

CAPELLA CHOIR HAS LUNCHEON AT COLLEGE

Augustana Lutheran College Choir Is Entertained by Students and Teachers at P. L. C.

On Wednesday April 7, the Capella Choir of Augustana Lutheran College, Sioux Falls South Dakota, was entertained by Pacific Lutheran College at a luncheon in the school dining hall. The dining hall was attractively decorated with greenery and bouquets of apple blossoms.

President Ordal who at one time attended Augustana College which it was called Canton Normal School, gave a few words of welcome and Rev. Svare gave the address of welcome, which was responded to by Prof. J. G. Berdahl, the business manager of the choir.

Dr. Carl R. Youngdahl, director of the choir was the next speaker, after which the choir sang a negro spiritual by R. N. Dett. "Listen to the Lambs."

After luncheon, the choir members were taken on a sight-seeing excursion to nearby points of interest.

The concert which was given in Tacoma in the evening at Normanaus Hall was attended by a large number of students as well as by a great number of Tacoma people.

The repertoire like that of the St. Olaf choir, consisted of sacred hymns and anthems, sung without accompaniment. The choir is known throughout the United States—its harmony, precision, and tone quality being declared perfect by critics.

VISITING PASTOR BRINGS MESSAGE

Rev. T. Thompson from Minneapolis, Minnesota was the bearer of the inspiring message given at the mission Society program at the Luther League meeting Sunday afternoon, April 11.

He spoke on seeing and preaching Jesus as Paul did. Meeting with Jesus will change our lives and give us higher ideals. Jesus is always easy to see when some crisis is pending. Then we realize that we have neglected Jesus for minor things of this world but then we also see the great love and kindness of our Lord. Praying is talking with Jesus. It is the prayers of the Christian fathers and mothers that build every Christian school and church and save many wandering sons and daughters. The more insignificant we feel ourselves, the more certain we are that our prayers will be heard.

Paul also, preaches. We don't need to be eloquent speakers to bring a message.

Other numbers on the program were: Scripture reading—Johanna Rasmussen; Reading "Faith and Reason"—Arnt Oyen; Vocal, solo—Irene Dahl.

REPORT OF CONVENTION

Miss Martha Hjermstad, Delegate to L. L. U. Convention, Gives Written Report

Early on Saturday morning, the second day of the convention, the delegates assembled for a quiet session of prayer, led by Arthur Johnson of Luther Seminary. Immediately following this was the business session, with election of national officers for the coming year as follows: President, W. O. Rindahl, Luther Seminary; Vice Pres., Arnt Oyen, Pacific Lutheran College; Secretary, Overt Jorgenson, Madison Lutheran Normal; Treasurer, Raymond Reinholdson, St. Olaf College; College Press member, Carl Tyedt, Augustana. Following the business meeting came the morning session, where the convention theme "Building With Christ as Students" was discussed. Rev. O. S. Reigstad showed that to build with Christ we must have faith—faith in His Sonship, so we do not let the modernist spirit of the time overshadow His dual nature—faith in His Mediatorship, that he may remove our great burdens of sin—faith in His Leadership so we can bear the scourgings of those who claim to be broad-minded.

Rev. L. A. Pierson presented three mighty challenges that come to the Christian student from God: the challenge to carry on the work of His Kingdom in the heathen world; the works of the devil; the inroads of modernism on our Christian faith. To meet these challenges we must prepare ourselves diligently by prayer, study of the Word and training of the work.

Saturday afternoon the delegates were taken on a sight-seeing tour to points of interest about Moorhead and vicinity.

Rev. J. C. K. Preus was first speaker at the afternoon session, and in speaking on the convention theme he showed that building with Christ challenges us to study His will and heed His call. In order to build rightly we must build according to His will, and that we may know His will we must study that Word which reveals it. As students we are moulding characters for Christ.

Rev. Holman of the Deaconess Home at St. Paul presented the thought that building with Christ demands a passion for souls. The value of a soul is inestimable for it has been purchased by the blood of Christ. Having attained salvation we should seek to lead other souls to Him. He showed that the Deaconesses have a passion for souls and urged young women to enter this field.

On Saturday evening the convention theme was treated by student speakers. H. O. Dirckstrand of Luther Seminary considered it as a part of inviting us to build our lives on Christ. Through baptism, influence of home and Christian College training we have ample opportunity to build with and on Christ, the firm rock, and need not build on shifting sand.

