Campus Showcase PLC Weekly Show Over Station KTNT

"Campus Showcase" produced and anchored on the PLC campus by Marie Hendrickson and broadcast weekly at 8:30 p.m., Thursday evenings over station KTNT, is now in its third week of broadcasting. In a brief review of the history of the program, station KTNT a little over two weeks ago called Mr. Theo. H. Karl, of the speech department, and asked him if it would be possible to have the radio department produce a weekly program of campus information. In its first broadcast, the Kappa Delta high school legislature was publicized in the interview of program. Last week, a cutting from the Homecoming play, "Good Housekeeping" was given, starring Barbara Hedlund and Glenn Hanson; and Miss Jean McGregor, of the speech department and director of the play, was presented in her radio interview to the public. In the third program, yesterday evening, Judd Doughty, moderator, interviewed Inga Astrup, Homecoming queen, Mary Lynn Myklebust, co-chairman of Homecoming, Ole Magnusson and Chuck Forsland, football

Alpha Psi Omega is sponsoring a luncheon Saturday noon in the CMS lounge for all past alumni since 1942. It will be a get-together for former members and present members.

POSING for the royal photographer are Queen Inga I and her princesses, Darlene (DeJardine) on the left and Helen (Enger) on the right. Handsome Harry Crowned Tomorrow

Highlighting one of the week's events will be the revealing of PLC's Handsome Harry. During the half-time feature of the Powder Puff bowl game tomorrow, homecoming queen Inga Astrup and her court will present the winner with a Handsome Harry Mug and his coveted medal.

Those vying for the handsome title, and their sponsors, are as follows: Blue Key, Bob Ross; Alpha Sigma Lambda, Jack Johnson; Kappa Rho Kappa, Ernie Pihl; Curtain Call, Bob Nielson; and Spurs, Roger Mad-

sen. Camera Club, Spencer Aust; Clover Creek Hall, Salim Mitri; Ivy Hall, Walt Ball; Viking Club, Norm Vorvick; Freshman Class, Gordon Strom; German Club, Hal Ruddick, and Linne Society, Mike Rieke.

Voting started Wednesday with a big election rally held in front of the Old Main. Many promises were offered as the contestants gave their platforms. Today is the last day to get your votes, so if you hurry, your candidate will still have a chance. All of the money taken in will go to the campus recreational fund—at one cent a vote—and you can stuff the ballot box if you please. The contest is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, National Service Fraternity.

Lutes Welcome You in '52 Coronation Program 8:15

"The Lutes Welcome You in '52."

That's the theme for the 1952 Pacific Lutheran College Homecoming to take place this weekend, November 7-9, on the P.L.C. campus. Festivities will begin this evening with the coronation of the queen and will continue through Sunday evening.

At 8:15 p.m. this evening, Inga Astrup will officially become Queen Inga I, of the 1952 Homecoming. Judge Bertil Johnson of Tacoma will perform the coronation rites.

The "Queen's Night" program guests of honor are the past homecoming queens, beginning with the queen of the first homecoming celebration in 1942, and this year's court, Queen Inga I, and princesses Helen (Enger) and Darlene (DeJardine). John Rydgren will act as master of ceremonies. A musical program has been planned by Joyce Genz and her committee: Don Ogard, Jim Jaeger, Myrna Pflannehucher, Sharon Kinzer, Jeanne Moeller, and Mildred Van Buren.

Opening the program will be coronation ceremony. Crown and scepter bearers will be the Harshman boys. Other numbers will include a message by Bill Ramstad, Jr., president of the PLC Alumni Association; a girls' trio—Lucille Lentz, Lavonne Dahl, and Diane Bassett; a mixed quartet — Joanne Schwarzwalter, Reed French, Marilyn Hanich, and Paul Running; violin solo, Ellen McConnel; piano solo, Connie Hansen; organ solo, Mr. Byard Fritts; and vocal solos by Jeanne Frieske, Marguerite Thompson, Vern Lestrud, and Mr. Frederick Newnham. The Vern Fink Memorial Fund will also be presented.

