Debaters Back From First Meet In Denver, Colo.

PLC's forensic squad met its first competition of the year at Denver Colorado, last week. Though they did not repeat their sweeping victory performances of previous tournaments, the debaters did make a commendable showing

The tournament, sponsored by the Western Speech Association, was held on the campus of Denver University. Representatives of some 60 colleges and universities in the 11 western states met to compete for the champ ionship of Western United States Coach Theodore Karl brought to Alan Hatlen, Joh Klippen, Edith Engel, John Rydgren and Dick Borrud. Edith Engel entered senior women's after dinner speaking for the first time, and finished in third place. John Rydgren tied for fourth in senior men's oratory, while Alan Hatlen tied for third and John Osburn tied for fifth Pepperdine College, though they won only one first place trophy, received enough places to win the senion division sweepstakes, followed by the University of Southern California. Los Angeles City College finished on top among junior division entrants.

Robert Herness, a PLC graduate, has been appointed County Superin endent of the Thurston County chools, as of December 1, 1952. He received his B.A. in 1948, his B.E. 1951, and is now a candidate for M.A.

He has taught at East Olympia Yelm, Highline, and was principal of umwater the spring of 1952
Dorothy Fristoe, his wife, is also a graduate of PLC.

Assisting in the production are Anita Hellbaum, director; Bob Brog, ound man; Alan Freed, musical dirctor; Morris Hendrickson, engineer An announcement will be made when the tape recording goes over radio.

Marv Harshman made the New Yor Sun's first eleven in 1941
"He richly deserves the honor," Harshman said. "I'll still go along with the statement that he is the best defensive back in small college foot ball in the Northwest, and he looked as gond as any of the defenders last Saturday in the Washington Washington State game at Spokane
Ron started playing football in his senior year at Lincoln high school on the defensive platoon and continued is such after coming to PLC. Las year he went in for one play on of ensive and was injured, and this year he has been usted only occasionally for offensiver duty. His secret love is o play a 60 minute game.

He's too valuable to us on de fense to risk injury on offensive," Harshman declared.

Many believe that if he were used at offensive end, he would be nothing but the best.
When asked how he felt Ron replied, "I fek there were some other players who were just as descrving

Besides playing football, Ron has won letters in basketball and base ball his two previous years on the ute campus. Harshman attributes his defensive ability to the fact tha he plays both basketball and base ball.
What Harshman is really happy er is that Ron will be back next

Deadlines Must Be Met Mast Needs Your Help

DEADLINE-TUESDAY EVENING!
Deadline, yes, but how many people keep it? Everyone has deadlines to meet-though they don't always realize that they are deadlines. To the reporter or to any member of a paper staff it means that all copy, heads, and ads must be in at that specified time.

In order to meet this deadline, there must be close cooperation among everyone from the reporters on up to the editors and managers. They know what the deadline is and what their regular assignments for that issue are. If they don't meet the deadline, they also know, it means their job.

The same is true on the MOORING MAST. It takes about 200 inches of type at 40 words per inch, plus the ads, to fill the paper. That's equivilent to an 8000 word term paper. For one person to do that each week, it would require about 40 h ours of work. That is to say nothing of the ad soliciting or the business managing. Yet the work-and it is work---of putting out a MOORING MAST each week falls on the shoulders of about four or fivebut mostly on the ad manager, the associate editor. the editor, and the news editor. There are reporters, but they, thougb they do have regular beats, have to be reminded each week that there is a MOORING MAST and their stories are to be in by Tuesday night. That's efficiency for you.

However, the reporters alone are not to be blamed. It is just as much the responsibility of the readers of the paper to help by turning in their ideas and news tips as it is for the reporters and writers to get their stories in on time. Without the help and cooperation of the students, it is quite hard, in fact, practically impossible to put out a paper. Yet, when there is no paper the average student will complain: "How come there isn't a MAST this week ?" and when the paper does come out, usually it is: "When are we going to get a bigger paper, how come do we only have a five column paper when they said at the first of the year, the MAST was to be bigger this year?"

To put out a paper requires more time and work than most people realize. When the stories come in they must be copy-read, the heads written, and then taken to the printers where they are set in type. A "galley" proof is then made, to also be proof-read and corrected. Then the paper is set in a "flat-bed" press form and the pages laid out. The whole works are tightened up, put on the press, the the press begins to roll, and in about an hour, the MAST is ready to be delivered.

Just why is it that there is not more enthusiasm where the MOORING MAST is concerned? Because the MAST is an extracurricular activity? There certainly is enough journalistic talent on this campus to put out a first-rate paper. In order to have a top quality paper, everyone must help. If you were on your high school paper, why not volunteer to do your something on the MAST? Many hands make light work-to quote one old proverb. You take it from there.

Observations

A matter has recently been brought to my attention which I feel warrants the most scathing attack I can muster. It seems that daring the last few weeks, PLC students have been over heard directing derogatory remarks at our campus paper, The Mooring Mast. I think that such remarks are most shameful in the face of the effort and sacrifice put forth in the produc tion of this little gem.

