COLLEGE HAS AN AUSPICIOUS OPENING

DEVELOPMENT 'HELP' PROGRAM IS ORGANIZED

Tingelstad Announces New Plan; 65 Are Enrolled First Night

"Help us grow!" is the plea of Pacific Lutheran College. The college is expanding daily and a room must be made for such developments as may arise. For this reason the cooperation of all is asked, and it is expected that such aid will be gladly given.

The plan for development includes the construction of a new chemistry laboratory, expansion of the library, and the development of a wider field of enlarged friends.

There has been a demand for a four-year course in the college department which will come under the Liberal Arts category. Such an addition necessitates additional resources. This is another reason for the present plea for "help" coming from Pacific Lutheran College to its friends throughout this North-

Dr. Elvestrom is one of the important factors in establishing a greater Pacific at Parkland. He is to be the field man who will be responsible for organizing the development campaign in the field and arranging for a series of meetings at which President Tingelstad can present the cause.

A development association is being organized, membership in which is obtained by signing the following statement: "This is to certify that the above named is enrolled as a contributing supporter of Pacific Lutheran College, Parkland, Washington, with the understanding that a contribution of at least one dollar be made to Pacific Lutheran College by the above-named at least once a year and that the above-named" (Continued on Page Two)

INNER HONORS NEW FACULTY

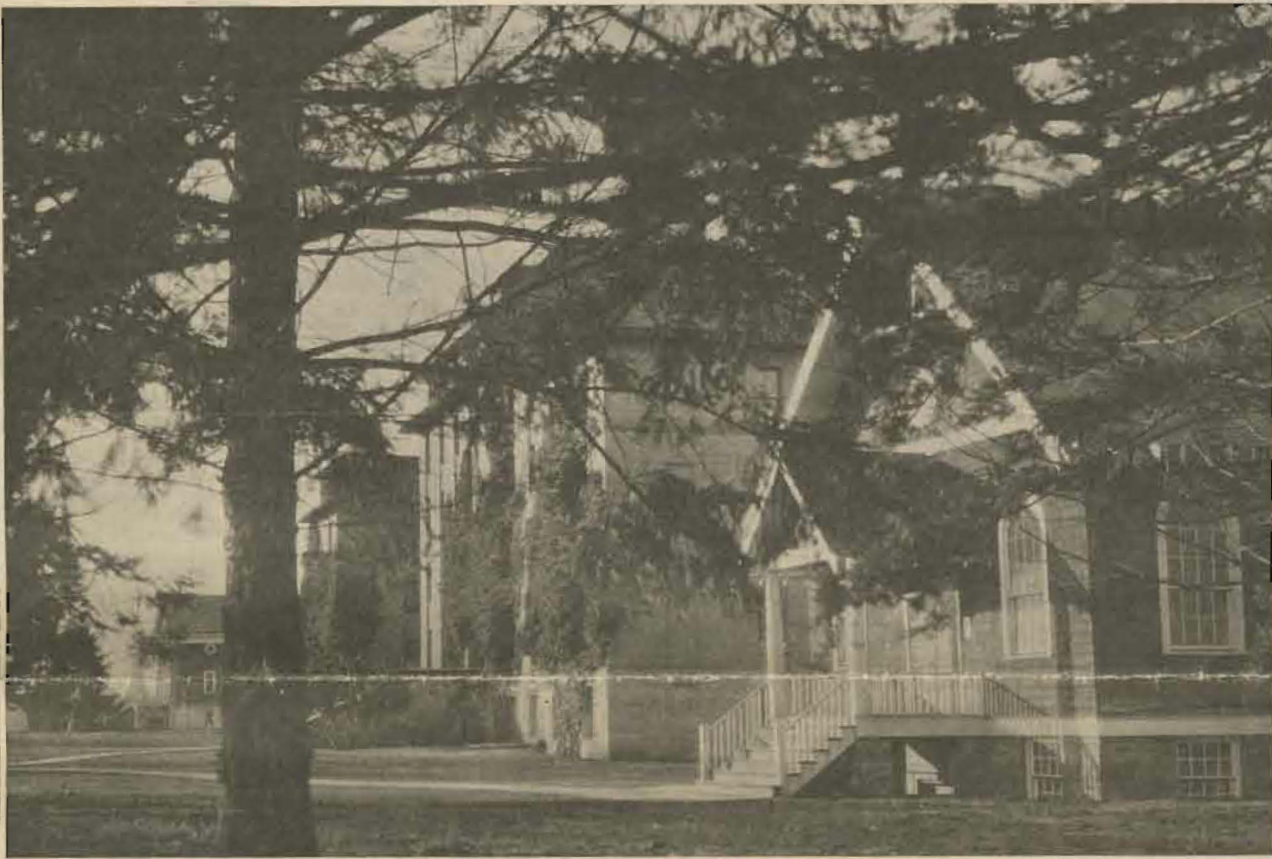

A formal dinner party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip E. Hauge last Wednesday evening in honor of the new members of the faculty. A dinner was given by the members of the old faculty. Mr. Xavier gave the opening address to the new members of the group, and responses were made by Dr. Elvestrom, Dr. Tingelstad, Miss Myhre and Mr. Hong. Mr. Hauge acted as master of ceremonies.

NEW TEACHERS ADDED TO P. L. C. STAFF

Pacific Lutheran is glad to welcome a group of new teachers to her halls. The addition of these teachers to the old staff makes possible another step forward in the work that is being planned for the future.

The call was sent—and responses came from far and near. Those who are nearest are Mr. Hong, the new high school principal, and Miss Myhre. Mr. Hong came from Lincoln High School in Tacoma, where he has been

Lutherans Have Big Convention

Chataqua Is Well-Attended By Boys, Girls and Adults

