

Development Fund Committee Chosen

Ten leading Tacoma business men were appointed to the Directing Committee of the PLC Development Fund, announced Gerrit Vander Ende, general chairman.

In announcing the committee, Vander Ende said, "The PLC Development Fund is one of the largest community-improvement programs ever attempted in the Pacific Northwest. To be successful it will need the finest kind of leadership. I am convinced that this committee will provide that leadership and will help insure we reach our goal of one million dollars. This Development Fund will bring many benefits to Tacoma and Pierce County, making it a better place in which to live and work."

Members of the newly formed Directing Committee include: Reno Odlin, president, Puget Sound National Bank; Carl Phillips, president, National Bank of Washington; Robert Fargher, vice president-manager, The Bank of California, N. A.; Fred Osmer, president, Northwestern Drug Company.

Also Joseph C. Beckman, Jr., secretary, Beckman Electric Stores, Inc.; Eric O. Brown, district manager, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.; C. Morrison Johnson, president, Washington Steel Products, Inc.; Nels H. Magnuson, treasurer, Foss Launch and Tug Co.; Tom C. Sterne, vice president, United Pacific Ins. Co.; Ernest D. Thomson, The Bay Company.

Also, a citizen's committee of sponsors is now being formed; a group of about one hundred of the outstanding civic leaders of Tacoma and Pierce County who will be asked to lend names as sponsors and endorsers of the Development Program.

March 11 a dinner will be held in the CUB for these sponsors, at which time they will be informed of the future plans for PLC and will have a first hand opportunity to see the progress that the College has made. This dinner will be the signal for an all-

Selective Service Announces Exam

Captain Chester J. Chastek, USN, Washington State Director of Selective Service, today reminded college students that the only Selective Service Qualification Test for the 1957-58 school year will be held on Thursday, May 1, 1958.

Applications for the test must be postmarked not later than midnight, Friday, April 11, 1958.

Bulletins of Information regarding the test, College Qualification Test Application Cards, and College Qualification Test Tickets of Admission are in the process of being printed and will be available in ample time for distribution by local Selective Service boards well in advance of the final date for submission of applications.

The testing program for the 1957-58 school year will be administered by Science Research Associates, Inc., Chicago, Illinois, and will be the only test that will be given for the 1957-58 school year, Captain Chastek emphasized.

PLC Students Get Overseas Roles

PLC students chosen to attend the ELC Volunteer Services Work Camp this summer are Bev Swanson and Liz Heins, and PLC alumnus Stan Read. The camp program, which includes the building of an Evangelical Academy and retreat, will be held July 14 to August 9 in Alsace-Lorraine, near Strasbourg, France.

Bound for England and another of the ELC Young People's Luther League sponsored International Work Camps will be Susie Lannen and Barbara Stuhlmiller. Destination is Hothorpe Hall, near Rugby, England, where a six-week work program will be carried out from June 10 to July 21 with other Lutheran students from the US, Africa and Asia.

Registration Reaches 1332

Pacific Lutheran's male population leads the school enrollment this semester with a total of 682 men attending classes. This number is contrasted with the total number of women registered marking the 650 point.

With the total student body numbering 1332 students, only 191 are classified as part-time students (taking less than 12 units). The women have the lead in this group, totaling 113 to the men's 78.

Seventy-one new students enrolled for the first time this semester and ninety-one returned after not attending the fall semester. One of the new students traveled to PLC from his home in Hong Kong, China. Others now on campus are one from Massachusetts, one from Canada, one from Michigan, four from Oregon, eight from California and 145 from Washington.

The freshman class outnumbers any other one class with a total of 440 first-year students, but the class runs contrary to the rule with 208 men and 232 women. The sophomore class totals 280 students with 145 men and 135 women, and junior men outnumber their women 130 to 107, totaling 237.

The senior women total only about one-third of their 177 member class with 60 women and 117 men.

Four men and three women are doing graduate study on the PLC campus this semester.

out publicity campaign which will prepare the community for a general solicitation.

