South Puget Circuit Leaguers to Meet Friday in Seattle

N. M. Ylvisaker, Theo. Huggenvik, August Werner Will Appear on Various Convention Programs

With the general theme, "Jesus Only," (Matt. 17:8), the South Puget Sound Circuit of the Luther League will convene this week-end, October 11, 12, 13 at Rev. George Lane's church, Phuney Ridge in Seattle. Elizabeth Stuen, Mildred Larsen, and Ralph Bolstad have been chosen to represent the Trinity Luther League of Parkland at this convention.

Rev. N. M. Ylvisaker, executive secretary of the International Young People's League, will deliver an address, "The Need for the Savior," at the opening assembly Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Bertram Myhre, circuit president, will be in charge of all business meetings. Saturday morning will be devoted to a Junior League session. A further discussion of the convention theme, a general business session, and election of officers is the program scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Rev. Theo. Huggenvik, who is professor of Christianity and religion at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota, is the guest speaker at the banquet, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Holy Communion for delegates and others wishing to participate will be conducted by Rev. Geo. Lane Sunday morning at 8:30. The convention Bible class will assemble at 9:30 o'clock with Rev. O. L. Haavik officiating. Rev. Theo. Huggenvik will address the convention at 11 o'clock at divine services.

At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Choral Union concert will begin. Prof. August Werner, a master of Music at the University of Washington, will be featured as soloist. The closing address will be delivered by Professor Theo. Huggenvik.

Educational Institute To Meet Oct. 28, 29

District meetings of the Washington Educational Association will be held in Tacoma, October 28, 29, at the Jason Lee Intermediate School. The general sessions are to be called Monday morning and Tuesday afternoon, while the section and department conferences are scheduled for Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning.

Monday morning the opening speakers will be Mr. B. F. Kizer, of the State Planning Council, and Miss Madeline Veveke, from Los Angeles. At the closing session Tuesday afternoon, Miss Daisy Lord, of Waterbury, Connecticut, and Mr. George Yantis, of Olympia, will speak.

As has been the custom for several years, Pacific Lutheran College representatives to the Institute will gather for a luncheon in the parlors of the First Lutheran Church. Miss Irene Padgett, who was chosen at last year's meeting, will be in charge of arrangements.

Tayet Elected Head Of Graduating Class

Composed of third year normal and second year liberal art students, the graduating class completed its election of officers last week. Frithjof Tayet was chosen president.

Other newly named officers are: vice-president, Marie Johnson; secretary, Jean-Marie Fowler; and treasurer, John Stuen. As yet the class adviser has not been selected.

Pep Rally Is Planned For Ellensburg Game

Under the direction of yell leaders, Irene Odell, Gary Pfleger, and Eugenia Spencer the first pep rally of the season will be called at 9:30 Thursday evening.

Students are to congregate in front of the main building, and they will serpentine around the campus, across the athletic field, and out to the large bonfire. The following football men have been chosen to give a response: Harold "Bucky" O'Conner, Russell "Mutt" Frye, Harold "Bissell" Nilsen, "Dutch" Moe, Chet Solie, Ed Svinth, Ken Anenson, and Fred Hengey. Coach Clifford Olson and Jack Wall, water boy, will also be called on to make remarks.

The freshman class is in charge of the bonfire. A committee, composed of Warren Hokenstad, Ed Machie, Overt Haavik, Harry Gribbholm and Verner Bitter are to supervise its construction.

Harry McCormick Breaks Golf Record

High School Boy Shoots 61 in Eighteen Holes of Parkland Course

Harry McCormick, diminutive number one man on the P.L.C. golf team, burned up the local course yesterday with an astounding 61 for 18 holes to break the old record of 63, which was held by Joe Grew and himself. Par for the course is 68, while the mark for professionals is 62.

This brilliant display of wood control and mastery of putting was witnessed by Professor J. O. Edwards of P. L. C. and Wally Carr, manager of the club, who watched with amazement as Harry collected eight birdies. The Gladiator mashie wielder took only 29 strokes going out on the first nine and 32 coming in. Even more significant was the fact that he had no hole-in-ones to bring down his average, but attained the record by straight sub-par golf. Local golf critics predict a bright future for the boy as he has a sound "size and steady" control.

Dormitory Auxiliary Will Sponsor Tea

Dormitory Auxiliary Ladies will give a silver tea in the tea rooms of the Fisher Department store Saturday afternoon, October 19, from 2 until 5 o'clock. All students and faculty members are urged to attend.

Mrs. P. E. Hauge and Mrs. A. S. Berg have planned the program, and Mrs. A. W. Ramstad and Mrs. Victor Elvstrom have taken charge of the refreshments.

The Dormitory Auxiliary is an organization composed of women members of the faculty, pastors, wives, and wives of the faculty members. It is their purpose to promote interest toward the building of a new girls' dormitory, and to help as much as possible in furnishing the present dormitory to make it more pleasant and comfortable.