Presenting the flowers from the football squad to the Queen Inga will be the co-captains Ole Magnusson and Chuck Forsland.

Immediately following this program, the serpentine will head to the pep rally.

Bonfire Rally Schedule

Immediately following the "Queen's Night" program, the pep rally will begin behind the CMS. Fireworks will be shot off from lower campus near the gymnasium.

The band will furnish the music at the rally and the whole group—students and alumni alike—will join in the PLC songs and yells. Three alumni yell leaders will be back to lead the alum yells, Maryann Stacy Clett, Marv Johnson, and Jim Nylander. Coach Marv Harshman will be presented to the crowd, as will the

Organ Guild Elects Engsberg President

Election of officers was held at the November 3 meeting of Pacific Lutheran College Organ Guild.

The elected are: president, Mary Engsberg; vice president, Allura Amdable; secretary-treasurer, Evelyn E. Peterson; program chairman, Barbara Hedlund, and I.C.C. representative, Al Freed.

The purpose of this organization is to further greater enthusiasm towards organ music among the group and the student body. Adviser of the group is Mr. Bayard Fritts.

Future plans include programs on the new Casavant Pipe Organ, assisting at several organ dedications, attendance at organ recitals in Tacoma and Seattle, and acting as hosts at the Organ Music Festival to be held in May on the PLC campus.

co-captains and the entire football squad.

It is hoped that by having the alumni yell leaders, there might be some competitive yelling between the alumni and the student body.

Planning the pep rally have been Naomi Roe, chairman, Paul Running and this year's yell squad—Dale Anderson, Sharon Morgan, Ilene Dristuen and Bob Sorenson.

A coffee hour for alumni and faculty will be immediately after the rally in the upper SUB. The hour has been planned by the Associate Women Students.

Band Leads 29 Float Parade

Shortly before 12 noon the Homecoming parade will begin to roll. It will lead down Garfield street to Pacific, led by the PLC band, and the Queen's float.

The parade will disassemble on Pacific—to reassemble at Broadway and Pacific downtown. From there it will go down Broadway to Ninth; down Ninth to Pacific; back up Pacific and out to the Lincoln Bowl. Judges for the parade are two alumni and one faculty member, and their reviewing stand will be somewhere in Parkland.

Some 29 floats have been entered in the parade, and since there was no definite theme these floats should be quite interesting.

There will be a police escort for the parade, which should reach the downtown Tacoma area about 12:45.

$45,000 Casavant Organ Now Installed In CMS

PLC's great Casavant organ has been introduced to the faculty and students. Spines tingled and hearts beat a little faster as Mr. Byard Fritts played the first chords at yesterday's unique chapel program.

Listeners were given opportunity to hear the organ in solo as Mr. Fritts played "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell, and "Carlego". They heard it as an accompaniment to congregational singing, and as accompaniment to the Festival Chorus as they sang "Sanctus," by Gounod, and "Glory, Laud, and Honor," by Teschner Caine.

The organ now has a year's history to its credit. Work began on the instrument over a year ago in the quaint French-Canadian village of St. Hyacinth. Workmanship is of the highest quality. Even the 2x4's in the bracings of the pipes are carefully hand finished. Woods used in various parts of the organ are Canadian fir, poplar and spruce—all kiln dried.

Precision is the keynote in the construction and installation of a good organ. All wooden parts of the organ are glued and securely fastened to prevent movement of any kind. The installation of the PLC organ went very smoothly, but minor adjustments and tuning will go on for several weeks

Temperature is another important factor in the sound of an organ. Thermostats were installed in each of the pipe chambers to assure uniform heat. A variance in temperature easily affects the tone.

It is actually not correct to call it "an organ." It is really four organs in one. Each of the three manual key boards is an organ itself, as is the pedal board. The grilles on the sides of the auditorium each hold the pipes for two organs. Couplers make it possible to play a combination of organs on one keyboard.

There are 3,260 pipes. More than twice as many as in most church organs. They vary in size from about two stories high and wide enough for Homecoming. This is the time of year that the loyal alumni, who have looked forward to coming back to their alma mater and kibitzing with their college pals for the past year, return.

