PLU ORCHESTRA
PRESENTS FIRST
CONCERT
TUESDAY

Jerry Kracht

The PLU University Orchestra will present its first concert of the 1969-70 season Tuesday, Nov. 4, in Eastvold Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The concert is also the first for orchestra conductor Jerry Kracht since his return to PLU.

Baritone Frederick L. Newnham, PLU music professor, will be the guest soloist.

The 62-piece orchestra will perform Dvorak's "Symphony No. 4 in G Major Opus 88" following intermission. Dvorak, a Czech, is probably best known for his Fifth Symphony from the New World.

Also on the program is "Festival Overture, Opus 96" by Shostakowitch, "Ye Twice Ten Hundred Deities" from the "Indian Queen" by Purcell, Bach's "Good Fellows Be Merry" from the "Peasant Cantata," and a recitative and aria from Handel's "O Voi Del Mio Poter - Sorge Infausta Una P ocella."

The latter features Newnham as soloist.

'THE FATHER' PER ORMANCES
CONTINUE THIS WEEKEND

"The Father," August Strindberg's masterpiece presented Oct. 30 - Nov. 1 by the University Theatre, offers performances Friday and Saturday evenings in Eastvold Auditorium.

The Swedish play, under the direction of Richard Arnold, begins each evening at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

Homecoming Nov. 7-15

A Mythical Marathon

Homecoming 1969 at PLU is a "Mythical Marathon," spanning two weekends. It will feature not only two fine football games but performances by folk-singer Glenn Yarbrough and the Clann Gael Irish-Scottish Musical.

Along with these attractions are featured the annual alumni banquet, dance, stomp, bonfire, and a faculty talent show.

Festivities begin Friday, Nov. 7, with coronation of the queen at 8 p.m. in Eastvold Auditorium, followed by a song-fest. Saturday, Nov. 8, offers a powder puff game on lower campus, the PLU-Willamette Centennial football game at Franklin Pierce Stadium at 2 p.m., and the Homecoming Dance in Olson Gym at 8:30 p.m.

All former Lute football players, 1926-69, are guests of PLU at the game. Former Lute All-Americans, coaches and special guests will be honored at halftime.

The Irish-Scottish Musical performs in Olson Auditorium Monday evening, Nov. 10, and the faculty talent show falls on Wednesday evening.

Friday is the all-campus stomp and bonfire.

Saturday begins with an all-star intramural game in the morning, and the homecoming football game with College of Idaho at 2 p.m. The alumni banquet in Columbia Center is scheduled for 5:45 p.m., followed by the Glenn Yarbrough concert in Olson Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

Keyes Ceramics Exhibit

Colorful, Wild & Different

David Keyes, PLU art instructor, is exhibiting a collection of his ceramics in the Mortvedt Library Gallery through Nov. 15.

The exhibit includes more than 70 pieces created by Keyes in the last two years. Many are colorful items, created through several firing processes to obtain a variety of color glazes at different temperatures.

Keyes, like many contemporary artists, uses a variety of media in his work. "Throughout the art field, we're turning to all the technology that is at hand," he says.

The former studio artist, whose wife is also a potter, declines to put labels on his efforts. "I just like to make things and let someone else figure out what they are," he quipped.

COMMITTEE STUDYING ALL-UNIVERSITY
COMMISSION AIRS DISCUSSION

President Wiegman reports that the following items were discussed Oct. 9 by the committee to study the establishment of an All-University Commission.

1. The committee was unanimous in approving the establishment of an All-University Commission.
2. The primary purpose of the Commission would be to advise the President on policies that affect the entire University.
3. The Commission will also serve as a body to receive information from the President and from the Board when there is need for University-wide opinion.
4. The Commission is in no way to be interpreted as taking the place of the constituted bodies already established through their respective constitutions.

At the President's request, and upon agreement by the members of the committee, the committee representatives from your area will contact you soon regarding, among others, the following points:

1. Number of delegates to the Commission (It was suggested that the total number be limited to seventeen.)
2. How delegates and alternates are to be selected to serve on the Commission.
3. The relationship of the Commission to the rules, regulations and constitution of each respective group.
4. Shall there be representation from the Alumni and Board?

The committee will meet again on the call of the President to discuss reactions before the formulation of the Commission.

Artist Series Schedules Irish-Scottish Musical

"It is the essence of a rare art which the Clann Gael has distilled from the Rich Celtic heritage of Scotland and Ireland. This they bring to America, that art at its best, seeped in the Gaelic spirit, proud, delighting, brooding, laughing--living. Theirs is a history long and deep, filled with mysteries and fancies, rich with poetry and music and kept alive by all their people today."

The Clann Gael Irish-Scottish Musical will be performed at PLU during Homecoming Week on Monday, Nov. 10, in Olson Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

This is the second program offered this year by Artist Series. Tickets are available by inquiring at the PLU Information Desk.

EPC Suggests New Chapel Schedule

The Educational Policies Committee received a memorandum which they are sharing with both faculty and students. The memo is quoted below in its entirety.

