Sock Frolic Held in Gym February 10

Be sure your loudest socks are all washed up for the "Freshman Frolic"—an all-school party sponsored by the Freshman class. This sport-clothes event will be held Saturday, February 4, at 7:30 in the gym. Shoes will be checked at the door. Later, prizes will be given for the loudest, the biggest, and the holiest socks.

Volleyball and basketball games will be going in one part of the gym while chess, checkers, rummy, and Old Maid and the like are played in another part. Mrs. Young will lead folk games. The evening will feature a basketball game between the freshman boys and the faculty.

Co-chairmen for the party are Naomi Roe and Stan Norlie. It is under the direction of John McBride, president of the Freshman Class, and Mr. Zulauf, adviser. Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Ramstad, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Seligh. Bob Gregerson will take care of the refreshments, and Kenny Benschaw will handle the publicity. The social committee, under Carol Schuler and Harriet Olsen, will work on decorations. Everyone is invited to help decorate.

There will be no admission charge. This party is for recreation—not for money-making. If enough students participate to make the evening successful, perhaps many more of these social events will be held.

PLC - CPS Meet In Tyro Contest

Debate assignments for the annual Tyro tournament at CPS have been announced by Mr. Karl, debate coach.

There will be no senior men's debate team assigned to the tournament from PLC. Dan Graham, Bob Ericson and Hyman Fisch will enter one man debate. Marguerite Eastvold will be entered in the women's division of that same event.

Members of the junior varsity squad will be paired as follows: Jon Ericson and Alan Hatlen, Herb Neve and Bill Reike, Howard Worley and Leon Peerboom, Bob Brass and either Bob Ferguson or Frank Berry, Lil Leikauf and Bev Wigen, and Margaret Kutz and Helen Jensen.

The varsity squad team of Lou Innerarity-Don Graham has been dissolved with Innerarity's retirement from the squad because of personal financial reasons. Innerarity will be employed in Parkland and can offer no definite assurance of being able to devote time to squad activities.

Individual events entries at the CPS tourney show Jon Ericson in oratory and extemp; Lil Leikauf in oratory, after-dinner speaking and impromptu; Bob Ericson in impromptu and extemp; Margaret Kutz in ADS.

Neve Places 1st In Oration Meet

An oration on the subject, "Signposts to Success," meant just that to Herbert Neve, Everett freshman, when the judges awarded him first place in the annual all-college oratorical contest held in the Student Union Wednesday evening.

Dr. S. C. Eastvold, president of the college, awarded the first place trophy to Neve as the concluding event on the program.

The contest was sponsored by the campus chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics honorary. Lloyd Cleven, president of the Epsilon chapter, was master of ceremonies.

Jon Ericson, Richland sophomore who took third last year, was awarded second place for his oration, "A Prayer for Peace." Lillian Leikauf, Portland sophomore, took third place honors for her oration, "Youth, Tomorrow's Hope."

The first second and third place winners also received cash prizes of ten, five and three dollars, respectively.

Neve's name will be engraved on the first place trophy which is kept here at the college.

The two other contestants in the finals were Vaughn Nelson, who spoke on "Black Margot Babies," and Mary Larson, whose oration was entitled, "Will There Be Opportunities Tomorrow?"

Judges for the contest were Dr. Eastvold, Dr. Philip E. Hauge, dean of the college; and Dr. J. P. Pflueger, chairman of the department of religion.

HJORDIS FABER, who trained in Europe, has the lead in a series of scenes from the plays of Shakespeare being presented in the Student Union Building tonight at 8:15.

"Choir of the West" Starts Tour; Opens Season On Peninsula

The college "Choir of the West," under the direction of Gunnar J. Malmin, will start its winter concert season with a three-day tour of the Olympic peninsula between semesters.

Leaving the campus Friday afternoon, Jan. 27, the 59-voice a capella group will travel to Aberdeen in the two college buses. That evening they will give a concert at 8 in Our Savior's Lutheran Church, the Rev. Milton Nesse, pastor.

Saturday the choir will travel up the peninsula to Port Angeles, where they will sing at 8 p.m. in the Roosevelt high school auditorium. The concert is under the sponsorship of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, the Rev. Carl Fischer, pastor.

Friday and Saturday evenings the choristers will stay in the homes of members of the sponsoring churches.

