

Lutherans Meet Normal Terrors Thursday Night

Ellensburg Quintet to Offer Strongest Opposition of Season in Hot Tilt at C. P. S.

Tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock sharp the Gladiators will meet for the second time the Ellensburg Normal quint on the College of Puget Sound floor.

This is one of the biggest games on the Lutherans' calendar, as the Normal team is undoubtedly one of the best squads in the Northwest for a school of that calibre. In fact the Teachers have made wins over many schools this season which are of a higher class. The Normalites have shown a number of teams how real basketball is played and included in their list of victories, was over University of Idaho, Washington State Fresh and the Motives were all-star team of Tacoma, and besides a host of other wins including paper data, which gives them the edge over the U. of W. fresh, which is almost as strong as the U. varsity. The Medeswot team of Tacoma held a win over the Bellingham Normal team which in turn defeated C. P. S. in a brace of games.

By this it is easy to see that the Normal team is a shouting against the Normal squad to come, and in the last meeting with them, the Gladiators were defeated by a 28-20 score, an exceptionally good showing when compared to the scores of other schools which have met Ellensburg. The Lutherans are out to better that score if it is in the least possible, and will be fighting every minute of the game.

P. L. C. students will be admitted to the game at the C. P. S. gym free of charge and are needed to help the team in their fight. At the same time those in attendance will be given the chance to see one of the best teams in the State in action—in what promises to be one of the best games of the year.

Saturday night the gladiators will meet another exceptionally strong team when they play the Aberdeen Junior College team, on the college floor.

Delta Rho's Plan Valentine Party

The Delta Rho Gammans, at their two recent meetings, decided to give a Valentine luncheon on Friday, the 13th at noon and to exchange Valentines at that time.

As soon as possible the Delta Rho Gammans intend to give an entertainment and invite, as honor guests the day student boys.

New Kicking Post Beckons Students To Trysting Place

"Oh! Wh-why, how, wh-a-a-1? Whoops! A new kicking-post!—And a chorus of feminine 'o's' and 'ah's' was terminated by a wild rush towards our new landmark. There stood the new kicking-post, glittering yellow and black in the warm winter sunshine; and to think that I had not even been aware that our good luck charm had been replaced! But now—

"Two by two they go marching thru

The sweeties is on parade"— And once more I watch the daily thriffling swell; and once more the trysting place made famous by our predecessors draws the shy swain and his better—or worse! half. Deeply carved cognomens ery the artistic talents of our various students and leave for our posterity a reminder that we too, once traversed the path to our dear old kicking-post.

Honor Roll Has Forty-one Names

New System Inaugurated in College Department; High School Same

Twenty-three college students and eighteen high school pupils earned grades which place them on the semester honor roll.

In the college department an honor student is one who has an average of 2.00 or more grade points. Those who receive an average of 2.80 or more are on the distinctive honor roll. Students receiving an average of 2.40 to 2.79 grade points are placed on the high honor roll. No student who has an incomplete or does not carry at least twelve hours in college or the regular high school course is eligible. Physical education does not affect membership.

The distinction honor students are: Fred Mau, 3.00, Helen Thrane, 3.00; Esther Westby, 2.88; Margaret Olson, 2.81. High honor students are: Avalon Wajahn, 2.72; Stella Sorboe, 2.67; and Amanda Leland, 2.43. The remaining honor students are: Muriel Watts, 2.38; Ruth Brown, 2.37; John Hopp, 2.31; Bernice Schaffer, 2.28; Olaf Hagness, 2.23; Mildred Berven, 2.22; Grace Holte, 2.22; Ruth Van Hoven, 2.22; Marie Vandenburg, 2.22; Ruth Jacobson, 2.22; Stella Johnson, 2.20; Lorraine Thoren, 2.17; Mildred Corfield, 2.12; Morris Ford, 2.09; Mary Siler, 2.08; and Thora Rasmussen, 2.06.

The High School Department uses a different method to honor students. Any one having straight "A" is on the distinctive honor roll. Those who receive nothing lower than a "B" are on the high honor roll. The students who have an average of "B" are on the regular honor roll.