Students, I beserch you . . . stop and think of the momentous hapnenings on mur campus which vitally. affect the lives of every individual here. It has often been said that a student's college career is the most important part of his life. Do you want to graduate without even knowing what happened? Do you want the finest publication on the compus to fold because of the attitude shown by a certain subversive element toward sheer literary genius? I defy these scurrilous ru-mor-mongers to find a single valid criticism of our paper, and would wager (if it were permitted) that not one of them is capable of compiling, editing, or dreaming up a presentation of the newa, half so inspiring as that to which we are exposed at present
I fail to see how anyone can gaze the flaming headlines which char acterize our paper, and yet not appre ciate the excellent coverage of breathtaking events and soul-stirring activities so rife on our campus.
Loyal Lutes, I urge you . . . rise and crush this ignoble menace 'ere the spirit of our staff is broken and they, feeling that their noble efforts and untiring devotion to duty are no appreciated, permit this literary maserpiece, this pearl among swine, this gem of gems, to degenerate into a dull, uninteresting, uninspiring, and secondrate rage!

Neath the campus lights of PLC We stroll hand in hand together; We talk of things we see, And chat about the we:ther

As the cayppus lights keep glowing, Our thoughts go on to other things The moon and stars all showing The works of the King of Kings

We laugh about something said, And smile on with happiness Knowing the joy in Our Lord, Living our lives full of gladness.

Together we sing our favorite songs Those sung in your day and mine, Tunes that we hum along,
Keep us remembering others in time.
As the campus lights do guide us, We are led, too, by light above, From the heavens come the starlights And the night-sun full of love.

Don Keith gave a speech and stressed the importance of each club's president in relation to the I.C.C. representative. After a discussion of club problems the meeting was dismissed.

F EATURE

RECEIPT FOR HAPPINESS
Sift together first; two cups rienariness, one tabiespoon laughter, and a pinch of seriousness. Cream rogether the type of society you endeavor to participate in and your own talents. Add one cup of good education. Mix well.
Add alternately, sift personal ingredients and one cup activity and pep.
Blend in a generous portion of God's Word and leave the finishing touches to Him, who is the "author and finisher of our faith" and who will make us "perfect in every good word".
Herein is true happiness.

CHAPEL QUOTES

"In evaluating your college education, let me present four words. 'Horizon: Obligation: Perserverance: Energy.' 'Here you have HOPE!' " Dean Philip Hauge
"If you want new adventure, why don't you find it in the Lord Jesus?" "His one desire is not to punish sins, but to forǧive."

Pastor La Verne Nelson, Tacoma
"Desire is a moving power in our life." "God desires to guard our desires." "Covetousness is the master sin." "God wants to increase our contentment." "My cup runneth over."

Rev. Kclmer Roe
"If we are to reflect His light we must be near him."
"The glory of the lighto is not determined by the light in us but the light of God in us."

Dr. E. C. Knorr
"Let us give thanks always, not only Thanksgiving Day, for all things, through Christ Jesus."

Ron Billings, Little All-American. Out of the thousands of small colleges throughout the United States there are only 22 football players selected for this honor. Ron is one of those rare three sport lettermen playing most of his football at defensive halfback. However. all of Ron's value has not been entirely at this defensive post, having played offensive halfback quarterback and during the past season, end on certain occasions.

Thus displaying the all-around versitility of a true All-American. Ron has the uncanny ability that never allows a pass receiver to get behind him. Finally, the red head has a fine attitude towards athletics, enabling him to play every game to the hilt. Ron Billings is an All-American PLC can well be proud of.

Intra Casba  Games Begin On Thursday

Intramural basketball has now be gun at PLC with the first games being played Thursday, December 4, in the gymnasium.
Each of the districts is entitled to have a team in both the University League and the College League. The Lniversity team of a district will be the first team with a minimum of eight players. All those who are left over will then be made up into teams of the College league. At the present time each has a University team, but time each has a University team, but only four have College squads. Anyonly four have College squads. Anyone is welcome to come out at any time to play.
All games will be played on Monday evenings starthg at 8 p.m. and Tuesday evenings starting at 7 p.m. a road trip the floor will be used Any afternoon the varsity team is on from 4:00-5:30 p.m. The schedule is now posted on the bulletin board for the coming games.
During the regular scason, each team will play every other team twice in both leagues. The season's hel record of a team will show the games played in its own league and also those of the other league, and upon the complete total of games won and lost in both leagues will a team be ranked 2 held. 25c.