Highly Assisting at Minnesota University

Professor Paul R. Highby, on leave of absence from the Science Department, has sent greetings to the student body. He is studying at the University of Minnesota for his Masters degree in the Department of Science.

In addition to his studies, Prof. Highby holds a teaching assistantship in the science department, and he has been chosen Scholastic Counselor for two fraternity houses, where his duties are to help approximately seventy men maintain a high standard of scholarship.

French Club Gives Formal Installation

Mr. Franck Supervises Plans
For Social Hour Tonight

This evening at 7 o'clock the French Club will hold a formal installation of officers in the reception room. Ellen Bergstrom, retiring president, will lead the ceremony. Mr. Michel Franck, club adviser, has supervised all arrangements.

The new officers to be installed are: Eula Mae Goff, president; Iqne Madsen, vice president; Romola Rust, secretary-treasurer; Marion Pennie, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Friis, historian; and Mr. Franck, adviser.

The chairmen and their committees who planned and made the party possible are: program, Jean Armour, chairman, Ione Madsen, and Mildred Monson; decoration, Gertrude Brunner, chairman, Elsie Barrett, and Constance Clumb; refreshments, Elizabeth Friis, chairman, Hedvig Dahle, and Esther Norgaard.

Refreshments will be served to the group after installation, with no regular business meeting in order, according to Ellen Bergstrom, retiring president.

Mrs. H. P. Johnson Gives Swedish/Theology Books

Mrs. H. P. Johnson, wife of the late Rev. H. P. Johnson, Swedish Pastor of Portland, has given the school library some thirty volumes in Swedish, mostly theological books.

Mr. O. Bull, formerly of Parkland, donated nine volumes of Ved Arnen and one volume of Folkeblad.

The library has also procured the latest volumes of the Standard Catalogue for public libraries, the Cumulative Book Index and the Reader's Guide.

Yarn and Football Inspire Ingenuity For Football Yarn

By Paul Estrem

Grimy leather helmeted heads bob up and down. Sweaty players run hither, thither, and yither in the quest for glory and incidentally, victory, this on the gridiron.

A silky, yellow head bends eagerly over, of all things, her knitting. Nimble fingers run hither, thither, and yither in the pursuit of a dropped stitch; this in the grandstand.

A punt! And the all important ball of yarn goes careening down the bleachers. Gone from that fair head are all admonitory pep talks: one thought fills it, that of recovering the "Lost Ball." A lively laudatory discussion of "Top Hat" is left suspended in mid-air by Fred Astaire's P.L.C. girl friends who wait with bated breath the outcome of this critical play.—The football players wait tense and expectant, the umpire should have blown his whistle, but didn't; readers-thumb the pages, the newspapers should have gotten the story but didn't, ye scribe did!—To brevitate a lengthy narration, Milady recovers the ball and with it her poise, even as P.L.C. fans roar their approbation of "Bissel's" touchdown.

Thelma settles down to her knitting again to the tune of hike!—one, two, three—knt, purl, purl, knt!—Oh dear! the gladiators fumble—and the flaxen haired mistress of the fireside has dropped a stitch along the line of play. It's too late to recover it now.—Won't baby wonder where the dickens that tiny draft comes from?

Pep Club Gives Skating Party Saturday Night

With Mabel Heggen in charge of general arrangements, the Pep Club is sponsoring a skating party to be held at Kings' Roller Rink Saturday evening, October 12, from 9:30 to 12:00 o'clock.

Tickets may be purchased from Kathryn Anderson, Ellen Bergstrom, Helen Holtcamp and Irene Odell.

The Pep Club is also making plans for a Halloween party for the dorm students. Romola Rust, president, has appointed the following general committee to make arrangements for the affair: Ruth Froyen, chairman; Thelma Ness, Esther Norgaard and Marie Lien.

Choir Personnel Selected in Full

Three-Week Trip Into Montana
At Close of Semester Being Seriously Considered

The choir has the understanding that the school cannot guarantee that all newly selected members may go on the trip because of the expenses to be involved if the long trip is made, states Prof. J. O. Edwards, director of "The Choir of the West" in naming the complete personnel, which is larger than that of previous years.

Mr. Victor Elvstrom, business manager of the choir, has not yet returned from his trip to lay plans for the tour, but it is definitely proposed that the Inland Empire trip be made. If the choir goes as far east as Great Falls, Montana, the trip will extend over a period of three weeks in which case it will be started in January at the close of the first semester. Week-end trips in the spring are being considered, especially the invitation to Longview.

Delta Rho Gammas Meet Tomorrow

Delta Rho Gammas will meet tomorrow at 12:30 in their club room for the regular bi-monthly business meeting.