What is it that brings these alums back? Tradition? Love for the old school? To see how much their friends have changed?

To answer these questions, one would have to be an alumnus himself, but without our knowing why—the alums return.

The first thing an alumnus will probably notice on the campus if he has not been back for a long time, will be the changes in the physical plant—new buildings, additions to furnishings and so forth. Then he will most likely give the present student body a “once over”; and last but by far from last, he will begin scouting around for his college pals of bygone days. Upon finding them, he will probably spend many hours just standing around and catching up on the past few years happenings.

To the alumnus, this last is probably the part that he looks forward to the most—meeting old friends. This is what Homecoming means—not what many of us used to think as children, that Homecoming was a celebration put on when the football team had been away for a long time and just returned. In not too long a time, many of us will be alumni—then we will know Homecoming from the alumni’s point of view and know the meaning of the event in its true sense of the word—Homecoming to the alma mater.

This year we expect around 300 PLC alums back for this weekend. True, the Homecoming committee has planned a full program for them, as well as for the students, but the alumni are our guests. Be friendly to them, and above all courteous in showing them a good time—and in doing such, you will have a good time yourself.

Speakers, Organ Highlight Chapel

This week’s chapel programs have been varied and unusually interesting.

Dr. Harold Yokum of Capitol University, Columbus, Ohio, was the speaker at Monday’s meeting. Makato Fujita, representing the World Student Service Fund, spoke on Wednesday of the needs all over the world of displaced youth. At the service today Dr. S. C. Eastvold spoke on the topic, “The Waiting Wilderness.”

Special programs were featured on both Tuesday and Thursday. At the weekly student body meeting on Tuesday, the Homecoming court was announced and the candidates robed. Queen Inga was royally robed by Don Reese, and attendants Helen Enger and Darlene DeJardine were robed by Gordon Wickner and Jim Jaeger. A cutting of “Good Housekeeping” was given by the leading characters in the play, Barbara Hedlund and Glenn Johnson.

To introduce the new organ, a special musical program was presented at Thursday’s exercises. The combined voices of the Choir of the West and the Chorus presented a group of numbers. Mr. Byard Fritts played two organ solo numbers, and the audience sang to the accompaniment of the organ for the first time.

There will be no Mooring Mast due to mid-semester tests. (The Mast staff wants to study).

Special Library Display Set-Up

The library has in its special Homecoming display this week several items of interest for present students and some items of reminiscence for the returning grads. The display is made up of publications and programs of some of the social events of this campus from the time it was known as Pacific Lutheran University, and then Pacific Lutheran Academy.

The earliest date in the display is on a program for the opening dedication in 1894. The first annual was “Announcement of Pacific Lutheran University” for 1896 and 1897. There is a program of the banquet for the graduating class of 1903 and alumni. There are two issues of 1912 and 1915 of the forerunner of the MOORING MAST, THE HURRICANE, published by the Associated Students of Pacific Lutheran Academy.

In comparing the bulletin for Pacific Lutheran Academy with the college as it is today, remarkable changes are noted. All classes, dormitories, and offices were once contained in “Old Main;” the courses have changed considerably. The display is a compact history of the development of the campus.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega sweaters have arrived, and for those who have paid for theirs see President Dick Borrud for further instructions.

Sketches from the Day Room

Sharon Morgan and Beatta Lambert have been planning and building the D.R.G. float for the Homecoming parade. As a special event in the festivities this week-end Diane Bassett, LaVonne Dahla and Lucile Lentz will be blending their voices in sweet harmony during the coronation of the Homecoming Queen.

Contrary to what the other freshman girls believe, LaVonne Hubbard says the Air Force is a much better place for a man than PLC is. Barbara Ellis has turned to other fields, too, as she is looking forward to orange blossoms and lace next June after seeing a certain party from the University.

With test week coming up we see many industrious-looking students about. Joy Gilmore says she has permanently reformed—she has turned to studying instead of playing ping pong. Sally Alstead can usually be seen with her “Deutsch” book on hand, while Kay Engebretson and Roxie King are trying to decide what subject to study first. Carol Paul is disappointed because she has two tests on her birthday.

