

Development Plan Wins Many More New Supporters

President Tingelstad, Mr. Elvestrom Return From South; Choir Trip Approved by Congregations

During the period of January 4 to 24, Mr. Elvestrom, field manager, and President Tingelstad visited California in the interest of the Pacific Lutheran College Development plan presented at all of them except two Eureka, Santa Rosa, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Long Beach, Hemet, Glendale, Zeland, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Diego, Paterson, Sacramento, Oakland and Orland, California; also Glendale and Eugene, Oregon.

As a result of this work the membership of the Development Association has increased from 485 to 706 members. The total cash contributed so far is $1,249.00. In addition several substantial donations have been promised.

In nearly all of the congregations committees have undertaken to carry the work farther. The representatives of Pacific Lutheran were well received, and especially great interest was manifested in the proposed choir trip to California. The people at most of the places seemed anxious to have the choir come and promised to do all they could to make the trip a success. "I'm sure it will be a good thing both for the school and for the people in the various congregations if this trip can be made." A certain bachelor promised that, as soon as the goal of 10,000 members shall have been reached, his wife shall be number 10,001. Such confidence will surely bring success to this enterprise.

BIBLE CLASS HELD FOR DELEGATES AT LUTHERAN STUDENTS MEETING

Rev. Jesse Pflieger conducted Bible Class for the delegates at the Northwest Lutheran Conference held in Spokane College on Sunday, January 13. The portion of the Bible studied was Luke 11, verses 25 to 38, which contains the story of the lawyer questioning Jesus concerning what he should do to inherit eternal life. The peculiar thing about the answer which the lawyer himself gives is this: the command, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God taken as a command is impossible to fulfill. We can command a person to refrain from stealing or killing, but to command him to love another is an entirely different matter.

If a perfect stranger were brought here, and you were told, "To love that person," you might find it quite impossible. After you had learned to know that person, however, you might love him very sincerely. But what would that have to do with the command? Nothing, whatsoever. You would love

SARDINES, FLAT TIRES, BOLONEY, AND BEER

Riding over excess snow, mud, and bumps, being packed in tight enough to resemble sardines in a salt barrel proved exciting and a little bit too thrilling for some on the wild ride to Centralia in a flat-tire bus.

Burton Kreider and Stanley Berntson were highly entertaining on the way back by singing such songs as "Who ate the Boloney" and "The funeral of Dan Murphy," which made the students wish for beer on ice.

The students, who didn't go to the game don't know it yet, but they nearly lost their prize yell and both basketball teams, due to a tendency of the bus to land in a ditch every few yards, which if a bad tendency had been fully executed, would have given all a free ride to "Kingdom Come."

The bus driver had a big heart and at the request of the students kindly and very considerately left the light off, which, of course, left them all alone and scared in the dark. "We know who appreciated the lack of illumination. How about it, Bill?"

Well, anyway an enjoyable ride was had by all.

And so, I ate the boloney.

EUROPEAN TRIP IS TOPIC OF DOCTOR QUEVIL'S ADDRESS

In a talk which from beginning to end held his listeners breathless, Doctor Christen Quevil, of Tacoma, addressed a large audience at the meeting of the Trinity Luther League, Sunday, January 27. Doctor Quevil told briefly of his recent trip to Europe, comparing present conditions there with the Europe he visited years ago before the war.

Concerning Ireland, the first country he visited, he said, "When Ireland is peaceful, there will be no more Ireland."

The next country, England, presented a sad picture compared with England before the war. Economically, England is in the worst condition of all—men are out of work and industry is at a low ebb. "It will take centuries for Germany to recover," said the speaker.

Outwardly, Germany seemed least affected by the war. Her people are a

Second Semester Now in Full Swing

Gladiators Put Noses Again to Grindstone; Few Strange Faces Are Seen

The second semester for this school year began with registration of students on Monday morning. In the afternoon twenty-minute periods were held to get the students accustomed to the new schedule and to give the teachers a chance to assign lessons for the next day. On Tuesday at 8:15 the classroom started in earnest.

Although several of last semester's students have discontinued their work, several new students have registered. Among these students we find one a transfer from University of Washington, and three who have transferred from the College of Puget Sound.