Lil'an Olson is the only student on the distinctive honor roll in the high school department. Ray Hinderlie, Emil Jaech, Wallis Kerr, Alice Roe and Edger Larson are on the high honor list. The other high school honor students are: Frances Barr, Walter Christensen, Eleanor Dahlbe, E. Elsie Hamby, Lillian Keil, Eleanor Loftus, Jesse Pfeuffer, Jens Riksheim, John Stuen, Gilbert Bydow, Charley Webb, and William Pfeuffer.

CHOIR SINGS AT ROY ON TUESDAY

The College a Capella Choir, under the direction of J. O. Edwards, sang in concert at the P. T. A. meeting of the Roy High School yesterday afternoon.

Mission Society Plans Program

Fred Mau gave a report on the life of David Livingstone at the Mission Society meeting held February 4, 1931.

The other number on the program was a saxophone solo by Viola Knudson accompanied by Ruth Wersen.

On Friday evening, March 6, the Mission Society is sponsoring a special entertainment.

Two main features of the program will be presentations by a juggler from Seattle and musical numbers by the Percival orchestra.

Two Decisions Already Met; Church Board Donates $500; Officials Offer Objections

With two of the three conditions on which the choir should be allowed to sing at the Young People's Luther League Convention in Chicago this summer removed, the final decision rests on the obtaining of $2500 from the city of Tacoma. It is necessary that Professor Elvestrom and President Tingstad go East in about two or three weeks provided they receive some assurance that this condition can be successfully met.

The three conditions on which this trip may be made as stipulated by the Board of Trustees are:

1. That $2500 be secured from the people of Tacoma.
2. That $500 be secured from the Church Board.
3. That there be no objection from Church officials.

The second and third of these conditions have been successfully met, and according to President Tingstad, there are two possible ways of meeting the third condition. First, that we get a certain number of individuals to provide this support because of the advertising value of this tour to greater Tacoma, or second, to put on a gigantic complimentary concert in the spring with a sale of 2500 tickets at $1.00 each. President Tingstad will attend a conference for presidents of academies and junior colleges of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America to be held in the Nicollet Hotel, Minnesota, on March 2 and 3. At this conference, among other questions, the future of academies will be discussed by President L. W. Boe of St. Olaf College.

"Our" Professor Enjoys Birthday

Started Teaching at Eighteen Graduate of Luther; High School Principal Here

Sixty-five years young, for thirty-four years a teacher in Tacoma schools, and at present a not-at-all abundant-minded professor at Pacific Lutheran College—that's the record achieved by Professor N. J. Hong when he celebrated his birthday on February 7.

Professor Hong was born on February 7, 1886, in Coon Prairie, now known as Westby, Wisconsin. When but three years old, Mr. Hong moved with his parents to a farm near Wilmar, Minnesota, travelling by steamboat, ox-cart and train. He received his early education in the Minnesota public schools, then conducted only three or four months during the year. His high-school education he received at the Wilmar Academy.

At the age of 18 he began teaching school and taught until he entered Luther College in Decorah, Iowa. From this institution he was graduated in 1895. He taught in the Wilmar Seminary for two years. In 1897 he became a teacher in Pacific Lutheran Academy and the following year its president. This position he held until the school was closed in 1918 because of the war.

In 1918 Professor Hong began teaching in Lincoln High School, Tacoma, and during the last seven years there was head of the English department.

He returned to Pacific Lutheran College when Dr. O. A. Tingstad, a former student of Professor Hong, became president and asked him to become an associate. Mr. Hong is here now as principal of the High School Division, teaching composition, journalism, oral expression and acting as advisor for the editorial staff of the Mooring Mast.

"It may seem strange to you," said Mr. Hong, "but the fact is that at sixty-five I enjoy the association and I overlook of young people more than I ever did—much more than I do those of older people. For," he added with a smile, "most young people grow, while a large number of the older people don't."

FACULTY ADOPTS STUDY HALL PLAN

The study hall plan for high school students was adopted at the faculty meeting last Monday. This system is to aid certain high school students to raise their grades.