Intramural League Draws to a Close

On Monday, November 10, the final game of the 1952 intramural touch football schedule will be played when the two powerhouses of the league, Central Parkland and Tacoma, meet in the game which will decide the championship.

At the present time Tacoma is in first place, just slightly ahead of Central. If Central were to win the final game on Monday, they would be champions, but of course if Tacoma wins, they will take the honors.

Tacoma maintained its blistering pace with two more wins during the past week, sinking Clover Creek Hall, 18-6, and skinning by Ivy Hall, 18-12. Central defeated Ivy Hall, 12-6, and Eastern Parkland split even in its two games, winning over Clover Creek Hall, 20-12, and then being swamped by Ivy, 30-0.

With football almost over, basketball is soon to follow. All intramural basketball games will be played in the evening after supper.

Standing of the teams is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Tied
Tacoma	6	1	0
Central Parkland	6	1	1
Ivy Hall	4	3	1
Eastern Parkland	2	5	0
Clover Creek Hall	2	5	1
Western Parkland	0	5	1

Coaches Say Girdles; Bustles Ready for Fray

Tomorrow morning at 10:00 the female carnivores of PLC will begin their blood-thirsty romp. For a full hour, during the course of the bitterly contested Powder Puff Bowl game, minds snap, femininity drops aside, and the beast rises in every girl on the campus. This is their hour of combat.

Representing the two opposing factions, the upperclassmen and the frosh, will be nearly half a hundred girls ready to die if need be for the honor of their respective groups. This game carries with it more than mere feminine rivalry; this is a traditional test of the superiority of people over frosh.

The upperclass "Galoping Girdles" are relying on a smashing backfield quartet and a small, but spirited, line to carry them through to victory. Never before in Bowl history has a backfield with the class of the Four Felines been assembled on one team. The drive and power shown by the running backs in practice sessions has been nothing short of phenomenal. If the line can hold up in front of them, nothing will stop this scoring threat.

Coaches Bob Nielsen, Al Fink, and Ole Magnuson of the "Girdles" have been drilling their charges in simple power plays through the line. According to Nielsen, "We can't risk a fumble. We've got a tough game ahead of us, and it may be the breaks that'll decide the outcome."

Nielsen has been doing a lot of strenuous exercise with the crying towel during the last week. With his regular coaching problems and his small line worries amplified by a collision between his two ace halfbacks, Kathy Biery and Joanne Schwartz-walter, which nearly lost both for the big game, Nielsen is predicting nothing but trouble.

The "Bruising Bustles," on the other hand, take on the broad grins of their coaches Ted Grotjohn, Chuck Forsland, Don Chesterfield, and Jack Johnson. They assert that their squad has really shaped up, and that they're loaded for upperclass game. The frosh are hoping to start their huge defensive wall of muscle against the "Girdles." "We can stop anything they throw at that line," states Grotjohn. "Our pass defense is nothing short of sensational."

The "Bustle" offense will center around the California Cobra, Carol Hintze, and a razzle-dazzle set of plays. Off practice form anything can

Homecoming Plans Complete

During the half-time of the PLC-Eastern game, traditional Homecoming exercises have been planned by Mr. Harley Christopherson, in conjunction with the Homecoming committee.

PLC's 53-piece band will perform various maneuvers on the field and the three winning floats will circle the field. Queen Inga I will be presented to the audience by student body vice president, Lloyd Eastman, and the president of the alumni association, Bill Ramstad, Jr., will say a few words.

Following the game, all alumni are invited to attend the Alumni Supper in the Trinity Church parlors at 6:30. Losers of the Powder Puff Bowl game will be in charge of cleaning up after the supper.