Sunday afternoon, Jan. 29, the choir will be in Puyallup to give a concert in the South Kitsap high school auditorium at 3 o'clock. First Lutheran Church, the Rev. L. J. Floren, pastor, will sponsor the concert.

Coontz junior high school in Bremerton will be the scene of the Sunday evening concert at 8 o'clock. This appearance is sponsored by Our Savior's Lutheran Church, the Rev. P. B. Hoff, pastor.

Eugene Ahrendt will tour with the choir this year as assisting artist. He will play two sets of violin numbers between the choir groups. Marilyn Hanich will accompany him at the piano.

Charles Martin will have three solo numbers with the choir this year. Jean Hlesla has the solo role in one selection.

The program this year includes the following selections: Group I, "Blessing, Glory, Wisdom and Thanks," by Bach; "Keep Silence Before Him," by Malmin; "Who Is Like Thee?," a Hebrew chant; "Of Thy Mystical Supper," by Lvoff; "Alleluia," by Randall Thompson.

Group II—"Let All the Nations Praise the Lord," by Leising; "The Righteous," by Johann C. Bach; "Go Sigh," by Malmin; "Savior of Sinners," by Mendelssohn.

Group III—"Den Store, Hvide Flok," by Grieg; "Hodie—Today Christ Is Born," by Healey Willan; "Be Merciful to Me," by Schnackenberg; "Wake, Wake," by Christiansen; "Nunc Dimittis," by Peter Lutkin.

Several other weekend appearances are slated by the choir for the next two months. Sunday evening, February 5, they will sing in the Kent high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Sunday, February 12, the choir will give a 4 o'clock concert in Westminster Presbyterian Church in Olympia, and one in the evening at 8 o'clock in Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Longview.

Sunday, March 12, a 4 o'clock concert will be given in Ballard First Lutheran Church, Seattle, and an 8 o'clock one in First Lutheran Church, Tacoma.

Friday, March 17, the group will leave for the midwest on a three-week tour of 20 cities in five states.

Puget Sound Youth Rally in Gymnasium

An evangelism youth rally for college students and Luther Leaguers in the Puget Sound area will be held in Memorial gymnasium Wednesday evening, February 1, at 7:30.

The Rev. Gaylord Falde of Hawthorne, Calif., will give the inspirational address. The Rev. E. C. Reinertson of Minneapolis, director of evangelism for the Evangelical Lutheran Church, will give a talk on the subject, "How Can Young People Evangelize."

This rally is a part of an Puget Sound area evangelism conference which is being sponsored by the ELC Sunday through Wednesday, January 29 to February 1, in Tacoma, Seattle, Everett and Mt. Vernon.

Dr. S. C. Eastvold, president of the college, is on the conference program. He will speak at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 38th and A, Tacoma, Monday evening, January 30, on the subject, "The Bible in the Home."

The Rev. Kelmer N. Roe, professor in religion, will conduct a Bible study in Everett, Monday, January 30, at the morning session; and will give a family altar demonstration in the evening at Bethlehem Church, Tacoma.

Play Group To Appear Here Tonite

Have your tickets ready. Seating in the middle inlet only "Curtain going up" (buzz), "curtain going up."

On stage in the Student Union Building of Pacific Lutheran College Friday evening at 8:15 will be presented a series of scenes from the plays of Shakespeare, given by Tacoma's own "Masque Theater."

Hogan Harrington, director of the company, is well known for her work in "Little Theater" productions. She is fulfilling an ambition long awaited, to have a company of her own. Working with her is Hjordis Faber, producer-actress of "Masque Theater," who gained training in the European theater.

Scenes taken from Shakespeare include "Taming of the Shrew," "As You Like It," "Twelfth Night," "Richard III," "MacBeth" and "Romeo and Juliet."

Appearing in several of the scenes will be Dorothy Rowland. She had dramatic training at the University of Washington, acting in plays there and several others on the West coast. One success was the role of mother in Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie."

Robert Crouch also attended drama studies at the University of Washington and took part in theatrical projects along the coast.

Another performer is Calvin Leigh, who will appear in roles from an old man to a romantic young hero. He has sung with the Los Angeles Opera Company.

The program, sponsored by the Curtain Call Club, is being presented for PLC students and residents of this area. Admission charge will be a modest fee and an invitation is extended to engage in refreshments during intermission.

