Yell-Leader Nominating Ends Today

Voting Date for All Officers Is May 11

Nominations for candidates for yell leaders will remain open until 3 o'clock today, according to Walt Kunschak, student body president.

Each candidate will be voted on individually even though he can only run as a member of a team. Also, each voter will have four votes and may vote for any four candidates. Those four with the greatest number of votes will be the new team.

The candidates so far are as follows: Don Christian, running alone; Bob Conwell, running alone; Poppy Ramstad and LaWanna Wellandt, running as a team; and Marianne Stacy, Tom Robinson, Gladys Lea, and Jim Shaw, running as a team.

Mr. Kunschak emphasized, in the meeting, that it was not necessary to vote for a team as a whole unless you saw fit to do so. Each officer will be selected individually.

No Demonstrations

Preparations and facilities were not such as to permit the candidates for yell leaders to give any demonstrations at the meeting of the Associated Student Body yesterday. This will be done on Campus Day, May 11, some time in the early afternoon.

May 13 will be voting date for the yell leaders as well as all other student body officers.

More Candidates

Additional candidates besides those submitted by the nominating committee, have been nominated by the administrative offices by petitions signed by at least 75 students.

Hal Heany, Ted Kaath, and Melvin Osterl were nominated by petition and join Vera Fink and Ed Sandvig in the race for presidency.

No new candidates have been submitted for vice president, therefore Carl Fynboe, Howard Larson and Eleanor Hellbaum are the only three students running. Neither have any new candidates been submitted for the office of treasurer, therefore Kenneth Storassik, Malcolm Soine, Don Pedersen, and Sigurd Skartland are the only students running for this office.

Jean Harbeck's, Adv. Voted, was nominated by petition, joins LaVonne Denlow, Charlotte Mykland, Maria Oeren, and Jackie Stephenson in the race for secretary.

Want Big Turnout

"We would like to have a big turnout this year," said Walt Kunschak. "We have some 600 students that we would like to have vote in this coming election."

Each class is expected to nominate candidates to represent them in the student body of next year.

These candidates will be entered on the same ballot as officer student body officers; and one from the voters' respective classes will be voted for on the regular voting date, May 13.

Nineteen New Courses to Be Offered In Fall

According to a survey taken by the Mooring Mast staff, nineteen new courses will be offered next year that were not given this year. Comparison of the two catalogs yielded these additions:

Biology: Natural History (4); Invertebrate Zoology (4); Ichthyology (2); Herpetology (2); Mammalogy (2); Comparative Physiology (4).

Economics and Business: Advertising (3); Public Finance (3); History of Economic Thought (3); Advanced Money and Banking (3).

Education: Educational Guidance (2).

Greek: Major offered.

History: The Reformation (3); The Renaissance (3).

Mathematics: General Mathematics (3).

Speech: Phonetics (3); Speech Pathology (3); Theatre Speech (3).

Art, Education, Music, Theology Are Studied by PLC Family Grads

By Ruth Johnson

Family combinations in school aren't too rare, but it is rather unusual to find two sets of them in one class, and the graduating class, at that.

The Gulhaugen trio, Martin, Grace Elaine and Ramoth, two sisters and a brother, had from Sacramento, California.

"Grace is the only normal one," says Ruth.

Marty's schooling was halted by the war, and Ramoth started school at five and skipped the second grade in school. Thus she finds herself practically graduated on her twentieth birthday (said date being on the twelfth of May).

Variety of Majors

In answer to a question about subjects, this reporter found that Grace is an education major, Ramoth a chemistry major, and Marty a biology major.

Warren Jaech Gets Teaching Fellowship

Warren Jaech, a senior and a chemistry major, received word this week that he is the recipient of a teaching fellowship at the University of Washington.

The fellowship is for one year to start with the Fall semester and will be in the Department of Chemistry. Dr. Ramstad says that Warren will probably start out teaching a freshman class in inorganic chemistry and if he does well his fellowship is subject to renewal for another year.

Warren is a resident of Tacoma and a graduate of Lincoln high. He is a member of Tavasi and also has a position on the golf team.

Besides being active in school affairs, Warren has a 3.7 grade average for his four years at PLC. 4.0 is an A in our grading system. Dr. Haug reports that if Warren continues this average during the present semester he will be graduated Magna Cum Laude this spring.