Marv Tommervik announced the advisory committee for the Alumni Appeal includes: Eugene M. Anderson, '50; Ron Douglas, '53; Alvin D. Fink, '53; Morris E. Ford, '31; Obert J. Haavik, '37; T. Olai Hageness, '34; George Harstad, '34; Eugene F. Jack, '37; Erling T. Jacobson, '29.

Also Erling B. Jurgensen, '39; Dr. Richard C. Langton, '47; James F. Mills, '48; Mrs. E. A. Morken, Spokane College; Bob Stuhlmiller, '57; Murray A. Taylor, '43; John Tenwick, '40; Harold C. Trulson, '32; Eric Hauke, '32; Neil J. Hoff, '41.

The official brochure for the Development Fund, "The Present Imperative," tells the story of the Fund and presents future plans of the college in detail. It will be distributed to all students and faculty when it is off the press.

Juniors Choose Class Projects

Under the direction of its chapel committee the junior class has written to 26 of the leading universities of the country. Purpose of these letters, according to the committee, is, "to achieve a greater understanding and insight into the social and cultural aspects of life on other American college campuses." The class hopes to incorporate the results of this project into its future student body chapel programs.

Schools written to include the well known Ivy League Universities, mid-west state universities and other fellow Lutheran colleges throughout the country.

Requested specifically in the letters was information concerning student-produced entertainment and class fund-raising projects.

A copy of the college paper was also requested. It is hoped by the class that this information will be of utmost value in the future, not only to the junior class but to the entire student body.

APD Blood Drive Repeated May 8

Another PLC blood drive will be held on May 8 following the success of the recent drive which netted 32 pints of blood.

The blood was given to the Tacoma-Pierce County Blood Bank and credited to Pacific Lutheran College. This blood may be withdrawn at any time by any member of the college family in need of blood.

One Act Play Festival Sat.

Tomorrow Alpha Psi Omega will host nearly 125 drama students from 13 high schools at its annual One-Act Play Contest in the PLC C-M-S.

Clover Park High School will lead the day's activities with a 9:00 a.m. performance, followed by one-act plays by Olympia, Franklin Pierce, and Bethel. Afternoon session will begin at 1:00 p.m. and will include presentations by students from Roosevelt, Orting, Highline, Kent-Meridian, and West Valley. Arlington will begin the evening round of plays, followed by Franklin, Shoreline and Everett.

PLC students are invited to attend any or all of these performances, which will be held in the CMS and are to be climaxed with the presentation of awards at 10:00 p.m.

The purpose of the tournament, headed by Rod Baschore, is that high school students may learn more about the field of drama and become acquainted with others interested in this same field.

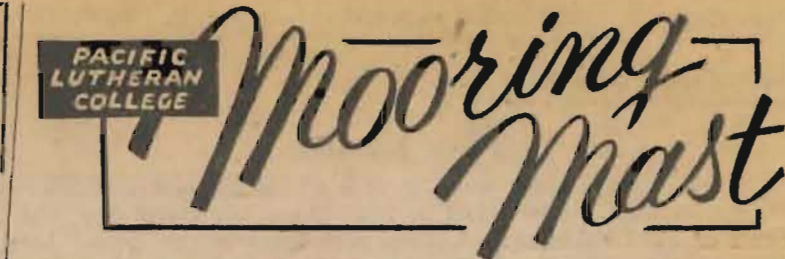

Judging the one-act presentations will be Mr. Stanley Elberson, Rod Kastle, Mrs. Lucille Johnson, Bob Fleming, and Dr. K. Solberg.

New History Club Features Speaker

Dr. W. Tomlinson of the History department at CPS, spoke on Asian countries at the meeting of the newest organization on campus, the History Club.

In his topic of Asian countries Dr. Tomlinson included the fact that he is organizing a tour of those countries this summer and is looking for people interested in the trip.