Definite plans will be formulated for a cake sale to be held at Rhodes Department Store sometime soon. Ione Madsen has been named chairman for arrangements with Dorothy Kapphahn, Alice Cook, and Louise Hendrickson assisting.

According to Eleanor Raudebaugh, president, the girls plan to remodel the Delta Rho Gamma room, making it a recreational room instead of a study room as it now is. In efforts to make it lighter, a redecorating is planned. The girls hope to give a party once a month, and a party involving both day girls and day boys is proposed.

Drama Club Will Present Two Plays Friday October 18

President Ione Madsen Names
Thespians Club Committees
For Heavy Season of Drama Activity

Friday evening, October 18, is the date scheduled for the first Drama Night of the school year. Margaret Craft is supervising the presentation of "The Marriage Proposal," and Bob Monson is directing "Hot Biscuits."

Miss Craft, assisted by Ed Svinth, has chosen Thelma Ness, Stanley Ford, and Ralph Bolstad to portray the characters of "The Marriage Proposal," a clever one-act comedy, the English-version written by Hilmer Bauhaage and Barrett H. Clarke. The cast of "Hot Biscuits" directed by Bob Monson and Valborg Norby, includes Lester Holte, Alice Cook, Arnold Anderson, Ellen Bergstrom, Roberta Torsson, Novell Nagel, and Frithjof Tayet. This play is written by Le Roy Stahl.

Intermission numbers are being planned by the vice-president, Helen Lijja, assisted by Jean Armour and Ellen Bergstrom.

There will be a candy sale of which Berglot Vogan is in charge, with a committee consisting of Helen Scott, Heier, Stark, and Iris Evans.

Other Drama Club committees have been appointed by president Ione Madsen for this semester as follows: Library programs, Vern Knutzen, chairman, Elsie Barrett, Louise Williams, Clix Haugen; wardrobes, Novell Nagel, chairman, Lenore Withrow, Virginia Davis, Elizabeth Friis, Harry Gribbholm, Emmet Thompson; publicity, Roberta Torsson, chairman, Verna Tegland, Thelma Daniels, Paul Preus, Bert Myhre, chairs, Ralph Bolstad, Chet Solie, Paul Estrem, Lester Holte; makeup, Norma Preus, chairman, Gertrude Stenberg, Arnold Anderson, typists, Edna Tobison, Mildred Larsen, Ida Merz, Mildred Monson, Irene Myklebust, Hedvig Dahle, Melba Penney.

L. D. R. Yearbooks Out Next Thursday

On Thursday, October 17, the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation will hold their regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. J. U. Xavier, with Mrs. P. A. Preus and Mrs. Xavier entertaining.

The main business of the meeting will be election of officers and the distribution of the yearbooks which are now completed. These booklets, which contain the programs for the entire year, are attractively designed, employing the trefoll insignia of the society. Roberta Torsson, Louise Hendrickson, Novell Nagel, and Louise Williams comprised the yearbook committee.

The following program has been arranged: the L. D. R. song, by a group of girls; piano solo, Norma Preus, reading by Wadene Calavan; convention report, Helen Holtcamp; vocal solo, Evelyn Sverson.

Ralph Hutchison Named President

High school department officers were elected last Thursday, October 3. Ralph Hutchison of Parkland, will assume the duties of president.

Clifford Haugen, of Pearson, was named vice-president. Frederick Schlanbusch, of Parkland, is the new secretary-treasurer, while Jack Wall of Bremerton, is secretary-at-arms.

The organization will hold regular business meetings twice a month.

P. L. C. NEEDS A STRONG ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

We feel more and more the need of a strong united alumni group. By this we do not mean to imply that the college has not an alumni association, but simply that it could and should play a more important part in the College's activities. If it functioned properly, such a group could easily put over the alma mater's athletic games by ticket selling drives. An excellent example of what a graduate group can do along this line can be seen in the successful crew drives sponsored by the University of Washington, which have sent their winning crews east by Poulticekeeping each year.

We urge our own alumni, most of whom play an important part in the community in which they live and work, to unite and to sponsor the home games of Pacific Lutheran College. With the high type of teams which Coach Clifford Olson has been turning out, it would be a comparatively easy matter to make athletics successful also from a financial viewpoint. It would be entirely feasible for this group to issue season tickets such as many other colleges do, thus making it possible to bring more first-class college teams to Tacoma. Athletics are expanding rapidly at P. L. C. but they cannot do so properly without strong backing from a group such as the Alumni Association, which is in a position to help Pacific Lutheran College and which should be willing to continue their active support of their Alma Mater.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE

WHEREAS, North America was discovered by the intrepid Viking, Leif Erikson, in the year 1000; and,

WHEREAS, October 9th has been selected as the day upon which Leif Erikson discovered America; and,

WHEREAS, the President of the United States, complying with a resolution passed by the Congress, has issued a proclamation to designate October 9th, 1935 as Leif Erikson Day; and,