At six o'clock the delegates and convention speakers were guests of honor at a sumptuous banquet given by the student body of Concordia College. During the meal the Concordia Male quartet and the orchestra favored with several selections.

Loyal Falkson of St. Olaf pointed out that there are three architect's bidding for the building of our lives. "Worldly pleasure sends in" (Continued on Page Three)

Mr. Arnt Oyen has recently been chosen as National Vice-President of the Lutheran Student's Union at the annual L. S. U. Conference held in Moorhead, Minnesota. Mr. Oyen has been an active worker in all religious activities at P. L. C. and has distinguished himself as student and debater.

We of Pacific Lutheran College are very glad to have one from our own institution chosen to fill the position.

NOTICE

The P. L. C. annual reunion picnic will be held Saturday, May 29, at Spanaway Park, which is situated two miles from Parkland.

The afternoon will be spent in playing games, boating, and swimming. In the evening a lunch will be served in the park. During the meal the Alumni Association will give its annual business meeting.

We also wish to note that the Luther Leagues' Convention which is held in Parkland, May 27, 28, 29 and 30 will not have sessions in the afternoon and evening May 29. The Luther Leagues' delegates and visitors will also be at the picnic, thus making it a Convention—Alumni affair.

The Luther Leagues of the South Puget Sound District will hold a Convention at Parkland, May 27, 28, 29 and 30.

All sessions will be held in forenoon and afternoon owing to the fact that the Pacific Lutheran College has its annual graduation and reunion programs on the same dates. A complete program covering all three events will be printed in the next issue of the Mooring Mast.

Several of the faculty members and a few students heard the lecture on Industrial Relations given by Whiting Williams, Tuesday, March 30, at the First Baptist Church in Tacoma.

Williams stated: "The foundation of our industrial development is built on the unskilled laborer. Therefore, getting a job is of greatest importance to the unskilled worker. And we must teach the unskilled laborer, so that he comes to a full realization of the importance of the work that he is doing in promoting the maintenance of the society as a whole."

P. L. C. DEBATE TEAMS WIN IN DUAL MEET WITH C. P. S.

Meet S. P. C. in Dual Debate Pacific Lutheran College Debaters will meet Seattle Pacific College in a dual debate April 30th.

Debate Coach Ph. E. Hauge has announced a shift in the lineup to comply with the lineup of Seattle Pacific College.

The negative team travels to Seattle while the affirmative will have the opportunity of appearing before a home audience.

CLASS PREPARES TO GIVE PLAY

The Senior play which will be given by the graduating class this year is "Daddy Long Legs," a four act comedy written by Jean Webster. The cast as yet has not been selected but it will be announced in a later issue of the Mooring Mast.

The play will be directed by Prof. and Mrs. Ph. E. Hauge who plan to have it ready for presentation the first part of May.

It is expected that the class will follow the precedent set by former graduating classes of expending the proceeds from the Senior play for a gift to be presented to the school at commencement.

STUDENTS RANK HIGH IN THE STATE MANUAL TEST

The Normal Students who took the Teacher's examination in State Law in March have received the report of their grades. To the credit of the school may it be said that every one passed, 75% of those taking the exam receiving grades of over 95%. Signe Hjermstad receiving highest honors passed with a grade of 100.

BASEBALL SEASON IN FULL SWING

The first baseball game of the season played on the P. L. C. diamond, March 27, resulted in a victory being chalked up for Kapowin. The score was 7-4. Art Werson and Carl Colton both pitched a good game for the P. L. C. sluggers but their support was very weak. The runs all came in on errors. The Kapowin pitcher, threw a very good game, but he also lacked support.

This game showed the weakness of the team and Coach Ramstad will have his hands full, patching things up. Several new fellows have turned out and a change in the lineup will probably result.

'T IS TO LAUGH'

A question is in the mind's of the students of P. L. C. They want to know—"Why does everybody laugh when they go into the Mooring Mast room?" To those people who are not fortunate enough to enter the sacred domains of the staff room, we want to publicly answer the question.

The room has been dressed up, so to speak, a pair of curtains, a foot long, have been hung on the huge windows by our beauty-loving editor.

In an interview, Miss Hjermstad said that she purposely made them short to contrast with the articles handed in by the reporters, and with the length of time evidently spent in writing them.

