

Queen Priscilla I

Crowning of May Queen Monday; Pageantry, Music, on Program

Sunny days are here at last—at least occasionally—and robins, apple blossoms, spring fever and May Queens are in season. This year, Queen Priscilla will lead the regal procession across the greens to the campus throne, where she will receive her crown at the hands of Dr. Emmanuel Poppen, President of the American Lutheran Church.

A brief concert by the orchestra will precede the processional. The annual May Day Proclamation will be pronounced by Student Body President John Larsgaard. A trumpet solo by Shirley Hulbert, a vocal selection by Marion Solt. Dr. Emmanuel Poppen will precede the traditional May Pole Dance by PLC coeds. Maggie Hill is general chairman for the festivities.

thea Ofstedal, Amy Munz, Esther Velsvick, Ruth Wallen, Miriam Hopp, Agnes Roleder, Betty Hatlen, Ardis Severson, Lorraine Akehurst, Carol Elefson, Corinne Carlson, Betty Christenson, and Lillian Thorleifson.

Ribbon Bearers are Lois Ludwig, Carrie Person, Mary Peterson, Alice Pfium, Mildred Reese, Virginia Seaburg, Charlotte Swanson, Catherine Morrow, Betty Bates, Bernice Bernhartsen, Fern Erickson, Corinne Fosso, Arlyne Johnson, Virginia Michelsen, Cecilia Gardlin, Annabelle Birkestol, Waletta Hornshuh, and Florence Reiman.

On the decorations committee are Bernice Bernhartsen, chairman, Ardis Severson and Lee Rod.

A.S.B. OFFICERS PUT ON BALLOT

The man power shortage is apparent in the roster of candidates for Associated Student Body offices for 1944-45. Only one male is "among those present." Hjordis Rogen, present Student Body secretary, disclosed that the following petitions were filed with her by midnight Saturday, April 22: for president, Agnes Mykland and Eunice Torvend; vice-president, Earl Nordeng and Betty Christenson; secretary, Dorothea Ofstedal, Helen Flodstrom and Agnes Roleder; treasurer, Cecilia Gardlin and Joan Satern; advertising manager, Dorothy Rasmussen and Ruth Jensen. The elections will be held Friday, May 3.

COLLEGE CHOIR AND SYMPHONY LEAVE ON TOUR

With Brakeman Larsgaard giving the all-clear signal, the PLC "Choir of the West and Little Symphony"—complete with conductor, gowns, stands, chaperons, horns, and fiddles—slipped away from the campus this morning to board the Portland choo-choo on track 29 in Tacoma, for a four-day tour of points south.

Gasoline shortage has put the choir on rails, but Manager Fynboe promises that the musicians will get as far as Oregon City if they have to ride on the coal car (good setting or sitting for the Negro spiritual "Go Down Moses," one of the tour numbers). First stop will be tonight at Longview where the choir-orchestra will give their first tour concert in the Longview High School auditorium. The girls will discover whether or no they left their sinatra lipstick and rebel red rouge in that little pink box on the dresser. The men will find out whether it's Al Kuhn's wing collar, violin, or black bow tie that's missing from the picture.

ALL-OUT FOR PORTLAND

After an evening of rest in the hospitable homes of Longview, the choir-orchestra will give a concert Friday morning before the Longview High School assembly. Catching the Portland train at 12:32 p. m., the choir will arrive in the City of Roses and home of Sarge Webster (just call me "Bud" for short) with enough time for Wes Hillman, Dallas Martin, and Larry Hauge, (the three stooges), to set up the choir stands, and Herb Nienstedt will get a chance to Saturday the Choir will take the Rogue River Special to Oregon City, and Miriam Hopp will entertain the group on the city elevator which ascends the town bluff. Concert will be given at the Zion Lutheran Church Saturday evening.

ON THE LAST LEG

Sunday morning the special organizations of the choir (girls' trio and sextet and men's quartet) will aid in the morning services around Portland and Oregon City. The final concert of the tour will take place at the First Congregational Church, Vancouver, Washington, Sunday afternoon. Travel weary students will board the Tacoma train and spend their homeward journey in the traditional style of wise-cracking, singing, and dozing. Freshman members will introduce their humor masterpieces for ranking in the Choir wit gallery.

OVER THE DESK . . .

Next week the political battles centering around next year's student body officers will be brought to a close and campaign managers will shake hands with a "may the best man win" attitude and enter the polls to vote for their favorite candidates.