Dr. Ramstad explained that Warren is the first to receive a fellowship in the PLC Chemistry Department and that he has no apprehension in sending him out to teach. He is sure that Warren will bring credit to our school and to our Science Department.

Malmin Elected Again to Post

Prof. Gunnar J. Malmin, director of the college choir and professor in music, was reelected director of the Choral Union of the North Pacific District Young People's Luther League at its convention in Seattle last weekend.

Prof. Malmin directed the Choral Union Sunday afternoon when it gave its annual concert before a capacity audience of 1,300 in Ballard First Lutheran Church.

Miss Caroline Hoff, 39, of Seattle was elected Choral Union secretary. Ray Tobiason, liberal arts freshman, was chosen for the post of treasurer of the District Luther League at the convention.

VETS. ATTENTION

After May 14 all veterans' accounts will be closed out in the bookstore for the semester. If any more supplies are needed, veterans will have to obtain them before the afternoon of the 14th.

is a music major, and Marty is a pre-seminary student. The three have barely seen each other in class, "but it is fun to see your own flesh and blood standing around in the halls," says Ram.

Rev. Theodore Gulhaugen wooed—or "wooed"—his wife at Pacific Lutheran Academy in 1916 or thereabouts, so it seems Gulhaugen "flesh and blood" had been seen in PLC halls before.

Little sisters, Teddy and Kathy, aged eleven and thirteen, respectively, will undoubtedly uphold tradition by enrolling here in due time.

Metzgers of Seattle

Delma and Leta Metzger, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Metzger of Seattle, claim they have been roommates for four years; and are still friends. Delma, majoring in education, and Leta, majoring in art, have solved their graduation pictures problem by having them taken together. They also are enclosing their name cards in one imitation.

"First chance we've had to have money since we've been here," says Delma.

One thing that both the Metzger and the Gulhaugen families have in common is the fact that both of the oldest daughters are being married this summer. Grace Elaine of the Gulhaugens will become a Fink, and Delma of the Metzger clan will become a Heuchert.

Deadline For Re-Enrollment Is Announced

Certain details of registration for next fall must be taken care of before the end of this semester, according to information received from the registrar's office.

Applications for re-entrance to PLC must be filled out by all students expecting to return here next year. Blank forms may be secured at the office. It is necessary to consult with the adviser before a student returns the form.

Room reservations for next fall will be made beginning May 10. In order to give upper class girls class preference, juniors may make reservations on May 10, sophomores on May 11, and freshmen on May 12. From then on it will be first come, first served.

A fee of ten dollars payable in the business office is necessary for a room reservation. No reservations will be made for employment. Obtain a receipt in the business office before presenting it to either Miss Blomquist or Mr. Eklund.

Schedule Causes Play To Be Cancelled

Complicities in the school schedule during the remainder of the spring semester have caused the cancellation of the all-school play, "The Hasty Heart," originally scheduled for May 27-29. Miss Clara Chilton announced today.

Two More Students Sign School Contracts

Ruth Johnson and Bud Thorpe, education majors, have both signed contracts for the coming school year. Ruth will teach in the elementary grades in the Puyallup school system. Bud will lead classes in the Woodland system.

CAMPUS DATE AGAIN SET

Sunshine, not liquid, is the determining factor in the date set for Campus Day. After a week of trying to come to terms with the weather, the date has been set, tentatively, for Tuesday, May 11. For further information, watch the sky and the bulletin board.

Sophomore Class Planning Beach Party

It is Sophomore day from 4:00 o'clock on next Monday. The class will then get together and splash their year's dues on a picnic at American Lake, Beach No. 3. Only those with second year standing will be admitted, spouses in the exception.

Food and baseball, requisites of beach parties, are under the supervision of Louis Bruner and his committee composed of Beverly Busch, Marilyn Pfleger and Larry Haug.

Transportation will be provided, and everything is free if the qualification of class membership is met.

Others assisting are Beverly Wallace, food; Judy Gibson, publicity; Ralph Baird, transportation; Larry Haug, games; and Jess Thompson, clean-up, with Bill Saas, Dick Sarvela and Swain Ansonson volunteering to help out where needed.