Augsburg Choir Will Visit On February 8

The Augsburg College Choir from Minneapolis will visit the college on Wednesday, February 8, on its winter tour of the Pacific Northwest. Singing under the direction of its famous conductor, Henry G. Opseth, the choir will appear at the chapel service that morning. At noon the "Choir of the West" will entertain the visiting choristers at a luncheon.

Tuesday evening, February 7, the Augsburg singers will give a concert in Central Lutheran Church, S. 10th and G, Tacoma, at 8:15. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. They are on sale in the college bookstore.

Kenneth Sorenson, manager of the choir, has chartered the college buses to take his choir to Enumclaw for their concert Wednesday evening. Except for this side trip, the rest of the tour is being made by railroad.

Jupiter Pluvius Routs King Boreas

Local weather man for Tacoma, Ross O. Miller, has announced that the cold spell is definitely over for a while. Local forecast through next Wednesday predicts rising temperatures, generally warmer conditions except Sunday night, and intermittent rains throughout the period.

The temperature stood at 47 degrees between six and seven o'clock this morning. The thaw will continue, and Clover Creek is expected to overflow just any time. Parklandites are advised that boats may be necessary when descending the hill.

Last Word

The best way to use up this last bit of editorial space that will be afforded to yours truly in our newspaper can best be used by offering some information gleaned during the past semester as editor.

Mast Needs More Funds

The Mooring Mast is not a self-supporting paper by any means, and it does not stand alone in this respect. The funds received (one dollar per regular student each semester) are insufficient as past experience has consistently brought out. The fact that the paper needs a larger allocation than it has been getting is obvious.

Some Staffers Should Be Paid

The Mooring Mast is one of the extremely few college papers in the Northwest Intercollegiate Press Conference that do not pay either their editor or business manager. It is also one of the extremely few papers that does not give grade credit as an extra-curricular activity without the necessity of enrolling in a journalism class.

The editor and business manager spend as high as 20 and 25 hours per week on the paper through necessity when they are doing an adequate job. This amount of time certainly deserves remuneration.

Copy Problem Not Pressing

The problem of adequate copy was greatly lessened this past semester with the institution of the "press representative" plan. With an occasional shot in the arm, adequate copy should not present much of a problem to the editor or the staff.

Paper on the Rocks!

The Mast should not by any means be publishing as large an edition as it is. The paper should be cut to a four column, 12-inch sheet of four pages. It could then pay for itself, but the amount of ads published would crowd the news of college activities out. In that case, the paper wouldn't be worthy of the student body.

The solution to the problem lies in more funds. Advertising is strained to the peak and the answer does not lie in increased ads.

One Recommendation

It is recommended that the paper publish bi-weekly, or that it receive a greater allotment of student body funds, or that it stop publishing altogether. The obstacles that confront the staff are unnecessary and are too prohibitive to be permitted to hamper the people who work hard to get the paper out. The problem lies with the staff, the student council and the administration. It will take all three to solve the difficulty. How interested the student council and the administration are will determine the fate of the paper itself.

Chapel Quotes

By Arthur Arp
"God wants men and women . . . who have caught the vision of what He has done for their souls."—Pastor Smith.
"The world will wait for us to get ready, but it will not wait for us after we are supposed to be ready."—Dr. Eastvold.
"Losing a game by twenty points, or by one point, we have still lost. The same is true of the Kingdom of God."
—Dr. Eastvold
"In this age of speed, darkness spells death: in light alone there is safety. Jesus said, 'Walk in the light . . .'"—Dr. Pflueger.
"Our Christian life can become a performance instead of an experience."—Dr. Hanson.
"Those who accept Christ as their Savior must continue to walk in His light."—Mr. Neuvig.

Behind Our Doors, No One Must Pass!

Locked doors and restricted use of the Mooring Mast office has been decreed for the future. Broken chairs, four of them, missing desks and typewriters, and damage to typewriters and other office equipment by evening visitors that use the Mast office for a rummup room and scrimmage field are the reasons behind the policy.

The Mast sent its two typewriters out for repair and cleaning during Christmas vacation, and now that they have been exposed again to the inept use of various and sundry non-staffers the money was practically wasted.

Those persons not working on the paper and not having business in the Mooring Mast office will be asked to stay out at all times. The office will be looked at night with the two keys in the possession of the editor and the business manager. A third key will be made for the assistant editor, and no more.

In the past the Mast office has been used for various bull sessions, meetings, etc., and no one has had occasion to complain until the office property began to suffer.

