The Mooring Mast

VOLUME 32, NUMBER 17

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF PACIFIC LUTHERAN COLLEGE

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1955

As the chief explains to his friends the murder of Flint, the townspeople listen in rapt attention. This is a scene taken at a recent rehearsal of "A Double Barrelled Detective Story," to be presented this evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Chapel-Music-Speech auditorium.

Mark Twain "Detective Story" To Be Presented For Omnibus of Arts Program in C-M-S This Evening

Last night's performance of the Omnibus of the Arts, featuring the Omnibus Band, was outstanding.

The band was directed by Jerry Bayne. A few outstanding selections were as follows: "Strike Up the Band," by George Gershwin; "Dark Eyes," a Russian folk song; "Mardi Gras," by Ferdi Grofe; "Stars and Stripes Forever," by John Philip Sousa, and "God Bless America," by Irving Berlin.

Norman Fosburg presented a fine trumpet solo. An outstanding clarinet solo entitled "Bach vs. Beethoven," was presented by David Knudson and John Reay, who were also key factors for the presentation of the Omnibus band. A trumpet trio number by Gerald Bayne, Norman Fosburg and Glen Hull was on the agenda also. Very outstanding playing as a baritone soloist was Lind Carlson, a freshman from Coeur d'Alene, who shows much promising ability.

After the final number, "God Bless America," the audience gave a big ovation and an encore followed.

This evening there will be a Mark Twain story presentation of "A Double Barrelled Detective Story," under the direction of Jerry Slattum and Marion Leonard, which promises to be very humorous and

Omnibus To Present Art Show

Along with the Omnibus of the Arts, an art exhibit will be held after each evening performance in the old chapel. It will also be open during the performance days for viewing.

The exhibit consists of all-student work from the fundamentals of art, creative design and public school art classes, according to Larry Peterson, student director. Water colors, tempera painting, clay modeling, oil painting and sculpturing will be the featured displays.

Last night in the C-M-S auditorium the Omnibus band, under the direction of Jerry Bayne, was heard.

Tonight at 8:15 p.m., the play, "A Double Barrelled Detective Story," by Mark Twain, will be given. Directed by Jerry Slattum and Marion Leonard, it features a cast of fifteen students.

Saturday at 8:15 p.m., in the C-M-S auditorium, the Omnibus Chorus, under the direction of Steve Brandt, will be heard in "A Tribute to Romberg." Sacred selections will be presented by the girls' chorus.

Working together to present the Omnibus have been the following directors and organizational representatives: Sandra Jacobs, Larry Peterson, John Reay, Dave Knutson, Jerry Slattum, Bill Finkle, Steve Brandt, and Jerry Bayne.

entertaining. The cast includes the following: Beverly Smith, Helen Simonson, Tom Reeves, Teresa Lindsey, Ray Nelsen, Kay Wise, Paul Bastings, Dick Barwell, Virginia Thompson, Larry Shoberg, Bill Davis, Mary Alice Drexler, Ray Mensch, Ida Jo Gronke and Noble Anderson.

Saturday night marks the climax of this year's Omnibus, when the Omnibus chorus of 50 voices, directed by Steve Brandt, will be presented. Selections are from "A Tribute to Romberg," arranged by Fred Waring.

The girls' chorus will sing some well chosen sacred numbers.

Let's all come out and support such a fine Omnibus.

MUSIC-DRAMA OUTLOOK

Don Gaarder estimates that 425 student body tickets will be sold for the Music-Drama Festival, as over 400 had been ordered up to this morning. $1.00 was paid for the advance order of the ticket and the remaining cost will be paid when the ticket arrives.

Students to Vote On Constitution Revised by Group

Tuesday, March 1, at 9:50 sharp the Student Council will present to the student body a revised Student Association constitution.

In November a committee of five seniors was appointed by the Student Council to take the present constitution, which has had few revisions in its seven-year history, study it, then compare it with some thirty constitutions of other student governments and then finally produce a revised constitution. The constitution committee, composed of Glenn Johnson, chairman; Nancy (Continued on Page Four)

Gladiators To Meet Pirates Sat. Night

Coach Marv Harshman and his 11-man varsity basketball squad left for Spokane this Friday morning for Saturday night's playoff game with Whitworth. The two teams finished the Evergreen Conference season as co-champions.