WHEREAS, the Scandinavian people of the State of Washington wish to honor their national hero, Leif Erikson, and are making plans for a suitable memorial; and,

WHEREAS, the spirit of adventure and the vision of home building which inspired Leif Erikson and his comrades has been displayed by thousands upon thousands of his kindfolk in succeeding generations with marked economic, social and spiritual benefits to our Commonwealth and the United States;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Clarence D. Martin, Governor of Washington, do hereby designate and proclaim October 9th, 1935, as Leif Erikson Day in Washington, in honor of the memory of the discoverer of America, and I call upon the proper officials to display the flag of the United States on all state, county and other public buildings; and,

FURTHERMORE, I invite the people of Washington to join their fellow citizens of Scandinavian ancestry in the observance of Leif Erikson Day, not only to share their pride in doing honor to the first Norseman to visit this continent, but also to show our appreciation of their contribution to the progress of our Commonwealth.

CLARENCE D. MARTIN,
Governor of Washington.

Lighter Than Air

BY BOB MONSON

DIZZY DISCOURSE—

The library is a temperamental room. Sometimes you can sit and REID a book and nearly FRIS to death! It's KOHLER than hot enough to Frye a GOFF ball. HAUGEN the students stand such arctic temperatures! You'll BARDON me, but it's easy to explain when one knows that the student's moods change the same way. Some days they ARMOUR receptive to study, and keep RUNN NG in and out of the library like water in a leaky CRAFT. Other days, again, we could keep this up for hours) they just sit and will not be interested in school NORBY interested in books. To their studies they say: "WITHROW with you," and just sit there and RUST. So you see, a thermometer that has dropped to 40 and CLUMBE to 80 shouldn't bother such a gang (especially with names like these.)

DRIPPING FROM THE ROOF—

If all the yawns were counted that were stifled during the last paragraph, it would require an adding machine . . . To be FRANK we don't blame them . . . It's easy enough to put 'em in a STUEN drive the whole bunch crazy stop it, will you? . . . The guy, whoever he is, tooting the sax every night after study hours, should be given new music or something . . . The dorm girls find that the number of boy friends around school are shy . . . and we don't mean scarce . . . If all the football coaches in the United States were layed end to end, the boys wouldn't have to worry about missing out on the evening meal . . . Nobody cares, but the sensation a robot feels is probably the biological erg . . . SIMILE: Quicker than you can say VALERIA MOEHNKE . . . Imagine the mixed emotions of some of the new students . . . They speak sadly of the good times they are having, and when they talk about the poor times, they speak joyfully.

ROSES AND THORNS—

After listening to the average quarterback in the grandstand, you'd think that running a football team would be like directing one car through a one-way intersection with the green light on . . . TODAY'S FABLE: Once upon a time a freshman said to Mr. Hong, "There seemed to be sort of an anthropomorphism—a superpersonal omniscience that compelled me to write such idiosyncrasies as 'ant' and 'have saw.'" In that last theme, TOENAIL DESCRIPTION: Emmet Thompson, a politician with the cigar "congestional" stomach, and diamond stud . . . Always like a boy putting a watch together, Browner has a few pieces of clothing left over after he dresses in the mornings . . . Give a college boy an inch, and he'll eat all of your candy bar . . . It was rather disconcerting to sit in class last week listening to the radio broadcast coming from upstairs, and then have the teacher spoil it all by talking . . . FOR AM SEMENT: listen to the sopranos croak around high "C" in "Glorification" . . . If we had Novell Nage's hair, Sverson's eyes, Fowler's voice, Lilla's smile, and Nilsen's capacity for work, it would be none of your business . . . and if we had Arnie Anderson's guffaw we'd be ashamed . . . It's been explained that the girls in the dorm wouldn't think of going out with a fellow unless they knew his first name . . . the reason the boys and girls can sing with their mouths open the way they should, is because the director has them grating at his antics most of the time . . . We would close with a "crack" about Ernie's girls, but he has one now . . . that's the first time a fictitious character ever came to life.

BI-WEEKLY BOUQUETS—(Replacing Have You Met)

JOANNA MANOUSSOS: A smile for even the newboy, she will graduate amid the howls of those who will miss her. DUTCH MOE: He could take all of the bouquets you could heap on gracefully. That, fellows, is a virtue! EVELYN ECKLUND: Regular, ready, right, without reservations—that's her! GEORGE BROCKWAY: If all boys were centipedes, they would still find it hard to see him, meet him, catch him, and know him.

DRIFTS . . .

By Browner

Let's we forget, College is a place of glamour. That glamour is largely due to the unique spirit that pervades the campus. It has not a spirit of horse-play all of the time, and it is not an air of dignity all of the time, but it is different and refreshing most of the time. This is realized most acutely after one has left the campus, has tried to live again in its style, and has found that the world looks upon the perennial collegiate as a mild form of insanity.