A few irresponsibles are the cause of the action that will be taken in the future.

Mast Editor Resigns; Position Wide Open

Editorship of the Mooring Mast stands wide open after this issue of the paper. Lou Innerarity, editor for this year, has submitted his resignation to take up nearly full-time employment.

Mr. Milton Nesvig has been on the lookout for someone to fill the editor's job, and is reported to be considering three or four people for nomination to that position before the Faculty Publications Committee.

The present editor reported that the paper is somewhat better off financially than it was at the beginning of the year. A deficit from the preceding year of $349.00 has been paid, and the prospects of breaking into the black ink by the end of the spring semester are good, providing that income from advertising can be maintained at the fall-semester level.

The editorial column of this issue contains some suggestions for improvement of the paper and for removal of some of the obstacles that stand in the way of the staff in publishing the paper.

Lutes vs. Pirates In Collision Sat.

Jerry Stannard's high riding Whitworth Pirates will be the next hurdle for the Lutes in the Evergreen Conference chase. The two teams will collide in Memorial gymnasium Saturday night at 8:00.

Up until their game with Central last night, the Pirates were tied for second place, along with Eastern, with three wins and one loss in league play.

The Cruisers from Eatonville high will play the Gladiator jayvees in a preliminary tilt slated for 6:15 Saturday.

Next week the Lutherans rest from conference play, but take on return engagements with Seattle U. and Puget Sound. Friday night they will play the Chieftains over in the Queen City. The Logger game will be a non-conference go here. The Lutes hold a 61 to 49 win over Seattle, and two wins over the Loggers this year.

Coach Marv Harshman announced this week that the league game with St. Martin's which was postponed because of the blizzard last week, will be played here Monday, January 30.

Eastern Washington's Savages are expected to take the conference championship this year, and after defeating the UBC quintet last Sunday by the score of 74-43 it looks like they will do it.

The red hot savages averaged 42 per cent of their shots, and that is playing good basketball.

P.L.C. 51, Eastern 79 Central 65, Whit. 63

GERALD HEFTY, sophomore from Portland, Oregon, who has taken over Wes Saxton's place at forward, has done very well in the games played so far this year. Hefty has developed a hook shot in the past year that has added many points to his record.

LEADING SCORERS IN N.W.

Dick Eicher of Eastern Washington College kept the twine smoking last week with 42 points, which is far better than par for the basketball course in 1950.

Eastern's high-flying junior ran off and left Gene Conley, the Washington State College sophomore giant,

From The Bench

By Brass

While checking through the vital statistics issued on the Gladiator caba squad, some enlightening facts were discovered. It was found that the team averaged 6 feet, .08 inches in height and weighed an average of 179.18 pounds per man. The smallest man being Fritz Rapp, standing 5 feet, 7 inches, while Gerald Hefty checks out at 6 feet, 4 inches, as the tallest. Hefty and Glenn Huffman pack the most weight with a mere 195 pounds apiece, the lightweights being Del Schafer and Bert Wells at 150 apiece.

SAVAGES COME TO TOWN

Last night the Eastern Washington Savages invaded the Lute gymnasium, and while the outcome is unknown at the time of this writing, here are a few highlights on their squad. Dick Eicher, a junior, is presently the leading scorer in the Pacific Northwest with 278 points in 17 games. Gene Burke is leading the Evergreen Conference with 66 points in 4 tilts. Captain Dick Luft is a three-year letterman, and is a mighty good defensive player. He was All-Conference last year.

In the two games last year the Lutes and Savages each won one; Eastern took the first tilt 55 to 36, the Harsh-men retaliating in the second contest to win 56 to 44.

ST. MARTIN'S POSTPONED

The contest with St. Martin's, which was scheduled for last Saturday, has been moved to Monday, January 30, providing it doesn't snow on the 29th.

gars have yet to beat Tacoma at home. Also we must consider the hot pace the Rocketmen have been setting of late while at the same time the Victoria team has been in a slump. In the last seven games at home, the Rockets have conquered all comers.

The Cougars will have a new man in their line-up this Saturday, a centerman recently purchased from Cincinnati, George Robertson. He has been a big help to Victoria since joining them and is particularly effective in setting up offensive plays. The Rockets, however, are the hottest team in the loop in the goal department and boast the league's top goal scorer in Doug Adam. Doug is second in point standing, followed by teammates Wingy Johnston, Pee Wee Read and Ronnie Rowe in third, fourth and fifth spots.