Tom Reves is the newly elected president of the history club and Dr. Nodtvedt is the advisor.

PACIFIC LUTHERAN COLLEGE VOL. 35, NO. 16 PARKLAND, WASH. FRI., FEB. 28, 1958

College Presents Orchestra Concert

Pacific Lutheran College's orchestra along with several members of PLC's music department will give its first concert of the season Sunday, March 2, at 3:30 p.m.

The concert is open to the public and there will be no charge for admission.

Bach's Brandenburg Concerto Number Five, performed by Miss Patricia Thompson on the piano, will be the first number. The orchestra soloists will be: violin, Mrs. R. Lutey and Miss Pat Isensee; flute, Mrs. P. Clark, Miriam Stoa and Mrs. H. Springer.

Mr. Gordon Gilbertson will play the Handel Concerto in B minor for Viola, second movement.

Next on the program will be a selection from The Peasant Cantata by Bach, entitled "Good Fellows Be Jolly," sung by Mr. Frederick L. Newnam, baritone.

The final work will be the Organ Concerto in C major, by F. Haydn, performed by Professor R. Byard Fritts.

Dr. Eastvold Attends Conference in Midwest

Dr. S. C. Eastvold, PLC college president, spent last weekend in Minneapolis attending several conferences.

President Eastvold met with the Board of Education of the Evangelical Lutheran Church which discussed the future development of all ELC colleges. Committees were elected on fund gathering which it is estimated will run into several million dollars.

He also attended the meeting of the Church Council of the ELC. All matters of the church were discussed, including charities, foreign missions, home missions expansion and the forthcoming Christian liberal arts college to be built in California.

The college will be located twenty miles west of the San Fernando Valley on the highway to Santa Barbara, just one hour from Los Angeles. An annuity gift of a farmer provided 135 acres of the site and 70 more acres have been purchased.

President Eastvold interviewed a number of prospective teachers (mostly Ph.D's) and stated that "we have never had better prospects for new teachers." He reported that there will be several new teachers next year in the fields of science, religion, philosophy, psychology and sociology.

Mooring Mast Receives Award

The pre-Christmas traffic safety drive of the Mooring Mast has paid off in another feather in the cap of the school paper.

According to a letter and certificate from the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company, which sponsored the college newspaper safety campaign, the Mooring Mast placed with an Honorable Mention in the division of non-dailies.

First prize of $500 for an over-all campaign in the non-daily field went to the "Miami Student," published by students of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. The "Daily Illini" from the University of Illinois in Champaign took top honors in the daily category.

Ninety-one colleges and universities from 37 states, the District of Columbia and one Canadian province entered the contest.

Minstrels Revived At Saga Carnival

Back on the PLC campus will be the Minstrel Show as Lettermen's Club revives the tradition on Saturday evening, April 19, in conjunction with the Saga Carnival.

The last Minstrel Show, presented in the spring of 1955, was reported to have been a great success.

Making up the show will be the Lettermen's Chorus and minstrel script, complete with Negro spirituals and comedy. The services of Jerry Bayne were enlisted for direction of the chorus, and Margie Krueger will be accompanist.

Cal Capener was chosen to be interlocutor for the program, and "end men" positions are wide open, according to Curt Kalstad, Lettermen's president.

Emphasized Curt, "In the past the Minstrel Show has been a great tradition, so let's really support it one hundred percent."

Practice sessions for the show are held at 6:30 p.m., Monday through Wednesday, in the Old Main lounge for all interested in helping in the program.

ELC to Build 23 New Congregations in '58

Twenty-three new congregations will be established during 1958 by The Evangelical Lutheran Church (ELC), according to a report released last month by the Rev. Dr. Philip S. Dybvig, executive director of the 1,043,230-member body's Home Missions department.

The ELC will begin new parishes in nine states, Canada, Mexico and Norway through loans from its Church Extension Fund, enabling erection of parsonages and first units of worship centers, Dr. Dybvig said.