Many new courses have been added to the schedule at this college, giving the students a better chance to get the subjects they desire most. Eight courses have been added to the regular courses of the first semester, namely, Oral Expression, Methods and Technique, Biology, Sociology, General Psychology, Trigonometry, Review of the Common Branches, and Economic Principles.

Students showed good school spirit in the first days of the new semester. This may be attributed to several reasons. As contrasted with the week before, they were unusually good-natured. There are no examinations to look forward to for another nine weeks. The boys were especially good-natured when they got an opportunity to wash the girls' faces. Of course the girls protested, but that made it more interesting. All this went to make up a good beginning for another semester of work.

The new students this semester are two boys, Einar Sandbraaten and Conrad Kirchoff, and nine girls, Norma Hoff, Helen Davies, Grace Card, Glenda Waters, Opal Harvey, Theola Anderson, Helen Quastel, Leona Forsberg, Marjorie McQueen.

A number of students have also discontinued their studies here for this semester. Those who have quit at the end of the first semester are: Martha Sizer, Verma Gano, Ole Fjoe, Leif Kilpisen, Sigurd Bjelde, Alfred Hauge. As most of the new students are girls, and most of the students who are leaving are boys, the girls have a slight majority over the boys this semester.

WELCOME BACK MIRIAM

Regular Meeting of the D. O. R. Girls Is Held Tuesday afternoon the girls assembled in the Girls' Reception Room for the regular D. O. R. meeting.

Miriam Helmsland, president of the organization, was welcomed back after several months' absence because of illness.

The program consisted of a vocal solo by Arthur Olson, a paper by Eliot Mickelson, entitled "Alaskan Missions," an accordion solo by Leah Grass, a "Story of Mrs. Igloov" by Eva Knutsen, and a vocal solo by Elna Trulson.

LET NOT THY STEP LEAD OFF THE PATH

What is this strange procession we see, wending its way so decorously across the campus?

After chapel exercises are over, we usually see the carefree P. L. C. students strolling, hopping, and running back to the main building.

How sadly the scene has changed! Each person follows, precisely and cautiously, the footsteps of the one preceding him. Not one steps out of line or walks beside his pal, with bowed head the procession moves slowly on.

Hark! From the open windows of the Girls' Dormitory giggles are heard. The first arrivals are laughing at their unfortunate followers, who are still plodding on.

By this time the giggles from the windows have become loud howls! Snow-balls are pelted at the onlookers, which causes them to duck and disappear.

Yes, you've guessed the reason for this strange behavior of the students of P. L. C. The path from Chapel to the main building was wide enough for only one.

TWELVE STUDENTS BEGIN PRACTICE TEACHING IN CITY

Again the "greenies" go marching out to encounter for the first time the smiling faces of the ten, twenty, or thirty children on whom they are to try their pedagogical talents. Some of them are veterans at this job; having taught already for the sum of twenty weeks, one whole semester.

There are twelve practice teachers from Pacific Lutheran College this year. The schools and those who teach at them are as follows:

- Parkland: Eliot Mickelson, Miriam Helmsland, Helen Westby, Mrs. Opal Harvey, Mae Wolmarcher, and Walter French; Fernhill: Ethel Johnson, Elna Trulson, and Marie Gardlin; Spanaway: Phyllis Grande and Marvin Howick; Jefferson: Irene Moore.

SWISH, SWASH, SOAP, SUDS, SCRUB EQUALS ONE GOOD CLEANED FLOOR

Doctor Coue's widely sung phrase, "Day by day, in every way," has at last had its good effect on the Mooring Mat, in a physical way, at least. Last week that room which during these past weeks has been the scene of many trials and temptations encountered by enterprising editors and reporters, received an add-on which makes the word "office" truly applicable, to-wit: one office boy, himself recommended and standing firm on his own merits of keeping two things, pencils and clean offices, Harry's How.

On a certain day a certain anonymous contributor of features appeared in the office to "beg off" the editor's well-known plea for more features. "You see," he began, "I had one idea last semester, and I'll probably get another some time before graduation, but—well, (changing the subject) when did you last sweep this floor?" Poor editor what could it (editors usually are it) say? Well did it; know that the broom

Keith and Jacobson Receive Leads For Big All-School Play

Booth Tarkington's "Clarence" is Chosen for This Year's Presentation; To Be Given Some Time in March

Mae Keith and Ronald Jacobson received leads in "Clarence," a four-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, chosen as the Literary-Dramatic play to be given this year.