Saturday's tilt, which will be played in Spokane's spanking new Coliseum, is sponsored by District No. 1 of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). The winner between the Lutes and Pirates will meet Gonzaga University in a best of three series starting Monday in Spokane. The dis-

Lute Debators Go To Linfield College For Near Tourney

On Wednesday, March 2, the PLC debate team will leave for Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon, 30 miles south of Portland. They will leave at 2:30 and make their trip in the college station wagon and two cars. The team will return Sunday morning.

PLC will be defending four years of sweepstakes winnings. Debate Coach Mr. Karl predicts a difficult tournament for many of the colleges have very strong teams this year. The seventeen member squad will be accompanied by Mr. Jon Ericson and Mr. Theodore Karl. Mr. Karl for the fifth year will be a member of the executive committee of the tournament. This tournament will mark the Silver Anniversary of the Linfield Tournament.

The students and the events they will compete in are: Junior division, Alvin Sylling, Impromptu, sales.

Choir to Depart On Tour of West

To Salt Lake City, Utah, and back, is the plan for this year's tour of the Choir of the West. Next Tuesday, March 1, the Choir will depart. Their first concert will be given in Denny Park Lutheran Church in Seattle Tuesday night, and Wednesday they are traveling to Spokane. From there their trip will take them to Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Boise, Pocatello, American Falls, Blackfoot, and Idaho Falls in Idaho; Ogden and Salt Lake City in Utah; and then back to Nampa, Idaho, and to La Grande and Hermiston in Oregon. The tour will take two weeks.

The Choir of the West is presenting a varied program of choral music, including Bach's motet "Jesu, Priceless Treasure," Healy Willan's "An Apostrophe to the Heavenly Hosts," "Anhetung des Kindes," by the contemporary German composer, Heinz Lau, and Randall Thompson's "Alleluia." Among the other works rounding out the program are F. Melius Christiansen's "Hosanna" and "Lost in the Night," Kalinnikoff's "Agnus Dei," and "Carol of the Drum," by Katherine K. Davis.

GAME BROADCASTS

Tacoma radio stations KTAC (850 kc.) and KTNT (1400 kc.) will carry play-by-play accounts of the PLC-Whitworth game on Saturday night direct from the Spokane Coliseum. The tilt will go on the air at 8:00 p.m.

trict champion will represent the state at the national NAIA tourney in Kansas City, Mo.

The Lutes and Pirates have met twice this season, with PLC taking an 87-77 decision in Parkland, and the Whites winning at home, 76-62.

Last year the same three teams were in the NAIA district meet. PLC earned Gonzaga, but lost to Whitworth. The games were played on the Lute floor.

In seven of the last eight seasons PLC has been in the NAIA district meet. In 1950 the Lutes were district champions and made the trek to Kansas City. They lost out in the first round to Hastings (Neb.) Teacher's College.

Officers To A.W.S. State Convention

The yearly AWS State Convention was held at Western on February 18 and 19. All colleges and junior colleges in Washington were invited. Those attending from PLC were: Harriet Vorvick, president; the president and vice-president for the following term, Betty Jean Condray and Thelma Nygaard, respectively. Miss Wickstrom, the adviser, also was present.

The program consisted of a concert by Rafael Mendez, the trumpeter; followed by a coffee hour.

The topics covered at the convention on Saturday were standards and hours; participation in AWS for all women students, an AWS constitution, the AWS working with others, programs for your AWS, and money-making projects. Saturday night closed with a banquet. The convention will be held at Gonzaga next year.

Pi Kappa Is Host To High Schoolers' Debate Tournament

Friday and Saturday, February 25 and 26 PLC will have the privilege of having students from high schools all over the state of Washington. The high schoolers will be here to take part in the second annual high school tournament being sponsored by the Washington State Debate Coaches Association.

Our college speech department is happy to act as its host. Pi Kappa Delta is handling arrangements with Tom Swindland, serving as general student chairman and Judy Bureker and Connie Hustad acting as his assistants. Mr. Theodore (Continued on Page Four)

A Supercilious Sneer

Nordquist - Carlstrom

Whoop-la! We almost forgot to write S.S. this week—it could be that the content of the Mast would have been better off without our scribbled offering. A jox on all of you that concur! However, for the second consecutive week we contribute to the editorial page our mumbled, incoherent dissent. Now our motives for writing in a negative vein might be questioned—quite honestly we really can't say why we are so disagreeable of late, it could be that it's "smart," collegiate, intellectual; maybe we haven't been getting up for breakfast often enough. It has been suggested that we are shallow, ill-mannered bumpkins. There is undoubtedly some truth in each allegation.