Ninety-five per cent of those who write the following sentence from dictation misspell at least one word: "It is disagreeable to witness the embarrassment of a harassed peddler gauging the sum of a peevy potato."

Nine out of every twenty college students, according to the Eyesight Conservation Council, develop eye troubles while in school. Glaring lights, so they say, are more to blame than dim lights. Semi-indirect lighting is looked upon favorably now. If lighting experts are right, here is one way to silence forever that old gag about not being able to study in the library because dim lights are so much better for other purposes.

Chapel Gleanings

Christianity not only permits joy, but is the only religion that has elevated joy, or pleasure, to a virtue.

Most of us seek pleasure by the trial-and-error method, and get messed up in one form of unhappiness after another.

In Christianity alone is found the solution to the problem of pleasure.

—Rev. M. Lono

Jesus had all power, yet did nothing really great in the eyes of the world.

He went about doing good, healed the sick, fed the hungry, preached the gospel of salvation.

He created all, supports all, and died for us all. Shall you bow before Him; and all shall be judged by Him.

—Prof. J. U. Xavier

Among the sons of men there are always two kinds—those who are worthy and those who are unworthy.

The beauty of the parable of the two unequal sons is that it shows that all may become true sons of God.

Our sonship does not rest upon our claiming to be the sons of God, but upon God calling us His sons.

—Prof. J. P. Pflueger

BOOK REVIEWING

"The Green Light," written by Lloyd C. Douglas, a minister who left his preaching career to become an author, is a story with a deeply moving spiritual experience for all who cannot accept sermons in the orthodox fashion.

The story concerns a young doctor who became responsible for the untimely death of a woman patient. The young man was disheartened to the extent that he left the medical profession and hid himself in a small town under an assumed name. Here he became interested in helping people to find their right vocations.

Phyllis Dexter, the daughter of the dead woman, returned from a visit abroad, but she seemed unshaken by her mother's death. The mother had explained a strange spiritual experience she had had in which it was revealed that life is one Long Parade, and each person, being a part of it, must see that the Parade goes on. Thus the daughter became reconciled to her mother's death.

Finally Phyllis becomes a teacher in the town where the doctor had become a scientist. The story from this point concerns the doctor and the girl, and how they reach an understanding of one another's spiritual problems.

"The Green Light" is a gripping piece of literature—get this book and enjoy it.

This issue of the MOORING MAST bears the date of October 9—Leif Erikson Day.

We honor Leif Erikson as a hardy and intrepid leader, explorer, discoverer and pioneer. In 1999 he established the new trade route directly across the Atlantic from Greenland to Norway in 1000 he sailed west from Greenland to the North American Continent. He introduced Christianity in Greenland after King Olav Trygvasson of Norway had persuaded him to receive the Christian faith. His saga inspires those who read it.

Pacific Lutheran College was among those who petitioned for the enactment of the legislation in virtue of which President Roosevelt proclaimed October 9 as Leif Erikson Day. It is a pleasure to acknowledge on this first Leif Erikson Day the prompt response of Senator Homer T. Bone, Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach, and Congressman Wesley Lloyd to our plea for support of this legislation.

Lutherans Clash With Ellensburg Wildcats Friday

Coach Olson Will Depend Upon Speed and Deceptive Plays To Subdue Teachers

Fresh from their sparkling victory over the highly touted Oregon Normal eleven, P.L.C. next Friday faces another powerful team in the Ellensburg Normal gridsters.

The Teachers have always been known for their strong grid teams, and this year seems to be no exception. As in the past, the Gladiators will be outweighed and outnumbered, but Coach Olson hopes to offset this advantage with the speed and deception of his "pony backfield." Power is the keynote of the Ellensburg attack, but the strong Lutheran forward wall should stave off the goalward march of the Teachers.

Proof that Ellensburg was worried about the game was evidenced by the appearance of the Ellensburg coaching staff at the Monmouth game. However, the Parkland boys still have a few trick plays up their sleeve that the Ellensburg scouts haven't seen.

If the Lutherans should win this important game, they would be well on their way to a successful season. However, Ellensburg has always been a stumbling block to Gladiator grid hopes as P.L.C. has yet to win a football game from the Teachers.

Except for a few minor injuries suffered in the Monmouth game, the Gladiators should be at full strength for Friday's game.

Coach Olson will leave at ten o'clock Friday morning with two full teams. The squad will return Friday evening.

Facts in Football

Gladiator fans are closely watching the scores of gridiron activity throughout the Northwest conference. It is now believed that the Pacific Lutheran aggregation has developed to be as strong as any Normal school or any four-year college in the Northwest conference.

Bellingham Normal, who will play P.L.C. on the Viking field, November 2, won from the Victoria Athletic Club by a score of 2-0. U. B. C. fell to the clutches of the Vikings to the tune of 7-0. The Normal Gridsters are coming to Tacoma Saturday to battle the C. P. S. eleven.

