

Curtain Will Rise At Eight Tonight On Sr. Class Play

Honor Awards and Class Will to Be Read Between Acts

Featuring the class play "Big Hearted Herbert," the seniors will observe Class Night this evening at 8 o'clock in the Parkland grade school gymnasium.

The three act play is directed by Miss Janice Wilson who is in charge of music and drama at the Clover Park junior high school.

Of great interest to all will be the announcement of the inspirational award to be made during the evening's program. This award always comes as a surprise to the recipients, and is made to the senior college and senior high school girl, and to the senior college and senior high school boy, who, in the combined judgment of the student body and faculty, as registered in separate elections, have been the greatest inspiration to their associates at the college during the current year. The names of the four students chosen will be engraved on the high school and college loving cups, which were presented to the school by the class of 1935.

The play cast is as follows: Big Hearted Herbert, Al Jacobs; his wife, Elizabeth Kalness, Evelyn Jacobson; Alice Kalness, Eugenia Spencer; Junior Kalness, Walter Goplerude; Robert Kalness, Jack Wall; Andres Goodrich, Gerhard Pfliuger; Jim Lawrence, Otis Grande; Amy Lawrence, Melba Fenny; Mr. Havens, Bob Mullen; Mrs. Havens, Enid Blake; and the maid, Martha, Esther Norgaard.

The Senior Class Will is to be read between acts of the play.

Former Board Member Of College Passes

Peter Tobias Larson, 88, well known resident of Parkland and for many years a member of the P. L. C. board of trustees, died at his home Sunday, May 22. Funeral services were held Wednesday, May 25, in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Reverend T. O. Svare officiating.

Mr. Larson, who has lived in this district since 1908, was a native of Norway and a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church. Last February, he and Mrs. Larson celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at a family reunion held in their Parkland home. They were married in Burr Oak, Ia., in 1878, and lived in Harmony, Minn., until coming to Parkland.

Mr. Larson took his responsibilities as a member of our school board very seriously, and was always one of the best friends of Pacific Lutheran College. He was deeply interested in the work of the church and even past the age of eighty sang in the church choir, where his beautiful tenor voice would be long remembered. His chief hobbies were gardening and writing poetry. One of his many friends said of him, "He was always youthful in his outlook on life, and a true lover of the beautiful."

Mr. Larson had many family connections with our college. Three of his sons, Ludvig, Oscar and Lennard, and one daughter, Sophia, were students here. Two other daughters, Mrs. August Bushman of Seattle, and Mrs. Lauritz Rasmussen of Burlington, taught at Pacific Lutheran College. Our president, Dr. Tingelstad, had Mrs. Bushman for a teacher of Latin and Geometry in 1901 and 1902.

Mr. Larson's autobiography is on file in the archives of the Pacific Historical Society of the Baltic Peoples, of which Professor N. J. Hong is president.

Norma Preus, '37 Honored by Clubs

Honoring Miss Norma Preus, '37, who is sailing for Europe June 10 on the Aquitania, the German and French Clubs met Friday afternoon, May 27, in the College Reception room. After a short program, Miss Preus was presented with a going-away gift.

Mrs. Bondy, adviser of both organizations, announced Rudolph Moeller as the winner of the Karl Shurz Memorial gift, consisting of a set of Goethe's works, for outstanding work in the German Club. Anne Lovejoy acted as mistress of ceremonies. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Norma sails for Cherbourg, France, where her brother, Paul, '35, and her sister, Mary Lou, '32, will meet her. Paul has been studying in Oslo and Heidelberg since last September. Mary Lou studied for a time in Oslo, and is now working in that city. The trio will tour France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and the Scandinavian countries. After a trip through southern Norway, Norma and Paul expect to spend a few days in Scotland and England before sailing for home on the Queen Mary at the end of the summer.

Co-eds Compliment High School Girls

Visiting senior girls from the fourteen neighboring high schools were complimented at a tea given by the Co-Ed Club, Thursday afternoon, May 26, on the front lawn of the campus. Ruth Morrison was general chairman for the occasion.

The three directors of the club for next year, Ruth Downton, Vivian Smith, and Mildred Tollefson, were announced at the tea. Retiring leaders are Marie Wenberg, Enid Blake, and Nevela Ross.

The program consisted of flute solos by Lois Mae Morton, accompanied by Ida Mae Hess; a vocal selection by Astrid Anderson, with Marion Johnson at the piano; a short talk on the purpose of the club by Nevela Ross; and a piano solo by Virginia McFadden. Caroline Hoff provided piano music during the tea hour.

H. S. Seniors Have Party

Peggy Ramstad, high school senior, entertained the graduating high school seniors at dinner on Friday evening, May 27.