We wish to ask our illustrious editor's pardon for mentioning these curtains, (the space this article occupies is larger than the curtains) but we had to answer the question in the minds (?) of the students.

P. L. C. Defeats College of Puget Sound on Both Affirmative and Negative of Child Labor Question

The Pacific Lutheran College opened forensic relations with the College of Puget Sound, Friday, April 9, when a dual debate was held on the proposed Child Labor Amendment.

The C. P. S. affirmative team met their opponents in the P. L. C. Auditorium. C. P. S. was represented by Maynard Fawcett, Brunson Smith, and Arthur Alsworth, and P. L. C. by Arthur Knutzen, Henry Kiel and Arnt Oyen. The judges were Mrs. Arthur Sydow of Tacoma, Mr. E. G. Fowler of Tacoma and Mrs. H. S. Fisher, Superintendent of Schools of Pierce County. The judges decision was rendered 2 to 1 in favor of P. L. C.

The debate was very interesting and close. The clash of opinion was marked from the very beginning and continued so throughout. Much previous study and thought on the material and delivery was evident on both sides. To this may be added the quick thinking which was displayed in sparring authorities and fallacies.

The C. P. S. debaters showed that consideration and fair play were merits which they valued highly. P. L. C. is looking forward to a future forensic relation with C. P. S. and considers the opening encounter the most pleasant combat of the season.

College Girls Team

The P. L. C. affirmative team, composed of college girls, met the girls negative team of College of Puget Sound on the same evening at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Tacoma.

The Hneups were as follows: P. L. C. Affirmative; Martha Hjermstad, Mildred Hanson, and Alice Davie. C. P. S. Negative; Jesse Munger, Maud Hauge, and Alice Gartrell.

The debate was spirited and showed that an exhaustive study of all phases of the question had been made by both sides. The Puget Sound debaters seemed taken by surprise by the P. L. C. method of attack, and showed a weakness in refutation. The decision was given unanimously in favor of Pacific Lutheran College by the judges, Mr. Allison, debate coach at Lincoln High School, Rev. McGinnis, Episcopalian pastor and Mr. John Ray of Tacoma.

"A team without a coach is as best as an army without a general. The general plans the campaign while the soldiers only carry out the orders. Therefore, the victory of the teams are really due to the untiring work of Prof. Ph. E. Hauge, the debate coach."

HONOR ROLL

The Honor Roll for the past nine weeks has been announced as follows: Nina Elde, Zeldia Wellenbeck, Mildred Hanson, Ida Hinderville, Signe Hjermstad, Mary Holmes, Bert Kranzness, Peder Songestad, Arthur Werson, Hilmen Macgill, Muriel Vetter, Mabel Nordang, Arnt Oyen, Franklin Turner.

Those receiving distinctive honors are: Arthur Bogden, Lawrence Elhagson, Arthur Knutzen, Esther Sydow, Gertrude Sydow, Johanna Rasmussen.

BUILDING WITH CHRIST AS STUDENTS

The Lord Jesus Christ presents himself as the outstanding example of golden opportunities in the life of students. He invites us to build our lives on him—a privilege which we must not and dare not neglect.

Although there is a conception among many students of the present time that to live a Christian life is to deprive oneself of a real happy existence, we fail to find a single individual, who has come to the realization of the forgiveness of sins, who regrets the years he has spent in fellowship with the Savior.

In the building with Christ as students our aim should be, to nourish and strengthen the faith of our fathers, a firm helier in Christ and Christianity, thus lending a hand in fulfilling the prophecy: "There shall be only one fold and one shepherd." But in order to do our share in this mission work we should prepare ourselves to the utmost of our ability. We must train ourselves to become Christian leaders, and do our mission work whenever and wherever opportunities are offered.

Christ's invitation was: "Follow me." He talked little about leadership but this singular thing happened; those who became the trust and most loyal followers became the most powerful leaders. We must let Christ's way become our way. His thoughts our thoughts, and His will our will. We must give Christ expression through our lives. "By its fruits ye shall know the tree." Unless we have some intimate, personal knowledge of Him who lived and died and is alive forevermore, there will be no particular reason why we should carry what we may choose to call "the Gospel" to the uttermost parts of the earth.