Thinking Positively

The Issue

Next Tuesday you students will decide by general election voting in the CUB whether or not "That the Associated Students of Pacific Lutheran College participate in the Pacific Lutheran College Development Fund by means of individual contribution through an organized solicitation. This individual contribution shall be on the basis of a three year pledge."

Today there are approximately 1300 people attending PLC because they have faith in the school. They have faith that the education they get at PLC will be the education they want. They have faith that the degrees they receive will be valid, respected, and held in honor.

It is then only logical and natural to expect those who have faith in the college to be in favor of the betterment of the college, and even be ready to help better that college.

The faculty, staff, Parkland businessmen and residents, and Tacoma businessmen and residents have and are pledging to the PLC Development Fund. When the students look around and see support for development coming from all about them, it only follows that the students, those who could hardly be more intimate with the college, should support the development, or betterment, of the college in which they trust. It would be unnatural to expect otherwise.

The opportunity to help improve, or develop, Pacific Lutheran College should challenge both students and alumni. If one has faith in and loyalty enough to attend PLC, surely one should want to help improve the college.

Of course, it must be understood that adoption of the resolution does not mean that you must pledge. Again it is a personal decision. You do not have to give. But let's not kid ourselves. The purpose of the resolution is to bring about student body participation in the development fund as a student body through individual pledging which shows the body's substantial support.

Through years of attempts, failures and successes of fund-raising campaigns it has been found that for a large group (PLC easily qualifies), well organized, carefully planned individual solicitation is probably the best method of securing the money. The American City Bureau was asked to give an idea of what might be the best plan of solicitation. It is only reasonable and practical that the students accept the advice offered by the Bureau, for it is expert advice. According to the suggested plan the solicitation would proceed as follows:

A general chairman would be selected by the Student Council. The general chairman would choose chairmen for men, women and married students who would in turn appoint dorm, or housing heads. These heads would divide the students under more leaders, for instance, in a dorm, by floors. Any more workers would be chosen by these last heads. When all the chairmen and workers were chosen, which is estimated to take about one to two weeks, a meeting would be called for all these students at which the representatives of the American City Bureau would fully explain the solicitation and hand out materials.

Solicitors would then go out and with explanation of the procedure and answering of questions present the student with a pledge card which the student would either fill out or not fill out. It is a personal decision.

Any pledges are naturally held in absolute confidence, and are not revealed to anyone. The PLC pledges would be known only by the pledgers, officials of the Bureau who send out the quarterly reminders, and perhaps known by the person who solicited the pledge. I say "perhaps," for if the student wishes, he may seal his pledge in an envelope and have it given in that way to the Bureau office.

Do not let your mind be clouded by irrelevant matters. Think clearly about the resolution and discern what your position will be for the vote on Tuesday. — Dave Crowner, editor.

Fleming Sez:

By BOB

Heigh-Ho everybody! I was going to devote my column this week to a radio show I have written but instead I find that I get a chance to produce it and record it in chapel next Tuesday. Goes to show what a little money in the right places will do! Say, all you aspiring actors and actresses—Mr. Nordholm has an opening yet in the play he is producing. It's to play the rear end of a cow. He promises you won't be type cast.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN DEPT.—Dear Mr. Fleming: I'm in love with a wonderful guy but there's a big difference in our ages. He's 14 years older than me. Do you think we should get married? Signed, Worried. P.S. I'm 90 and he's 104 (but he doesn't look it). . . . Dear Worried: Make sure it's more than just a physical attraction you feel and that you are both mature enuf for a marriage relationship.

I feel bad. Here last Saturday was Washington's birthday and I forgot to get him anything. . . . I lived in a small town. So small if you used an electric razor the street lights dimed. . . . Is it true that Don Douglas is presently making a fortune putting outboard motors on floating kidneys? . . . New Song: COME INTO THE PAWNSHOP, MYRTLE, I WANT TO GET YOU A LOAN. . . . I think with that bit of melancholia I shall take my leave for now, but always remember what your Uncle Bob sez, "That's Show Biz!"