The graduation motive was carried out in the decorations. A small stage with figures dressed in caps and gowns was placed at one end of the table. Favors appeared as candy-filled mortar boards.

Rev. E. G. Wuest Stresses Humility

Baccalaureate Speaker Uses
John 3,30 as Sermon Text
To Graduates

"He must increase, but I must decrease." These words formed the theme of the baccalaureate sermon delivered to the members and friends of the P. L. C. graduating class of 1938 by Reverend E. G. Wuest, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church of Oregon City, Sunday, May 29, in the Trinity Lutheran Church at Parkland.

The lesson of humility as taught by John the Baptist, and by Paul, the "servant of Christ" was brought out throughout the address. Rev. Wuest stressed the fact that we who have had the privilege of attending a Christian school should not forget Christ as we go out into our life-work, but should seek in all we do to exalt and glorify Him.

"Many of you graduates," declared Rev. Wuest, "have had the privilege of highly specialized training in the 'Choir of the West.' I hope you will remain humble enough to be glad to take part in the untrained choir of the smallest church wherever your work may take you."

"Although we may become great as the world counts greatness, without knowing Jesus we fall in the most important phase of our life, that of living for Christ and having eternal life," he said.

Rev. Wuest is the father of Roland Wuest, Liberal Arts graduate, and editor of the Moorings Mast.

The "Choir of the West" under the direction of Professor Gunnar J. Malmin sang four numbers: "Arise All Things," "O Lamb of God," "Fraise To The Lord," and "Lord, Now Lettest Thou Thy Servant Depart in Peace." The opening march and the recessional were played by Mrs. Gunnar J. Malmin.

A short reception for the graduates, their friends and relatives, was held in the church parlors after the service.

Thus Spake "Dictator Wuest"

By Lorna Vosburg

"Interview the kids around the campus and find out what kind of odd jobs they will be doing this summer." Thus spake "Dictator Wuest" a few days ago, and your cub reporter got new half-soles on her shoes, and obediently started the rounds.

After trailing down about fifty or more persons (by the way—think I'll turn out for track) on the Campus, I have come to the conclusion (in case Mr. Ickes or anybody is interested) that about the commonest job on the summer ledger goes by the name of "Idon't-know."

But some students did have prospects, and some, I'm afraid, had their tongue in their cheek. Of the latter, Eddie Watts announced that he would make an extensive good will tour (vehicle unknown) to better conditions in the United States. Walt Sterba, less high-minded, said he was going to turn gypsy and bicycle the country telling fortunes.

Two of our fair co-eds, Lois Smith and Josephine Demers replied demurely, that they were going to hitch-hike to California, while Roy Schmandt made a declaration of his intention to

Normal Placements Reach Total of 21

With placements being made at an average of three each week, twenty-one Normal graduates have obtained teaching positions, breaking last year's record of twenty by June 6. There are yet twenty-nine students to place.

The placements include two principalships, Donald Abner at Alder and Otis Grande at Weyerhaeuser. Several of the graduates will teach with P. L. C. alumni, and Margaret Pearson will teach in the school in which she completed her first eight grades.

Those who have signed their contracts are: Otis Grande, Weyerhaeuser; Lois Mae Morton, University Place; Valeria Moehnke, Espinola; Ruth McGovern, Central Avenue, Tacoma; Alice Cook, Mossy Rock; Evelyn Jacobson, Dieringer; Enid Blake, Weyerhaeuser; Helen Stark, Brownsville; Marie Wenberg, Central Valley; Donald Abner, Alder.

Beatrice Slidders, Firwood; Glenn Gustafson, Bryn Mawr; Margrete Demers, Fords Prairie; Dorothy Kniffen, Porter; Jenny Bardon, Poulsbo; Goldene Gerritz, Greendale; Esther Norgaard, Marysville; Aleda Seier, Id; Suquamish; Margaret Pearson, Willet City; Iris Evans, Oakville; and Stanley Willis, Parkland.

Leraas' Will Leave For Yosemite

Dr. and Mrs. Leraas plan to keep house in a tent this summer in the government camp at Yosemite National Park, where Dr. Leraas will study at the School of Field Natural History.

The Leraas' will drive the coast route to San Francisco, leaving here June 9. From the Golden Gate City, they intend to drive to Redley, California, to visit Mr. J. O. Edwards, former choir director at P. L. C.

The travelers hope to arrive at the park June 19, where they will camp at the field school station. Mrs. Leraas will go on some of the shorter field trips with Dr. Leraas. They will return around the middle of August.

Dr. Leraas was one of twenty chosen to attend this school from a large group of applicants from all over the United States.