"The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and give his life a ransom for many." Therefore, in like manner, we shall be the gainers, both spiritually and materially, by our efforts in behalf of those whom we shall thus help.

Our missionary efforts will be more effective, just in proportion as we shall render them in the same spirit of brotherhood and charity which marked the works of Jesus. Like the qualities of mercy, rendering assistance to others; is not strained but twice blest. Out conduct toward others should manifest love, kindness, consideration and faith.

The Lord said: "The harvest truly is great but the laborers are few." As students we probably are astonished, as it were, by the vastness of the field and the few active workers in it. But let us not be dismayed, the Lord has also informed us how to secure workers for his vineyard. "Pray ye the Lord of the harvest that he send forth laborers into his harvest." And as Christ has asked us to pray the Lord of the Harvest for laborers we should faithfully avail ourselves of the privilege. Furthermore, we have the promise from Jesus: "Whoever ye asketh the Father in my name, that ye shall receive."

As students we encounter difficulties in our work, about our Father's business" but they are only stepping stones by which perfection is attained and true success is to labor. Therefore, we should not be easily discouraged even though the result of our labor as Christ's followers may seem meager. Probably we are only the planters and others shall do the harvesting. Let us remember that the arm of the Lord is not shortened, he is the same today as yesterday and will forever. Jesus said to the Pharisees: "Before Abraham was I am." Before his ascension he told his disciples: "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." And in the Apostle's Creed we read: "He sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty; From thence He shall come to judge the quick and the dead."

As Christian students we are reapers in Christ's vineyard. And as reapers we receive wages. In this life we shall receive friends, goods, and peace, and the gratitude and joy of serving the Savior cannot be measured.

But the biggest and best part of the wages we receive as reapers is when we join the band of reapers in the great harvest festival and receive eternal life. Then: "His servants shall serve him and they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads."

CHAPEL TALKS

Prof. Xavier usually limits his remarks on "Parasitism" to his biology class, but April 7 a new phase of the subject was presented at chapel. The tenth to thirteenth verses, chapter three, of Paul's Epistle to the Thessalonians was chosen as scripture read.

The speaker showed how parasites exist throughout nature, among plants and animals.

"We will note," said the professor, "that a parasite saps the strength of the host and degeneration results."

"The human parasite does not better society in the least. Even the parasite himself degenerates."

"The question concerning us as students is: Are we parasites or workers. Paul's words are a warning. Let us do our work to the best of our ability and we will gain mental, moral and physical strength and will be a benefit to society."

On April 8, Prof. M. Holm chose the sixth chapter of Galatians for his discourse.

The verses read dealt with the treatment of the sinner by the Christian.

"Deal tenderly with the sinner," said the speaker. "Some of the sins he commits are not necessarily deliberate. We are not to look for flaws. Show him his mistakes when necessary but deal tenderly and don't rebuke."

"The best method of correction is by our good example. Always be kind to the sinner, for all are human, and any one of us may be the next one to need rebuke."

P. L. C. UNDER A SPELL

A change has come over P. L. C. It seems as though the once lively personnel of P. L. C. has come under a spell and the strange thing about it is that this spell came with the first nice sunshine of the spring.

Many couples go sauntering kicking-postward, we saw sauntering, or in the plainer language of Webster—wandering about idly in a lazy manner. The atmosphere about P. L. C. is one of laziness, and not a soul is immune to the dreadful ravages of this frightful spell.

The professors are racing their brains for a solution to this terrible problem. There is a rumor which whispered about that the old custom of the Puritans, that of having someone to keep the congregation awake, will be revived in the classrooms.

Still the question, "what is this spell" has not been answered. We have an idea that it is pure laziness, but everyone says that that could not be. The most suitable answer yet received is that the spell is plain "spring fever." It may be, who knows?

DORMITORY GIRLS GIVE NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT

The Girls' Dormitory Club which was recently organized, entertained the dormitory boys and faculty at a Party Saturday evening, March 27. The rooms were charmingly decorated with greenery and spring flowers, combined with lattice work and moss to represent an outdoor scene. The following comic program was given by the girls:

Opening speech Leola Hagen, A song by the Dormitory Girls, Reading—Anna Thompson, Songs by Thelma and Alma Rungnes.

"Thanks for the Buggy Ride" was then portrayed by Edna Brotnov dressed as a modern boy with Lillian Lee, driver.

