The choir of P. L. C. sang at Normanna Hall on Saturday night, May 4. Because of a misunderstanding as to the date only a small crowd witnessed the performance.

The usual choir songs were given. Anna Mikkelsen, soloist and Dagmar Hageness entertained the audience during intermissions. The male octette, by special request also sang. Another concert may be arranged for in Tacoma later on.

Board of Trustees Continues Meeting

Six Week's Summer Course at P. L. C. Decided Upon; Give Support to Plans

On April 23 the board of trustees of Pacific Lutheran College met in Seattle to continue their meeting of April 23. At this meeting it was decided to offer a six-week summer course for teachers.

Although the detailed plans for the improvement of the P. L. C. campus as contemplated by Mr. Alfjellhus, have not yet been presented, nor will be, until the annual meeting of the Pacific Lutheran College Association to be held at Portland, Oregon, May 23 to 27, the board of trustees accepted tentatively his general outline presented at this meeting.

The board voted to give their support to secure complete accreditation of the Liberal Arts division of the Junior College department. The Normal and High School departments are already accredited, and it is confidently expected that the Liberal Arts division will be the next in line.

At this meeting the board also decided to send Dr. Tingelstad and the Rev. Haavik, president of the board, to Pendleton, Oregon, to invite the Joint Synod of Ohio to support P. L. C. in the same way as they are now supporting Spokane College.

Field Secretary of Association Talks About Tuberculosis

Prevention of Health Failures Is Stressed by Mrs. Thornton; Rules for Good Health Given

"Prevention Failures in Health" was the subject of Mrs. Thornton's talk to the students on Thursday, May 2. Mrs. Thornton is field secretary of the Washington Tuberculosis Association. The need of adequate food and rest in acquiring or keeping good health Mrs. Thornton stressed especially. She said, "Many of our teachers fail in the first five years because of poor health. A teacher's health must be good for a community demands leadership, as well as academic knowledge. Today many people are struggling to gain what has been lost—their health."

In the state of Washington a health certificate must be presented by the teacher, but many who are not fit get one. This is not fair to the teacher or to the student.

"Twenty years ago the average span of life was thirty-eight years. Today it is fifty-five. The reduction in tuberculosis deaths alone has added ten years to the span of life."

"There is no cure for tuberculosis," said Mrs. Thornton, "and one's only hope is to build up resistance." Tuberculosis is a communicable disease and not inherited, and the germs of it are hard to destroy. Mrs. Thornton also enumerated some signs of tuberculosis, such as the following: continual tiredness, frequent attacks of indigestion, a cough that hangs on for a long time, loss of weight, afternoon fevers, night sweats and the spitting of blood.

According to Mrs. Thornton, "the control of tuberculosis lies in learning to live right."

Class Does Varied Work as Projects

A doll house, travel book, and playground plan gave ample amusement and labor for the methods and technique class in their project work.

The doll house, made by girls who worked it out as a project for primary grades, was made out of orange crates, cleverly furnished with cardboard furniture. The modes-of-travel book, for the intermediate grade's, included pictures of vehicles of transportation from all parts of the world. The playground plan, made by the boys of the class as an upper grade project, was a drawing of an ideal school and grounds.

This project work is carried on every year in Miss Sistrup's methods and technique class for the purpose of acquainting the prospective teachers with that type of teaching.

Teaching Contracts Signed by Students

Washington Schools To Claim Five P. L. C. Graduates of '29 As Teachers

One topic which is discussed perhaps more than any other by the normal students at P. L. C. is that of securing teaching positions for the coming year. Since the last issue of the Mooring Mast five have signed contracts for teaching in Washington grammar schools. Walter French will teach the fifth-grade pupils at Yelm, Washington, while Leah Grass will teach music in the same school.

Irene Moore has signed her contract to teach at Millwood, Washington, The West Valley district, where she is to teach, each year hires one inexperienced teacher. Irene will this year fill the position as teacher of the third and fourth grades.

Rudolph Sanderson and Marvin Howick have both secured schools between Yelm and Olympia. Sanderson will be principal of the three-room school at Chamber's Prairie. Howick has accepted a position as principal of the Collins school.