Three Reasons For 'No' Vote This Tuesday

There are three main reasons and the ramifications of these reasons, that give weight to the voices of those who oppose the adoption of the resolution presented before the assembled student body last Tuesday.

These are the subjects of: 1) the resolution itself; 2) the tuition and the proposed tuition rise; 3) the strain on parents in the event of their solicitation. It is the duty of this article to consider the arguments advanced on only the side of the question that opposes the adoption of the resolution.

The wording of the resolution is such that one could support the idea that the student body endorse the fund campaign. This is fine, but if that person felt the pledges should be voluntary he would be out on a limb.

If the resolution is adopted, it will be adopted in whole and there will be a three-year program of solicitations made to the entire student body (even those who do not wish to have any part of the program).

It is true that this latter group can say no, but they are placed under the eye of the individual solicitor and the committee and all who come into contact with the records of the campaign, as having given a "no" answer. There is no chance to say he couldn't afford it when the records are viewed some time later.

The argument has been raised that the faculty are in favor of the measure so much that they voted to support it with contributions. It is not said how the faculty is to afford it when some of their kids play in the streets. The answer to the problem is that there is to be a raise in the salary of several of these people.

It is proposed that the students should support the program; in the next breath it is stated that tuition is to be raised. The faculty is given more money and is able to afford the solicitations, while the students are supposed to undergo the same treatment yet under a lessening of available money since more will have to go toward their educations.

The final argument is that there is no way of knowing if parents of students are to be solicited. It would be a safe guess to venture that the majority of students depend for some support on their parents. If the students are to be solicited that is one thing. If their parents are to be solicited, that is another. For then we will be truly "bleeding a man through both nostrils." In order to be a good Christian with the best interests of his college at heart the student will be forced to contribute. In order to be a good parent with the best interests of their son through his school at heart the parent will be forced to contribute.

The parent will have signed two pledges for an undisclosed sum and there is the double strain on his bank book of tuition and development fund.

It is safe to ask that if one cannot vote for both of the parts of this resolution, he vote that the resolution be voted down. The desirable parts of the resolution can be brought up at a later date by the action of the students if they so choose.

Council Coursings . . . Important Ballot Scheduled!

Considerable discussion in Tuesday evening's Student Council meeting came out of that morning's action taken by the students by which a motion was passed calling for a secret ballot vote at a later date as to whether or not PLC, as a student body, should enter into a solicitation campaign for the Development Fund.

Discussion, which included consultation with the person who moved the motion, centered around clarification of the motion in order to establish what action should be taken.

It was voted unanimously by the Council to put the decision of participation as a student body in a solicitation campaign on a three-year pledge basis on a ballot this Tuesday, March 4. This will be a general election, with balloting in the CUB.

Action was taken at the meeting to select Dan Witmer as editor of the 1958 student handbook, one of the pieces of literature which falls into the hands of freshmen in the fall. Dan is a sophomore from San Francisco who has just recently been elected Northwest Regional President of LSA. He will begin his work on the handbook this spring.

The handbook is not only an informative guide to the campus for incoming students, but treats also the customs, rules and traditions which embrace life at PLC. The Student Council regards the handbook as useful material, since for one reason, it contains the ASPLC Constitution, probably the only copy to which the majority of the students have access.

John Amend, in charge of the recreational equipment in the CUB reported that on Friday six new ping pong paddles had been placed in the recreation room and on Tuesday two were left.

Vikings Battle Gladiators in West District

Lutemen Seek NAIA Berth; Gonzaga, Central Vie Also

After winning the Evergreen Conference crown for the third season in succession the Lutes will be making a bid for the Kansas City trip as they meet the Western Washington Vikings in the Western District playoffs. The local maples will be the stage of the preliminary match of the NAIA.

In Washington. Game time is 8:00 p.m. Saturday night.