"Good Housekeeping" at 8:30
"Good Housekeeping" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. in the CMS auditorium. This three act play stars Barbara Hedlund and Glenn Johnson in the leading roles, with a supporting cast of Hurdis Michaleson, Tom Swindland, Jean Christianson, Eldon Davis, Mark Freed, Edith Engel, Ramona Watkins, Ruth Sather, Cathy Schwerin, Ann Thingval, and Marie Indergaard. Admission is 50 cents for students, PLC faculty and alumni who have their alumni membership cards; 85 cents for adults.

This three act comedy by William McCleery was presented in New York in 1950 when Helen Hayes portrayed the leading character. It is the story of what happens to a normal American family when Mother, armed with a psychology book, sets out to make everybody happy and the results of her actions. Miss Jean McGregor of the speech department and Morrie Hendrickson, assistant, are directing the production.

Services in CMS Sunday

The annual Homecoming worship service will be held at 11 a.m. in the Chapel Auditorium. Dr. E. B. Steen will be liturgist and Rev. Robert Latness will preach the sermon. The PLC Choir of the West will sing two anthems, directed by Mr. Frederick Newnham.

From 2 to 4 p.m. open house will be held in the CMS and in the dormitory of Old Main. There will be guides in the CMS, and the girls will be hostesses in the dormitory. DPK will be serving punch in both of the lounges of Old Main. In the evening LSA is presenting a special Homecoming program at 6:30 in the upper SUB.

co-captains, Bob Johnson, co-chairman of the Homecoming parade, and Phyllis Grahm, chairman of Homecoming publicity.

The program has 14 minutes and 30 seconds of actual broadcast time, plus the commercial. The station has given the program a musical introduction and the title "Campus Showcase". According to Judd, the show is a weekly feature and is announced as such, with the conclusion something like "Tune in again next week for the next program in our series of broadcasts from the campus of Pacific Lutheran College."

It takes more time than the audience realizes to prepare and broadcast a 15 minute program. There is one "dry" rehearsal before the program is taped, directly from the Knutzen radio station in the CMS.

This is a real chance to broadcast PLC to the people and it is the hope of the producer, Morrie Hendrickson, that it be a show of professional quality. The students that listen can show their approval of the program by writing KTNT and telling them that they like the show, and by telling Judd and Morrie the same when you see them on campus. They (Judd and Morrie) would also appreciate getting suggestions for broadcasts from the student body.

Gladiator Football 26 Year History Reviewed

Football was inaugurated at Pacific Lutheran College in the fall of 1926. Since then the teams and their coaches have made interesting history for PLC admirers.

Back in '26 coach A. W. Ramstad, now a chemistry professor rounded up enough men to form two elevens, most of whom never played football before. In 1929 Cliff Olsen came out of Spokane College to take over the reigns until 1947 when his proteges, Marv Tommervik and Marv Harshman succeeded him.

Olsen then went into business in Tacoma. Tommervik coached up until the summer of 1950 and then went into business for himself, thus leaving the coaching chores on the shoulders of Harshman, who doubles as Athletic Director in addition to coaching football, basketball and baseball.

During the 26 years of gridiron history at the Parkland school, the teams have currently played 172 games. The Lutes have won 94, lost 61 and tied 16.

Back in the early '30's when the depression waged its worst, Pacific Lutheran grid teams were playing to empty seats. Fans being unable to pay, Coach Cliff Olsen came up with a novel idea in the fall of '34, to let the fans in free. Tacoma stadium was jammed to capacity at every game. "We passed the hat between halves," Olsen related, "and we took in a lot more money than we did before with admission. The move also served to build up interest in our team and school."

When "Rammy," as Ramstad is affectionately called, had his initial turnout, there was only one man who had had previous gridiron experience. He was Gerhard Lane, who had been a substitute quarterback on the Stanford high school eleven which had lost every game it had played the year before. Lane became a missionary to China, and was killed in the Philippines at the outbreak of the second World War.

The rest of the men in that first eleven are living on the Pacific coast, with the exception of Theodore Fedt of Silverdale, who died several years ago. Six of them ended up in the teaching profession. Clarence Lund is principal of the Downing school, Lydell Kriedler is at Federal Way, Carl Colton is at McKinley school, Wilbert Nyman is in Olympia, Arnold Thostenson is in Everett, and Olaf Ordahl is in Kirkland.