That the Chataqua held the last week of August was successful can be shown from the fact that there were about 50 tents placed on the campus.

In addition to the older members of the group, Rev. Henriksen of Seattle had charge of an encampment of 35 boys, and Miss Uleland had 25 girls under her care.

Bible meetings were held early each morning and proved a real inspiration for the day.

The younger members of the congregation were kept busy by Bible work and by contests of various sorts. These contests, conducted by some members of the college student body, included track meets, swimming contests and games of higher organization in which the parents sometimes joined.

Dr. Bruise of the Lutheran Theological Seminary spoke at the summer school for ministers.

Among the speakers at this Chataqua were Rev. O. L. Hovick, a member of the board of trustees of the Pacific Lutheran College, Rev. Pfluger of Seattle, Rev. Rustad and Rev. Lono, both of Tacoma.

MRS. KREIDLER HONORED

In honor of her birthday Mrs. Kreidler was presented with a beautiful tooled leather over-night bag, last Friday night. The presentation was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Xavier, with the dinner tables set for 36 of the honor guests, friends and associates in the school. Dr. Tingelstad presented a bas-

Summer School Has Proved Interesting

For six weeks this summer, the school was actively engaged by a goodly group.

The summer-school session of the Normal course of P. L. C. was well attended even though the work offered was of a difficulty not conducive to eager study in the midst of hot days.

Miss Stixrud, Mrs. Kreidler, Mr. Hauge, and Mr. Stuen were the teachers, while the course comprised Educational Measurements, Principles of Education, Library Instruction, Technic of Teaching, State Manual, and Normal Art.

Those who attended the quarter's work this summer were: Hannah Anderson, Opal Black, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Calavan, Ruth Erickson, Verna Gano, Ethel Johnson, Mrs. King, Mr. W. Kersten, Irene Moore, Blanche Rall, Martha Sizer, Bertha Rod, Merle Veters and Mae Wahlmacher.

Fascinating Tradition is By P. L. C.'s Best Explainer—Mooring Mast Reported

Tradition, always interesting anywhere at any time, takes on a new meaning when spoken of in connection with a campus, for in this sense tradition consists of customs so long practiced that they have become a part of a thing. And what kind of a campus is that without tradition? P. L. C. has students will unconsciously follow old traditions—many of them—and new customs without realizing that they already entered into the traditional life of the school.