Tacoma, Victoria Hockey Tilt Sat.

Forced to postpone last Saturday's hockey match with the Seattle Ironmen, because of snow and ice on the city's streets and highways, the Tacoma Rockets have been skating hard all week in preparation for the next chapter of the Patrick family feud which will unfold at The Arena next Saturday night. When Father Lester Patrick brings his Victoria Cougars to Tacoma to do battle with Son Murray's up-and-coming band of hockeyists.

The third place Rockets have just returned from a highly successful swing through the southern division of the P.C.H.L., where they picked up six out of a possible eight points as they won two and tied two of their four California games. The Orange Shirts are anxious to knock off the Cougars and climb a little closer to the second place Seattle Ironmen. Last Saturday's scheduled match would have been the time to catch the Seattle team, but Old Man Winter decreed otherwise. Incidentally, all the northern P.C.H.L. games, except New Westminster at Seattle Sunday night, were cancelled over the weekend. The Ironmen dropped a 4-2 decision so the Rockets are still breathing down their necks.

Victoria has a slight upper hand in previous contests this season and has turned back the Rockets four games to three. However, Muzz Patrick seems to have the hex over his Old Man on the Arena ice and the Cou-

Fritz Rapp, fast guard, has a good long shot which has pulled many games out of the fire for the Gladiators. Fritz played at Central before transferring to Luteville and will graduate this spring. Rapp is the oldest of the three married men on the team.

Pro Tennis Stars In Tacoma Sat., Feb. 4

Bobby Riggs' touring professional tennis troupe, which includes such stars as Pancho Gonzales and Jack Kramer, will make a stopover in Tacoma, Saturday, February 4, under the sponsorship of the Tacoma Athletic Commission.

The matches will be played in the CPS Memorial Fieldhouse.

The feature attraction pits two former national amateur champions against each other with the older, more experienced Kramer having the edge.

The youthful Gonzales, who won two consecutive national titles before joining the play-for-pay ranks, uses a powerful service as his chief attacking weapon while Kramer has switched from the power ranks to become a stylist along the style of Riggs.

When Kramer turned pro last year, he was considered the colorful, hard-smashing player, but now that Gonzales has jolted the troupe, Kramer has changed his style to become a scientist of the court and it has paid off. Kramer has won 40 of the last 50 matches up to last week.

Other members of the troupe include Frankie Parker, long an outstanding amateur; Pancho Segura, the two-handed beller from Ecuador, and Riggs.

Riggs joined his troupe in California after its return from Europe, and the little tennis machine, who for so long dominated the professional field, is seeing action nightly.

Tickets have been priced at $3.75 for court-side, $2.50 for center balcony, and $1.25 for the remainder of the balcony. Tickets are on sale at Lyle's Sport Shop, Fraser's, and Callender's.

* Good tennis, remember the date of February 4 and get your tickets early to avoid the rush, and get good seats.

Blizzard Plus Power Failures Give Dorm Students Hectic Week End

By Glenna Nelson

Where were you when the lights went out Friday? "Who has a candle?" "Where's a lantern?" "Who stepped on my foot?" "Is that you, Bob?" "No, I'm Donna!" These are some of the sayings made famous Friday night when the electricity gave out here in Parkland. For a good many, the situation was fun, but for some it was catastrophic. Marcia Etzel had quite a time trying to run the switchboard by the light of a match. The kitchen crew recruited many willing hands (you couldn't see the faces) to help in washing all those dirty dishes by hand. By the time Miss Hedahl got back from the store with her candle, the lights had already come back on. That was the one day in the school year that the rule of no candles in the dormitory was outwaded.

There wasn't much playing in the snow on Friday, but the days that followed found many washed faces, frozen hands and feet, and tumbles on the hill out in back of Old Main. Some even found the snow a good place for advertising. One of the first things I saw when I woke up in the morning was "George" scrawled out in the snow in back of Old Main. Old man snow erased his name but Connie, Jo, Dorie, Laura, and Sig still have their signs out.

We didn't mind the fact that there were no classes or even that there were no lights, but when it came to eating half cooked food and huddling around a candle to keep warm, that got pretty rough. Somewhere we had heard that it's warmer where there is a crowd. So Saturday in my room huddled a group of girls in blankets and coats. Everytime the lights went on all would run to the radiator to see if there was a little heat. No luck! The electricity was never on long enough.