AWS to Have Banquet May 14

Honoring senior women, the Associated Women Students will have a banquet for all women on the campus Friday evening, May 14. The banquet, other than being the last social event for the organization, will be the occasion for the announcement of various awards and winners in the AWS election to be held Wednesday, May 12.

Eleanor Hellbaum, president, will announce the freshman girl who will be the recipient of the $75 scholarship to help her continue her college work.

Choir of West Gives Concert At Puyallup Club

The "Choir of the West" gave a concert last night before the Puyallup Kiwanis Club at the Fruitland Grange hall. Under the direction of Prof. Gunnar Malmin, the choir performed the program previously on the choir trip earlier in the year.

Soloists were Mrs. Lydia Roberts and Rudy Johnson. The girls' trio were also performed. Violinist Eugene Ahrendt presented a Mendelssohn concerto.

Choir of West Gives Concert At Puyallup Club

Seniors who haven't done so are requested to bring their activity forms up to date. Forms listing all school activities were recently filled out by all classes to have a record for recommendations and to survey the percentage in each activity.

These records will be filed by the office along with credits and will always be available for employment reference. This system was begun because such information is invaluable in determining adaptability and interests.

Sophomores and juniors who have decided upon their fields of study are requested to sign their major certificates as soon as possible. The cards are available in the office.

Two More Students Sign School Contracts

Ruth Johnson and Bud Thorpe, education majors, have both signed contracts for the coming school year. Ruth will teach in the elementary grades in the Puyallup school system. Bud will lead classes in the Woodland system.

May-Day Festival Is Today; Rain or Shine

Y.M.B.C. Head Will Crown May Queen; Band, Girls P. E. Classes in Program

Play Cuttings Will Be Read Tonight In SUB

Theatians will gather tonight in the SUB at 8 p.m. to read from various plays and poems. The program is open to the students and faculty and all are invited to join in the informal hour of interpretative reading.

Those participating and the manuscripts they will read from include: Genevieve Purvis, Craig's Wife; Stan Ellsberg, "The Adding Machine"; Dick Syble, "Peer Gynt"; Margaret Kallie, "Chief Joseph's Retreat"; Beverly Wallace, "John Brown's Body"; Malcolm Soine, "The Game of Chess"; and Joe Cronquist, "Hasty Heart."

Following the program punch will be served. Eleanor Hellbaum and Pat Purvis are in charge of refreshments.

DRG's to Hold Weekend Party at Lake Wilderness

Gathering together for their last gathering event of the year, the Delta Rho Gammas will go to Lake Wilderness for their house party, starting Friday evening, May 14, and returning Sunday, May 16.

As is the annual custom, the DRG's will spend the days relaxing and hiking. The girls will do their own cooking and light house-keeping. All day-girls are invited to attend.

Charlene Martens, chairman for the affair, said that although no definite activity schedule had been made up, that there was a roller rink close by.

Miss Lillian Langemo, adviser, will chaperone the group.

Special Music

Special music will include violin solos by Betty Lu Reike, and a vocal duet by Mrs. Lydia Roberts and Rudy Johnson, senior members of the college choir.

The May Day proclamation will be read by Walter Kunschak, student body president. After the reading of the traditional proclamation, Mr. Bryant will perform the coronation.

Flower Girls Listed

Flower girls for the event will be Judith Larzas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold J. Lerona, and Margaret Harding, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Roming.

The Trainbearer will be Ann Marie Malmin, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Gunnar J. Malmin, Dean Johnson, son of Prof. and Mrs. Verne Johnson, will be the crown bearer.

Students who will participate in the folk games include Edna Haglund, Marie Haglund, Gianna Nelson, Beth Gottwald, Margaret Franke, Inez Larson, Pearl Eppetveit, LaWanna Wellandt, Helen Ramstad, Delores Langset, Maria Etzel and Elaine Eide.

"The Friends in Need"

Who said that PLC was an unfriendly school—a school that fails to think of its students in more or less of a close and personal manner?

Perhaps many of us have followed that train of thought, thinking that all our school knows of us is that we go here. But how far from true this is when a condition arises which seemingly leaves us without a friend.