We are interested in getting the reactions of both the faculty and students in regard to this subject before we begin our study of the proposal. Therefore, will you please publish the information and ask that reactions be directed to one of the following members of the Educational Policies Committee. Mr. Adams, Mrs. Cone, Mr. Farmer, Mr. Nordquist, Mrs. Olson, Mr. Ristuben and Mr. Peter Lieurance.

"Since the adoption of the 4-1-4 calendar some of the laboratory classes in the sciences have a three hour laboratory section. The present location of the Chapel hour prevents scheduling any of these classes during the morning.

If the Chapel hour were moved so that three hour labs could also be scheduled in the morning there would be more flexibility in total class scheduling with less chance of conflict for the student.

Therefore, I would suggest changing the Chapel period from its present location to either: Following 1st period--Chapel period begins at 8:50 and ends at 9:20. or following 3rd period--Chapel period begins at 10:50 and ends at 11:20.

Please call Mrs. Cone in School of Nursing if you need any further information. Thank you for your assistance.

SCIENCE FACULTY LISTS RECENT, PLANNED PUBLICATIONS

A number of articles have been published recently and are scheduled to be published by members of the science faculty.

The include a paper by Clarence Jacobs (phys.) in Physics Letters entitled "Recoil Radiation Damage Following Coulomb Excitation." He is scheduled to publish in Physical Review articles entitled "Elastic Scattering of HE<sub>3</sub> by HE<sub>4</sub> from 17.8 to 30.0 MeV." and "Mossbauer Effect Observations of Recoil Radiation Damage following Coulomb Excitation in Various Hf Compounds."

Harry Adams published an article in the Journal of Chemical Physics entitled "Chlorine Nuclear Quadruple Resonance in Erbium Chloride and Some Similar Chlorides." Adams recently attended the regional conference of the American Association of University Professors in Portland.

Appearing in the August issue of Journal of Physical Chemistry was William Giddings' article, "Polarimetric Rates in Solvolysis of Exo and Endo Benzonorbornenyl Bromobenzenesulfonates". Robert Olson published "A Three Dimensional Model of Dendritic Structure" in the August issue of Journal of Chemical Education.

Dr. K. T. Tang has published "Rotational Excitation of H<sub>2</sub> System" in Physical Review and "Comparison of Quantum and Classical Theories of an Idealized Three-Body Rearrangement Collision" in Journal of Chemical Physics. He is scheduled to publish "Pade-NT Studies of Long Range Forces" in Physical Review.

Grid Fables: King Roy And The Rookie Knights

Once upon a time there were three Knights. Along with their companions they rampaged through the northwest regions protecting Luteland from the onslaughts of Thunderbirds, Pirates, Pioneers, Wildcats and Boxers. They were veteran Knights and they put fear in the hearts of their enemies.

But gradually their ferocious campaigning took its toll. First to drop was Sir Gary, jousted by the Wildcats. Then Sir David was sidelined by a camp of determined Loggers. Finally, the once-lowly Boxers rebelled, driving Sir Hans into temporary inactivity.

Now King Roy and his Knight band had to rely on rookie battlers. Dan the Mighty, a native from the land of the sea peoples, replaced Sir Gary. Richard of the Cold Nose was called in from the snowy north country to fill in for Sir David, and Robert the Swift from the foothills of the Great Mountain filled the valiant shoes of Sir Hans.

Armed with courage and the support of their fellows, the three rookie Knights prevailed over the stubborn Boxers. They were not prolific scorers as were their veteran counterparts, but their offensive thrust of 361 yards was the best of the entire Knight campaign. Most important, they dominated the offensive game, allowing the Boxers little opportunity to counterattack.

It is rumored across Luteland that Sir David and Sir Hans will return to battle the Missionaries to the east, but the Lute faithful will not soon forget the valiant performances of those prancing yearlings who filled in to save the Knights during the victorious 13-0 Boxer campaign.

PLU Crew Christens New Four-Man Shell

A new four-man shell named after Walter E. Neils of Libby, Mont., was christened Friday by the Pacific Lutheran University crew club. The shell was donated by Mrs. Neils.

Neils, a retired Montana lumberman, former vice-president of J. Neils Lumber Co. in Libby and grandfather of PLU coxswain Ralph Neils, was on hand for the ceremonies. His wife christened the shell.

Also on hand for the ceremony were Richard Neils, a St. Regis Paper Co. executive, and his wife. He is Walter Neils' son and father of PLU's coxswain.

PLU representatives were Dr. Eugene Wiegman, university president; Clayton Peterson, vice president for development; and Jon Olson, alumni director and crew advisor, along with the men's crew team and the newly organized women's team.

DR. CUBBAGE SELECTED FOR FELLOWSHIP TO SAN FRANCISCO BANKING SEMINAR

Dr. Kenneth W. Cabbage (bus.) is one of 20 professors of money and banking in six western states awarded fellowships for the ninth Central Banking Seminar at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco Nov. 12-14.

Dr. Cabbage and the other selected professors will meet with officials of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the San Francisco Reserve Bank to discuss various aspects of central banking.

Those awarded fellowships were selected from more than 70 candidates nominated by four-year colleges in the district that offer courses in money and banking. The successful candidates were chosen by a faculty selection committee.