Dr. Tingelstad Returns

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, president of Pacific Lutheran College, returned to chapel on Friday, May 20, for the first time since his accident on Armistice Day. He was given a rousing ovation by the students and faculty, who were happy to welcome him back to active participation in campus life.

Seventy-Five Will Receive Diplomas Friday Evening

Rev. Carl E. Rydell of Tacoma
To Give Address; Program
Will Start at 8:00

Seventy-five graduates, from the normal, liberal arts, and high school departments will receive their diplomas at the commencement exercises, held tomorrow night at eight o'clock in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Parkland. Rev. Carl E. Rydell, pastor of First Lutheran Church, Tacoma, who will deliver the commencement address, has chosen as his subject "Open Doors."

The program will begin with the singing of the hymn, "While Thou Art Young," recently dedicated to the class by Prof. N. J. Hong. Rev. A. M. Kraebel, president of the board of trustees, will give the invocation and word of welcome. Musical numbers will be provided by Marguerite Hansen and Vivian Lund, playing a violin duet, and selections by the male quartet, Richard Wiesner, Robert Svare, Donald Monson, and Rudy Elmer.

The exercises will close with the presentation of diplomas, the doxology, benediction by Rev. T. O. Svare, college pastor, and the recessional.

Of the graduating students, 51 are from the normal department, 16 from the liberal arts, and 8 from the high school. Following is a list of those receiving diplomas:

Faculty Members Sent To Church Conventions

Two members of the P. L. C. faculty, Mr. Theodore Nelson, business manager, and Mr. A. W. Ramstad, chemistry instructor will go East for Church conferences during the month of June.

Mr. Nelson will be one of ten delegates, five ministers and five laymen, sent by the Columbia Conference to the Annual Convention of the Augustana Synod held in Brooklyn, New York, June 20 to 26. The Columbia Conference includes all churches of the Augustana Synod in the Pacific Northwest.

After attending this convention, Mr. Nelson will go to the Tercentenary celebration, commemorating the landing of the Swedes in Delaware, to be held at Wilmington, Delaware, June 27, 28, and 29.

Mr. Ramstad will leave June 4 to attend a conference of the Norwegian Lutheran Church in Minneapolis, as a delegate from the Parkland Trinity Lutheran Church. He will travel on the Northern Pacific railway.

Following the convention, Professor Ramstad will visit his father and brothers in Dennison, Minnesota, and he hopes to be able to spend a few days at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota.

Sr. Girls Entertained

Complimenting all graduating Normal girls, Marie Wenberg, Goldene Gerritz, and Ovedia Haugen entertained at a tea on Tuesday afternoon, May 31, at the house in which they are living in Parkland.

The graduation motive was carried out for the occasion. Invitations were written on scrolls in the form of diplomas, and favors were small figures dressed in caps and gowns.

AN UNDERGRAD "DIGRESSES"

The sand in the uppermost globe of Old Father Time's hour glass is almost run out, and we turn again to the ceremonial of graduation. Graduation! What visions of accomplishment, of future, mostly rosy, that word inspires!

The writer, an undergraduate, wishes to digress a little from the congratulatory tone usually accorded to those who have completed their college work. Not as a pessimist, understand, but just as a sort of Stop, Look, Listen man at the grade crossing.

What did you get out of your college work besides a diploma, souvenir programs, congratulations and a Memory Book? What did you aim to get? Wouldn't it be a good moment to take time out, just now at commencement, to see how your aims and your achievements line up?

One thing, perhaps, it is good to have clear at the start. You did not get an education; you acquired the tools of education. The acquisition of knowledge is a life-long process, which will go on to the end of your earthly journey. But every step of the way, the garnering will be influenced by the goodness of those tools.

Perhaps one of the essential implements which you have gained in your college course, is the simple will to work. For the greatest genius, according to the mighty Thomas Edison, is not a Heaven-sent shortcut to accomplishment, but is rather the genius for hard work.

One thing you did get, which perhaps you took for granted and prized far below its real value, was three years of normal, healthy growth—growth of mind and soul as well as body. Conditions here have been favorable for that three-fold development, which, combined, makes you a personality, a being different from every other in the world. Given a proper chance, this growth will continue to be fine and symmetrical, but cramp it in any part, and you will have a crooked, lopsided self that will deny its early grace and balance.

As you turn the big corner, we, the undergraduates, who are a milestone behind, salute you. May your new horizons be wide, and may the tools you have acquired at P. L. C. never lose their keen cutting edge.

"WHEN DAY IS DONE"

In writing this article, my last for the Mooring Mast, I have a feeling both of happiness and sorrow.