In the meantime the candidates will be measured and weighed by interested student voters who want to know if the official garb will fit them. Have YOU been conscientiously studying the list of candidates? What's your choice of leaders to fill the cabinet members' shoes? Every man has a right to his own opinion—that's free. But woe to the person who doesn't have one!

While we're on the subject of voting, the question of adopting a new student body constitution arises. At the last student body meeting President Larsgaard appointed a committee to draw up a new constitution and present it at the next meeting for approval prior to placing it on the ballot.

To the casual observer, this move may appear to be high pressure tactics, or at least a hasty measure this near the close of the school year. However, the majority of the reform points involved have already been hashed over. The new constitution drawn up by student forum committee and recommended as a guide for the student body committee has gone through the test of student criticism, recommendation, and revision at two regular "town hall" meetings.

When the new constitution is drawn up by the student body committee, it will probably not be an air-tight or "airless" set of governing rules. A scrutinizing look at the final copy before "aying" its adoption will diminish the possibility of error.

Whether?

With the semester tests just around the corner, Joe or Jo College, pausing betimes in his seasonal cramming, wonders if the game is worth the candle. Should he come back to college next year or shouldn't he? Besides the old standby concerning the need for well-trained men and women in our fast changing, technical world, there are reasons that touch the more intrinsic values in life, especially in a Christian college like PLC. An anonymous alumnus letter contains some interesting thoughts on benefits received at Pacific Lutheran College:

"The other night as I sat listening to a Pacific Lutheran College Choir of the West concert I was filled with a pride such as I had never known before. I was enjoying what some might call just a concert, but for me it was different; for you see Director Malmn was there, and the choir and the orchestra—and they are from PLC. I was so proud because once upon a time I went to PLC. I was a part of the college, too—I still am in spirit. While I sat there listening, the memories of my years spent on the Parkland campus flooded over me—memories of other concerts, of other students like the ones here tonight; of good times we had had together; of things I had learned and thought I had forgotten; and especially of the very warm feeling that exists when PLC people are together.

"I looked around at the audience and saw graduates from our Midwestern colleges, and, egotistically again, I swelled with pride because I knew that PLC need bow before no one. I was proud to be able to show off my alma mater to those friends of mine who had come from such wonderful schools. You see, I graduated from Pacific Lutheran College!

Students, don't think I'm being trite when I say you don't appreciate what you have until you lose it. PLC means more and more to you as you leave it farther behind. I should Address: Kenneth S. Lobeda A 2/c, U. S. S. Indiana Ex 2 Div., c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, California.

An exciting (ask the girls) servicemen's item of the week was the appearance on the campus of Lt. Hugo Swanson, ex '42, who has been flying an Aircobra fighter plane over Panama the past eight months. This was Hugo's first visit to Parkland since the army's call plucked him from the gridiron here at PLC over 15 months ago. He was co-captain with George Anderson at the beginning of the 1942 football season, but received his "greetings" before he played a game. Swanson has been stationed 100 miles from his former teammate, George Fallstrom, but was oblivious of the fact. He is heading for Nebraska at the end of his furlough, and expects a call for overseas service soon.

Jerry Thorpe, son of College Pastor Thorpe, is receiving his boot training at Farragut. Jerry started his college training last fall, to be halted over a month ago by Uncle Sam's call. Address: Jerrold B. Thorpe, A. S. Co. 363-44—3rd reg. Camp Bennion, USNTS, Farragut, Idaho.

Chuck Loete, ex '43, visited the campus last Monday before returning to Dickinson, N. D., to complete his navy V-12 training. Address: Charles Loete, AS USNR, Billet 31413, Navy V-12 Unit, Dickinson, N. Dakota.

Sgt. Mary Loftness, ex '40 and his wife (Nancy Lund Loftness) visited the campus recently. Marv is being transferred.

not have used the word "lose"—because you never lose what you get at PLC. You have that indescribable something for life. The day will come when you will sit as an alumnus and listen to those fortunate students who are still in school and will be proud to have once been a part of PLC. She's a wonderful school, and that goes for student body and faculty alike. Cherish her—your Alma Mater!

When Director Snack Makes the Whip Crack

You're on the stage now—are you? Director Schnackenberg wants to know, and he doesn't mean maybe if you are a member of the Brother Goose cast. Rehearsal absentees are shot at sunrise, and the late Mr. X stands in mortal danger of becoming the late Mr. X!

Mr. Schnackenberg is a patient man though, at least some of the time. And you should see him showing Anita Norman how the average sixteen year old girl acts!