For instance, how many of us have not already strolled to the old Kicking Post, implanted a firm toe print thereon and wished that—no, don't tell, or it won't come true. This custom began so

Opening Exercises Prove Good; 106 Are Enrolled On First Day

The opening exercises of Pacific Lutheran College were held September 12.

One hundred and six students had enrolled on this first day, which makes an increase of ten per cent over last year's enrollment for the first day.

The opening exercises were held in the chapel building at ten o'clock. After the organ prelude, played by Professor Edwards, Rev. T. O. Svare led in prayer, and the assembly pointed in singing "The Heavens Declare Thy Glory."

The new president, Dr. O. A. Tingelstad spoke on John 14: 1-15—"Let not your heart be troubled for heaven is our goal and Jesus is our way, and there are His great works to do for us; and all this time He hears our prayers, and His commandments provide a way of loving service for His individual disciples as well as for Christian institutions like our Pacific Lutheran College. So in our works and doing, we have this one great comfort, "Let not your heart be troubled," for Jesus is ever present to help and befriend us at all times.

WEDDING OF L. CARLSON GRAD

At a very beautiful home wedding Tuesday evening, September 25, one of our graduates, Mr. Lyman Carlson, was married to Miss Ellen Heggblom, of Gig Harbor. Rev. O. J. Ordal from Bellingham, Washington, for many years a close friend of the family, performed the ceremony. The bride's sister was maid of honor, while Mr. Ole Floe acted as best man. Among the invited guests were Prof. and Mrs. O. J. Stuen, from the College. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Carlson left immediately after the wedding for a short honeymoon in British Columbia, after which they will be at home at 1407 No. Prospect street, Tacoma.

At the west end of the campus we can only say that surprises await you, for nothing in black and white could truthfully tell the traditions of that mysterious spot.

There are, however, less mysterious customs of our school. One event which has already taken place is the annual trip to the Fair. Most of us found that there are other places besides school where one can get a different slant at life or look at things from a different angle. Anyway, the Carnival section is one place where you can get up in the world. As for the other traditional events we shall not try to tell about them, for they, too, must be experienced. We merely remind you of Campus Day, Sneak Day, and Reunion as some of the

FACULTY ADVISERS

O. J. STUEN N. J. Hong

WELCOME, DR. TINGELSTAD!

"A corporation can be no more efficient than the managerial officer at its head." Our corporation is Pacific Lutheran College, and the proof of our school's integrity is Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, our executive.

In referring to Dr. Tingelstad's acceptance of the presidency of Pacific Lutheran College, allow us to say that never in the history of our institution have we experienced such an advancement as that which his presence makes possible for us to announce. He is a scholar and educator of pre-eminent ability, but more, he is a gentleman of sterling character.

Dr. Tingelstad, we welcome you to Pacific Lutheran College and hope to manifest the appreciation you deserve.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT "OUR ADVERTISERS"

Sometimes one hears a student remark that advertisements are of no value to anyone, but this theory is false.

Advertising is only one type of news and is valuable to the publication carrying it, the business and above all, the person reading the announcements—for he profits most. As an example, a ten dollar sweater may be offered for eight dollars, a saving of twenty per cent. Such a saving as this counts, and in a year's time will make a considerable showing.

Commence now and see how interesting the advertisements really are. Then get the habit, for Invader advertisements bring a three-fold result—for the buyer, the seller, and the publication. —Auburn Invader

LOUISE HENRIKSON '28 MARRIES

Of interest to P. L. C. students and teachers was the marriage of Louise Henrikson '28 to Prof. Ellingson of Luther College. The wedding took place June 27 at the Phinney Ridge Church in Seattle, the ceremony being performed by the bride's father, Rev. Geo. Henrikson. Mrs. George Henrikson Jr. was Matron of honor and Elna Trulson and Esther Towe were brides maids. After the ceremony a reception was held at the parsonage attended by the following guests: Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Foss, Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Haavik, Mr. and Mrs. Ph. E. Hauge, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Stuen, Mr. and Mrs. Kreidler, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. George Henrikson Jr., Miss Esther Towe, Elna Trulson, Jenny Lingaas, and Mrs. Gunderson.