This last issue will put to an end my worries about meeting the printer's deadline, putting the paper out on schedule, and finding stories that rate a headline when nothing keeps on happening. It will also release me from that thing called "constructive criticism" which has a sting in its tail and a destructive effect on one's ego. I feel happy for those faithful workers on the staff, who will now be free from that brand of editorial sarcasm which appears when stories due at the printers turn up as unfinished business.

I am happy that I have had the honor of editing the Pacific Lutheran College paper for two semesters, for the privilege of working under such a conscientious and able adviser as Mrs. Ruth Franck, for the privilege of having in a fine, hard working staff to depend on—drawn largely from the Journalism class, which has been a life-saver to the editorial staff.

It is with more or less of an apology that an editor glances over the work he has attempted. He feels that he has fallen short in

By Don Monson

AND HERE IT IS: the termination of... well, I can't say what... It might be either good or bad, but that makes no difference as long as there is some of each... We who live in the past have the privilege of choosing that portion of past in which we should live... I, for one, will choose the good, all but for one thing which has been definitely bad: MARTIN'S COLUMN... It's really too bad to take up valuable time and space even mentioning it; but, whether responsible or not, I wish to apologize for each and every word he has written...

Now that all regrets have been dispensed with, let's get sentimental... I always think there is a place for it, and that place is the end of the school year... A few years ago it used to be a great day, but now... well, it reminds me of one thing... Did you ever get a letter which wore on its saddened face a smudge of something or other, and then beside it were these words: "This proves that I'm crying?" Well, I tried that, but Johnson-Cox Printers said that they absolutely could not make a cut of a tear drop... It is a lot of fun to think back though, when there is so much to think back about...

Nine months ago that gang of newcomers asked humbly for entrance to our College, took what the old-timers had to give them, and now they're ready to give... Only two or three years ago our grads were doing the same thing, but now the transition has been made... It would be fun to know just what has taken place...

It's a cliche that book-learnin' ain't done it all... It's a result, of that solution of joys and sorrows, hardships and otherwise, and a little good advice thrown in now and then to keep the balance... You all have had things happen to you which made you think that all the good angels were your enemies; then, when it's all over you're none the worse for wear, and are just a little better able to meet the next similar situation that comes along... That's why we have to pass through some of these critical ages, I guess; just to become adjusted to some of the knocks we're going to take after a while... They'll make the present ones look anemic... A few months ago we all witnessed one of these knocks... It was a little tougher than average, but a good, strong will licked it... I'm thinking of DR. TINGELSTAD... I think I can safely say that the whole school has been with him during his recuperation these past months, and vice versa... His influence is something that will not readily be forgotten by those who have been in contact with it...

And now I guess the time has come to congratulate all you grads... Here's hoping that you, and all the rest, will remember one thing: The inscription above the front gateway to P. L. C. GOOD-BYE

UP-BEAT

By Rudy Elmer

When we look back on the year that is just passing, we see a gradual development of music consciousness... The "Choir of the West" was augmented for the first time by a second choir... For you who lack the experience of choir singing here is an opportunity you should not overlook... Next fall Prof. Malmrin will again conduct a second choir... Prof. Akre also offered an opportunity for the musically inexperienced... He started, last fall, with a beginners' orchestra and ended the season with as fine an orchestra concert as any in the school's past... If you have a desire to learn something about music (and we think you should) keep these organizations in mind when you come back in September.

Outside music activities, too, received greater support from our student body this last year... During the 1937-1938 term, P. L. C. and Parkland had its largest representation in the Tacoma CIVIC MUSIC ASSOCIATION... Next fall begins a new drive for Civic Music members, and a new chance to see and hear these really great artists perform.

Thoughts, my vagrants, whither stray ye seeking logic's lay?
 When 'st writ: From song and lore shall purest wisdom flow.

Should the joys of "life compelling" wane in radiance, Or a grief so overwhelming leave me speechless hence, Yet one gift shall not forsake me, though all others may, It shall bide, a rippled tide—this vagrant strain, today.

much that he set out so confidently to do and realizes that the ideas he has had in his head seemed so much better, somehow, than those he has managed to get into print. Yet, each mistake, each criticism, sting and all, has helped to make the paper better and to stimulate future planning.

It is, then, with real regret that I realize my editorial duties are over on this, our final issue of this year's publication, that I will not be able to continue the splendid relationships and contacts which the paper has afforded.

To Marion Johnson, next year's editor, I offer my heartiest congratulations and appreciation. Marion has held the position of associate editor this year and has shared all the worries and responsibilities (and perhaps you would be surprised at their number) of making your paper function. She is well qualified to take over her task, and to her, and to you, I offer my best wishes for a better Mooring Mast for next year.