Evi and Elvi Nukk and Olaf Magis seemed to be in their glory playing in the snow. This must be Washington's way of making these displaced persons feel at home.

Even though we may be proud to be setting records in thermometer plunging, the warmer weather and sunshine are to most, more than welcome.

Alumni Reunion To Be Feb. 18-19

Eldon Kylo, alumni president, announced today that the annual alumni reunion will be held on campus Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 18 and 19. Meeting in the apartment of Miss Grace Bloomquist, professor in English, Tuesday evening, the reunion committee and the alumni board made plans for the event.

Separate meetings for the men and women will start off the week end festivities at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The men will hold a sports meeting in the gymnasium, and the women will have an informal program and social in the Viking room.

Open house in campus buildings will be held after these meetings. A feature of this open house will be an art exhibit by the members of Miss Dora Berg's art classes.

Last year's winners at the Tyro tournament were Lil Leikauf and Marguerite Eastvold, first place in debate; Lil Leikauf, first place in oratory; Lou Inerarity, first place in ADS and extempe; and Norm Cromarty, first place in men's oratory. Willamette and CPS ran second and third, respectively, in that contest.

Eastvold Leaves For Minneapolis

Boarding a train for Minneapolis Wednesday evening, Dr. S. C. Eastvold, PLC president, began a 10-day trip into the midwest on behalf of the American Lutheran Church Educational Appeal in the Northwestern district. Dr. Eastvold's itinerary calls for two speeches at the Seminary Church, St. Paul, Minnesota, on January 22, a conference with the faculty of Luther Theological Seminary on the 23rd, attendance at a birthday party honoring Dr. A. J. Bergsaker on the same date, a meeting with the United Christian general committee on the 24th, a General Convention conference with Dr. Aagaard, president of the ELC, and Dr. Bergsaker on the 25th.

Dr. Eastvold also plans to attend a few of the sessions of the mid-winter evangelistic conference to be held at the Central Lutheran Church, and also some of the convocation meetings to be held at the Luther Theological Seminary between the 21st and 26th. He leaves Minneapolis on the 26th and expects to arrive in Tacoma the morning of Saturday, the 28th.

On January 29, the PLC president will present the educational appeal at the Luther Memorial Church in Tacoma.

As We See It

By Tawasi

Next week marks the consummation of our semester's labors, when we take our final exams.

This year, as in each of the previous 54 years of our college's existence, we will all storm into our classes and exhibit various degrees of accomplishment. At this point, we, the students, and the professors might run into difficulties of not being mentally prepared to take an examination. Consequently we should be on guard to protect ourselves from the temptation of "hiding ponies" into class. Let us think of the words of St. Paul in Galatians 6:7: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: For whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Knowing that we have received the reward of our own labors, we can be inwardly glad and feel strong.

In Hamilton, New York, the favorite gathering spot of students at Colgate University is the Campus Store because it is a cheerful place—full of friendly collegiate atmosphere. And when the gang gathers around, ice-cold Coca-Cola gets the call. For here, as in college haunts everywhere—Coke belongs.

Eastern Savages Bop Lutes, 79-51

Lutf, Burke and Roffler are names we dont want to hear around PLC any more. Thursday night in Memorial gymnasium these three Eastern hoopsters made 59 points between them in the Savages' 79 to 51 shellacking of our Gladiators.

The defeat was the first conference game the Lutes have lost in their new gymnasium since it was dedicated in December, 1947. It was also the worst defeat suffered since the '46-'47 campaign.

But Red Reese's boys were sizzling hot last night. They made an even 60 per cent of their shots, which is nothing short of phenomenal. The Lutes, on the other hand, made but 27 per cent of their attempts in amassing their 51 markers.

The one bright spot in defeat for the Lutes was the breaking of the all-time Pacific coast collegiate scoring record by ace center Harry McLaughlin. High Harry canned 17 points to bring his all-time total to 1628, which is three more than the record set last year by Moore of Whittier College in California.

If McLaughlin can keep up his scoring pace, 217 so far this season, he will set a record that may not be touched for a long time. He may also finish among the top ten all-time scorers for the nation.

Coach Mary Harshman's boys are still far from out of the running in the Evergreen chase. They have lost but two games in league play, and have 10 games to play.