In addition to these, who are certain of positions, many are expecting favorable replies to their applications during the next week or two.

MISSION SOCIETY HAS REGULAR MEETING HERE

The regular devotional services opened the Mission Society meeting on Tuesday evening, April 23. Miriam Heimdahl gave a reading, and Arthur Olson sang a solo, after which Mr. Ramstad spoke very interestingly on festival and non-festival days in the church year.

From now on the Mission Society will meet at 7:30 instead of 7:00 o'clock.

LAST D. O. R. MEETING AT MRS. HAUGE'S HOME

The Daughters of the Reformation were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Philip E. Hauge on Tuesday afternoon, May seventh. This was the last meeting of the school year.

Papers were read by Cora Vista and Leah Grass. A short business discussion followed the program.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Development Plan Draws Nearer To Subscription Goal

If the subscriptions to the Pacific Lutheran College Development Association continue to come in as they have the last week the goal of the association will be reached. To date there are 1,479 members, with a total contribution of $4,215.45.

Last Sunday the development program was presented to Rev. Henriksen's congregation in Seattle and to congregations in and around Everett. All the members of the Junior League from Rev. Lane's congregation in Stanwood joined the development association. In memory of Mrs. Aloye Lee Clark the members of an Everett congregation, instead of flowers, gave $25 to the development association.

Next Sunday Dr. Thraedstad will present the development program to the congregations in Raymond and South Bend, while Mr. Haug and Mr. Elvestrom will present it to the congregation in Silvana.

TEAM-WORK

Many students are displaying great ability and skill on the tennis courts. In fact, they show more interest and put themselves more into the game than they do in other athletic activities. Perhaps the fact that in tennis they are allowed to play individually and can receive all the honors themselves accounts partly for this. From such observations one is led to believe that perhaps a one-man baseball team, basketball team, or football team would be more inductive to interest in the game than the present forms. Individual starrng would then be necessary, and possible. Not so in athletics as ordinarily constituted. Team-work is what we want. Through whole-hearted cooperation only can we succeed.

MOTHER'S DAY

"I've only one, but she's more to me than all the wealth of the world could be."

Next Sunday, May 12, is Mother's Day. Why is it we always remember this day? It was Mother who taught us our "A B C's," gave us our fundamental religious training, brought us up through her sympathies and caresses when we were young that we learned to love her, to regard her as the one and only one to whom we could bring our troubles and disappointments. It was through Mother's advice that we came to see the difference between right and wrong. Some of us are at school many miles from home and Mother. We deeply feel these sentiments towards her and appreciate her as perhaps never before. We thank God for her and the blessings we have received through her.

Next Sunday, Mother's Day, we will wear flowers to show our appreciation, although nothing we can do or say can really repay her for all she has given us. Blessed be the memories of those mothers who have gone home to Him and blessed be the lives of those who are yet with us. "Many make the household, but only one the home," and that one is Mother.

May 8, 1928.

Dear Ma and Pa:

I will snatch a few minutes of my valuable time to write you a letter, as a little sunshine is undoubtedly welcome to you at all times, and especially now in all this rain.

Speaking of value, reminds me of an important problem in Principles of Education which Mr. Haug and I have been reading over. It is about the "Value of Forgetting," and after studying the question carefully, I have come to the conclusion that I am one of the most valuable people in the whole class.

You wouldn't believe it, but Marvin Howick runs a close second. One day he got awfully excited when he came to school, and after he had hunted through his notebook like he was looking for a gold mine, he says, "Now, I've gone and done it! I've left my Memory and Imagination at home!"

"What do you mean? I hope not," I says.

"Oh, well," he answers, "It didn't amount to much anyway. If I can get The Child and Horne I'll have the whole thing in a nutshell."

I have been thinking it over since, and I wonder if he had the idea that his head was a nutshell that would be awful dumb I would rather be a nutshell than a nussell, not meaning to insinuate, howsoever, that I am either one of them.