Preparations for All-College Play Made for Friday Night

LAVIN WILL COACH HIGH SCHOOL PLAY
The High School Literary Society has chosen Frances Jane Lavin to coach a play which will be given by members of the club. The play and the cast will be chosen next week. The play will probably be presented the latter part of March.

Dramatic Society Members Selling Tickets; Others Busy With Plays

Preparations for presentation of the all-college play, "Broken Dishes" are being made for eight o'clock Friday evening, February 13. Tickets are now on sale and can be secured from members of the Dramatic Society or from Ruth Norgaard, chairman of the ticket committee. The price for adults is thirty-five cents and for children, twenty-five cents.

In order to make this play a financial success and to do justice to the faithful work put forth by the play cast members of the Dramatic Society have been urged to sell at least five tickets apiece. Anyone selling five tickets will get one ticket free.

It has been the practice of the Dramatic Society to present one all-college three-act play every year besides several one-act plays. According to Mrs. Taylor, dramatic coach and adviser, Mr. Haug and Mrs. Kreidler, who helped pick the cast, there was an abundance of good material from which to choose the actors for "Broken Dishes," and the production should, therefore, be every bit as good as any former play presented at this college.

Several members of this society are busy working on one-act plays which will be presented in the near future. There have already been calls for them from the Lakeview Sanatorium. Mrs. Taylor will choose the play to be presented there probably within the next week.

Officers for this presentation are: Stella Sorboe, Esther Westby, Alice King and Mildred Monsen.

The committee in charge of all stage work is: Harold Gray, Olaf Hagness, Millard Quay, and Jesse Pfeuffer. The seating committee consists of Olaf Hagness, John Johnson, Walter Wright, William Pfeuffer, and Delmar Mortenson.

Arions to Leave For South Soon

Beginning February 20, to Give Daily Concerts in Oregon Cities Also

Reverend Carl Foss, Pacific Lutheran College fieldman, accompanied by his mother, is now in California and has scheduled for the Arions a musical group composed of Anni Mikkelson, soprano; Henry Holm-Jensen, baritone; Wallis Kerr, violinist; and Harriet Berens, pianist. Concerts to be held daily, beginning February 20. These will be presented in cities between Portland, Oregon, and Los Angeles, California. The trip will cover a period of two weeks.

The Arions will be accompanied by Reverend George Lane, of Pacific Lutheran College. The income will be divided among the individual participants and the College representative.

This group participated in a P. L. C. Development Day Program in the Lutheran Church, Rev. Heimdahl's charge at Fir Wash, Feb. 1. It will also present a program in Rev. Norgaard's Church, Everett, Washington, on February 15. It has also presented programs at the Lutheran Church in Stanwood, formerly Reverend Lane's charge.

Students Enjoy Six-Mile Hike to Paradise Sunday

Early Sunday morning, February 1, a group of about thirty-five students, together with the Luther League, made a trip to Mt. Tacoma. Because there was no snow at Longmire, it was necessary for the party to hike to Paradise Inn. The six-mile hike took just about all the energy which the hikers possessed, but after a short rest, everyone was soon ready for snow-ball fights, skiing, and whatnot.

Although there were few in the party who actually could ski, several boys tried the difficult feat, only to find out that skis are only for those who know how to use them, without landing on that tender spot—the head.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the party started back for Longmire where a lunch was served. Just as the sun began to settle in the west, every one tired and cold, started back to Parkland, none the worse from 12 miles of hiking through the snow.

Women Debaters to Meet W. S. C.

The intercollegiate debaters will open their debate season early next week when two women's teams will clash with two teams from Washington State College.

Although the dates are not definitely decided, it is certain that the debates will be held by the middle of the week. At present the negative side, consisting of Ruth Jacobson and Ruth No guard is scheduled to meet W. S. C.'s affirmative on February 18.

On February 19 the affirmative team consisting of Dagny Hjermstad and Evelyn Arneson will meet the W. S. C. negative.

Debaters Solve Age-Old Question

"Resolved: That inter-high-school athletics as now conducted are more detrimental than beneficial" was the subject debated on January 28 by members of the Debate Club. The negative team, Anna Ayers and Mildred Berven, won the decision of the judges over Mildred Card and Delmar Mortenson. After the debate, Prof. Haug showed the loop-holes left by both sides, and also pointed out the good points brought out by each team. The debate was well attended.