East of the Cascades the Gonzaga Bulldogs will meet the Central Washington quintet in the Eastern District playoff. The winner of each game will meet at the court of the Western Division winner in a best two of three series. The victor of the two division playoffs will make the trip to the national finals at Kansas City, Missouri.

In three encounters to date this season the Glads have rolled over the Vikings—80-67, 81-54, 65-55. The last of these games was a tight match played in Bellingham on the Western floor.

LeRoy Nelson and Bill Wright, who have led the Viking attack in the previous encounters, will be the concentrated effort of defense on the part of the Lutes.

The Harshmen slated to start the Saturday night game are Bob Roiko and Chuck Curtis at forwards, Tom Sahli at center, and Jim Van Beek and Roger Iverson at guards.

Lutes Win Conference Title; Edge Central, Dump Eastern

On the evening of February 20 the Gladiators cinched the Evergreen Conference crown as they edged the Central Washington Wildcats 44-42. Chuck Curtis dumped in the winning basket on a driving lay-in with 11 seconds remaining.

Bill Coordes led the game scoring with 21 points as the Wildcat stole the show from the Lutes' Curtis who managed the high for PLC with 13.

Travelling on to Cheney the Gladiators romped over the Eastern Washington Savages 88-50. The lop-sided victory gave the Lutes a record of 12 wins with no losses for a clean slate championship.

Four Lutemen scored double figure tallies. Curtis sunk 24 counters while Bob Roiko and Roger Iverson shared the mark of 15 each. Tom Sahli hit for 11 points. No Eastern Savages broke into the scoring column with double numbers. Gary Roberts and Dick Koford headed the Savage scoring with nine each.

Campus Maples, Nets Scorched By Dorm Teams

Intramural hoopsters were scorching the maples and nets in round robin competition this week. Standings indicate that the leagues are getting tougher as the season draws to a close.

"Scorer of the week" was little John Mitchell who popped in 31 points for Ivy 'A' as the Ivy men played second fiddle to Clover Creek 'A' who won 65-52. Ted Berry managed 21 for Clover Creek.

Mighty-Mite Wins Wrestling Honors

Lacking in publicity but not in ability describes PLC's relatively unknown wrestling star, Bob Gross, the 123-pound mighty-mite from Mount Vernon. In the past three years Gross has achieved many state and national honors in the amateur grunt n' groan sport.

Wrestling for the Tacoma YMCA, Bob has a five match winning streak to his credit this year after losing two last fall in tournament competition. His latest victory last Saturday came at the expense of the Hungarian national champion who wrestles for the Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland.

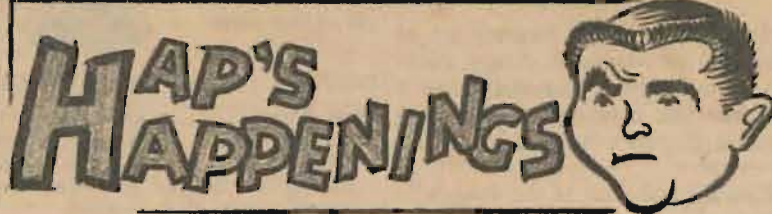

In five of his last six matches Bob has won on pins, defeating grapplers representing Northwestern colleges and athletic clubs.

In last year's Junior National AAU meet Bob finished second in his division, defeated only by the Pacific Coast champion.

Paddle Flappers Nearing Playoff

Intramural ping pong has advanced to the final stages as the paddle flappers meet in semi-final and final matches. Final competition is scheduled in the near future.

In one semi-final game Jim Van Beek and Dave Berntsen out-paddled Duane Moe and Jim Haaland 21-2 and 21-3 in a series of two.

by Eugene Hapala

The answer to the WSC cage coach question being answered now poses another question here at home. Who will be named to guide PLC athletic hopes next year? The answer to this question will probably not be answered for some time, but let us make a suggestion. Instead of one coach being named to the athletic department, why not two? PLC has grown to the extent that three full time coaches are definitely needed. Coach MARV HARSHMAN ably handled the Herculean task of coaching in three major sports, acting as athletic director, and still had several classes to teach.