We would like to discuss the seeming "festivalizing" tendency that we are living with at PLC, along with the concomittant culture that come hand-in-hand with it. This is something that might be called the "Attend-Concerts-Plays-Festivals-Fish Fry and Stomps six nights a week movement" to the net end of becoming cultured, happy, wealthy and wise. Everybody a parvenu! All this at a cost of only $93.73, a mere pittance—"But I'm broke," comes a protestation—a triviality, you do it. Perhaps the stand we take might seem a trifle extreme, so let us say that it is for the sake of argument. We certainly don't claim to be the sole possessors of any vantage point that gives us a clear, all-encompassing view. So what we say cannot pass for the final answer, it is a personal observation which is obviously open to criticism.

Someone once drew a comparison between college and the proverbial American "rate race." In many respects there is a remarkable resemblance. You rush hither and yon about campus attempting to do too many things in too short a time and as a most frequent result you do justice to nothing. Your textbooks are relegated to fifth place in your schedule of activities and there is little chance for them to advance up the scale, but with comparative ease they can be dropped even lower. No other recourse seems open unless you are one of those introverts with "no personality"—a recluse, as it were—who studies and is snickered at because of his considered abnormalcy. Whatever you do, don't leave the ranks of your stereotyped brethren, for progress is ont to be had in this fashion! Is not college for the purpose of developing personality, learning to smile and to make small talk and learning to tie natty "windsor" knts? And of course the absolute necessity is seen in being able to talk "intelligently" about everything—the college graduate will find this easy enough to do. Certainly we must memorize a few large words, some shibboleths, catch phrases and obvious platitudes and then when engaged in scintillating conversation (obviously all conversations with college grads are scintillating), inject the aforementioned at random with a tone of authority and instantly you will pass as an expert. My, what an honorable estate!

Possibly there is a slightly broader scope to this education business, however. Maybe (we leave room for doubt) you don't have to belong to ten different organizations and attend a different concert every night to be a well-rounded individual when you graduate. Maybe after a while the point of diminishing returns is reached where you are simply going through the motions of receiving an education—you talk a good game but are only fooling yourself. Who knows, maybe some of this uproar is unnecessary and you don't have to feel like an uncultured slob if you accidentally miss a performance. Possibly you don't even have to have a feeling of guilt if you don't support these things financially to the point where you are constantly weak-walleted. The point of financial embarrassment is, in most cases, reached with ease and should merit more attention in many quarters.

The point of all this? Probably it's simply doubt creeping in—we're just not absolutely sure all this hurrying and scurrying about is necessary. Maybe, in the end, this is what counts. Wish someone would define the real purpose in words that have meaning so that an unenlightened person with doubts could know where he stands or where he might profitably stand.

Letters To The Editor

Another semester has begun and students eagerly head toward new classes expecting to find new areas of thought. This being my fourth semester at PLC, I find myself doing the same thing. I look forward to new classes and new subjects as a change from the old ones. A change is always welcome in the routine of life.

And with this starched-collar introduction we are into one of the biggest gripe sections of the Mooring Mast. This week I will attempt to question, not attack, the time schedules at PLC. There is some question in the minds of many of the students as to the reason for the hours standing as they do. It is common knowledge that the bus leaves downtown Tacoma at fifteen minutes to the hour every hour; well, almost every hour. We all know that it is impossible to get to the dorm by eleven o'clock if you leave Tacoma at fifteen minutes to eleven. The buses are just not that fast. Pity poor Susie Snickelritz if she was due in at eleven and caught that bus. She just didn't make it in time. However, if she had until twelve (a miracle!) to get in she is still safe. Susie and her fella, Freddie Fuhrmiester, have until twelve from about eleven-thirty to sit on the front steps and talk, watch TV in the SUB, or she may just go in. This is a situation that seems a bit unfair. We wonder, couldn't some allowance be made for the bus? Much the same thing can be said for the insufficient half-hour after concerts and events on campus. It is impossible to get a cup of coffee and get the girl in on time in half an hour, no matter where you go.