Which Heart Will I Give, Who Will I Give It to, Huh?

"In spring a young man's faith lightly turns to thoughts of love." Although February is a winter month, it is very much like spring this year. Pussy willows, flowers, budding trees, and warm sunshine all confirm this fact. In the middle of the year's shortest month—the one we are now enjoying—comes a special day.

On this day, hearts—large or small, plain or fancy—are very much in evidence. They are worn profusely everywhere. One heart may turn the thoughts of a young lady, as well as those of a young man, to "thoughts of love." (Is it the King or Queen of hearts?)

As our favor the land mark has been replaced, there may be fewer hearts than usual in around P. L. C. on February 14. The kissing post has promised not to reveal any secrets, so it will be impossible to know how many hearts are exchanged on the campus on Valentine's Day.

A GOOD WORK

The Mission Society deserves to be commended for its decision to sponsor an entertainment to raise money to support a native child of one of our schools in Madagascar. The school as a whole should take interest in the Mission Society and its projects, for it is the only religious organization for both men and women in the college. A better attendance at its meetings would facilitate its work greatly.

"BROKEN DISHES"

The Dramatic Club is busily engaged in selling tickets for the all-college play which will be presented this Friday night at eight o'clock. There are opportunities for others to get free tickets by selling five. This play represents the dramatic talent in the school, and merits the support of everyone. If you don't have a ticket yet, be sure to make the acquaintance of one of these salesmen.

CONGRATULATIONS, MR. BARDON

We were with interest that Professor Bardon's thesis on State Boards of Education is attracting considerable attention. Only recently a copy was requested by the Director of Education of Evansville College, Evansville, Indiana. We always thought that Professor Bardon would start something some day.

"GO RIGHT ON WORKING"

Those who were in chapel yesterday (and there were far too few) will remember this motto that Reverend Olson explained so forcefully. He has faith in the future of this college and believes, as many other earnest Christians believe, that through institutions of this kind the Christian faith may be preserved and the out-educated young people of the state of Washington ranks among the most Godless in the union. In fact, it can not be called a Christian state at all, since the majority of its inhabitants are not Christians. As the only Lutheran college in a district inhabited by many thousands of Lutherans and people who were once Lutherans but have fallen from the church, Pacific Lutheran College has a boundless future and a great responsibility. Each student and graduate should "go right on working" for the best of the school and the spread of Christ's kingdom in this district.

WHAT SUBSTITUTE?

Our great lack that most students feel at Pacific Lutheran College is that of social amusements. Anyone who has stayed in the dormitory during week-ends knows how absolutely dead everything is. Overcome with ennui, the student must look for his amusements outside the school at places where there is no Christian influence and with companions that are often not of the best character.

Surely something can be found to take the place that dances fill in other schools. The administration has been entirely passive in this respect, leaving the responsibility of finding ways of amusements in the hands of the students themselves, only giving them stringent regulations about what they may not do.

Some time ago archery was suggested in this column as a good pastime. Other suggestions are: a bowling alley, a croquet court, pool tables.

Many of the new students come here with the expectation of making social contacts, of enjoying themselves at social events. A great many prospective students are deterred from entering Pacific Lutheran College for just this reason—the social side of the college life is too greatly neglected.

Dear Ma: Pa:

Oh, Ma, there's a new kicking post at school. I wish Alouewehus was here so I could walk out there. I guess if you can't find any body to walk out there with you it means that you aren't popular and I don't want anyone to know that I'm not. The play is going to be Friday night. Everybody, in the Dramatic Club has to sell five tickets or I guess it won't go so well with them. By the way, Ma, the tickets cost 35c for one.

We had a great time at the Party the other night. Johnny Zachrisson fought with Al Hauge and Willie Smith knocked out Fred Mau. Besides that Johnny got lip stucked. We had very good eats for refreshments, some of that nice tasting colored water, sandwiches, and cake. That was the best part of the evening, I think.