The Portland branch of the University of Albany, who will meet the Gladiators October 19, are scheduled to play Monmouth College next Saturday, when P.L.C. downed by 14-0.

Linfield College lost its first game with Oregon State by 1-0, but heightened its football spirits by scoring 6-0 over Whitman College last week.

The College of Puget Sound Loggers, with whom P.L.C. would like to arrange a game, scored 12-0 over the Army eleven.

BETWEEN THE GOAL POSTS

With Bob Martin

Getting Off on the Right Foot with two hard-won victories in as many starts, the Glads now find themselves in the thick of the toughest grid schedule that any Parkland squad has ever encountered. While not venturing any actual prognostications, Coach Olson believes that if the team as a whole can continue to show the improvement, offensively and defensively, that it has shown in its first two contests, they need not be outclassed by any opponent they may face.

Item: Saturday, October 5, 1935. Monmouth suffered the first defeat by any college opponent other than Oregon or Oregon State in the past four years. The opponent—P. L. C.

Adding a Little Variety to the inevitable repertory that is exchanged over the line of scrimmage in every football game was a rather limited conversation in any sylvable Norse between the sons of Norway on both Monmouth's and P. L. C.'s sides of the line. While some of the strictly English speaking Gladiators could not follow the drift of the colloquy they suspected that they were of a discouraging nature. One remark that this reporter is still mulling over is: "Kom, du vesle Norske skild!"

Still on the Subject of the Monmouth Game, one impressive feature of the game was the genuine respect of the Oregon teachers for the Lutherans' hard hitting little backfield. One Monmouth player was of the opinion that a little less beef and a little more drive could be used in their own backfield. Without doubt, Coach Olson has much to be proud of in the way his pony backfield has blocked and tackled against much heavier men. This trait is not always a component part of a fast backfield.

A Firm Believer in Conditioning His Men for each and every game, Coach Cliff Olson is in a fair way to having his ideas indicated. His men have come out of their first two games with only very minor injuries and those were of a nature which are inevitable, such as stone bruises and scratches. Emer Layden, head coach at Notre Dame had his men go through stiff calisthenics every night in the season and went through a major schedule without a major injury. Such coaching methods should be a part of the curriculum of every modern mentor.

The Leather Medal Award from this department for the football team's most ardent supporter goes to P. L. C.'s popular orchard nurse, Mr. Monson, who, besides sending his four children to P. L. C., has made the welfare of the squad a matter of his personal pride and concern. And, evidently the players appreciate his interest and moral support, as this support seems to be a little deeper than the usual interest that a college attaché displays in its teams. In our own humble opinion, Mr. Monson typifies to a marked degree the school spirit and loyalty for which Pacific Lutheran College is becoming known, and which is instrumental in the success of her athletic undertakings.

Gladiators Topple Monmouth 14-0

Lutherans Turn in Spectacular Victory Over Heavy Teacher Outfit by Air Route

Although heavily outweighed and doped to lose by several touchdowns, the Golden Garbed Gladiators of P.L.C. turned in a surprising and complete 14-0 victory over Monmouth Normal Saturday in Lincoln Bowl.

After devoting the first quarter to his intricate and unorthodox style of offense used by the Monmouth offense, the Lutherans went to work in the second quarter and scored twice on spectacular plays. Taking advantage of a clipping penalty which gave them the ball on the Teacher's 15 yard line, the Glads scored on a beautiful running pass from Dutch Moe which Nilsen gathered in as he stepped into the end zone.

Two plays later, Hal Votaw intercepted a Monmouth pass on the Oregonian's 35 yard line, and following the interference which formed, outraced the entire Monmouth team in his touchdown dash. O'Sonner kicked both conversions to keep his booting average perfect for the season.

While the strong Lutheran defense kept the "Wolves" out of scoring territory the entire game, the Gladiators threatened twice more during the second half and had the ball on the Monmouth eleven yard marker as the game ended.

Substitutes: P. L. C. Grande, Gapps, Solle, Tommerwick, Heany, Nelson and Votaw. Monmouth, Hortwig, Zaiden, Pratt, Corvoil, Schnell, Sooving.

Captain Ball Season

Beginning next week the women's athletic department will open Captain Ball season. This is a new sport at Pacific Lutheran College, and it will be under the supervision of Mrs. Adah Dapper, women's athletic coach, and Iene Madsen, sport manager.

An interclass schedule of games will be formulated. The season of women's sports promises to be one of the liveliest ever staged here, with the return of nearly all of last year's sport stars. The enrollment of numerous athletes in the freshman class promises to provide very keen competition for the star teams of last year, especially the sophomore athletes who were champions in nearly every sport carried on during 1934-35.