As I said before, I don't think there is many in our class who is more valuable in forgetting than me. Howsoever, I would not think of competing with the faculty members. They can even forget the names of their wives, like Mr. Edwards did at the choir concert at Sumner. It was a easy name to remember too, and he had seen her only recently. I don't hardly think I could forget that good, but it is kind of hard to prove on account of the fact that I ain't got no wife.

I ain't got no tennis racket either, which is worse. Almost about every morning at 5:30, the girls get up and slams the doors and plays "Was it a dream" and "Here I am" and such on the victrola, whilst they is tearing into their clothes, getting ready to be the early birds in the tennis courts.

Well, of course, a tennis player without a tennis racket is like a cake without a frosting, so "Here I am" like the victrola says, thinking "Was it a dream" I had about rising to fame as a tennis champion or wasn't it?

It is a shame that a little money should prevent having your loving daughter a tennis champion, but I suppose it can't be helped. I will just have to listen to the racket at 5:30 and remember that there is other great people which has struggled against handicaps. I wouldn't think of asking for money for a racket as I am always so careful with my money, but in case you should like to buy one as an investment, they cost about ten dollars. Your frugal daughter,

GRADE SCHOOLS MEET ON COLLEGE CAMPUS

The college campus became a playground for the grade school children last Friday forenoon, when the neighboring schools held their annual track meet here. Although nothing spectacular took place, the event furnished amusement for many of the college students as well as for the younger children. Broad jumping, high jumping, pole vaulting and the hundred-yard dash were features of the event.

COMMENT

"We are very pleased to have as one of our newest exchanges The Hilltops of Hartwick, published by the students of Hartwick College, Oneonta, New York.

This paper has many interesting features, such as jokes in the advertising spaces and some humorous writings. There are, however, too many borrowed jokes in this paper, and the headlines for the sport write-ups are not attractive. Too many slang expressions are used, and the asterisks employed to separate chapters in a short story make it appear, at a casual glance, to be a group of short articles.

STUDENTS OBSERVE AT CENTRAL

A very interesting observation was made by the methods and technic class at the Central School in Tacoma. This school has special classes for those who are hard of hearing or deaf, those whose sight is poor, and those who are mentally weak. The visiting students found the methods of teaching defective children very original and instructive.

ART CLASSES FURNISH HOUSE

Mrs. Kreidler's normal art class is now redecorating a doll house. The house is to be repaired, furnished, and papered by the girls. Each group, consisting of two or three, has a certain room to work on. This work is to give the members of the class experience in decorating a home.

Do not estimate the number of your animated juvenile poultry prior to the completion of the entire process of incubation.

In other words: Do not count your tennis games before they are won, Herman.

Room: Hey! I think there's a mouse in the room.

Mate: Well just think that you hit the mouse with your shoe instead of my nose and go to sleep again.

First Conference Game Dropped to Centralia College

Coach "Bill" Beck and his baseball tossers of the Centralia Junior College invaded the Lutherans' round last Saturday afternoon to defeat the locals in a hard fought battle for the first game of Northwest Junior College Conference by a score of 9 to 8.

The game was in doubt till the final inning. One team would go ahead, and then the other. Both teams seemed to be evenly matched in each department of the game. Palo pitched a nice game, until Howick relieved him in the seventh inning.

The Lutherans were the first to score, tallying two runs in the second inning. In the third Centralia scored twice to tie the count. In the fourth inning both teams scored one run. In the fifth stanza Centralia pushed two more across to give them the lead. While in the sixth the Lutherans had their big inning, scoring four runs to give them the lead. The Pacific team was able to score one more run before the game ended, but that was not enough, as the Centralia team battled four runs across in the last three stanzas to win the game.

The Summary:	R	H	E
Pacific Lutheran College	8	7	3
Centralia	9	8	1

Batteries: Palo, Howick and Colton; Brown and C. Wagner.

Bellarmino Defeats P. L. C. Baseballers

In their second game of the season the Lutherans dropped a hard tussle to Coach Bill Hardy's baseball nine of Bellarmine College.

The Catholic boys, being able to connect a little more frequently at the plate than the Lutherans, managed to drive in nine runs to the Gladiators' three.