CRYPTIC COMMENT:

One scene between Wes (Sarge Webster) and Eve (Pat Thomas) looks more like a boxing match than a love scene! Whatsa matter, Eve?

The 6:00 a. m. rehearsals are no more. At that early hour, Director Schnackenberg discovered a young student's fancy lightly turns to dreams—and breakfast. Ho, hum! Anyway the crack of dawn session is off the schedule.

Mother Carey Schnackenberg and his brood have now tackled the third act so if you see the lights burning in the gym at all hours you will know that the rough corners are getting a prolonged sanding—and panning!

The premier of this 3-act comedy is slated for Friday evening, May 12, on the College stage.

D.P.K. SPRING BANQUET ARRANGED FOR MAY 10

Plans are now under way for the annual Delta Phi Kappa formal banquet for dorm students to be held Wednesday, May 10, at 6:00 p. m. in the recreation room.

Miss Anna Marn Nielsen will be toast-mistress, and Professor Karl Weiss has consented to give the speech of the evening.

General Chairman Lillian Thorleifson has selected "May Day" as the theme for this last formal banquet of the school term. Assisting her are Dorothy Melin, who has charge of decorations, Vedis Huseboe, chairman of the house committee, Geraldine Olson, program chairman, and Dorothea Ofstedal, head of the cleanup committee.

Among special guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Eastvold, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Weiss, Miss Anna Marn Nielsen, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schnackenberg.

LETTER IN THE WALL

An unfinished letter, written nearly forty years ago, was found by the carpenters in a wall torn out in the renovation of the model rooms in the girls' dorm. The letter bears the date of March 10, 1907 and the Scandinavian script and original spelling and diction indicate that the writer was enrolled in the college "short courses," offered here in the early days to immigrants desiring to learn English.

According to Librarian O. J. Stuen, these short courses were given during the winter months, and sometimes registered as many as 100 students. Most of the enrollees were Scandinavian fishermen from the Alaska grounds, although some were Russian and Finlandic. In case you find the excerpt amusing, we might ask for some samples from Instructor Stuen's Norse classes—or even from among Dr. Ranson's frosh Comp. classes!

Marion Soltman received a ring the other night—not the wearing but the listening kind—all the way from Louisiana!

Jack Gaul really felt two kinds of (pain-pan) when that window glass shattered the other day.

Even royalty it seems is going expedient these streamlined days. At least our prospective May Queen, Priscilla, and one of her attendants, Anita Stuen, dispensed with some formality and departed from the usual routine of court procedure by climbing through a window when leaving Mr. Ranson's fourth period American lit. class. "Well, we're hungry, and this way is shorter," was their only explanation.

Helen Flodstrom would like to know who created the "typical PLC coed" she found in the day room after choir one day. The dummy, made from a choir gown, a pair of galoshes, some sticks, and a kerchief, was holding a letter addressed to Felen Hudstrom with a return address of Maynor Bagneson. Come and 'less up, ye villains!

With the warm days of spring coming on, it'll be right handy for students to buy their cokes from the coke machine, recently installed in the basement of Old Main.

TOUR PROGRAM

PROGRAM

Under the baton of Director Gunnar J. Malmin, the choir of fifty voices will present the following three groups of songs, the third with orchestral accompaniment:

Group one: "Emitte Spiritum"—Schuetky; "Of Thy Mystical Supper," a composition by the Russian composer Lvoff; "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," arranged by Director Malmin, with Marion Soltman and Carl Fynboe as soloists; "Hosanna"—Christiansen, and "Easter Alleluia"—Kopolyof.

Group two contains Palestrina's "Gloria Patri"; Gretchannoff's "The Lord's Prayer," with solo by Anita Norman; "Sanctus," by Bach; "Go to Dark Gethsemane," by Noble, and Christiansen's arrangement of "Praise to the Lord."

The concluding group with the Little Symphony accompaniment includes "No Shadows Yonder," from Gaul's "The Holy City," with Isabel Harstad in the solo part; Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring"; "Go Down, Moses," a negro spiritual arranged by Wheelwright; "The Heavens Are Telling," from Haydn's "The Creation," and Lutkin's "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

During intermission the orchestra will play several classical numbers. The inclusion of the college orchestra is an innovation in the annual spring tour.

Miss Grace Blomquist, dean of women, will accompany the choir as chaperon.

PLC visitors this week were Charles Loete, ex 43, and Sig Sigurdson, Little All-American end. Charles has been at Dickinson, North Dakota, training under the Navy V-12 program, and Sig is leaving April 28 for the Marines.