Students and teachers join in wishing happiness and success to the couple, who are residing at Decorah, Iowa, where Prof. Ellingson is teaching at Luther College.

Chapel Talk

"Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed."

Insert our own name in place of "our" and then read. Christ bore our troubles, our iniquities, our transgressions. If we would stop to think about that side of our life, other pettier matters would vanish. Go to the Heavenly Father for help in your schoolwork, go to Him when you are homesick. Surely he will help you.

People have come to think that God is somebody whose acquaintance can be sought on the Sabbath day only. Our Father is ready for us at any time, in any place, and for any thing that we wish to demand of him. He gives us comfort and aid whenever we ask for it. Why not use that privilege more often?

This ought to be a good recipe with which to begin the new semester—Never let it rest. It is good advice to each and every one of us. It is always very easy to let things rest when they are just good. Try to make everything you do, your best.

In addition to this, comes the thought "All things shall be done decently and in order." Keep our schoolrooms in order. Keep our chapel in order. Keep our library in order. Keep everything in order because order is one of the first essentials for good work and success in school.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS ARE PROMISING WITH HEAVY LINE AND FAST QUARTER

Mr. A. W. Ramstad, Pacific Lutheran College football mentor, has been working a squad of about thirty-five men hard during the past three weeks in an effort to find a winning combination.

Although he has seven letter-men from last year's team, Junior College Conference Champions, and some likely looking new prospects, he is yet making an effort to find the best combination. Speaking of the outlook for the season Coach Ramstad says, "I'm not inclined to be too optimistic."

In the backfield, Knutzen, Anderson, and Carlson, all vets from last year's team, seem to have an edge on positions. Carlson, a clever field general and consistent punter, will probably work at quarter. Knutzen should fit well at fullback, and Anderson at his old position, half. Other prospective backs who are giving the veterans a good run are Sanderson, Palo, and Hoff.

The end positions, with Kreidler, Thostenson, and Coltum, should be well taken care of. Kreidler, a letterman, and Thostenson from last year's second team, are showing up very well in practice. Coltum has plenty of speed and should develop into a capable wingman. Gopelrud is another promising wingman.

Tackles seem to be causing Coach Ramstad a great deal of concern. Wiese, a letterman, is showing up well. Cronquist, Jacobson, and Lisherness have been showing up well at tackle positions. All are big but lack experience.

Fred Scheel, a husky guard from last year's team, and Floe should make an efficient pair of guards. Berentsen and Hauge should also fit in well at guard positions.

Bill Nyman and "Jake" Jacobson, both veterans, seem to have an edge on the center division.

Although the loss of such men as Hoban, Fowler, Sannerud and Christensen from last year's squad will be keenly felt, prospects for the coming season are far from being gloomy. The Gladiators will open the gridiron season with Centralia Junior College on October fifth.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Preparations are being arranged to provide the Gladiators with a schedule that should result in some real football contests.

At the present time five games have been arranged for, and there is a promising possibility of at least two more. A second game is scheduled with the C. P. S. reserves, but no date has been arranged at the present time. Arrangements are also being made with the Moran School.

The list so far includes: Centralia Junior College—October 5; St. Leo's—October 12; Puget Sound Reserves—October 19; Stadium Hi—November 9; Lincoln High, November 23. This should provide the fans with some real football, and the Gladiators have some strenuous contests facing them.

Irvin Lane '23 and Miss Pricilla Boyd of Idaho were married last August at Stanwood by Rev. Geo. Lane. They are residing at Parma, Idaho, where Mr. Lane is superintendent of schools.

P. W. Lee, a former student of P. L. A. visited school when he brought with him his brother, Fred Lee, who registered here.

ENROLMENT TOTAL IS EVER GROWING

"Oh, Truly!"

Such a clamor as arose on the air when Elna Trulson sailed onto the horizon of Registration Day at P. L. C. The noise surely must have deafened her, because a boiler factory would be hard put to it to equal the volume put forth by the future students of P. L. C. That is, of course, if such a comparison is fair to the poor boilers!