This is not a personal irritation column, I write this with all due respect for the rules. I only wonder, what are the reasons for these rules and why couldn't they be changed or modified? In following weeks I hope to touch other points. In the meantime I'd like to hear your comments, Mr. Reader. How about it? The least we can hope for is a knowledge of our laws and rules that we now lack. At least that is the way IT SEEMS TO ME.

Respectfully,

JOE MYERS

Grace All-Sufficient

by John Cook

For from the clamor and gnaw of the woes
Is a place of sweet refuge from all the world's throes.
Sad sorrows cease from their restless strife
And fears are all giv'n to the giver of life.

Others may turn to their fanciful dreams;
Though Fantasy's blind, yet an answer it seems.
But Submission succumbs and only he knows
Rest in the heart where my Jesus goes.

Often I wonder why one such as I
Should be chosen to serve such a One on high.

But always He answers from our secret place,
Be anxious for nothing, but trust in my grace.

High Schoolers Inspiring Group

As the paper goes to press, over 300 minds are collaborating on the single question of whether "the United States should abolish its high protective tariff or not." Three hundred high school pupils are speaking as urgently as if the weight of the nation's decision rested on the power of their words. Three hundred students who have put many hours on a subject, that in most participating high schools is not credit material.

This brings to mind the question of whether or not we, as college students, put quite as much preparation into our studies, for credit, as the high school debator must put in his or her material, for no credit. An interesting subject on which to reflect, but perhaps a little embarrassing for many of us.

These students can well serve as an inspiration for us. They do not feel their topic is dull or their work is useless. And we should be even more interested; for our studies are preparing us for graduation, and more important, the future. Time spent in training now could save years spent in regret later.

First Plans for Saga Carnival Told

March 18 and 19 are the dates set for the annual Saga Carnival. The program will begin Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-Music-Speech building with Burt McMurtry as master of ceremonies. The Saga queen and king will be crowned at this time. The queen, who is a freshman, and the king, a senior, are voted on by the Student Body. The organizations are asked to turn in the names of their candidates by March 9. The main program will be presented by Tommy and Benny from Portland. They will offer variety acts and music. They have played in Seattle, at Amoto's in Portland and in various other large cities on the coast. The carnival to raise funds for the Saga will follow in the gym.

Saturday night the Lettermen will present their annual minstrel show. Following this, the carnival will be in the gym.

Chairmen for the carnival are Walt Schwindt, business manager; Anita Schnell, coronation; Dick Nordvedt, carnival chairman; Lee Roseberg, prize soliciting; Larry Hime, advertising.

All carnival booth chairmen from the different organizations are to meet March 2 at 7 p.m.

Lutes Tie for League Lead by Beating CPS

by Looie Spry

Pacific Lutheran gained a tie for the Evergreen Conference basketball championship by defeating their arch-rivals, the Puget Sound Loggers, 75-61, Wednesday. This is the first time PLC has had a share of the basketball laurels since the organization of the conference in 1949.

Following the established precedent, the game was a nip-and-tuck affair most of the way with CPS always down a few points, but never beaten until the Lutes started to pull away late in the game. Captain Vern Hanson hit a jump shot to put the Lutes ahead in the opening minute and they were never headed, although the score was tied frequently during the first half.

However, the comfortable 36-29 Lute halftime lead soon dwindled to 65-55 with a quarter to go. After a foul out the Lutes came back strong although they lost Nick Kelderman and Al Gubrud on fouls.

Jack Hoover had his best night in a PLC uniform as he pumped in 23 points for the evening's high. Phil Nordquist was also in the double figures with 16 points. Russ Wilkerson, Bill Medin and Bob Bafus were the Logger leaders with 13, 12 and 10, respectively.

Bafus kept the Loggers in the game in the second half as he scored eight points and did a tremendous job on the backboards. Although Hoover snared 14 rebounds during his 40 minutes.

Puget Sound had the better field goal percentage, 36.0% to 33.8% for PLC, while the foul shooting was close with the "Sleepy Hollows" shooting 65.8% and the Glads 66.0%. In the final analysis, however, it was quantity, not quality, that paid off as the Lutes outscored CPS from the field 22-18 and 31-25 from the foul line.