Perhaps PLC should adopt the slogan of one sports writer. He says, "Wars may come and wars may go—but baseball will go on 4-F'ers."

Despite the shortage of manpower the restored kicking post received numerous initiations after its dedication on Campus Day.

Quite a few PLCites took their annual spring bath last Saturday. Whether or not the muddy waters of Clover Creek left the tug-of-war devotees crystal clean is beside the point.

Wonder why Ted Reitz's face was so red when the Western Union operator asked what T. B. U. stood for?

Four girls are happily established in the two recently renovated rooms on second floor. Rhoda Lee and Lois Ludwig, Mary Haddon and Lois Draggoo invite you to inspect their model domiciles.

"Fools' names and fools' faces . . ." and now it seems even nitwit kisses find their way around. Witness the imprint of ruby lips on the white plaster of the library.

Student Forum Advises New A. S. B. Constitution

The student forums have been continuing these past two weeks, taking up the problems current in the student body.

Last week, in cooperation with the objectives of religious emphasis week, the forum turned the meeting over to a discussion of what it means to be a "full-grown Christian." Isabel Harstad opened the question with a statement of problems involved and Ruth Jensen presented the possibilities for attaining full-grown Christian leadership. The Rev. Clarence Johnson acted as mediator in the ensuing discussion.

Monday evening, April 24, Herb Niensstedt, with Albert Kuhn as discussion leader, presented a revised form of the student body constitution.

This constitution, accepted by the student forum, will be presented to the ASB for approval and revision.

Dedicate Kicking Post

With due solemnity the new kicking (rechristened the "licking") post was dedicated as a fitting climax to Campus Day, Saturday, April 15. While camera shutters clicked Student Body Prexy John Larsgaard broke, with some difficulty, the christening bottle of coke. The concrete base for this PLC tradition was poured by no other than Dean of Men Schmackenberg.

Water was much in evidence on the traditional clean-up day—not only was it used for cleaning, but quantities of it poured down at frequent intervals from an uncooperative firmament. The girls got a double dose of moisture when the rope broke in their cross-creek tug-of-war with the boys.

Of the campus cleaners the kitchen task force were perhaps to be most envied. After they had performed their duties they sat down to a preliminary luncheon of doughnuts and coffee.

Although outside crews were hampered somewhat by the intermittent downpours, foremen and workers alike did a fine job in rejuvenating the campus.

Chapel Quotes

The Christian is different because he believes in God as his Creator, in His Son, Jesus Christ, as his Savior, and in the Holy Ghost as his Guide in all his living.

All God asks of you and me is to consecrate what we have for his service.

Dividends are paid only to stockholders. You can't expect to get something out of church unless you put something into it.

May Day Chairman

Margaret Hill, graduating junior in the College of Education, is the chairman directing activities for May Day.

Religious Week Observed

Religious Emphasis week came to a close last Friday evening with a special session of the student forum, which regularly convenes on Monday nights. The Rev. Clarence Johnson, director of the religious activities for the week, was pleased with the response with which his efforts were met on the campus.

"In my conferences and contacts with students, sincere interest in the full grown life in Christ was expressed," he declared.

Religious activities of the week included chapel talks, afternoon office hours during which students met Rev. Johnson for private consultations, and all-student discussion sessions each evening.

Student Leaders Discuss Future Activity Plans

To review the activities of all organizations on the campus and give suggestions regarding the work of these groups for next year, the presidents of each campus organization and members of the Board of Control met last Friday evening at seven o'clock in the reception room for a student leaders' session.

Discussions led by Prexy John Larsgaard aimed at constructive criticism of present policies followed in various social and religious groups. The recommendations were put in writing for the benefit of next year's student leaders.

Refreshments served by Agnes Mykland and Dorothea Ofstedal added to the evening's enjoyment.

Club Notes

CAMPUS DEVOTIONS

The Rev. Clarence Johnson brought the noon day message last week on the theme, "Faith and Action."

Muriel Baird and Ivar Pihl have been recent leaders at Campus Devotions. Special music has included numbers by a Girls' Trio—Miriam Hopp, Agnes Røleider and Francelle Schoch and a duet by Geffry Olson and Ivar Pihl.

LDR

Eunice Torvend was elected next year's president of the LDR Wednesday, April 12, when the members met in the recreation room. Lois Ludwig spoke on "Charm" and Isabel Harstad sang "I was there when They Crucified My Lord." Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. J. Enge, Mrs. E. Akre, and Mrs. O. Hageness.