All around was the hum of voices, greeting old friends and meeting new ones. Pacific was certainly in a state of chaos. Everything was strange and new—even to the old "studes." Rooms had been changed—painted—new curtains in the lunch room; new teachers greeted the classes when they met.

But over and above all the racket, and between trips to the kicking post, time was found to make the new-comers feel at home. The old elevator gag was "pulled" time without number. It was funny though, that the new group of "freshies" were not as green (uninformed if such a word suits our English critics better) as had been expected. They took the jests and attempts at comedy in good humor, and have made themselves better liked because of their excellent conduct.

We found it necessary to direct some of the older members of the student body around the halls and into the different classrooms where registration was the order of the day. Everything was different—it still is—but the new year promises to be the "best ever."

GLADIATORS BEAT

ROY HIGH; 12-0

In a practice contest on Friday, September 21, the Gladiators defeated Roy High with a score of 12 to 0. The contest was an exhibition of miserable football.

Coach Ramstad used virtually every man on the squad in an effort to get a lineup on his material. Another game with Roy has been scheduled for the second team later in the season.

Myron Kreidler and Peter Sognefest will re-enter the University of Washington this year.

Annele Dahl '26 and Norman Langlo, student here in 1925-26 were married this summer and are living at Santa Barbara, California.

GIRLS START WORK IN GYM

"Change that dirty middy! Roll your stockings up!"

We wonder, will such criticisms be the outcome of the regulations made by Miss Stixrud, girls' physical education teacher, last Thursday.

The girls this year face an entertaining program of games, folk dances and exercises. Last year was an entertaining one, even if the classes were held from 3:30 to 4:30. This year promises to be even better and expectations are high.

The girls are required to wear the regulation outfit consisting of white middies, black bloomers, black stockings and tennis shoes.

FOOTBALL Team Elects Captain.

At a meeting last week "Red" Carlson, prominent P. L. C. athlete, was elected to Captain the fighting Gladiators through the coming season.

Football fans and students will remember "Red" as one of the outstanding backs of last year's team. Carlson is a brilliant open-field runner and a witty quarterback. He should prove an acceptable and successful leader.

Erna Heimdahl has completed training at the Swedish Hospital in Seattle and is a nurse there now.

Thoralf Pederson, a P. L. C. student in 1926 has opened a store on 807 Pacific Avenue and will be glad to meet all of his old classmates and P. L. C. students at this location.

SUMMER WORK IS DONE BY TEACHERS

Where, oh where, have the teachers been,

And what oh, what have they done?

Here is the where and the what, and maybe the why of the vacations spent by the teachers of Pacific Lutheran College during the past few months:

Mr. Stuen spent the summer attempting to teach the rudiments of Library Instruction in summer school at Parkland.

A manuscript of children's stories was prepared by Dr. Hoff, and is now with a publisher in New York. The Mooring Mast takes this opportunity to wish him all success in this work.

Mr. Ramstad and Mr. Xavier spent a lazy three months studying for degrees at the University of Washington.

Mr. Edwards passed his vacation in Hennings, Minn. During the first week in July, he attended the National Educational Association meetings. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards drove home in a new Willys-Knight car.

After summer school was finished, Miss Stixrud spent some time with her sister in Vancouver, B. C.

Mr. Hauge had a hard time deciding which was the more important—the fact that he taught summer school, or the fact that his parents and sister visited him.

Mrs. Kreidler had the pleasure of seeing the Duffy Players in Seattle, where she spent week-ends with her sister. She also taught summer school. It seems that the teachers have had a pretty busy summer, and must now be glad to get back to the hum-drum routine of teaching.(?)

Mast Subscriptions Wanted Immediately

"Hear, ye! Hear, ye! Ye Mooring Mast wants your dollar! Come and hear! Come and buy!"

Such is the cry one hears around Pacific Lutheran College today. Now is the time to subscribe for the school paper. All students get the paper each week, but it is up to each one of them to get someone outside to take the paper. For that reason the girls and the boys are at "finger nail and toe nail" grips for each subscription.

It is a case of "First come, first served," and each person is trying to be the first.

The contest is just started. Although there is no definite date set for the end of the contest, it is expected that the finish will be in about three weeks from now. Get busy!