Oh, yes, I must tell you about the trip to the mountain. Millard Quale is just getting his face back. It was awfully wet up there. The toboggan slide wasn't running so the kids skied instead. You know I think that Eric Hauke should go into a circus because he turns such marvelous somersaults.

The practice teachers are working very hard now. I hope practice teaching won't be so hard when I start in. I don't mind working but there is a limit to everything you know.

There are only two worn basketball games left. We won pretty nearly all the games, and I'm sure that we can win the next two.

Ma, do you suppose I could have some of my own pictures taken? The kids say that they, he, the camera broken in now. I know it costs money, but I guess you have to pay for everything anyway.

Harry Southworth has been trying to write sport stories and I guess he's having trouble getting a story just right. He leans toward one side too much.

Ma, now don't forget that I will need money for the play and also for other incidentals. And don't forget I should subscribe to the Saxa because I am going to have a snapshot in it which I think will be nice to see in the school book.

Your anguished daughter,
 Cheroba Tertin.

Some Sophomore, Maybe?
 "Your soil in college ordered these photographs from me"

"Ah yes, Well well they certainly look very like him. Has he paid for them yet?"

No, sir, he has not.
 "Hum! Still more like him!"

Sociology Class To Write Book

Students to Contribute Informal Essays With Prose, Cons and References.

A book for the reference of the students and other sociology classes is the ambitious project of Professor Bardon's College class in sociology. Each student will receive a bound copy, and several copies will be placed in the library. The object in writing this book is, according to Professor Bardon, to encourage research into problems in which the students are especially interested.

Whenever a problem comes up some student will find the pros and cons of the matter, a write a rather informal essay giving references. It is hoped that each student will contribute something. The plan is to add to this volume every year, and make it a valuable reference work for sociology problems.

English Student Registers Dispair As Work Piles Up

With trepidation in his heart, the student sits at his desk, looking at an assignment in English which will occupy the next two hours of his attention. Sentence upon sentence is there for correction, paragraph upon paragraph must be studied. For "everything that anyone ever did wrong, someone has invented a rule and there before him the student has them—all hundreds of them. All must be committed to memory and used correctly during the rest of his life.

With a sigh of despair and capitulation, the student attempts to go through the deadly routine of eradicating the errors from the sentences before him. One sentence after another is correctly inscribed in the dreadful little notebook in which he keeps such things. Hours pass as he continues, courting the same kind of mistakes in the same type of sentences, putting them into the notebook with monotonous regularity.

At last the student has finished. A feeling of relief, a feeling as of a great burden having been lifted from his mind, pervades him. The exaltation of a man who has accomplished a distasteful duty successfully, fills him. He gets up, he laughs, and sees his way with a glad heart.

It is said, "Music soothes the savage soul." This supposition excludes the music critic.

COMPLEX STATE HISTORY

At the weekly meeting of the Augustana College Thucydidlean History Society on November 10, it was decided that the members compile a history of South Dakota. Their plan is to make an illustrative, self-explanatory map of South Dakota and to form a booklet giving a detailed explanation of the state history.

The students at Augustana through the medium of this project are anticipating a better knowledge of their state—Augustana Mirror.

Dormitory Union Has Party in Gym

Games, music, boxing matches, and refreshments made up the program for the party given by the Men's Dormitory Union for the Pep Club last Friday night in the gymnasium. The music was furnished by the Percival family.

Of the boxing matches, the first between John Zachrisson and Al Hauge ended in a draw. The second between Willis Smith and Fred Mau ended in a knockout victory for Smith in the first round. Refreshments, served after the grand march, consisted of ice cream, lemonade and cake.

W. M. F. OFFICERS SPEAK AT L. D. R.

Mrs. A. H. O. Erickson, South Puget Sound circuit, president of the Women's Missionary Federation, spoke at L. D. R. held February 3, 1931, at the home of Mrs. Pflueger. Mrs. Olson and Mrs. Pflueger entertained. Mrs. Erickson gave a very interesting talk on "Deaconess Work." She outlined the history and told of the duties of a deaconess.

Mrs. M. A. Christensen, district president of the W. M. F., told the girls about the work of the W. M. F. and explained what is expected of the L. D. R. members.