Last week I found myself in that condition. The passing of my beloved father left everything blank and empty. Life seemed senseless then and without meaning. All plans which I had laid before seemed unnecessary. The whole world seemed to be shaken. My death carries a terrific amount of power; it seems to stop everything, and leaves everyone helpless and speechless.

But then how wonderful it is to have friends—friends who remember you in your darkest moments. They all seemed so helpful, kind, and wonderful. They came to visit, brought food, and sent beautiful sympathy cards. And PLC was one of these friends.

You have no idea what it means to receive comforting words from a source which is so familiar to you, the source from which you would hardly expect individual attention. Yet it came. The fellows in the Vets' Dorm sent a sympathy card and also a money gift which went to the church building fund as a memorial. The A.S.B. sent a beautiful card and Rev. Nesvig, a wonderful friend of the family, spoke at the funeral as the personal representative of Dr. Eastvold and PLC. It seemed almost too wonderful to be remembered in so many kind ways.

No, to say that PLC is an unfriendly school would be most unfair. In fact, it would be an out and out untruth.

And so to PLC, its students and faculty, I wish to say, not only for myself, but also for my mother and the rest of the family, a thousand thanks and may God bless you one and all.—G. D. B.

There's A Word for It!

The academic word for it is vernacular. But before we had heard this definition we had indulged in it, delighted in it, even manufactured some of it. A college campus is one of the most avid consumers of it. It has been quoted and acknowledged in some of the current, American magazines.

Call it language or the by-word of each generation. We've got it! And this campus is no exception. Here are a few Luteisms:

For instance, a somber soul who pleads for your aid might get these answers:

- "Don't panic!"
- "Don't let it throw you!"
- "Easy!" (Sort of low and slow.)
- "What am I supposed to do? Toss salad?"
- Or perhaps you may wish for the word on Ernie Stump's reprieve when a gripe-gal brings her blue news:
- "What do you expect? Malt in your milk-shake?"
- "I figure you're snow'd!"
- "That's the breaks!"
- (Or you come up close and bat your mascara frames and say, interested and enthralled): "See!"

Maybe your best pal tells a joke that jells before it's even diluted. Then you intrude rashly upon the silence and say brightly:

- "Well, that went over like a dull thud, (or a lead balloon or a rubber crutch)."
- "I figure you're IN there!" (Gentle irony.)
- We also have the answer for that conventional character who asks unimaginatively, "How's the world treating you?"
- You reply, "Very seldom."
- Or be coy about it. "I... never tell!"
- Yep, yessiree son, twenty-three skiddoo. I

Polonaise

Picture, if you will, two colleges: one an ivy-covered mansion with gold plated door knobs; the other a crumbling, termite-infested shack. The ivy-covered institution is Highpower U., home of the money-infested scholar. The termite-covered college is Lowpower U., home of the poor students from the fourth ward.

One day while on a hunt for a proper rodent for an experiment in Psych. 12, Heathcliffe Van Moneybags III walked toward what he thought to be the city dump (an excellent hunting spot for a rodent expedition).

Upon seeing the sign, "Lowpower U." in front of this dump, Heathcliffe dusted off his spats, adjusted his ascot tie, tipped his black homburg to just the right degree and walked up the termite-eaten steps, intent on making conversation with one of the students.

By chance co-ed Hatchet Face McGoon, belle of the campus, was at the top of the steps looking her (ugh!) loveliest. Nearsighted Heathcliffe smiled and struck up a little conversation.

"If you will pardon me, ma'am, I'd like to know where the city, pardon the expression, dump is located."

"Are you kiddin', bub," she shyly answered. "If you ain't smelled it yet you'll never find it. Say, ain't the pulp mill aromatic, though? Stinks mighty sweet, don't it, mister? By the way, I didn't catch your name."

"I'm Heathcliffe Van Moneybags III," stated our hero proudly. "My pater is president of the Baltimore and Schenectady Railroad, chairman of the board of Goliath Steel, and chief stockholder in the Big Gusher Oil Corporation. Of course, he also directs a few banks and railroads. And what does your pater do?"

"Aah, the old man is the Fourth Ward's only garbage collector. Kinda tough racket, too. He ain't got no truck."

"I say, that is interesting. But what does he do with the refuse that he collects?"