Sanderson, of the P. L. C. team, was the big man with the willow, collecting two hits in five trips to the plate. Salatin, Webster, and Oreo each made two hits for the winners.

Jacobson and Colton each turned in a nice game on the mound, but the support was weak at the critical time.

The Summary	R	H	E

Four Years Ago...

At the Thespian Dramatic Society program on May 1 the following numbers were given: Piano solo "Love Song," Sylvia Larson; reading, "The Bear Story"; and a piano solo, "Rigolito Paraphrase," Lillian Lund. The literary surprise of the evening was parts of works from well known authors read by Myron Kreider. The audience was to guess the names of the authors of the selections read. Erna Helmdahl won the contest.

Coach Ringstad made his tentative selection of members of the varsity baseball team as follows: Ole Servold, Ed Arthur, Pete Bonseth, Sid Glasco, Art Wierson, Ed Beck, Nels Quam, Lyman, and Art Knutzen.

Boys Lose Again To C. P. S. Team

Gain In Ability Shown By Gladiator Boys In Score of 8-1

The Gladiators, getting off to a slow start this season, are gradually developing into a smoother working ball team. This was made evident in last Friday's game at the College of Puget Sound. The final score read 8 to 1 in favor of the Tacomans. The Parkland boys, with a little more rest than they showed in their initial appearance, started right off to beat the C. P. S. team, but owing to the prowess of the Tacomans, the Gladiators were unable to turn the tables.

The Gladiators, however, showed improvements in every department of the game. The offensive play was much better; the boys were able to connect. Although they only made fans safe hits, their work at the plate gave promise that they were developing a keener batting eye. The work in the outfield and infield was a pronounced improvement, only four or five errors being marked against them.

Howick, who was on the mound for the Lutherans, worked effectively, holding the Loggers to three scatte ed hits up to the last of the sixth, when he weakened and allowed four runs to cross the plate, giving the Loggers a 6 to 1 margin. While on the mound, Howick received good support. "Cork" Colton, who was on the receiving end, replaced Howick in the last of the sixth. Colton pitched good ball, allowing only two runs.

The Loggers scored one run in the first inning and duplicated the same in the second, giving them a 2 to 0 lead. In the third inning Siegel, of the Lutherans, got on, and advanced to second on error. A little later Sie stole third. With one away and Bill Nyman, the Lutheran's lead-off man at bat, it looked as if the Gladiators were going to score. Nyman drove one out to the outfield bringing in Siegel, the Lutheran's only run in the game. In the sixth the Tacomans scored four more and added two more in the eighth.

Berger Jacobson was the big man at the plate for the Lutherans, driving out a two-bagger and a single, while Lappenbush, the Logger catcher, collected three hits, out of four trips to the plate. The Gladiators' playing showed a marked improvement. Coach Ramstad may try to arrange another game with Coach Hubbard's ball-tosses for a game on the local diamond in the near future.

The summary for Friday's game was:

P. L. C.	1	4	4
C. P. S.	8	12	3

Batteries: Howick, Colton, and Colton, Thostenson, Kovach, Jessup, Gillahan and Lappenbush.

Racquet Slingers Busy In Tennis Tourney

During the past two weeks the tennis courts have been the scene of some active warfare, and the Pacific Lutheran racquet aspirants are rapidly rounding into condition. The school tournament possesses every indication of becoming the best ever. Competition is keen and plentiful, and an unusual degree of interest is being shown by everyone. All indications point toward efficient teams and a successful season.

The boys' department appears exceptionally strong this season, with such men as reider, Nyman, Sanderson, Ordal, and Wells havin' an edge in the early season performances. In the girls' department, Martha Cline and Pauline Larson, from last year's squad, are the only experienced members back. The new material has as yet not revealed anything sensational, but there are enough to make the race plenty hot.

Upon the completion of the tournament and the selection of the teams it is quite probable that a few interscholastic matches will be played. As yet none have been scheduled, however.

GIRLS HAVE CLOGGING IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Tap, tap, tap. When is the pedestrian coming off? Judging from the wear and tear on the gym floor, the girls in Miss Stuxrud's physical education class ought to be able to tap their way to fame on the stage instead of in a teacher's seat.