Evergreen Intercollegiate Conference rules do not provide for a play-off in these situations, so PLC and Whitworth will be declared co-champions. However, the Lutes must meet Whitworth in Spokane in an N.A.I.A. play-off. The winner of this game will go against Gonzaga in a three-game series for the right to go to the National Small College Tournament in Kansas City.

Hugh Marsh again paced the Lute Jayvees to a 76-59 City league victory in the first game. Marsh had 15, Charley Geldaker 14 and Jim Jacobson 10 to lead the PLC onslaught which gave them fourth place in the league.

PLC CONFERENCE SCORING (12 GAMES)

Sinderson, 169; Nordquist, 156; Hoover, 142; Kelderman, 127; Gubrud, 99; Ross, 86; Hanson, 16; Eggan, 10; Jerstad, 4; Geldaker, 1; PLC total, 809; Opponents' total, 714.

Gladiators Trounce UBC for Ninth Win

by Looie Spry

Coming back from the setback at the hands of Eastern Washington, Friday night the Luthersans drubbed the British Columbia Thunderbirds 64-47, which gave them a 9-2 conference record.

Although PLC did not look as sharp as they have been in previous games this season, they played well enough to win easily over the hapless 'Birds.

John McLeod, All-Conference forward, was the only UBC bright spot as he was high point man for the night with 20 counters. Madill had 13 for British Columbia.

The Pacific Lutheran scoring was well divided with Nick Kelderman leading the pack with 14, followed by Phil Nordquist, Jack Hoover and Al Gubrud with 11 each, and Denny Ross with 10.

Although PLC led only 27-22 at the half the outcome was never in doubt as they steadily pulled away in the last half.

The field goal percentage was the same as the previous night (35.7%), but the foul shooting average fell to 70.3%.

An important factor in the game proved to be the fouls called on each team. PLC was whistled down only nine times while the 'Birds were caught 21 times with McLeod leaving on personals late in the game.

The PLC Jayvees won their 4th straight game in the opener as they won easily, 91-68. This is the highest total ever recorded by a JV team.

Big Hugh Marsh led the point-makers with 27, while John Donahue had 25 for the Centralia squad. Merle Hanson (15) and Lute Jerstad (12) were also in two figures.

Marine Corps Officer To Discuss Programs

Captain William P. Heim of the Marine Corps Officer Procurement Office will visit Pacific Lutheran College on Thursday and Friday, February 24 and 25, to discuss the Marine Corps officer candidate programs with interested students.

Two programs are now available to undergraduates. One, the Platoon Leaders Class, is open to freshmen, sophomores and juniors. It provides for a reserve commission upon graduation from college and draft deferment until graduation. Two six-week summer training periods constitute the only training required.

The second program is known as the Officer Candidate Course. After graduation from college the candidate attends a ten-week course at Quantico, Virginia, and receives his commission upon successful completion of the course.

For detailed information concerning the advantages and requirements of these programs, all interested students are invited to contact Captain Heim in the Student Union coffee shop.

Glads to Meet Pirates Saturday

with his usual starting five against the Pirates. Phil Nordquist (leading scorer with 320 points) and Jack Hoover will be at forward, Nick Kelderman at center, Jack Sinderson and Al Gubrud at guard.

Others making the trip were Lute Jerstad, Larry Eggan, Charles Geldaker, Dennis Ross, Dennis Rodin and Vern Hanson.

Only 10 of the men may suit up due to N.A.I.A. rules, and Harshman had not determined when he would sit out the tilt.

"Despite the N.A.I.A. ruling on only 10 men for this game," Harsh said, "I'm not going to leave home one of the men who have carried the load through the season." The Evergreen Conference permits an 11-man squad.

The team will work out late this afternoon on the Coliseum floor. They will be staying at the Desert Hotel in Spokane. If they win Saturday they will remain over for next week's games.

Others who went with the squad Friday include Bob Marvonek, manager; the Rev. Roy E. Olson, director of public relations; and Earl Luebker, Tacoma News-Tribune sports writer.

There is much material in the Mooring Mast office about European and Scandinavian summer scholarships. Those interested should contact a staff member or the editor.

Eastern Downs Lutes, 71-64

by Looie Spry

Eastern Washington overcame a six-point halftime deficit to defeat Pacific Lutheran 71-64 at Parkland last Friday. Dick Edwards of the Savages led all scorers with 26 points while Captain Phil Nordquist's 22 and Jack Sinderson's 15 were the top Lute point totals.