"One Fleeting Hour"—song by Evelyn Sorenson and Edna Brotnov.

"Just Plain Polka" was sung by Agnes Wierson and enacted by Polly Langlow, Nina Eide, and Leola Dahl, Olive Sandwick, Edna Brotnov and Luetta Svinth.

A reading "The Cat Came Back"—Johnna Rasmussen.

Violin selection Christina Knutsen accompanied by Agnes Wierson. A humorous reading "Shirt Buttons"—Martha Hjermstad.

Following the program games were played and tasty refreshments were served.

Augustana College has started an endowment drive of $500,000 to further the education facilities of Augustana College.

Shoes and Ships By Sealingwax

At last we have a legitimate study which we can attack with vim and vigor. None of these mind-coddling, brain softening courses for us. We just love tennis.

This seems to be the attitude of the "Soe" students. A fair minority develop the world pampered disease of "spring fever" about 1 P. M. It's great for the muscles but terrible on the brains and grades. Especially the latter.

Speaking of tennis—one of our fair co-ed's admitted that she couldn't play because she was a little stiff. Shortness, certainly has its disadvantages on the courts.

We wonder if the women just naturally have more "school spirit" than the men. They were the ones to fix up the remaining court. But then, there is vanity to consider. Those smocks certainly do make a beautiful splash of color.

More about vanity—We wonder how they do it? Who and what? You have no doubt often studied the picture. About two o'clock, they venture forth the cynosure of many eyes. Several hours later, they return with only three hairs out of place. Now, what's wrong with that picture? Walking is supposed to be hard on shoes and disposition. Perhaps they wear Cantilevers.

Clifford Olsen wishes to state that this is especially nice weather for class-time sleeping. For further particulars send self addressed, stamped envelope.

Miss Ryder informs us that a whole lot a people passed her sophomore class when they were outside and not one raised his head. Ah, such profundity of sleep.

COACH RAMSTAD GIVES LETTERS

At chapel exercises March 31, Coach Ramstad presented the girls and boys varsity basketball teams with their letters.

Before the presentation Coach Ramstad praised the players for the hard work they have done for the success of the teams. He said, "Although the season had it ups and downs, the teams showed sportsmanship, and clean playing, and after all, that is what counts more than victories." Letters were presented to: Ruth Fadness (captain), Nina Elde, Polly Langlow, Christina Knutzen, Agnes Wierson, Ruth Bull, Stella Samuelson, Esther Sydow, Edna Brotnov, the personnel of the girls varsity, and of the mens team—Sid Glasco (captain), Rudy Sanderson, Carl Coltun, Myron Kriedler, Art Werson, Lyell Kriedler, Art Knutzen, Bert Krangness.

The second team players did not receive letters but they were praised for the work and uncomplaining way in which they turned out. It is largely to their faithfulness that the season was a success.

Rev. O. J. Edwards Gives Lecture

Interesting Lecture on Church Music Given by Visiting Pastor

Rev. O. J. Edwards gave a lecture on the subject of Our Church Music Sunday evening, March the 14th, at Trinity Lutheran Church. The service was begun by hymn singing and the reading of Psalm 109. In his lecture Rev. Edwards said: "Martin Luther considered that music, next to theology, was the most glorious gift of God. In his darkest moments he comforted his soul with song and playing. "Ancients considered music of divine origin and today, the best way to express our deepest convictions is through sacred music. But beautiful melody and harmony were not heard during heathen times before the coming of Christianity; the Church has given us and preserved us our music."

The first school of singing was founded by Ambrose in the 4th century and the sixteenth century saw the beginning of a new era of church music—the era of music of the Lutheran Church.

Luther was a musician, who with the aid of Walther compiled and published the first Lutheran hymnbook, which contained only eight hymns, among which was Luther's own "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

These stirring hymns spread like wild-fire and proved to be the most direct and swift instruments in spreading Luther's teachings.

In great contrast to these first few hymns is now our wonderful treasury of hundreds like them.

The music of the Lutheran Church is uniquely and peculiarly her own; it surpasses all like it in the world, says Schorr. Prof. Mellus Christensen says that the Lutheran is the only church that has church music worth the name. There is often nothing in the Reformed Church music to intimate that it is church music, except for the words.

Our hymns have stately melodies with a slow, dignified rhythm.