Every Graduate An Optimist

A sour fa... a pessimistic appraisal of everything and everybody, an attitude of defeatism and discouragement, never won fair maiden or followers for any cause.

The graduating class of 1938 is scattering in every direction. They are going to live in a different world, among different people. Many of their new associates and fellow-workers will know nothing of Pacific Lutheran College, some will have not even an elementary understanding of Biblical Christianity.

Now, we are taking two things for granted. First, that each graduate has learned to love this school, and believes it has a specific mission to fulfill in this great Northwest. Secondly, that each graduate has become a better informed, a more deeply convinced, and a more enthusiastic Christian because of having attended this Christian institution.

This being the case, Pacific Lutheran College and the church of Jesus Christ can look upon this group of graduates as just a few boosters on the field workers. Each new class adds to the number of recruiting agents for a really good school and for soldiers of the cross. To win others, pessimism is definitely out of the picture. Every graduate must be an optimist—one who can see an air conditioner in the storm, a silver lining in every cloud, and interpret the most disconcerting situations of life in the light of absolute trust in the reign of a loving and omnipotent God. Such optimism is contagious. It woos and wins.

Surely, our school has serious problems to meet. Economic conditions in our country are anything but bright. Relief and employment problems are on the increase. But the graduates have the energy and opportunities of youth. They should have the faith of Joseph who optimistically faced seven years of famine. They have the example of Martin Luther who comforted himself and millions since his day by writing: "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." They have the encouragement of Franky Crosby whose sight was completely destroyed when she was only 5 weeks old, but who at 8 years of age wrote: "Oh, what a happy soul am I. Although I cannot see, I am resolved that in this world Contented I will be."

How many blessings I enjoy, That other people don't; To weep and sigh because I'm blind, I cannot, and I won't.

—E. G. Wuest.

KAMPUS KOMBINGS

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Moore of Auburn have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruby Moore, third year student at P. L. C., to Mr. Joe Galvin, son of Mrs. L. C. Galvin of Seattle. The wedding date has not been set.

Tree-climbers, here's your chance. Mr. Xavier announced in his Nature Study class that he will give twenty dollars to anyone who can climb to the top of his monkey tree. Incidentally, the needles on this tree are so hard that they go through the cover of a soft ball, and the tree is the second highest of its kind on the Pacific coast.

We hear that Doris Hovey, Ellen Horner, Grace Hanson, Marjorie Johnson, Lois Hoffman, and Dornberg Hackert went on a trailer party to Lake Wilderness last week end. The trek was probably inspired by a nostalgic bang-over from last week's swing party.

Little Grover Akre is causing Glen Gustavson much embarrassment. Every time he meets Gus he asks, "Haven't you got that 'car' of yours fixed yet?" Rumor has it that the students have named a certain faculty member "Steamboat Bill" because of the way he gets steamed up and then put-putts around the golf course.

PREXY'S CORNER

A PARTING WORD TO THE P. L. C. CLASS OF 1938

Beginning next Friday evening, June 3, God willing, you will, so to speak, be wearing a new label: Pacific Lutheran College graduate of 1938. It is an honor and a great privilege to wear this label. May you ever keep it bright, clean, shining!

This label will open for you many doors. It will assure you of many a hearty welcome. It will secure for you in many situations cordial consideration. It will place at your disposal many a warm heart and the helping hand of many a true friend. It confers upon you a new dignity, new responsibilities, increased influence, and added social worth.

May you find in your hearts deep gratitude to those whose sacrifices have raised you to your new estate, true loyalty to our God and Savior, and true joy in the greater prospect of unselfish service in a world that needs above all things the spirit of our Lord Jesus Christ!

Thank you for the past! God bless you for the future!
 O. A. TINGELSTAD.

CHAPEL GLEANINGS

I don't try to understand that all things work together for those that love the Lord. I know it. It is His righteousness, grace, and mercy only that can cleanse us.

O. A. Tingelstad.
 No Christian should ever permit the scoffing of the unbeliever or the weakness of his own heart to wrest from him the assurance which faith in Jesus offers.

ALUMNI NOTES

Enid Hutson, '36, and John Van Leuven, '35, were married Wednesday evening, June 1, at eight o'clock in the college chapel. Rev. J. P. Pflueger, officiating. Miss Hutson's attendants were: Miss Mae Jensen, Marie Johnson, Ella Mabel Goff, and Louise Williams. William Case was best man, and Edwin Beltz and Ward Young were ushers. The young couple left Wednesday evening for New York City where they will both study at Columbia University during the summer. Returning in September, both will teach at McMillan, where Mr. Van Leuven is principal.