Pacific Lutheran led at halftime, 37-31, but Eastern came on with a rush in the second stanza with Edwards getting 12 and Barnes 10, during that span.

With the score tied at 56-56 just past the three-quarter mark, Glen Tompkins stole the ball from the Lutes twice for as many cripples and the Savages led 60-56. Pacific Lutheran could not stop Coach "Red" Keese's inspired ball players and Eastern won going away.

The Gladiators hit 35.7% of their shots from the floor and 72.7% from the foul line, but they lost the ball too frequently in the second half and that cost them the game.

Jim Jacobson, with 16, and Hugh Marsh with 13 points, led the Lute JV's to a 73-49 victory over the second place Cascades in the City league opener. Tom Rayne of the Green Wave was high for the game with 17.

Other Lutes in the twin digits were Larry Ross, 12, and Dennis Rodin with 10.

Grad Finishes Officer Course

QUANTICO, Va.—Second Lieutenant Robert L. McAdams, a former student of Pacific Lutheran College, was graduated December 15, 1954, from the Officers Basic Course at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia.

Second Lieutenant McAdams was commissioned in the Marine Corps this summer, and began the intensive 5-month indoctrination course in July. During the training he was instructed in basic amphibious warfare and infantry techniques, leadership, military instruction, and other Marine Corps topics.

Upon completion of the course, he was to be ordered to duty with the Fleet Marine Force, or to advanced specialty schools.

Students To Vote On Revised Constitution

 Turman, Kathy Blery, Jack Hoover and Ray Reiseron, have done just that.

At the Tuesday, March 1, Student Association meeting the constitution will be presented in such a way that all the changes will be specifically pointed out. Among the major changes are a new Tuesday Chapel arrangement, increased Student Council powers and duties, a new nominating system for Associated Student offices, and the introduction of campaigning to the Associated Students elections.

As plans stand now, at the March 1 meeting changes may be submitted from the floor, and these would be voted on immediately. Then at the conclusion of the March 1 meeting the constitution will be posted at various places on the campus. On Tuesday, March 8, a vote will be taken by ballot and if the revised constitution receives two-thirds of the votes cast it will become the official constitution for the Student Association of Pacific Lutheran College.

Pi Kappa Is Host To High Schoolers

 Karl is general chairman of the event which is taking place for the second year on our campus.

The debate question for the high schools is: "Resolved, that the Congress of the United States should abolish protective tariffs." Contests will be held in one and two-man debate. The individual events are impromptu, extemporaneous speaking, interpretive reading, and oratory.

The debaters will be spending Friday night on campus, the girls in Old Main and South Hall and the boys in the gym. They will be attending the Omnibus play Friday night.

So far applications have been received for 100 debate teams from 27 schools. The following schools will participate: St. Martin's, North Central, Mercer Island, Cashmere, Foster, Sumner, Wenatchee, Lewis & Clark, Puyallup, Olympia, Bellevue, Kalama, Port Angeles, Marquette, Pullman, Frosser, South Kitsap, Bothell, Twisp, Kent-Meridian, Clover Park, Kelso, Stadium, Lincoln, Kennewick, Highline, Franklin Pierce.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The February 22 meeting of the Student Council was brought to order by President Erv Severson, with the welcoming of the newly elected sophomore representative, John Olden. Following a reminder of the final Lyceum Series concert on Monday evening, the regular business was begun.

Of major importance was the consideration of the two constitutions; one for the student body, and one for the student congregation. The ASPLC constitution was presented by Glenn Johnson and accepted by the council members. This coming Tuesday the actual decisions will be made by the student body in chapel.

The student congregation constitution was brought to the council only so they might serve in an advisory way. The actual adoption will be done by the already formed constitution committee for the congregation. The council, after a few minor suggestions, passed on the constitution.

Sunday clears away the rust of the whole week.

Region To Meet To Discuss The Future Teacher

Saturday, March 5, the regional conference of the F.T.A. for the Western half of Washington will meet on the PLC campus.

It will be an all day meeting, with the topic for discussion being "The Future Teacher's Role in School Legislation."

Speakers will be William Ramstad, state WEA president and PLC graduate; Vern Archer of the WEA, and Robert C. Hall, superintendent of the Fife school system.

Marlys Salterbeck, regional coordinator for the state F.T.A., will be chairman.