Gladiators Win From Army Eleven by 7-0

Scoring in the first quarter of the game on a sustained drive from their own thirty-five yard line, P. L. C. defeated a heavy Fort Lewis eleven 7-0 to successfully open their grid season Saturday, September 28 at Lincoln Bowl.

Coach Olson's gridsters, playing under wraps, did not open up with any trick offenses but were content to settle down to straight defensive ball to protect their one touchdown lead.

The scoring play was a three yard line buck by "Dutch" Moe after the ball had been set in scoring position by a series of passes tossed by Moe to Nilsen, Frye, and O'Conner. While threatening several times throughout the game the soldiers could not muster a sufficient drive to punch over a counter. Lineups:

W. A. A. Installation Held at Gym Frolic

Monday afternoon the Women's Athletic Association sponsored its initial gym frolic. Judith Benson and Eula Mae Goff were in charge, under the direction of Mrs. Adah Dapper, women's physical education instructor.

The affair began with a grand march led by Judith Benson and Eula Mae Goff, which was followed by the installation of officers.

Helen Lilla, last year's sergeant-at-arms, installed Ed Huson, president, who in turn installed Joanna Manoussos, vice president; Gertrude Steenberg, secretary; Judith Benson, treasurer; Eula Mae Goff, reporter; Alice Cook, sergeant-at-arms; Iene Madsen, captain ball manager; Ruth Fryden, volleyball manager; Louise Hendrickson, baseball manager; Louise Williams, tennis manager; Marie Johnson and Aida Johnson, hiking managers; Roberta Torrison, golf manager; Helen Lilla, folk games; Thelma Ness, track manager.

The group participated in an Indian club relay, a bear walk relay, a basket ball relay, and a centipede relay, for which prizes were given to the winners of the various relays.

Evelyn McLaughlin, Louise Hendrickson, Kathryn Anderson, and Lenore Withrow were in charge of the refreshments.

Gridiron Motif Used in Decorating Gym: Entertainment Includes Games, Program

The Associated Student Body held its annual fall mixer last Friday evening, October 4, in the College gymnasium, with Ellen Bergstrom acting as general chairman. The football motif was cleverly carried out in the decoration scheme.

The evening's entertainment consisted of games and a program which included the following numbers: a piano and saxophone duet by Marv Jensen and Ken Anenson; a song and tap dance number featuring "Alice Blue Gown" by Aida Johnson, Thelma Ness, and Helen Lilia; vocal solos by Emmet Thompson; a skit by Bob Svare and Cix Heugen; vocal numbers by the girls' trio, Aida Johnson, Irene Odell, and Mildred Monson, accompanied by Peggy Ramstad; and a vocal solo by Arnold Anderson.

Refreshments, consisting of elder and doughnuts, were served following the grand march which terminated the evening's entertainment.

Committees in charge were: general committee, Ione Madsen, Arne Strand, Frithjof Tayet, Laura Hauge; program, Thelma Daniels, Emmet Thompson, Eugenia Spencer; invitations, Valborg Norby; decorations, Eleanor Raudebaugh, Ray Reid, Stan Ford, June Walters, Verna Tegland; refreshments, Norma Preus, Marie Johnson, Vern Bitter, Irene Odell, Arthur Haavik; games, Helen Holtcamp, Joanna Mannous, Mildred Larsen, Vern Knutsen; cleanup, Paul Preus, Lloyd Thompson, Lester Holte, Arne Strand.

Our High School

By Gary Pflueger

Hi, folks! Here we are again with news both important and unimportant, pleasant and unpleasant. If you are not pleased, the line forms at my right.

We really do have talent in the high school after all. Have you ever before seen a water-boy so efficient? Three cheers for Jack Wall.

With dark wavy hair and big Irish eyes, she is a hit with everyone she meets. She's not too tall, and yet, tall enough. She is active in most of the school organizations, having won her letter in W. A. A. last year. This year she is vice-president of the senior class, made the choir, and also plays the piano. She has always been an honor student, and is finishing prep in three and one-half years. Her mother works in the book-store, so she could be no one but—Virginia Davis.

Did you know that—Jo, Porky, Gladys just loves to break rules—Flash! Bob Svare was seen at the football game with that dazzling Alice Coak—the game Saturday was the first one that Ben Johnson had ever attended—Just imagine—Gertrude Tingelstad not studying—Tony Asper trying hard to be a lady—Paul Xavier really expecting to be a six-footer some day—and now Harry McCormick is writing notes to Virginia Smith.

Ferdinand Bondy has been chosen as First Aid instructor for the Parkland Boy Scouts, and also for an adult class. He received his certificate last year.

The following high school students are in the choir this year: Elizabeth Stuen, Virginia Davis, Orville Schlanbusch, Gerhardt Pflueger, and Alice Margaret Ramstad.