"Well, I ain't ever told no one this before, but see this bananaskin, apple core, orange peel that I'm wearing?"

"Yes, mighty attractive chapeau, miss," lied Heathcliffe.

"Yesterday it was fruit salad in the Fourth Ward."

After moving back a few yards, Heathcliffe politely tipped his homburg and said adieu to the campus (ugh!) queen as he headed towards civilization.

"Look out, Heathcliffe!" yelled Hatchet Face. "The termites have et the steps."

The rest of the story is too long for this meager column. It's a long story of how Hatchet Face nursed Heathcliffe back to health in the shadow of the garbage dump. Later they were married and raised 12 little urchins. Of the 12, eleven are possessors of Phi Beta Kappa keys. The twelfth urchin is rumored to be somewhere on the west coast.

"Collect your garbage, buddy!"

Hoping We're Not Adding Fuel to the Flame...

There you were, keeping up with your studies; your head bobbing nicely above water, when suddenly you were sunk! Maybe only once, if you were lucky; maybe going down for the third time, if you weren't so fortunate.

Unexpectedly, and quite recently, with four or five weeks of school left, some professors seemed to have a stabbing thrust of conscience. A look at their grade books, or their program for accomplishment seems to have left them with little to substantiate that final grade.

If it only hadn't happened to so many of them! For now there are the semester outside reading assignments apparently conjured up a week ago, and a term paper which hadn't seemed necessary until now. Why go on? If this happened to you, you probably shouldn't even be taking time to read this article.

No one is taking exception with the amount of work required. Outside work is a requisite of college courses. The only thing we are gasping as we turn in our eyeballs for a re-tread job. "Why couldn't you have told us before?"

We hate the guys who criticize and minimize the other guys whose enterprise has made them rise above the guys who criticize and minimize the other guys.

Whether the jug bumps the stone or the stone bumps the jug, it is bound to be hard on the jug. (Philosophy, so they say.)

figure we're in there here at PLC. And what does that make me? A wet cornflake in the bottom of the bowl?

Heen-Nelson Nuptials Tonight; Johnson Newlyweds Plan Trip

Alma Heen, education senior, and Norris Nelson, liberal arts sophomore, will be married this evening at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Harbor and East 72nd Sts., Tacoma. The Rev. B. W. Smith will perform the ceremony.

Bonnie Heen, sister of the bride and liberal arts sophomore, will be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Grace Carlson, Tacoma, Orna Steiro, liberal arts senior, and Ardith Olson, liberal arts sophomore, will be the candlelighters.

Norman Nelson, a cousin of the groom, will be the best man. The ushers will be LeRoy Strenge, liberal arts senior, Clyde Rees, Seattle, and William Dunn, Tacoma.

Julie Ann Goyan will be flower girl, and Galen Bomb will be ring bearer.

Marie Haglund, liberal arts freshman, will sing at the wedding, accompanied by Mrs. B. V. Smith. A reception in the church parlors

Collard in Hospital; Students Give Blood

Ernest Collard, PLC student, has been in Doctors' Hospital, Tacoma, for the past month. Suffering from internal complications, he underwent an operation last week. His condition is improving although he is still weak due to his inability to take food. Collard has been given 13 pints of blood by PLC students and it is said that he will need more before recovery is complete.

Dr. Pflueger will be confined to the hospital possibly two more weeks. His condition is improving as well as may be expected.

Amy Lou Johnson Rites in Seattle

Funeral services for Amy Lou Johnson, liberal arts junior, were held Wednesday afternoon in Ballard First Lutheran Church in Seattle. Miss Johnson died Monday, April 26, in a Seattle hospital. She left school in mid-year because of failing health.

Dr. Philip E. Hauge, dean of the college; Miss Grace C. Blomquist, dean of women; and a group of students attended the rites in Seattle.

Pall-bearers for the rites held at the Ballard First Lutheran Church were Albert Gerstmann, Eric Gerstmann, Arvid Olson, Morris Sequist, Calvin Johnson and Donald Wick.

Club Notes

Tuesday, May 11, is the day for the Viking Club's cruise aboard the "Gallant Lady" on Puget Sound.