The bulk of the other P.E. courses fall on the shoulders of track coach MARK SALZMAN as does the job of being assistant coach in three major sports and conducting a highly successful intramural program. With the proposed expansion of the college, the present system of two coaches will be definitely inadequate. Let us hope that when the board of directors meet they will vote in favor of adding not one, but two new coaches.

FREE THROW CONTEST TO BEGIN

Intramural Director MARK SALZMAN reports that all district intramural teams should get ready for the free throw contest which will begin next week. Last year Ivy Hall took team honors with 355 out of 500 attempts. CHRISTIE CRONDAHL dunked 85 out of 100 for individual honors. DUANE MOE'S 83 of 100 was runner-up.

TRACK ASPIRANTS OUT ALREADY

The official date for track and baseball turnouts is still more than a week away, but one can already notice several men working out for the spring sports. Trackmen DAN WITMER and JOHN FROMM have been working out for two weeks, while JIM KITTLESBY and JERRY CURTIS began un-limbering their arms this week for the coming baseball season.

Harsh Takes WSC Position

Pacific Lutheran students, faculty and staff were sorry to hear the announcement that Athletic Director Coach Marv Harshman had accepted the position of WSC basketball mentor. Nevertheless, the members of the Lute family wished Mr. Harshman a successful stay at the Pullman campus.

Harshman will be filling the vacancy created by the retirement of present hoop boss, Jack Friel, who is leaving the post of active coaching at Washington State to assume a position of associate professor of physical education there.

WSC Athletic Director Stan Bates said, "We are extremely pleased to have a man of Marv Harshman's character and ability on our staff. He has demonstrated not only outstanding coaching talent in his work at Pacific Lutheran but has done a magnificent job there in his position as athletic director and head of the entire inter-collegiate sports program."

"Everyone connected with Washington State will give our new coach all the support he needs and deserves. We know he will do an outstanding job for us."

No successor has been named by the administration to replace Harshman. He is expecting to leave PLC about April to take over his new position at Clougatville.

Mr. Harshman himself had this to say about the change, "I have thoroughly enjoyed my stay at PLC and my biggest regret is leaving the fine bunch of kids that I have worked with here."

"I hate to leave, but feel that this is too good an opportunity in my profession to pass it up. All my life I have wanted to be a coach, and I want to take a try at a big college job."

His players regret the loss, but feel that it is what a fine coach like Harshman deserves. Tom Sahli, speaking as one of three Lute seniors, said, "We surely hate to see him leave, but it's too good a chance for him to pass up. I've learned lots of basketball and it's been a real pleasure to work for Harsh."

Chuck Curtis stated, "It's a good move for Harsh, and if he is going to change this is a good time for him to do it. We know that he will do a real good job, and we'll all be trying our best over here for the new coach. But, we'll also be pulling for WSC."

Roger Iverson commented, "I'm glad to see him go. When there's a guy you love, you like to see him climb in his profession. He was more than a coach. He was a friend. We'll miss him, but we'll do okay."

Harsh has done a terrific job at PLC. In the past 13 seasons the Lutes have never finished less than fourth in conference competition under his tutoring. For 11 seasons the Glads have been in the District No. 1 playoffs, including this year. Marv "Marvelous" Harshman has taken three of his squads to the NAIA national finals in Kansas City, and is currently eyeing another chance at the national crown. His former teams to make such a bid were those of 1951, 1956, and 1957. Last year he guided the Gladiators to a third place in the big tourney.

Curtis Meets 'Rabbit' Chief

Seattle University's Chieftains are the foes of the Gladiators this evening. Game time is 8:00 p.m. in the Civic Auditorium in Seattle.

Students who did not have the opportunity to purchase one of the tickets in the PLC reserved "block" can purchase a general admission ticket at the Civic Auditorium. Beginning promptly at 6:00 p.m., Friday, 200 general admission seats will be made available on a first come, first serve basis at the box office there.