Tryouts for the cast were completed yesterday and work will be commenced at once, so that the play may be given sometime during the month of March. Miss Lydia Stuxrud is the dramatic coach.

The play is a comedy such as only Booth Tarkington can write. Clarence, a retired World War soldier, in his search for work comes to the office of Mr. Wheeler, who is encountering domestic difficulties. He decides to hire Clarence as a man of all work at his home, due to the fact that Clarence can drive mules without swearing. It develops that all the members of the Wheeler household become attached to Clarence who with his winning ways succeeds in clearing up all the family troubles.

- The cast is as follows:
- |                 |                  |
|-----------------|------------------|
| Mrs. Martyn     | Leiah Grass      |
| Mr. Wheeler     | Fred Lee         |
| Mrs. Wheeler    | Anna Mickelson   |
| Bobby Wheeler   | Kurma Hoff       |
| Violet Pinney   | Mae Keith        |
| Clarence        | Reynold Jacobson |

VERNA GANO LEAVES TO JOIN TEACHERS' RANKS

Verna Gano, one of the members of the Mooring Mat Staff, having completed her course at mid-year, will be with us no longer. Miss Gano was managing editor in 1927-28, and during the last semester was the makeup editor. She now leaves to join the ranks of teachers who have gone out as graduates from the Normal department of this school. Members of the staff join in wishing their former co-worker success in her future undertakings.

1. Clean, swept floor.
  2. Cleanly scrubbed floor.
  3. Cleaner still, dusted desks.
- Total: Cleanest office in school—an inspiration to any staff.
- Who is it? Ah, that's the spice of this story, the mystery part. Such a proclamation might prove disastrous to the modesty of the new office boy, but to quote the sum and substance of various comments concerning his deeds, "Such school spirit! That boy from Anacortes is O. K.—MNX (which is the same O. K. ultra superbia magna—ha.)"

WELCOME TO YOU

The new school term, which started last Monday, was marked by the registration of many new students. We wish to welcome them to our school and will do all we can to make it pleasant for them, despite their homesickness. We hope they will feel at home in our midst and enjoy themselves as much as we enjoy seeing them at this institution.

While we are glad to see new students, we also shall miss some of our fellow students who, through difficulties or pleasures they are encountering, find it necessary to leave. We wish them success in the future and like to have them know that they will always be welcome among us again.

A PROBLEM IN CO-EDUCATION

Co-education has been in practice long enough for its results to have scientific value. The question which now arises is whether these results have been beneficial or detrimental to learning.

Coach Knute Rockne has made a statement which shows a correlation between the absence of girls at Notre Dame and the success of the Notre Dame football team. This view does not exactly agree with a certain sociological law, which holds that men are more virile under the eyes of women.

Co-education has its advantages and disadvantages. As someone has appropriately said, "It's swell for the girls and hell for the boys."

The average girl matures two or three years earlier than a boy. Consequently the girl is a woman when she reaches college, while the boy is still in the "growing pains" stage of adolescence. That the female is aware of her opportunity to pick a select type of male while she is in college, is attested by the large number of college romances. Co-education fits the girl for life and causes the boy to waste the time he should be using to equip himself for life.

In conclusion we advise four years of co-education for women, and for men, four years among men. This represents a rather difficult problem in mathematics which we leave to the reader to solve. L. K.

Dear Ma and Pa
It is now some time since you have heard from me, but expenses has not been very heavy lately.

I've been wondering is it as cold at home as it has been here these last days? Last Monday I nearly froze to death in the morning, having left the window open according to advice from the hygiene class, and the radiators evidently being only decorations or fixtures to make the room look more natural-like. Then radiators habitually turn a cold shoulder to a fellow. I s'pose tho, that everything is done with a purpose. Probably this is in order to get us used to working under difficulties.

Speaking of difficulties reminds me of the semester exams which the faculty inflicted on us a few days ago.

The difficulties was undoubtedly, the most important thing in connection with them.

As Daniel Boone used to say, "A little learning is a dangerous thing," but if so, there is many brave people here at the college. However, we have found out that Boone was right about it being a dangerous thing as many profs has turned pale at seeing so little learning and flunked the students on the spot.