"bang", the PLC gladiators travel o Seattle University this evening, December 5, where they meet an almost entirely veteran quintet and then tomorrow evening travel to Ellensburg where they meet another veteran club, the Central Washington Wildcats.
Paced by the nationally fanous O'Brien twins--.John, who set a national scoring record last year, and Ed-the Chieftans have a very good ball club and are in top shape for this encounter having been turning out since the first part of November.
Central also is looking forward to very good year with ten lettermen back from last year's second place club. Only two players were lost by graduation. Seattle $U$. beat Central $90-43$ last Tuesday evening which shows the comparative strength of the two schools.
PLC, meanwhile has defenitely had the less practice sinice football lasted until the middle of the month and basketball turnouts did not begin until it was over. Coach Harshman has the difficult job of trying to pick a starting five with but one returning letterman from last year, Glen Huffman.
As it looks now. the starting lineup for tonight's game will go something like this: forwards--Garnet Lund and Bob Ross; center-Glen Huffman; guards- Ron Billings and Ron Storaasli, the only freshman on the starting five. The second five will probably be all freshman: Phil Nordquist, Paul Forseth, Al Gubrud, Larry Eg gan, and Don Koessler. Don Krecji may also be in this group.
Dave Hestenes, junior transfer from UCLA, is not able to play varsity ball this year because of a new Evergreen Conference ruling which makes all transfer students from 4-year colleges ineligible for one school year. Hestenes will be able to play junior varsity ball. Jack Hoover, a nother transfer who was first thought to be ineligible also urider the same ruling, will be able to play either varsity or junior varsity.
After the first cut last week, the combined squad stands at 24. Those surviving the cut, with the exception of those already mentioned, are: Arnie Falk. Nick Kelderman. Fred Meunscherb Gerald Schimke, Royal Drath, Don Hefty, Keith Predmore, Vern Hansen, Ernie Jon , Jerry Loney, and Maurice Fink.

LIFE Display at Library Dec. 5-12
"The Medieval World", a photographic exhibition prepared by the cditors of LIFE magazine, will be shown at the Library from December 5 to 12. This exhibition is made up of photographs which were publish. ed as a two-part pictorial essay in LIFE in 1947 and also includes inany pictures that had to be omitted from the magazine for lack of space.
Twenty-four panels, each containing of from one to six photographs and captions, delineate the roles of the Church, the Town, and the Castle in the day-to-day life of medieval man. The section devoted to the Church reflects the cathedral of Chartres, the Abbey church at Vezelay, Fountains Abbey, sculptural details and color reproductions of staned glass from Bourges and Chartres.
The second division of the exhibition treats town life late in the Middle Ages. Here are seen engravings of streets, street scenes, and centers of medieval life.

Feudal life, centering around the lord's castle, is portrayed in the third division. There are panels illustrating a tournament and the Crusades, and color reproductions of the Unicorn Hunt tapestry and Life in the Manor, from a 15 th Century Flemish manuscript. The photographs tell the story of customs and courtesics of castle life and reveal the interiors and outside walls of medieval castles still standing today.

Delay Music Library Opening

 Many students have been askingabout the opening of the Erickson Music Library in the CMS.

Mr. Karl Wciss recently stated that although the library has been expected to be open by this time, it has been unavoidably delayed by the necessity for concentrating the Plant and Maintenance Department's efforts on the remodeling of the basement of Old Main in order to expand the Boarding Cjub facilities. It is hoped, however, that the library will be opened to student use by the tirsf ot vè̀bruáry. The facilities which now exist are available to Music faculty members and music classe's only When completed, the library will have an extensive collection of phonograph records, books, and magazines. The library will be open for student use two or three periods every day--or more to suit demand. The library will be equipped with six "listening posts" where a student can listen to head phones to phonograph records played bythe librarian from the counter.

World Affairs Present ArabJewish problem
Mecting to discuss "The Troubled of Tacoma sponsored two University of Washington professors, Giovani Costigan and Stuart C Giovanni Costigan and Stuart C. Dodd, in a panel discussion held in the CMS last Wednesday evening. Dodd spoke for the Arab forces and Costigan for those of Israel. Ray W. Thompson, president of the council, made the introductions and Dr. S. C. Eastvold was the qucstioner PLC students and their families were admitted free, and many took the opportunity to hear the two authorities speak on the topic.
Both Dodd and Costigan have spent considerable time in the East. Dodd was born in Turkey and aught for 20 years at the American University in Beirut, Lebanon. Costigan has recently returned from a visit which included Grecee and Israel.
Both speakers refered to the Belore Declaration which states that the Jews may enter Palestine "insofar as it can be done without prejudice." Costigan said, "The bitterness of the Arab people is not so great toward the Jews as it is toward their own government." Speaking for the Arabs, Dodd charged that the aim of the Israclites was total control of the land.

Lettermen's Show To Be Presented $\ln S$ UB On Friday

Friday night, Dekember 12, the Letterman's Club is presenting in the auditorium of the SUB, a special kind of program which they are keeping a very close secret.
Adcording to Bob Nielsen and Glenn Werner, co-chairmen of the event, a person attending can "expect the worst and dress in a manner suitable to this (very informal)" It is something, they say, which you calit miss!
Rreviously the Lettermen's Club put on such a program every year, and it became an important annual affair, but in the past few years, it faded out. This program is an attempt to evire the former annual programs
Time for the program and other information will be announced next week.
