloped the Dorm 10 to 2; while in the other two, the Day Students defeated the Dorm, first 6 to 5, and again 8 to 4, to oust them from their league leading position.

The standings to date:

Day Students	Won	Lost	Pct.
Shacksters	4	3	.581
Dorm Students	3	3	.500
	3	4	.428

Rhoda Hokenstad Will Lead L. D. R. Next Year

Rhoda Mae Hokenstad was elected to head the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation next year at the last regular meeting held Wednesday, May 9, 1934 in the recreation room. Invitations having been extended, the faculty ladies were honored guests at the meeting.

Lunch was served by an appointed committee with Evelyn Monson as general chair, and the program rendered included numbers by Virginia Mahneke, club president, who opened the program with a word of welcome to the faculty wives. On behalf of the faculty wives Mrs. O. A. Ringstad gave the response. Miss Pauline Watts, accompanied by Rhoda Hokenstad, sang a solo and Jean-Marie Fowler presented a reading. Hazel Monson concluded the program with a talk on "What L. D. R. Means to a College Girl."

'34 Class To Give 'Goblin Gold' Here

and Ella Johnson represents a pretty, young daughter, Kathryn Johnson, a kindly, middle-aged woman is the mother of the three Beamer children and keeps busily occupied with household duties.

Bud Whitaker is the handsome young son of the family; and he is youthfully serious, as becomes the only son of the family—and married at that. His wife is a young fashionable girl, a party-baiter taken by Virginia Byers. Irene Shafland appears in the role of the portly Mrs. Bolton-Brown, a non-contending woman of satins, bracelets, and beaded bags. Her husband, played by Edgar Larson, is a small, feeble man afflicted with gallstones. Clarence Lemming will be seen as a young Westerner, well dressed and cheerful.

Intermission numbers are being planned by Stanley Berntson, and a committee from the Graduating Class will have charge of the candy sale. Tickets, which are 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children under 12 years, may be secured from the committee headed by Oscar Anderson.

Drama Club Party Closes Activities

Two Losing Groups Honor Jean-Marie Fowler's Winning Troup In Festivities Saturday Night

As the last of the many activities enjoyed by Drama Club members this year, a party was given Saturday evening, May 19, in the college recreation room and dining hall. The two groups under the direction of Jennie Lee and Virginia Byers entertained the winning group, Jean-Marie Fowler's, with a program and refreshments.

With Milton Neser as announcer, the following "broadcast" was released: Jean-Marie Fowler, leader of the winning group, spoke. Thelma Daniels gave a piano solo. Following this, the boys' trio, composed of Clarence Monson, Robert Monson, and Norman Jensen, sang. As club president for this semester, Leonard Wesson spoke. Then followed the comedy team—"Rosie and Berrie." Rhoda Hokenstad and Stanley Berntson, giving piano numbers. Norman Jensen, club president for the fall semester, gave a short talk; a piano number was given by Irene Shafland, Virginia Davis gave a reading and to close the program, Mr. Reid, club advisor, spoke to the members.

Each of the three groups presented original skits. Following this, an impromptu program was given, composed of: a piano solo by Rhoda Hokenstad; a skit by Clifford Haugen and Norman Westing; and readings by Virginia Davis and Margaret Wesson. To end the evening's entertainment, refreshments were served.

Mission Society To Meet Tonight

The Mission Society met Thursday evening, May 10, in the recreation room. Mr. Vincoet Thoren, executive secretary of the Lutheran Welfare Society of Tacoma, spoke on "Inner Missions." The boys' quartet contributed vocal selections.

This evening the society will meet at seven o'clock in the recreation room. The topic for discussion will be "Home and Foreign Missions in Our Lutheran Church Bodies." The topic will be divided into three groups representing the various bodies. Irene Dahl will represent the Norwegian Lutheran Church, Roland Swanson, the Augustana Synod, and Eldon Anderson, the American Lutheran. Mary Nash and Alice P. person will sing a duet and Ida Thompson will play a piano number to furnish the musical part of the program.

Strong Wind Crashes Huge Maple Tree Limb

A thunderous crash brought students and teachers to the windows. Outside on the front lawn lay a part of the large soft maple that, only a few days before, had been a setting for the first May Day festivities at Pacific Lutheran College. A terrific wind and a split trunk were the cause of its fall, which occurred the morning of May 4. According to T. O. Olson, school engineer, the tree is cracked in a number of places, and wherever he had thought it necessary, he had nailed a few boards to hold the tree. However he had not noticed this crack which caused the large limb, a foot through at the base, to go down. It was Mr. Olson who trimmed the tree after the storm, painted the wound, and sawed the broken part to be burned.

The tree is now thirty-six years old. Mr. Holmes, art instructor, remembers its planting on Arbor Day of the first year of the Spanish-American War. A twin tree was planted across the walk from it, but as they grew to large proportions the other had to be cut down.

Honoring Graduates In Many Receptions

Women's Dormitory Auxiliary, Trinity Men's Club, and D. R. C.'s Giving Farewell Parties For Class Members

Honoring the graduates of the 1934 class, several functions are being planned, one being held tonight and two more tomorrow.

The Girl's Dormitory Auxiliary will give a tea in the Reception Room tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 for all the girls in the 1934 graduating class. The program will include some musical selections and a few short talks, after which refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Mikkel Lono, is the president of this organization which is composed of the Tacoma Lutheran minister's wives and the ladies of the faculty. The main goal of this auxiliary is a new dorm for the girls, but they have also done much to improve the present one. Their last improvement was redecorating of the radio room which they furnished with a radio and furniture.

The Men's Club of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Parkland, is giving a reception for all the men of this year's graduating class tomorrow night at eight in the chapel basement. The program for which several musical numbers and talks have been planned will include songs by a male quartet composed of club members and a vocal duet by Mildred Monson and Mary Hudson, accompanied by Ray Hinderte, singing Ray's own composition, "Lazy Lover's Moon." Mr. Ross Boynton, president of the Brotherhood, urges that all men graduates be present and promises that a good time and an enjoyable evening will be had by all.

This evening at 8 o'clock, the undergraduates of the Delta Rho Gamma are giving a party for the graduating girls in the home of Evelyn Irwin at Parkland. Thelma Daniels is in charge of the entertainment assisted by Ann Engen and Winifred Butsch.