I went to Luther League Sunday night and heard Dr. Quevill tell about Europe not being what it used to be anymore. It ain't sure must be awful over there. There ain't any more brass bands in Austria, the German ex-kaiser is only a old man with whiskers, trying to get out of paying his taxes, and the ladies in Turkey sit in their high windows and waves at strange gentlemen. They ought to know better than that. All the P. L. C. girls know that such things, ain't lady-like, and I bet the Turkey ladies could learn a lot from us. There is one thing that many parents could learn from the League, however, which is very important. Dr. Quevill announced emphatically that parents should not be sparing with their children in regards to good food to eat, such as cream and butter, etc., as it would save money in the long run in doctor bills and sickness. The Pumpkin Shell has very good ice-cream and healthy things like that to eat, but it doesn't help us much if the parents don't send their children any money.

A ounce of ice cream is better than a quart of medicine, says I, and you'd better be saving your money in the future by sending me some of it right now.

Cheney Wins Hard Game by Narrow Margin of 39-32

Rally in Second Half Fails To Overtake Visitor's Lead; Fast and Clever

In a hard and bitterly contested game the Cheney Normal five defeated the Gladiators 39-32 in the Parkland gym Tuesday night, January 5. The game was fast and cleverly baited throughout.

The first half ended with Cheney in the lead 17-12, both teams playing aggressive ball. During the last few minutes of the half, the Gladiators staged a rally which cut down the visitor's lead considerably. Sanderson and Colton for the home team and Holloway for the visitors featured in some nice shots.

The last half was featured by fast playing on both sides. Cheney, however, managed to keep the lead throughout the game.

For the visitors Allen, and Huffman shared high point honors with 10 each. Fowler, former P. L. C. star still possessed some of his old tactics and played a beautiful game on the defense. For the Lutherans Carlsson and Colton led the scoring attack with 10 markers each.

The lineup:
 Cheney 39
 Allen 10 F 8 Sanderson
 Holloway 4 F 10 Colton
 Huffman 10 C 10 Carlsson
 Fowler 7 G 2 Howick

Juniors Defeat Gladiators CENTRALIA WINS RUGGED BATTLE

The Pacific Lutheran Gladiators suffered a severe set-back in their race for the junior college title by taking the short end of a 31-24 score at Centralia Saturday evening, January 26. The game was as rough and unsportsmanlike as a basketball fan could ever hope or wish for: nearly ending in a riot on several occasions. The Lutherans' moral and fighting spirit was poor from the start and grew worse as the game progressed. The fact that the Lutherans were charged with 16 personal fouls against their opponent's 5 probably accounts for the attitude taken by the Gladiators.

Coach Ramstad started his second string for the first minutes of the game. With the score 5-0 the varsity was sent in to steer the score in the right direction. The game was quite evenly contested the second and third quarters. Centralia making good use of their free throws. The Gladiators' chance game and went late in the last of the third quarter. A streak of fast playing gave them the lead 20-18. A few moments later Carlsson, who had been playing a brilliant game at center, went out on personal fouls. Colton of Parkland and Goehring of Centralia were sent out shortly afterwards for roughing each other on the floor. With this advantage Centralia opened up with an offensive attack in the last quarter which kept them in the lead the remainder of the game.

For Centralia, Wagner, with 12 points to his credit, played an outstanding game. The Gladiators played sluggish ball and lacked their usual fight. R. Sanderson was their scoring bet with 11 points.

Lineup

Whoops!

The touchball veterans no doubt had a tough practice the other night due to the peeled shins, bloody noses, broken glasses, and other evidences of lesser consequence.

In case everyone doesn't know it, we have a new addition on our basketball team—Miss Helen Quaslet, a snappy little guard, all the way from Nebraska.

The basketball girls have dubbed Sir Sloanes Liniment Knight of the Order of creaking joints and black and blue spots, and neurochrome queen of the order of skinned knees, elbows, and fingernail scratches.

It's too bad Margaret couldn't have broken her tooth in the thrilling game with Centralia and be a real heroine instead of in a silly little practice game at the "Y". How about it, Margaret?

How are you feeling Martha? You see Martha will be like unto a pan-cake if the forwards keep up their irresistible tendencies of rough and tumble.

Eva if you don't stop poking your elbows unceremoniously into other people's extremities we're going to use drastic measures and—well you just do it a few more times and see what we'll do. We'll compromise this much though—save the elbow pokings for the visiting teams, and you can go Scott free.