Those going on the cruise will leave in the school buses about 5 p. m., and will return by midnight. The transportation to and from the boat will be free. The club intends to have a picnic in Quartermaster Harbor on Vashon Island in the Sound, and the food is included in the ticket. No special program is planned as yet. Howard Larson, Viking Club proxy, stated.

Tickets will be sold to members of the Viking Club and their friends first, but if there should be any tickets left over, they will be sold to general public that wants to go. Marjorie Anderson and Semon Anderson are in charge of the tickets.

A party has been planned for the last meeting of the Spanish Club on Monday night, May 10. The get-together will be held at the home of Mrs. Jordahl, club adviser.

A special program featuring entertainment in Spanish is planned. Mary Jean Bowen will read a poem and Joan Bowen will sing. Betty Lou Rieck will play some Spanish pieces.

Group participation events will include singing songs and playing games. Refreshments will be served.

SMOOTH SAILING

Last Sunday's cruise of the Lettermen's Club proved to be quite an event, at least from the athletic point of view. At the Redondo Beach stop, Paul Reiman got waxed in bowling by his date, and Marv Harshman and a fellow with the initials B. A. were taken in pool by Geri Marty.

In the softball game held at Quartermaster Harbor, the high flying Lute baseball team was knocked off their roost by the track team, 8 to 3. Chuck Loete was quoted as saying, "When do we eat?" after sampling his twelfth hot dog. Maybe this will account for the baseball team's feeble showing. (P. S. Scrimmage on the way home was refereed by Chaperone Harshman).

LUTE MEN OF DISTINCTION

The Lutes' lone undefeated cinder man through the season thus far is Del Schafer. Speedy Del, who runs the 440-yard race in the quarter-mile event. His latest achievement on the track came last Saturday night in Olympia when he set a new meet record for the St. Martin's Relay of 51.8, bettering the old record 53.2, set by himself last year.

Del gives a good share of the credit for his continual success to Dick "Lover" Mason, who invariably is right behind him, always forcing him toward faster times. Dick himself is probably the second best 440 man in the league, but fate teamed him with the speedy Schafer, whom it is virtually impossible to beat. The two speedsters team up to form half of the Lutes' impressive mile relay team, which has only tasted defeat once in the last two seasons.

NEW COACH

Whitworth College announced this week the signing of J. Rempel as head football coach for the 1948 season. Mr. Rempel, who was a star tackle for the College of the Pacific in his collegiate days, was assistant to Coach Jerry Stannard last season.

Mr. Stannard will continue as head basketball and baseball coach. Mr. Rempel is head track coach for the Spokane school.

KICKING AROUND

Dick Weatherman must have taken the ribbing he received in this column the week regarding his fishing, to heart, for Monday afternoon Dick hauled a beautiful twenty-inch Rainbow trout out of Five-mile Lake. Dave Garner got a tough break last Saturday, when he pitched fine three-hit ball against Western Washington only to lose 8 to 3 due to costly bobbles in the field.

All those present on the golf course lately haven't been golfers. Because of the continual high tide covering the cinder paths, tracksters have taken to running the nine-hole course for their workouts. Although playing only third in the right team St. Martin's Relays, Saturday, the Lutes managed to get two beautiful trophies for winning two of the evening four special relays.

Glads Meet Rangers In Baseball Tonight

Two Winco League games are scheduled for Coach [Name] and his ball club, both games with the St. Martin's Rangers. Tonight in Olympia, at Stevens Field, the Lutes will try for their third Winco win. Game time in Olympia is 8:00 p.m.

Diamond Men Down Rangers; Split With W.W.

Pacific Lutheran College stickmen took two out of three starts in the Winco pennant race last week. Splitting a double bill with Western Washington College, 5-4 and 8-2, dumping St. Martin's 5-2 in a night game.

Lutes Down Rangers

The Lutes staged a fourth inning rally in Olympia, Thursday, April 29, to down the St. Martin's nine 5-2. It all started when Wayne Brock doubled to left centerfield, with Dwayne Rose and Jim Turman singling. Paul Reiman being hit by a pitched ball, Merv Allen singling to right field and Vern Morris getting his second single of the game. After it was all over the Lutemans had collected five hits and four runs, to lead 4-1, adding another run in the sixth, while St. Martin's picked up one in the seventh, to end the scoring. Merv Allen won his fifth straight game, striking out eighteen Rangers, walking two, and giving up three scattered hits. Morris was the hitter of the game with two hits for three times at the plate.