Now the clog class is learning the steps that go with "Turkey-in-the-Snow." The girls seem to get a great deal of enjoyment out of slapping the toes of their shoes on the floor. Gallop!

LADIES TO GIVE GOOSE DINNER
The Ladies' Aid of Trinity Lutheran Church will give a "Goose Dinner" May 17, in the church parlors. During the evening a "parcel-post sale" will be held, and a program will be given. Serving begins at 6 p. m. Adults 50c; children 25c.

How many of the students have noticed the stranger in our midst this week. He is tall, dark, and entirely too handsome for one girl's comfort. He has blue eyes, and it is told quite confidently that he is seen "dreaming" around the halls with a pretty girl with golden hair. I bet you kids are getting real excited. How about it girls? He plays tennis well when he doesn't hit the ball into the net. We're not supposed to talk about any one, but this is talking right to his face. Don't you think? Folks say that he's a junior in high school. He wears fancy suit trousers and a sweater quite often. Now put your heads together. Who can this mysterious stranger be? Why—Billie, it's only Fred Lee with his hand-bars excused.

Can Pedagogues cook?

That's a question, indeed, Pedagogue! I wonder, do you know what one of them guys," is? Well, it's just this: a pedagogue is one of those supernatural intelligent beings who have a habit of being absent-minded.

Of course, this absent-minded business really belongs to professors who regularly forget which they're eating—frogs or sandwiches—you all know that joke—rock-ribbed and ancient—

Anyway, this pedagogue about whom I'm speaking is an erstwhile Prof., so it's all right.

To get back to the matter in hand—Not so many days ago, an esteemed member of our honorable faculty resolved to boil himself a "wee cup o' coffee" before dinner.

You see, he was home alone, and of course he had to get into some mischief—boys simply can't be trusted alone—or otherwise, for that matter—but always have and always shall need some fair lady to watch over them!

As I was saying, Mr. Stuen—was he—became thirsty and resolved to disregard frequent admonitions to "leave things alone while I'm gone!" and put the coffee on to boil.

Yes, he put it on, and then became so deeply engrossed in—may it have been his German grammar—that he completely forgot it, that is, until that nauseating scorched odor assailed his nostrils.

Ain't 'Tis ev'r a man's stomach that keeps him poor.

Shame, Mr. Stuen! Don't you know yet that you can't simply can not do two things at once?

To be sure, these especially intelligent specimens of the "mighty" sex are continually running down their trail counterparts, but—

Can pedagogues cook? No! They just ain't that type!

Moral: Be they ever so proud, every man needs his cook!

Shipwreck

A few days ago, fourteen to be exact the good ship "Mooring Mast" set out to sea again on her sixteenth voyage with a full crew of hands to work in every department from the royal top-sails down to the last timber in her hull. She had experienced many stormy passages with the same crew signed on the articles and many of these voyages had ended rather disastrously. Even the underwriters had raised the premium of the insurance not only on the cargo the "Mooring Mast" carried but also the premium of the insurance on the ship itself. Many of the companies who risked the value of the ship and cargo had withdrawn their contracts, not even considering a bid of a higher premium. The risk was too great. On this her latest voyage, the results of which have just now been made public it became known that the crew instead of preparing for a storm had not even prepared enough to withstand the elements of perfectly calm weather. When a typhoon was encountered the deplorable conditions were known to the officers but the most drastic measures on their part now (for they also had been guilty of negligence) could not arouse the crew to action. It is easily understood that when a crew is allowed to run into a rut such as they did that nothing could move them to action. Apparently they were unaware that their lives were in danger, being as drugged as nothing but a psychical drug can affect.

Due to good fortune rather than the virtue of anyone and also due to the despairing wakeful condition of the officers a rescue has been effected. The good ship "Stadium World" cast a wel-

"Why, Pa, this is roast beef!" exclaimed Willie at dinner one evening when a guest of honor was present. "Of course," said his father. "What of it?"

"Why, you told Ma this morning that you were going to bring an old mutton-head home for dinner this evening."