We sure brought home the bacon from Centralia in the game last Saturday night. Permit us to congratulate ourselves.

Just a few more weeks of basketball, and the season will be over. How about winning all the rest of the games we play? Not a bad idea, we think.

TO PLAY ELLENSBURG

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock the Gladiators will match their basketball tactics with the strong Normal five from Ellensburg. Ellensburg's basketball repute ranks with the best in the northwest, holding victories over such teams as the University of Idaho and Washington State varieties.

Although the odds are largely in favor of the normal school, the Gladiators can't be too under-rated. Fans will still remember the win chalked up against Ellensburg last year on the local floor. The Lutherans have proved themselves a strong aggregation on several occasions throughout the season, and a real basketball game should be in store for Thursday night.

PUGET SOUND'S 36 SOARS OVER LITTLE P. L. C.'S 15 SCORE

Playing superior basketball, the College of Puget Sound reserves staged an unexpected surprise by decisively defeating the Pacific Lutheran five 36-15, Monday evening, January 28. The visitors proved themselves a much stronger team than they did in the first encounter on the Puget Sound floor and reduced the Lutheran's championship hope to a possible tie.

The game was slow and listless throughout. The "Gladiators" passing was ragged, and their playing as a whole was deplorable in comparison with some of the early season's games. The first quarter found both teams resorting to defensive basketball. At the close of the first quarter C. P. S. was leading 5-4. The second quarter was even more disastrous than the first, with the "Loggers" gradually increasing their lead. The Lutherans missed shot after shot and only managed to register one free throw during the entire quarter. In the last half Nyman and Howick were put out on personal, thus reducing the Lutherans' chances of a come-back. The entire C. P. S. lineup featured on the scoring attack in the last half which totaled more than enough to win.

Girls' Fast Plays Win in Big Game

Conference Game at Centralia Is Victorious For Team With Score of 27 to 29

The P. L. C. girls basketball team won their second and last conference game from Centralia in a close tilt at the Centralia gym January 26. The score was 27 to 29.

The Centralians were ahead of P. L. C. by several points in the first three quarters of the game, but in the fourth quarter the "Gladiators" rallied and won by an overlap of 7. The game was rather fast, and Centralia showed much improvement over their first game with P. L. C. Dorothy Ebersole won the game by piling in the baskets as fast as she could get the ball. Overconfidence is the probable reason for this close score, the P. L. C. girls having won the first game 48-22.

The lineup is as follows:
 P. L. C. Centralia
 Lester 8 F (12) Larsen
 Newman 12 F (4) Kaaland
 Monstead C (4) Loftus
 Berry C (4) Holmberg
 Hall G (4) Cille
 Manberg G (4) Crosby
 Substitutes: Centralia—Swenson P. L. C.—Fadness Knutson and Ebersole (12).

Programs Will Be Given

Mr. Hong Has Oral Class Plan Presentation

Song and verse programs are to be the outlet for the ambitious eloquentists of Mr. Hong's oral class. Mae Keith, Dorothy Ebersole, and Ingoborg Botstad have been put in charge of the arrangements.

To have programs of story-telling, reciting, singing and whatever other verbal expression one may wish was the suggestion of Mr. Hong. This is to give the students of the oral expression class experience in speaking before an audience. The time and the place for it has not yet been decided upon.

While this has been suggested, as yet, only in the oral class, Mr. Hong intends to take it up in his other English classes also.

FUTURE DATE WILL BE SET FOR MOUNTAIN TRIP

The long talked of mountain trip, which had been set for February 8 and 9, has been postponed until some future date. The fear that there would not be enough change of environment to warrant the excursion prompted this action. There is a saying that the kind of weather existing on the first day of the month will continue throughout that month. Maybe there won't be any desire for a climb to the "top" by that time.

ARCHITECT WILL COME TO SURVEY CAMPUS

President Tingelstad recently received a letter from Mr. Charles Alt-füllsch, the architect who planned the C. K. Preus Gymnasium at Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. Mr. Alt-füllsch had promised to survey the P. L. C. campus sometime this spring, and to draw up plans for the development of P. L. C. through the next 25 years. This is the enterprise which the P. L. C. class of 1900 has promised to finance.