Other numbers on the program were a reading by Hilda Simonson, a piano solo by Ellen Soley, and a song by a quartet composed of Cora Goplerud, Berdine Knutzen, Ruth Jacobson and Ruth Mörgaard.

CAN YOU IMAGINE—

Anna Mikkelsen not singing? Stella Sorboe without Frances Jane Lavin? Fred Mau without his lessons? Fred Lee without his Eleanor? Mickey Island without red hair? Irwin Dammel without curly hair? Roy Hansen on time to meals?

Good music to them necessitates perfection. Their firm opinion is, "A raw is a flop."

Literary Ramblings

The Prince of Realists
Forget that you are to become an author. Never take yourself seriously. In fact, cultivate the habit of laughing at yourself. Live as deeply, richly and fully as you can.

I can across this in a British periodical. It is an excerpt from a letter to Warwick Deering advising him of the shortest route to literary fame. He displays no sympathy for his characters—no interest, but gives them full sway, watching them keenly, perceiving and frustrating any tendencies they may have toward unrealistic melodramas. As an inevitable result, each character is a sharp, hard, clear silhouette, vivid and living, drawing naturally upon the emotions of the reader, and his books are meaty and pulsing and vibrant. They possess a something which we desperately call "stuff."

To some minds he is altogether too successful in avoiding the interminably sympathetic attitude—pitiful of so many experimentalists in realism. On an unpenetrating mind he seems cold and stringent and harsh. But Deering is mature. He has lived "deeply, richly and fully." To say the man has not suffered or that he is ignorant of life is to confess oneself blind. For his books, fairly cry, it out, perhaps too loudly.

Waitress Caught Heaping Bananas With Whip Cream

Sliced bananas with whipped cream! All the waitresses of the dining-room except two had helped themselves from the bowl of whipped cream and were thoroughly enjoying it, regardless of the fact that they knew it was meant for the day students.

As one of the last two girls returned from the pantry with her prize, the cook met her. She said not a word but passed quickly by into the pantry where the last girl was hastily heaping her bananas with the luscious cream. But on beholding the cook standing before her, she immediately reversed the procedure, trying to put the prize back. All the while she was waiting for the rebuke which she was sure would come.

It came, but with the welcome news that she need not put the booty back. As the culprit emerged from the pantry, several of the undiscovered miscreants, immediately vanished from the kitchen, unable longer to withhold their laughter.

Honor Roll

The means used to reward scholastic effort is, in most schools, an honor roll, in which certain numbers of A's and B's qualify one for certain places on the list. Our school has just adopted a system of rating by grade-points, which is thought to be more just and equitable. Everything considered, however, the honor roll rating does not signify the actual knowledge gained. The very grades which are given the students do not mean anything so far as an understanding of the subject is concerned. Just because a student is clever enough to be able to pick out points that the teachers will ask in tests and learn them, or can bluff his way through with an air of learning, there is no reason to believe that he has any more right to a high grade than his less adept fellow student.

Honor rolls breed jealousy and unappreciation. They focus the students' attention on the grade, rather than on the subject. They cause him to memorize rather than to think. And the student with rates high in one is immediately and automatically unpopular, a book worm, a contemptible "teacher's pet." Surely there is some better way to reward scholastic effort.

—Fred Mau.

PACIFIC LUTHERAN COLLEGE, PARKLAND, WASHINGTON

Hoopmen Display Flashy Game to Win by 16 Points

Behind 13-11 at Half, Team Begins to Function More Smoothly to Make Count 32-16

After beginning the game against Mt. Vernon with an over-supply of confidence, and then playing like a second-rate team, the Pacific Lutheran Gladiators came back in the second half, and displayed as flashy a brand of basketball as they have done this season, to win by a score of 32 to 16 on the losers' floor.

The first half found both teams missing most of their shots. The Lutherans had many chances to score, but were able to tally only 11 points; while Mt. Vernon was breaking through the Lutherans' defense for 13 points.