Those who think they are too heavy and slow, think so because they have not learned to understand their depth and have not learned to love them.

"Sing with praise in your hearts to the Lord," said Paul—this we often fail to do.

The Texts of all our hymns express joys and sorrows—all experiences of a Christian; so none but the Christian can well understand them. It takes depth of feeling and understanding to render well our hymns; each hymn truly needs a study as they are individual as to music and text. We should wisely choose to adhere to our own melodies; study, practice, live them, and thus learn to understand and love them.

Our Lutheran Church is truly a singing church and her hymns are a wonderful storehouse of spiritual treasures.

The baseball team of P. L. C., through the medium of the Morning Mast, wishes to express its thanks and appreciation to Joe Glasco, who although not connected with P. L. C. in any way, has given his whole-hearted interest to the development of a successful baseball team.

the lowest bid; but it builds poorly and cannot withstand the storms of sin. Worldly wisdom, the easy-going, lukewarm attitude toward life, sends in the second bid. The superstructure is impressive, but the foundation is weak. Jesus Christ is the third bidder. The cost is great, but a life built with Christ has a firm foundation, and can withstand all storms.

Miss Freida Nilsen, missionary, a sister of Miss Nilsen who was a former faculty member at P. L. C. spoke of her experiences in China relating to the problems encountered in winning souls for Christ.

Sunday morning the session was one of divine worship at Trinity Lutheran Church. Rev. T. F. Gul-Hixon, vice-president of our Lutheran Church body, basing his sermon on the convention theme, stressed the fact we must set forth our banner of Christian confessions and follow it.

concert on Sunday afternoon which was very much appreciated. They hope to tour the Pacific Coast in 1927, so we may have the opportunity of hearing them. Dr. G. M. Bruce was the speaker for the afternoon, his topic being, "Building With Christ as Inspired by the Love of Christ." By fellowship with Christ and his love we become, as the Master, a magnet, drawing souls to Him. At this session, the winning model editorial was read, by the winner herself, Miss Clara Bly, of Madison Normal.

Immediately following the afternoon meeting, a social hour was enjoyed by all, in Trinity Church parlors. Supper was served, and music was furnished by the orchestra from First Lutheran Church, of Fargo. Miss Lund, teacher of piano at P. L. C. last year, and her two brothers were members of this orchestra.

The closing session of the convention was held on Sunday evening in Trinity Church. Hon. R. A. Nestos, ex-governor of North Dakota was the speaker, declaring that building with Christ is inspired by a world need and a joy of service. Many have tried to build up the world, but they are never content to let God's plan suffice—they try to make improvements. All governments need the spirit of Christianity. He emphasized that laymen of our church must be stirred to united action in the cause of Christ, and that we as Christian students have a great work in this direction.

The convention adjourned, in the name of Jesus Christ to meet again next year at St. Olaf College, Northfield Minn. The sessions had been

Mr. A. A. Fangsrud, an early pioneer of Parkland and resident here for many years passed away at a local hospital Friday, April 8.

Mrs. O. J. Stuen is visiting Mrs. Jergensen of Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hinderlie and family motored to Graham Saturday to visit relatives of the church.

The losers of the church paper subscription contest which was held by the Young Peoples Luther League entertained the winners at a Bon Fire Party Tuesday evening April 8.

The Junior Guild will give an outdoor May Festival, May 15. Candy, "hot dogs", pie, and coffee will be for sale. A program will be given also. The festival will take place on the campus.

Mrs. O. J. Stuen entertained a group of friends at her home on April 6 in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. V. Xavier.

Following the publication of a Student petition asking for an all-school instead of the faculty abhorred sneadays, the request has recently been granted and preparations for the event will be made at the Student Body meeting next Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. Theo. Hokenstad and two children and Helen Onstala of Bremerton visited P. L. C. on March 12.

Nina Elde and Christine Knutzen spent the week-end, March 13 and 14, in their respective homes in Stanwood and Burlington. They drove up with Abe Anderson who spent the time at his home in Edison.

Keith Beckley and Hugh Evans of Seattle visited Miss Ryder, Thursday, March 18.

Johanna Rasmussen spent the week-end March 20 and 21 with Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Sorenson in Tacoma. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson are former students of P. L. C., the latter a graduate of '21.

Anna Thompson visited friends and relatives at her home town, Marysville, over the week end of March 19-21.