Split with W.W.C.

In Bellingham Saturday afternoon the Lutes won the first game 5-4 in the eighth inning when Jack Brattle singled to right field and Morris, Loete and Brock walked. Carl Hatley was the hitter of the game with two for two. The Gladifiers combined eight hits and two Western errors for five runs.

The Western Washington College Vikings won the nightcap, 8-2, by putting together ten Lutheran errors and four hits. While the Lutes collected seven hits, getting Paul Reiman and Wayne Brock getting two hits each of the seven.

Tennis Men Defeated By Seattle College

Seattle College invaded the Lute courts last Friday and went back to the big city on the long end of a 5 to 2 score. In a previous meeting the two teams tied at 3 to 3.

Knut Aulse and Gerry Hedlund, Nos. 4 and 5 men, were the only two Lutes able to win over the Chieftains in Friday's match.

Thursday the tennis team journeyed to Bellingham for a match with Western Washington. The Vikings will be in Parkland for a return match on May 13.

The golf team has been inactive since last week's defeat by the CIS Loggers. Thursday they traveled to Bellingham to match strokes with the Western Vikings, and on Thursday, May 13, they will be hosts to the Vikings in a return match on the Brookdale links.

Trackmen Third at St. Martin's; Win Two of Four Relay Trophies

Central Washington, the team that the experts failed to pick, edged out the College of Puget Sound 52 1/2 to 51 5/6 to capture the second annual St. Martin's Relays in Olympia Saturday night.

In third slot, with 35 athletes, were the Lute cindermen, followed by Western Washington with 24 1/2 and Oregon College of Education with 1. St. Martin's, Seattle Pacific and the Second Division thinclads from

High Scoring Games Dominate Softball

Big Stickers, Geeks, and the Schenley's Reserves opened the lid on the Intramural Softball race last week with victories over their opponents.

The League, which has been changed into two sections, A and B, is still made up of fourteen teams, with seven in each section. The schedule calls for twenty-seven games to be played in each league, with a play-off game played by the top teams of each league.

In section A are the Big Stickers, Geeks, Plunibers, Pascoaters and the Brezers. Section B is composed of the Schenley's Reserves, Oregon Quacks, Question Marks, Misfits, Yankees, Clover Park and Knutson's Nine.

In the opening game, Schenley's Reserves trounced the Question Marks, 21 to 8, while the 23rd St. Men of Distinction dropped a five-run first inning lead to the Big Stickers, 16 to 9.

The schedule for next week is: Monday: Meat Packers vs. Pascoaters, Big Stickers vs. Brezers, Oregon Quacks vs. Clover Park, and Schenley's Reserves vs. Knutson's Nine. Wednesday: Meat Packers vs. Big Stickers, Plunibers vs. Brezers, Oregon Quacks vs. the Schenley's Reserves, and Yankees vs. Knutson's Nine. Thursday: Geeks vs. Pascoaters, 23rd St. vs. Bellingham to match strokes with the Western Vikings, and on Thursday, May 13, they will be hosts to the Vikings in a return match on the Brookdale links.

Glads to Travel To Bellingham For Tri-Meet

PLC's Gladifiers journey to Bellingham Saturday to compete against Western Washington and St. Martin's in a Wigo triangular track meet.

The main duel should be between PLC and Western, due to St. Martin's poor showings this year. PLC on paper figures about 10 points better than the Vikings, but the Vikings will be battling on their home grounds where they are always toughest.

Both the Lutemans and the Vikings have lost to CPS, but the Lutemans are the closer to stopping the Loggers. In last week's St. Martin's Relays, PLC finished third, just 10 1/2 points ahead of fourth place Western.

The Bellingham boys have an excellent half miler and miler in Hopkins, and the duel between Hopkins and Knutson in the 880 should be a hot one. In the Relays, "Hoppy" battled off a 2:01 in the 880, capturing the top spot, and also dashed off a 4:38 mile. Also to be reckoned with (according to Jim "Stout" Nylander) is broad jumper Henderson, who placed second in last year's conference meet. The Vikings are rated "good" in the distances and "fair" in the weights.