John Stuen, '36, who has been attending C. P. S. this year, was one of the members of the golf team of that college. The team has taken several trips out of town this year. Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper of Washington, D. C. recently announced the birth of twins, Georgene and Jo Ann. Mr. Cooper was graduated from P. L. C. with the class of 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Lane announce the birth of a son, John Gerhard, on March 31. Mr. Lane was graduated from P. L. C. with the class of 1929. He is a missionary in the United Lutheran Church and is at the present time stationed in Linvoh, Honan, China.

Stanley Young, '37, allied with his mother for Sweden on May 28. They departed from New York on the Swedish-American boat, Orifalholm, and will go directly to Sweden where they will spend the summer.

WAA Girls Honor P. E. Instructor

Honoring Mrs. Dapper, physical education instructor at P. L. C. who will leave the college at the close of this school year, more than 50 girls attended the Women's Athletic Association banquet last Friday evening, May 27, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Winthrop.

At an impressive candlelight ceremony preceding the banquet, five girls were installed as officers: Margaret Thompson, president; Ella Mae Adams, vice president; Signe Midtsater, secretary; Aagot Gerde, treasurer and Grace Hanson, advertising manager.

The presentation of the special awards, made at the conclusion of the banquet, came as a complete surprise to all present. Alice Cook was given the W. A. A. pin for three years of outstanding ability and good-sportsmanship. Esther Norgaard and Melba Fenney were given sweaters, having tied for the second award. Grace Hanson and Nellie Jean Miner were given honorable mention.

Letter: were awarded by Mrs. Dapper to the following girls for athletic ability: Seniors: Elva Bergman, Enid Blake, Ana Mae Johnson, Melba Fenney, Alice Cook and Esther Norgaard; Sophomores: Ella Mae Adams, Signe Midtsater, Mildred Tollefson, Margaret Thompson, Aagot Gerde, Vera Taylor, Nellie Jean Miner and Ruth Watney. Freshmen: Grace Hanson, Carol Haavik, Inez Nelson, Jane Olson, and Olive Holt; Liberal Arts: Mary Bergman, Jeanne Preus, Babette Brottem, Doris Nesvig and Fredrika Schlanbusch.

Esther Norgaard acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers for the evening. Mrs. Burton Brown of Tacoma, who is well-known to the W. A. A. girls, gave the main address. Rhoda Hokenstad, who will succeeded Mrs. Dapper as instructor of physical education for women at P. L. C. next fall and Enid Hutson, former president of W. A. A., spoke briefly to the group.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was the motif used for the decorations and the program, which included group songs from the Walt Disney production. A contralto trio, composed of Gudrun Hanson, Jeanne Preus and Signe Midtsater, sang selections from the film.

Special guests for the evening included Mrs. Lora B. Kreidler, dean of women; Mrs. Louise S. Taylor, county superintendent of schools; Miss Vivian Johnson, normal supervisor; Mrs. Elvin M. Akre and Wadene Calavan.

Enid Blake was general chairman for the affair, assisted by Margaret Thompson and Signe Midtsater.

I was very amused (no astonished) to read that brilliant remark (who wrote it for you?) of yours about two paragraphs down from the top since you couldn't have read my telegram (legally) until the m.m. was printed . . . and to think we sat in the same ethics class together! would like to get my hands on the stool pigeon who revealed information to you. could point finger of scorn at you. mr. morson, but authority, emily post (or is it m. lup. oeb), sez it is a dial telephone, as punishment for your breach of etiquette, i must say that next year you will have to write your own jokes, without any help from me.

IS BUD KRUEGER IN THE HOUSE? . . . About our discussion concerning when a base-runner may leave the base in softball, may I refer you to Sec. 12, Rule 20 (When Base-Runners Are Out): "If he leaves or falls to keep contact with the base which he is entitled to occupy, while the pitcher has the ball in pitching position and until a legally pitched ball has left the hands of the pitcher."

Yes, Bud, this is taken from the 1938 Softball Rulebook, and applies to both the fast pitching and slow pitching types of play . . . During the Dorm-Off-Campus girls' softball clash last week, I saw (in addition to some heavy artillery at the bat and pretty fair fielding) two instances where 'appeal plays' should have been made, three infield flies (uncalled), which would have affected the score if detected, and other faux pas by the umpires . . . I would like to have seen a softball game between the boys and girls. The result might surprise many of us. Those guys really turn on the heat at the platter.