Miss Nettie Larson, former teacher at P. L. C. has returned from Bellingham Normal where she has been studying.

On Sunday afternoon March 14, Prof. Ramstad went to Bremerton to take part in the 40th anniversary services of the congregation there where he had served for one year. Nearly all of the former pastors were present and also the President of the District, Rev. A. J. Naess and Rev. O. Skilbred, president of Home Missions.

Next Sunday, the 28th, Prof. Ramstad will deliver the sermon at the Bremerton church. The services are being held to dedicate the new church furnishings.

Prof. and Mrs. Ramstad initiated their new Dodge Sedan when they and children Billy and Peggy, motored to Seattle to visit relatives. Mrs. Krelidler who had visited her son Burton, in the Seattle General Hospital returned with the Ramstads. From what we have heard, the new Dodge proved very satisfactory.

VARIED PROGRAM GIVEN BY CLUB

A novel program was presented by the P. L. C. Dramatic Club Friday evening, March 28.

The members of the program were announced by Leola Hagen and Carl Cottam as they saw them in a book of P. L. C. school days.

Peter Flott portrayed the woes of masculine element of P. L. C. life by drying stockings.
Lilitta Synth read an editorial on Pastor.

A short story was read by Anelle Dahl.

A vocal solo was rendered by Anna Thoppson accompanied by Agnes Wleron.

The audience was then pleasantly surprised to have a number of feature slides shown on the screen by Myron Krelidler. He presented a number of "take offs" on the Dramatic Club's play and on P. L. C. life.

Some popular advertisements were then acted in person as follows: "Old Dutch Cleanser "Chases Dirt"; by Lillian Lee.

Palmolive Soap "Keep that School-girl Complexion"—Rudy Sanderson.
Jantzen—Bathing Suits—Polly Langlow.

Colgate's Tooth Paste — John Weise.

Fiak Tires—"Time to Re-Tire"—Billy Ramstad.

Camel & Chesterfield Cigarettes "They Satisfy"—Lyll Krelidler and Arthur Flore.

Sunshine Jane Peanut Butter—Ida Hinderlie.

Arrow Collars—Bill Hopner.

Holeproof Hosiery—Edna Brotnov.

The principal of human enjoyment is the three licks of a lollypop before it melts into nothingness.

Envy is what shows us that the worms in the neighbors apples wear silk stockings.

Hate is a more satisfactory emotion than love. Love is solo work; duets are merely competitors. Hate admits of a chorus and results in excellent harmonies.

DAILY DIARY

March 22nd—Monday

Here hath been dawning another blue day. (Emphasis on the blue.)

March 23rd—Tuesday

This one slipped uselessly away too.

March 24th—Wednesday

Notice all the new spring smocks about the campus?

March 25th—Thursday

Seeing Mast day—the office is a-buzz as per usual.

March 26th—Friday

Dorm girls extend invitations to their party and tomorrow night we're going!

March 29th—Monday

We hear delegates report from L. S. U. convention.

March 30th—Tuesday

The girls turning out for baseball are working up some heavy batting averages as well as appetites.

March 31st—Wednesday

Spook vacation—home for the holidays.

April 6th—Tuesday

Back again. Seen everybody's new Easter bonnet?

April 7th—Wednesday

We entertain the Augustana Choir at luncheon and hear their sacred concert.

April 8th—Thursday

Didja see the new curtains in the Mooring Mast office? Purty ain't they, but so short. But then brevity is the note of the season anyway.

April 8th—Friday

Both of our college debate teams won from C. P. S. Hurray for us.

Life is a short day; but it is a working day. Activity may lead to evil, but inactivity cannot lead to good.—Moore.

FORM NEW CLUB IN COLLEGE

A "back to the jungles" movement has lately been exhibited by some of the more nervy students of P. L. C. in the form of tree climbing. This fad has been carried so far that a new society has been formed and taken the nomenclature of Club of the Abies Douglasii, the Latin botanical name for the Douglas Fir tree. Their main object seems to be to reach the top of everything and in order to become a member of the club one must first sit on the topmost branch of the 250-foot Fir tree at the southern end of the campus. One phase of their program that promises to create much interest is the "Treasure Hunt," which consists of following up various clues to a final destination where the "treasure" (a lunch box) will be uncovered and divided among the searchers.