In the second half the Lutherans came to life. The whole team began to function smoothly, the offense baffled the losers, and the defense was so tight that Mt. Vernon was able to collect only 3 points during the second half. The "fighting Lutherans" showed what fight was really in them, and before the second half had progressed very far there was no doubt as to who would win the game.

Minnehan, midget Mt. Vernon forward, was held to a single point while Tavener and Starr accounted for 5 points apiece. Johnson and Carlson, with 12 and 7 points, respectively, were the high scorers for the Lutherans.

Spanaway Wins From Lutherans

Finding that they were unable to play miniature basketball the Reserves fell before the Spanaway Athletic Club quintet on the Spanaway floor by a 39-19 score.

The Lutherans were unable to stop the work of the Lakemen, especially of Rasmussen who played brilliantly to score 20 points. The Lakemen were entirely familiar with their home floor and were able to sink shots from any part of the floor while the Seconds were the entire game trying to find the range of the small gym. Sydow scored 12 points to hold high scoring place for the Gladiators.

Girls Take City Service Contest

Larson Makes Basket to Win In Last Seconds, Fast Game Throughout

Another last minute, one point victory was won by the College Girls' team when they met the City Service Team of Tacoma. The final score read 14-13 in favor of the Lutherans.

In the exceptionally fast floor game, featured by a scarcity of scoring by the teams, the Lutherans held a slight margin until the last few minutes of play in the fourth quarter. At the end of a scoreless third period the score stood 11-9, in favor of the College squad. A rally near the end of the last period placed the Tacoma team in the lead by a single point. In the last second of play, Larson shot a basket to give the Lutherans a one point victory.

Alice Roe for the Collegians, and M. May of the Tacoma team scored 10 and 8 points, respectively.

With five remaining games left the students have the chance to see four of the contests, three of which will be on the home floor and one on the neutral C. P. S. floor. Thursday, February 12, the Gladiators meet Ellensburg on the C. P. S. floor; on Saturday, the Campbell-Holmes team of Astoria, will play on the home gym. Wednesday the 18th the Gladiators will play Aberdeen and on the 20 will meet Centralia on the home floor. The final game comes the 28 and is the return game with Aberdeen.

It has been suggested that steps be made to incorporate the five Junior colleges into a conference. This conference would consist of the following colleges: Centralia, Yakima, Mt. Vernon, Aberdeen and P. L. C. The greater recognition coming from conference standing can be seen when claims of college championship are given; in a conference the claims can easily be tabulated, but otherwise claims are based on scores only. As it is now these five colleges do not all meet.

A list of players and their work for the season follows. This list has been tabulated from scheduled games only and does not include the many practice games played.

Sanderson, little forward, certainly played some game for the College against the Logger Reserves and made a strong bid for a starting position in future games.

The girls certainly believe in making the spectators wait to the last second before letting them know who is going to win. For the third consecutive time they have won games by baskets in the last minute or two of play.

A second beating still left the Seconds undecided as to the ability of the Spanaway club five and they hope to meet them again on the home floor as the Reservenets found that small gyms were not to their liking.

Professor Stuen realized one of life's ambitions when he defeated B. Palo in a 9 hole golf match the other day. He has now gone into intensive practice with hopes of repeating this again sometime.

Football Linemen Inaugurate New Nameless Sport

Indoor football was inaugurated at P. L. C. when the sturdy men who had played on the line during the season just past, decided to go in for basketball—as they called it—last Saturday evening.

Since all the players did not know the rules, outside of the fact that a basket counted two points, they decided to suspend all rules for the evening, with a resulting game that one can give their own name to if they wish. The graceful Phantoms led by peaceful "Two Gun Hauke" kicked off to the dainty Fairies captained by "Slivers" Perival who returned the ball to somewhere near the ten-yard line. Although Captain Perival concocted several brilliant trick plays, his team was unable to win as the Phantoms happened to find the basket once or twice more. Referee "Little" Pfleger was playing hard for the Fairies but still they were unable to defeat the wily Phantoms. The score was somewhere around 25-17.

New Volumes Are Added to Library

Many new volumes have been added to the growing library of Pacific Lutheran College.

A set of "Waverley Novels" of forty-eight volumes is the largest series of the new books. There is also a set of "Dickens' Works" in ten volumes.