One of the tougher opponents on the Lutheran schedule in those years was Lincoln high school. In 1928, the Abes socked the Gladiators 42-0 and in 1929, 10-0. The following year, 1930, the Parklanders, boasting a new mentor named Cliff Olsen, triumphed over the Railsplitters, 29-6.

That was the last year that PLC and Lincoln ever played each other, and Olsen went on to lead the Lutheraans to great things in the late '30's and early '40's when Marv Harshman and Marv Tommervik supplied the spark.

With Harshman still supplying spark to the team, the present day Lutes tangle with high powered foe in the tough Evergreen league, and the 1952 Eastern Savages are no exception.

TACOMA CITY LIGHT

Top Man on the Totem Pole

The score over at Central doesn't mean as much as it seems. You can't take anything away from the Lute offense but a point half-time bulge allows a team to gamble a little bit and in this case everything worked to a delightful precision—Central big and acted as if they were tough, but the predominance of youth and inexperience was too much to overcome—The difference in the game was that the Lutes exhibited final season form while the Wildcats appeared to be just entering upon the schedule. One of the big offensive surprises was Ole Magnuson's 35 yard runback of a blocked punt—As far as we can remember, 7 touchdowns in one game is the most the Lutes have ever scored. This Central homecoming brings to mind a very faint recollection of a homecoming in 1950—An interesting sidelight on the Central game Co-Captain Chuck Forsland's constant hovering over the completed game to make sure that our little backs were protected against any over-aggressiveness on the part of the opposition—It was good to see such enthusiasm exhibited by the student body of old P.L.C. as the Central stands at half-time rang with a spontaneous ovation for Coach Marv Harshman. The poor man's Glen Huffman of the intramural league seems to be the Feax of Central Parkland and Sparky Watts of Tacoma with over a hundred touchdown passes apiece.

Notes From the Powder Puff Bowl

ATTENTION: Coach Harshman—Be at the Powder Puff Bowl game; please, to scout potential triple threat theater—Name—Carol "California" Hintze. Added note; Ought to be some fine offensive formations by both teams. Halfbacks Jo Schwarzwalter and Kathy Biery have recovered from their injuries earlier this week and are ready to go for the classmen.

We understand "Wart" Karwoski's secret ambition is to be second in the PLC Youth Orchestra. At the present time Miss Ellen McNeil has nailed down first violinist.

Lutes Strengthen Hold On Conference Title

Drawing closer to the Evergreen Conference Title, the Lutes virtually swamped the underdog Central Washington Wildcats in last week's game. This victory gave the Lutes a three win, no losses, and one tie record, and leaves them in undisputed first place.

The Lutes second chance at offense showed their power as they moved from their own 24-yard line to the one yard line of Central on the alternating runs of Frank Karwoski and Al Fink.

From there they pushed over on a quarterback sneak by Glen Huffman. The try for extra point failed giving the Lutes an early lead of 6 to 0.

Two quick pass plays, one to Jim Ball and the other to Art Swanson was climaxed by another plunge from the one yard line by Frank Karwoski, halfback. The Lutes made their extra point on a fake kick and pass play with end Jim Ball being the receiver, leaving the score 13 to 0 in favor of PLC.

Central received the kickoff and fumbled on their own 25 and Karwoski scored on an end around play. Dick Larson kicked straight and true for the extra point and the Lutes led 20 to 0.

Central was forced to kick after failing to get a first down. Don Chesterfield, who has been sidelined most of the season by a shoulder injury, took the ball on his own 30 and had fans standing as he reversed his field twice and ran 70 yards for a TD. The kick for the extra point was good again, and PLC lead 27 to 0.

Central made two points early in the third quarter when PLC was forced to kick from her own end zone and the ball went over the head of booter Frank Karwoski.

Ron Billings then made a spectacular interception on the Lute three yard line and PLC marched 97 yards down the field to touchdown. The scoring was made on a pass play from Huffman to Ball, the kick failed and PLC was way out in front 33 to 2.