LAST SHOTS. Must mention the excellent work Gary Pflieger turned in as Sports Editor on the 1938 Sagas . . . Yes, and both staffs for that matter . . . Yes, the John Stuen, who has been collecting points as No. 2 man on the C. P. S. links squad is the same John Stuen you thought it was . . . Time to confess that Mush-Ad Lib 'feud' isn't as serious as one might think. I really admire the clever humor bolium of Don Monson, and he doesn't like my stuff either. Let's kiss-and-make-up, huh Don?

An 'appeal play' is one in which the umpire does not make the decision until his attention has been called to the play by a member of the team not at bat.

Tsk! Tsk! This reporter caught Otis Grande, our own student body proxy CHEATING, mind you. Yes sir, Otis was seen counting his ribs during an anatomy exam.

PLC Tennis Squad Defeats Seattle 4-3

Losing their first three single matches, the Pacific Lutheran college tennis squad rallied its forces to win the next four matches and defeat a strong net team from Seattle College four matches, to three. It was the final match of the year for the locals as they stroked their way to victory for the second time this season on the Jefferson courts of Tacoma, Tuesday, May 24.

It was Jack Wall, PLC No. 4, man, that started the Lutheran rally as he defeated Wilson of Seattle in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4. Don Hepp, PLC No. 5 man, continued in the win column as he defeated Ryan 6-3, 6-3. Roland Wuest and Arnold Swanson, playing the No. 1 doubles for the locals, evened the match at three matches each as they defeated the Seattle doubles team of Sauval and Wilson in straight sets 8-6, 6-4. With defeat or victory swinging on their rackets, the Gladiator No. 2 doubles team of George Galbraith and Don Hepp played a beautiful brand of tennis as they beat out a three-set victory over Siemon and Ryan of Seattle. Beaten 6-1 in the first set, the locals came back strong to win the second 6-1. In the gruelling third set that decided the entire match, Galbraith and Hepp were hard pressed to win 7-5.

The Lutheran tennis team won its first victory of the season when it swamped the net squad of Centralia junior college 7-0 on the latter's courts, Thursday, May 19. Playing under a sweltering sun, the locals made short work of the host team and allowed them only one set in seven matches.

Playing on the Hoquiam courts, the PLC tennis team lost a heart-breaking decision to the Grays Harbor junior college tennis squad, four matches to three. The match was played on Friday, May 20.

The locals lost the first four single matches before Don Hepp broke through into the win column, winning his match easily in straight sets 6-2, 6-2. Continuing their brilliant play in doubles competition, the two PLC doubles teams of Wuest and Swanson, Galbraith and Wall, defeated their opponents in an exhibition of brilliant tennis. Wuest and Swanson winning 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, and Galbraith and Wall winning 6-3, 8-6.

DAPPER DIANNES

Mrs. Dapper's presence with us these few weeks has been a great inspiration in making the final athletic events a success.

Eileen Horner copped the individual honors for the girls' track meet, and very deservedly. That gal is 'gone with the wind,' at the signal and there's no catching her.

The sophomore Normal team has come to the front at the close of the athletic season, winning the track meet as well as the baseball championship. At the beginning of the season, Dee Hauge said she "just couldn't do a thing in track"; yet she was the only senior to make the honor track team. Nice work Dee!

When congratulated on her skill in high-jumping, Signe Midtsater commented, "Well, didn't Thor make a dime on me?" There's nothing like having a stimulating inspiration.

Ana Mae Johnson will be one of the swimming instructors for the Metropolitan Park Board this summer, possibly at Spanaway Lake where she taught last year.

The ladder tennis tournament has been progressing nicely, with the first four of each class as follows: Senior: Anna Mae Johnson, Esther Norgaard, Alice Cook and Elva Bergman. Sophomore: Betty Hall, Nellie Miner, Ella Mae Adams and Mildred Tollefson. Freshman: Berghild Arne, Mary Ellis, Jean Preus and Mary Bergman. High School: Betty Jo Foster, Thelma Games and Betty Lou Stennes. The girls have been good sports about playing in the hot sun . . .

A big bouquet to Margaret Thompson our new W. A. A. proxy! Margaret has been active in sports, as well as loyal and cooperative, in the two years she has attended P. L. C.

Ath. Awards Given To 41 Candidates

A total of 41 men's athletic awards, representing five sports, were given to the respective candidates in Chapel on the final student body day, Thursday, June 2. The awards were given by Dr. Q. A. Tingelstad.

Earl Platt, towering guard and center on the Gladiator hoop squad, was chosen by his team mates as the most inspirational player during the past season. Earl will have his name engraved on the Paul A. Preus Inspirational Cup. Last year's winner was Arnold 'Tim' Tommervik. Paul Larson was elected as honorary captain for the past season by his team mates, succeeding Hal Nilsen.