Along the line of translations are the "Works of Balaaz" in twenty-five volumes.

In the French language are nine volumes of Racine and fourteen volumes of Moliere.

Eight volumes of Meyer and four volumes of Groth are also some of the new series. These are in German. There is a series of musical and song books, and a volume on Scandinavian art.

Besides these, about forty-eight books of fiction have been added to the list.

Varsity Defeats Logger Reserves In Second Game

Gladiators Play Ragged Ball to Take Game; Sanderson Proves Ability By Fast Work

Playing a listless brand of basketball the Gladiators were able to defeat the C. P. S. Reserves on the Logger court last Thursday by a score of 31-28. The passing and shooting of the Lutherans was far below par and only a final spurt by Sanderson and Johnson gave the College team the victory.

During the first half the Lutherans held the lead. Johnson and Carlson showing the way with four and three points respectively. The teams played about par basketball during the second half, with 15 markers being made by both sides.

Sanderson, sub forward, sent in by Coach Olson when the first string line failed to function smoothly, played the best game of the evening and proved himself a strong contender for a regular berth on the varsity squad.

A total of 17 fouls was called on the teams, with the Lutherans drawing 9 of the penalties, 8 going to the Reservenets. Throughout the game the Loggers proved a constant threat and endangered the lead of the Lutherans several times. This was the second victory over the Reserves this season, the first game won to the Gladiators by the score of 19-8.

Lineup:
P. L. C. C. P. S.
Johnson (14) F (8) Campbell
Dahl F (2) Gibson
Carlson (8) C Weick
Palo (1) G (3) Richardson
Nyman G (2) Cox
Subs: P. L. C.—Fadness, Sanderson (8), Monson, Hauke, C. P. S.—Zender (1), Command (6), Casperson, Johnson (4).

Reserves Outplay

St. John's Cagers

Showing an entirely different brand of ball than they have shown this season the Reservenets completely outplayed the clever St. John's team of Tacoma and took the game by a 27-15 score.

The Seconds played real defensive basketball and forced the churchmen to work for the points they obtained. In the offensive department the Seconds worked better than ever before and scored steadily throughout the game. Hudson, with 14 points, accounted for the largest part of the Gladiator scoring, and McFadden, with 5 points, was best for the Church.

Varsity Defeats Hardware Team

Beat Washington Hardware Five In Return Game; Johnson High

In a practice game the Lutheran Varsity defeated the Washington Hardware five by a score of 42-36. The Hardware quint was the only outfit to hand them a defeat during the vacation practice period, a time when many of the first string men were home on visits. Throughout the rather ragged game the Gladiators held the lead.

The defensive work of both teams held the score down somewhat during the first half. The Gladiators held a safe lead throughout the first three periods and were not threatened until late in the fourth canto when the Hardware men staged a rally and cut down the lead to a two point margin. In the final minutes of play the College quint went back to work in earnest and gained the lead again.

For the College five Johnson had the eagle eye and found the basket for 13 points, and Nyman sank some long ones for 8 points. On the Hardware squad K. Hegerness did the shooting and annexed 12 points.

Girl Cagers Win Summer Contest

Lutherans Come From Behind To Win In Last Minute Rally; Roe High

For the third consecutive time, the Girl cagers gained victory by but a single basket in the final minutes of play; this time by nosing out the Summer High School squad, as the whistle sounded, to take the game 28-27.

The College squad started the contest, but was unable to hold the Valley squad which gained an early lead. Although the Lutherans gradually cut down the lead, a hard fought rally was necessary in the closing minutes to give the game to the College.

Alice Roe scored nine times for 18 points for the Lutherans, and was but a single point behind Geiger of the Valley team who made a total of 19 markers.

Lineup:
Larson F Geiger
Hilmo (4) F (19) Weick
Grande C (8) Jansen
Johnson SC Clergt
Johnson G Tarbox
Holle G Ryan
Substitutions: P. L. C.—Larson P (6), Alice Roe (18), Loftus, Rasmussen, Dahlberg, Howard, Scheider, Soine. Summer—Kelley.