All-American hoopster Elgin "Rabbit" Baylor will be leading the Chieftains' attack. Baylor is perhaps one of the most publicized figures in basketball throughout the nation. Supporting the Seattle team will be such noted men as Jerry Frizzell, Francis Saunders, Charlie Brown and Jim Harney. Thornton Humphries and Don Ogorek will also see action.

Since 1945 the Lutes have won 10 games against 9 losses to Seattle. Little All-American Chuck Curtis will lead the Lute attempt to upset the highly touted and favored Chieftains.

The game is expected to be an either way event even though Seattle sportsmen favor the Chieftains.

Bobcats Scratch PLC Win Skein

The powerful Montana State quintet which almost downed the Seattle Chieftains last week only to lose 78-77 in closing seconds dropped the Pacific Lutheran team in two "knock down and drag out" contests this week. The PLC Gladiators were edged 63-59 Monday night and 85-82 Tuesday evening by the MSC Bobcats in Bozeman, Montana.

In the first tilt the Lutes could not find the range of the foreign hoop. The Bobcats used their familiarity with the home court to an advantage as they out-perced the Glads in shooting .397 to .286.

Tuesday night the Glads were still out on the precarious limb on field goal accuracy, but did manage to come through with new records at the foul line. They hit 24 of 26 charity shots to set a new game record for the school. Chuck Curtis was deadly as he pushed in 15 of his 16 gift attempts.

In Monday's contest Larry Chanay and Al Harris shared game scoring honors, leading MSC with 21 points each. Chuck Curtis managed 16 for the Lute high. Roger Iverson canned 14 and Bob Roiko hit 12 for PLC.

Curtis got back on the scoring trail Tuesday for the Lutes as he evened the mark at 31 with Chanay of the Bobcats in the overtime game. Harris came through with 27 counters for MSC while other Lutes to score in double figures were: Tom Sahli, 19; Jim Van Beek, 14; and Roger Iverson, 14.

Psychologist Hypnotizes; Students Are in Trance

Dazed students watched the dazing results of hypnotism as Dr. Perry London, clinical psychologist at Madigan Army Hospital and instructor in psychological testing on campus, gave a demonstration and lecture on it at the last meeting of the Psychology Club. He was assisted by Jim Bryan who has his M.A. in Psychology from the University of California and is also of the psychology division at the hospital.

Dr. London, who has his degree from Columbia University, began his lecture on "Mesmerism" as Mr. Bryan casually relaxed on some comfortable chairs provided for the demonstration. As the soothing lecture progressed, many noticed the very relaxed assistant. Finishing his lecture, Dr. London turned his attention to Jim, who being quite an expert in auto-hypnosis, was far into "dreamland."

Using a special number system, Dr. London learned from Jim that Jim was under hypnosis to "34."

A partial anesthesia was demonstrated at the meeting. Next, the effects of a "re-lived" athletic game were demonstrated resulting in much perspiration. At this point Jim was asked if he would like to "come out," having been in a trance for about an hour.

Chuck Donhawe was the first subject and was assisted into a trance by Mr. Bryan to a depth of about 14 (Dr. London believed much deeper). At this time and later on in the evening, Dr. London said that everyone in the room, whom he observed, was in a partial trance.

The primary purpose or benefit from such an evening, suggested by Dr. K. Solberg of PLC's psychology department, was the removal of the "mysticism" concerning hypnosis. The many theories on hypnosis were discussed and some of the dangers in its use as a "parlor trick"; the primary danger being from a possible conflict created due to post-hypnotic suggestion.

It was sad... when that great ship went down and the last thing to leave the sinking ship was a bottle of Coca-Cola. That's because all hands stuck to Coke to the end. Now there's popularity! That's the kind of loyalty the sparkling lift, the good taste of Coke engenders. Max the lifeboats, have a Coke!