Basketball awards were given to: Hal Nilsen, Sig Sturudson, Earl Platt, Paul Larson, Charlie Leask, Bob Metz, Walt Simonson, Chuck Fallstrom, Murray Taylor, Gerald Hardtke, Orville Schlanbusch.

Baseball awards: Earl Platt, Paul Larson, Stener Kvinsland, Don Sloppy, Bill Capps, Bob Tommervik, Bob Moe, Ford Willey, Bob McDougall, Bob Mullen, Walt Johnson, Frank Unger, Arne Strand.

Golf awards: Harry McCormick, Lloyd Thompson, Frank Unger, Stan Fries.

Track awards: Fred Krueger, Bob Krueger, Blair Taylor, Murray Taylor, Emil Smith, Lawrence Jungck, Pete Gary, Mel Erickson.

Upon meeting the requirements of the respective sport, Coach C. O. Olson recommends the candidate for a letter award to the Lettermen's Club, and all candidates accepted by this group receive letters. Pacific Lutheran College has been especially active in its spring sport schedule this year, having four spring sports. Ten awards were given in basketball, thirteen in baseball, four in golf, five in tennis and eight in track.

An Open Letter

The following letter was received by the president of the P. L. C. Debate Club concerning their programs broadcast over KMO during recent months.

Dear Mr. Maki:
Your letter at hand, and in reply wish to state it has been a pleasure having the P. L. C. debate team on my radio program. Many compliments have been paid to me in their behalf for the wonderful debates given over the air. I do hope that the team will renew their broadcast when ever possible, as the time is theirs when asked for.

Hoping our friendship will continue. I remain,

Yours very truly,

paste spinach labels on cans so he'd grow strong like Popeye!

But don't despair. Your reporter did run down a few serious minded people among us, who really intend to work this summer. For instance, there's Rudy Moeller, who is already sawing timber in a logging camp at Gig Harbor, and Cliff Bruland who is going to do landscape gardening in Portland. Then there is Vera Taylor, who will work at the Country Club; "Butch" Roelseth, who will be paid for "cutting up" in a Montana saw-mill; Stan Fries and Sigurd Sigurdson who will keep the violets picked at the Parkland golf course; Betty Evanson, Ruth Downton, Vivian Smith and Mar-jorie Johnson who will work in the Girl Scout day camp to be held in Tacoma parks; and Ed Warner will take over his duties as an athletic director in the Tacoma parks.

Paul Fosso will do office work in Ketchikan, Alaska; Sylvia Miller is planning to direct the Junior Choir of the Mason Presbyterian church in Tacoma; Leola Lockwood will do sec-retarial work in the L & L Shingle Mill of Tacoma and Lorna Voeburg is going to help manage a confectionery store in Tacoma.

Earl Platt plans to combine business and pleasure, in playing baseball and working for the Grays Harbor Ply-wood Co. Then there is Eddie Moline who is going to work in a Cafe at his home town in North Dakota.

Ed Pederson expects to work on a fishing boat in Alaska; Walter Goplerud has a job in a cannery at Silver-ton, Oregon; Mildred Hanson will be a waitress at Longmire; and Fred But-ter is going to work at the Mayflower dairy where he can practice his oratory on all the contented cows.

Many students have applied for jobs, ranging from that of assistant guide to dish washer at the mountain, but as yet these assignments have not been given out.

(The half-sole began to wear thin at this stage, so your reporter is signing off with an apology to the job holders who didn't get an honorable mention. Hope you'll all make lots of money and be back next year.)

VACATION VAGARIES

By Pearl Walden

THE WANDERERS

In every direction o'er our fair land Soon start many students of P. L. C.'s head—

Wiprud, DeBerry, Jeanne Preus, and Bos

Will hop on the train, and back East they'll go.

Larson and Fosso, if anyone asks ya, with Leado and Swanson will head for Alaska.

Bruland and Orde and Thompson and Wuest
Along with Miss Torvend go South for a rest.

Goodby to our friends whom we hope we shall see Next autumn again at dear old P. L. C.

REVENGE

I've been a freshe since last fall. It's been a queer sensation. But I know what will fix it all— One great big long vacation.

I'll rest and lie around and dream. And think of lots of things To fit into my little scheme For the freshes next year brings.

VACATION JOYS

I'm going to welcome my vacation. For reasons not a few, I've planned all kinds of recreation. Some are very new.

When the alarm clock rings out clear To wake me from my slumber, I shall reply, "Sorry, old dear, Try next fall—wrong number."

My books may gather tons of dust, But I shall let them be. For I am very sure they must Need a rest as well as me. (Hope G. G. won't see this one.)