Prof. Ramstad III

To determine the cause of serious illnesses occurring frequently during the past two weeks, Professor A. W. Ramstad submitted last week-end to a thorough physical examination in the offices of Dr. C. G. Sells and Dr. A. Burbank in Longview, Washington.

He has been the guest of his brother-in-law, Dr. Sells, who is the father of Teresa Sells.

MISSION SOCIETY MEET

The Mission Society will meet next Wednesday evening, Oct. 16, in the college recreation room. Prof. J. U. Xavier is scheduled to be the guest speaker, while other program numbers include a reading by Beatrice Slidders, vocal duet, Iris Evans and Margaret Craft, and piano selections by Irene Odell.

Mr. George Johnson To Direct Orchestra

Mr. George Johnson, eminent violinist of Tacoma, will assist in the standards department by conducting orchestra practices on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Up to date, orchestra membership totals fifteen, according to Professor J. O. Edwards, head of the music department. Violinists are Evelyn Sverson, Novella Ross, Sylvia Miller, and Emmet Thompson. Other orchestral players include the following: flute, Lois Mae Morton; clarinet, Stanley Ford; trumpet, Harold O'Connor; alto saxophone, Lloyd Larson; melophone, Harry Gribbom; trombone, Marvin Jensen; bass horn, Ralph Bolstad; drums, Lester Holte; marimphone, Wadene Calavan; tenor saxophone and clarinet, Kenneth Anenson; pianist, Thelma Daniels.

Mrs. Kreidler Declines Question Box Position

Until she had had a private talk with the dean of women, one newcomer did not realize just what were the standards of Pacific Lutheran College. On her first day of school, the young lady in question stepped up to Mrs. Kreidler and very sweetly asked her the location of the ladies' smoking lounge.

All who have attended P. L. C. in the past know that the school provides no such room; they know, too, that smoking is discouraged even on the campus, and most surely in the building, and certainly in the girls' dorm.

Most new students, before entering P. L. C. know that its conception of conduct is high and that its motto is "Build for Character." Either this girl didn't know the criterion of the school, or someone dared her to ask the question she did.

No matter which, after a special session with Mrs. Kreidler, the new student went her way, a sadder but a wiser girl, and awakened to the ideals of the College and the fact that some inquiries best go unasked.

And it would be more pleasant for Mrs. Kreidler if more questions would go unasked. She is asked all types of questions from where the brooms are kept to the time the last street car leaves for town.

Mrs. Kreidler is not the school electrician and can not repair your lamp; she is not the janitor and can not replenish the paper towel holders in the rest room; she is not the cook and can not have the dinner warmed for you if you come in late.

She can tell you "yes" when you ask to use the phone, but she is not supposed to. Hers is an extension of the office phone and should not be used by anyone during school hours and by dorm students only in the evenings.

If everyone would remember that Mrs. Kreidler is Dean of Women and not a general information bureau, she would greatly appreciate it.

Williamson Addresses Community Meeting

Last evening, members of the Parkland Community Club met at the Parkland Public School, with Prof. J. P. Pflueger in charge.

Mr. Harry Williamson, regional director of the P. W. A., was the main speaker, discussing the requirements of the various projects under the P. W. A., and also the building of a new Parkland auditorium which would be sponsored by the Community Club and the Parkland School Board.

Carl Opslund, representing the Parkland school board, urged all residents of the community to vote when the question comes up the latter part of this month.

Alumni Notes

Elmer Tyeter, graduate of the '28 high school class, is a chemist in the Standards Department at Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Arling Salmerud (Victoria R. Simusen), both graduates of '28, are residing in Seattle. Mr. Salmerud, formerly a teacher in Bend, Oregon, is attending the University of Washington.

Amy Gilbert, '35, is working in the Tacoma Public Library.

Bob Levinson, '34, who last year was coach of midget football at Bellarmine, is now teaching at Tumwater.

Norman Hokenstad, who attended P. L. C. in '32, is employed in Seattle as chemist for the Washington Co-operative Egg Association. He was a member of the 1935 graduating class of Washington State College.

Clifford Ophelm, who attended P. L. C. in 1933, is attending the University of Washington.

Osten Eliason, '35, left Seattle yesterday for Northfield, Minnesota, where he will attend St. Olaf College.

Millard Quale, '32, is teaching at Yelm.

Soph Class Elects Stan Ford President

As a result of the sophomore class election held last week, Stanley Ford was named president of the class, and Louise Williams, vice-president.

For the office of secretary, Edna Toblason was chosen, while Louise Hendrickson was elected treasurer. A faculty adviser will be voted upon at the next meeting.

FRESHMEN PETITIONS

Petitions for freshman class representatives to the board of Control must be handed in for approval by October 15. Each petition is required to have the signature of one-third of the class members, and election will take place October 23. Thus far petitions for Verner Bitter and Harry Gribbom are the only ones in circulation.