Again Chesterfield grabbed a punt and returned it 48 yards to the Central two yard line. Fink went over on a line plunge leaving the score 39 to 2. Then in the middle of the fourth quarter PLC's big tackle, Ole Magnuson recovered a blocked punt and tore off 27 yards for another touchdown making the rout all but complete with PLC leading 45 to 2.

Central took the ball on PLC's kickoff and in a sustained drive late in the fourth quarter, drove it over from the PLC two, scoring their first and only touchdown. The conversion was good, making the score, 45-9.

Savages To Field A Fighting Eleven In Tomorrow's Tilt

This Saturday in the Lincoln Bowl, the Gladiators will roar out on the field to compete against Eastern Washington College's Savages in the Gladiators' 1952 Homecoming game. This game should prove to be a fairly good battle.

Eastern is fielding a team sprinkled with freshmen. Their best player is Chadwick, who set three track records in the conference last year. With his speed and with a few other good players the Savages might prove a threat. So far this year, however, they have not stood up to expectations.

The Gladiators, on the other hand, have a strong squad. Only player who may not turn out is Ray Barnes. Coach Marv Harshman, as usual, says only that he hopes we win.

In the past year (since the war) both teams have been on a fairly even status. Up to last year, Eastern had tied for first place in the conference three times. Score for last year's Gladiator-Savage clash was 39-0. Let's repeat that score.

There will be no Mooring Mast due to mid-semester tests. (The Mast staff wants to study).

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

TOASTMASTERS

Honored as the first college campus to receive a chapter of the organization, Toastmasters International, the PLC chapter initiated new members at a meeting held last Wednesday night, November 5, at the New Yorker Cafe in downtown Tacoma.

Toastmaster for the evening was Ron Douglas, with President Glen Werner acting as chairman. Others who took part were Bob Johnson, deputy governor, Dale Keller, secretary, and Ed Morken, treasurer.

Also discussed at the meeting were plans for the Homecoming float to be entered in the parade this Saturday.

VOTIONS

A message by Dick Schelldahl and special music by Marguerite Thompson highlighted the Campus Devotions meeting yesterday noon in the Tower Chapel. This meeting climaxed the one week "application" experiment suggested by Dick Borrud at a previous meeting. All in attendance were given forms on which, if they so desired, they could specify a certain application of the Campus Devotion message which they privately would vow to fulfill in the following week. The experiment has proven successful and will be continued.

CAMERA CLUB

At a recent meeting under the chairmanship of Jerry Sheffels, the Camera Club demonstrated trick photography. Handsome Harry candidate, Spencer Aust, was elected, and Terry Sverdstein was announced as float chairman. The meeting proved to be interesting with fascinating results.

Onella Lee also served as accompanist.

This group regularly makes deputations to the various institutions in the Tacoma-Parkland area.

Organ Now Installed

a toddler to crawl through to pipe the size of a pencil.

The Casavant company builds custom organs only. The PLC organ was made in strict accordance with the acoustics of the auditorium, the size of the pipe chambers, and the use to which the organ will be put. The organ will be used for both concerts and religious services.

Installers of the organ estimated that the wires used in all parts of the organ would stretch from New York to San Francisco if strung out end to end.

Extreme care was taken to obtain uniform air pressure from the blowers located deep in the basement of the building. A special pressurized unit guards against irregular pressure in the blower itself, and there are also units which stabilize pressure in the chambers. This makes a clear, even pitch.

Mr. Fritts said that from recordings already made, they know that the new organ will be excellent for recording as well as radio use. Use of the organ for radio broadcasts from Tacoma stations is being planned.

"We who have heard the instrument think that it is one of the finest that Casavant has made," stated Mr. Fritts. He also said that requests from as far away as Alaska have been received asking for recordings of the organ.

An indication that PLC is to become a mecca for musicians is shown by the wish of the American Guild of Organists to hold its regional convention here in the Spring. The formal dedication of the organ will be some time in the Spring, also.

The organ has such power that even though the CMS is sound-proofed it can be heard in any part of the building when being played at top volume.