MISSION SOCIETY MEETS

The regular meeting of the P. L. C. Mission Society was held Wednesday evening, January 23. As this was the last meeting of the first semester the election of officers for the following semester was held. The same officers were re-elected. The usual devotion service was conducted.

Sunday, February 3, the congregation of Trinity Lutheran Church entertained all members of the congregation who were seventy years of age or over. There were about thirty honor guests.

Rev. A. O. Aasen of Minneapolis, is visiting with his mother-in-law, Mrs. A. Xavier, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Xavier entertained at a dinner in honor of Rev. A. O. Aasen, Tuesday evening, January 22. Rev. and Mrs. T. O. Svare, Amanda and Henry Xavier, Mrs. A. Xavier, and Mrs. Valborg Bailey were the guests.

Mrs. O. J. Stuen entertained a group of friends at her home Saturday evening. Among those present were Miss Clara Christensen of Everett, a former Alumni of P. L. C., and Miss Nettie Larson, a former teacher at P. L. C.

Sunday, January 27, Dr. H. J. Hoff preached at the regular morning services in Rev. M. L. Nesvig's church in Seattle. In the afternoon he spoke in the Norwegian language to the Norwegian Young Peoples Society of that church and again in the evening he preached at the regular services. Dr. Hoff reports an excellent spirit in Rev. Nesvig's church for Pacific Lutheran College.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad and Victor Elvstrom returned from a successful trip in California, Friday, January 25.

Saturday, January 26, Mrs. B. Taylor and Miss L. Stixrud went to their home in Seattle, where they visited their mother before she left on an extended trip to Los Angeles and North Carolina, where she will visit her son, daughter, and friends.

Friday, January 18, Miss Stixrud was among the witnesses who testified for the accident which occurred after the Summer game.

Sidney Johnson, a pupil of 1911, together with his wife and two sons, visited Mr. and Mrs. Tingelstad. He is moving from Hoquiam to Arlington.

hard-working race that cannot be kept down. Instead, they are all working to clear the national debt, and seem to be succeeding well. "As Americans we were received very courteously," said the doctor. Germany has a love for Norway and Sweden—countries which clothed and fed her starving children after the war.

Austria seemed to have suffered most of all nations. When the many little countries withdrew, her population dwindled from 56 million to six million, but "the courage of the Austrians is wonderful," said Doctor Quevli. In Austria, too, there is a great love for the Scandinavian countries, which cared for needy Austrian children. It is interesting to note that in gratitude to Sweden, the coat of Gustav Adolf, long-cherished trophy of the Austrians, was sent back to Stockholm.

Despite suffering and hardship, Austria still leads Europe in literature, music, and medicine, and citizens of many other countries come to study in Vienna, where in an idealistic manner people work for the love of science and art rather than for money. "There is a sensible socialism in Austria," said the speaker. "Here luxury is taxed for the benefit of the needy."

Of all countries, Italy presented the greatest change, brought about by Mussolini, who, the doctor said, is the greatest man in Europe today. He has made not only a new country, but a new people to live there. "He is practical and systematic, and though his word is law, he is so fair that changing parties are willing to let Mussolini settle their disputes."

By a special letter of introduction Doctor and Mrs. Quevli gained an audience with the Pope at the Vatican in Rome. It was a very delightful experience. Servants were dressed in scarlet, and the guards, like soldiers of Napoleon. "The Pope looked very young," said the doctor, "and he had a most jovial smile and a wonderful personality."

In Belgium acres of soldiers' graves, marked with crosses, presented a sad picture. "It will take Europe centuries to recover from the World War, in which the flower of European manhood was crushed, and the unfit left to become fathers of future citizens."

Striking too, were the graves of unknown soldiers in every country. At each grave is the inscription—"This young man gave everything for liberty, for his country, for humanity, and for his God." It seems each nation believed itself in the right.

"Visiting these many countries," said the doctor, "has caused my ideas to change. We find that many accusations of nations against nations are false. Doctor Quevli said, "I would put it this way. 'This world seems like a ship that is going through an unknown ocean—going we don't know where—the crew are hating and destroying each other. If they were better acquainted and had a little tolerance and respect for each other, there would be no fighting. In Europe they are trying to make a United Europe, pattered after our United States, where men of all nations have learned to live in peace and harmony."
