Student Day to Feature Queen Announcement

With the voting yesterday between three finalists for Homecoming queen, Helen Enger, Darlene DeLine, and Inga Astrup, the details of the weekend are taking definite shape.

The Homecoming Queen will be announced in Chapel on Tuesday, Nov. 7, and she, and her court, will be crowned at the "Queen's Night" program, Friday, November 7, 8:15, in CMS. It is hoped that the organ will be ready for the occasion. Past homecoming queens will take part in the program, and the entertainment will be furnished by talented alumni. Around 12 o'clock on Saturday the parade will form and leave from in front of Old Main. The reviewing stand will be directly in front of the "For Character" sign. Leading the parade will be the band, Leland E. Berg, drum major and Kathy Perwin and Nadine Andreson, cornettes. The route has been set to go down Garfield, to Pacific; up Broadway; down Ninth; back up Pacific to the Lincoln Bowl.

To date, 27 floats have been entered. They are, according to Bob Johnson, parade chairman: Alpha Phi Omega, Alpha Psi Omega, Alpha Gamma Lambda, AWS, the Becker Club, Blue Key, Camera Club, Clover Leaf Hall, Curtain Call Club, a Modil Special, DPK, DRG, French Club, the Freshman class, FTA, German Club, Ivy Hall, Junior Class, Kappa Rho Kappa, Queen's Club, Pi Kappa Delta, Senior Class, Sophomore Class, Spurs, Toastmasters, Glee Club, and the Web. Winning floats will circle the field during the halftime or before the game and the winners will also be announced then. In the evening, "Good Housekeeping" will be presented in the CMS auditorium. The Drama Department. On Sunday, Rev. Luitness, a PLC alum, will preach the sermon at the worship service at Trinity Lutheran. All the buildings on campus will be open to visitors on Sunday afternoon, and there will also be a coffee hour for students, alumni, and faculty in the Upper SUB at that time.

LDR to Hold Interesting Program

The Lutheran Daughters of the Homecoming will hold their third meeting of the year Thursday, Nov. 7. President Grace Feoge has planned an interesting program with Mrs. Minstad as guest speaker. The Saga stories will also be taken that day. Plans, make it a point to be at the Mykland home at four o'clock next Thursday.

Faith Bueltmann was elected by the student council to be Inter-Club Council treasurer. The student council each year selected the ICC treasurer.

Mr. Theodore Karl and Dr. Vernon Utzinger in technical production, the play is the story of a normal American family. Mother, armed with a big psychology book, sets out to make everybody happy and problems which result because of her action. The play was first produced on Broadway in 1949 and starred Helen Hayes in the role of Marian Burnett, the leading character.

Heading the cast is Barbara Hedlund who plays the part of Marian Burnett, an attractive, capable wife and mother with little to do and no capacity for idleness. Glenn Johnson plays Charles Burnett, a patient man who, after a career as a newspaper executive and a hitch in the Army, has become president of a state university and is an unconscious believer in Male Superiority.

Other characters include Christine Burnett (Hurdis Michaelson), the older of two daughters, about 19, who is a junior in a university and is a little too worshipful of her father; Edward West (Tom Swindland), a very recent graduate of a university but already making a name for himself as a reporter on one of the local dailies; Katy Burnett (Jean Christiansen), an independent 17-year old; Mat Kahn (Eldon Davis), a nice young man seldom seen without his camera; Jim O'Neal (Mark Freed), the boss who can pick the leading party's candidate for governor and is a conceited, arrogant man behind his mask of affability; Mrs. Benson (Edith Engel), the maid of all work; and Drum Majorette (Ramona Watkins).

Those people who have done a lot of work on the play and often don't receive much credit, the committee chairmen, are as follows: business manager, Judd Doughty; stage manager, Al Freed; light technician, Ken Anderson; costume chairman, Edith

Frosh Plan Campus Decorations

At a meeting of the freshman class on Monday, the freshmen voted to pay 25 cents a semester dues to cover all expenses which may arise in the class year, including Homecoming. Of course, the freshmen will receive other benefits from this money, too.

Gordon Strom was elected to represent the class in the Handsome Harry contest, which will be conducted during the days of Homecoming.

The freshman class has complete charge of decorating the campus for Homecoming. The campus has been divided into five sections with the following students in charge of each: Old Main, Carol Edlund, Margaret Stuhmiller; lighting, Elwood Rieke; SUB, Marian Taege; scenery, Jerry Slattum. Adonna Bondahl is the general chairman, representing the freshman class for these committees. If you are interested in working on any one of the committees, contact the chairman of that particular committee.

The Homecoming float committee under the chairman, Anne Stewart, has decided on the decorations for the float and will really get things rolling. Other members of this committee include Bobby Birkedahl, Gin-

Admission is 50 cents for students and PLC faculty and 85 cents for adults.

Curtain Call Holds Halloween Masquerade

If you have nervous nerves, a weak heart, or faint easily, you had better not come to the Halloween Masquerade Party being sponsored tonight by Curtain Call and Alpha Psi Omega. However, if you like fun and chills, get dressed up in your masquerade costume and go to the SUB at 8:00 tonight. The admission is 25c.

The program will start off with games, followed by two entertainment numbers presented by Judd Doughty and Barbara Hedlund. There will be prizes awarded for the three outstanding costumes. Cider and doughnuts will be served. The climax of the evening will be a movie, "Son of Frankenstein."

Anyone interested in working on the freshman float please contact Anne Stewart.

Activity Conflicts Necessitate Staff Changes

Anyone who has taken notice of the masthead (upper left hand corner on page 2) in these first five issues of the "Mast" has probably wondered what the current score was. Almost a complete shake-up has reorganized the staff of the paper from what it was for the first issues.

John Osburn, editor for the first two issues, was forced to resign due to a conflict in extra-curricular activities. His participation in debate left him too little time to also carry the heavy responsibility of editing a paper. The position was given to Phyllis Grahn who is now editor-in-chief.

Dave Nesvig has assisted in the first four publications as the managing editor.

The associate staff, made up of sports, new and feature writers and ad solicitors is: Rolly Opsahl, Roseanna Hartill, Joan Engstrom, Jerry Slattum, Ginny Grahn, Clara Skjersaa, Donna Erickson, Bill Barber, Jack Johnson, Bob Nielsen, George Rutherford, Don Keith, Nadine Andresen, Betty Jean Condray, Bob Johnson, Barbara Howard, Bea Hansen, Gerry Thompson, Jim Johnson, Dave Nesvig, John Osburn, Betty Riggers, Clarice Mittletsaedt, John "Tom" Houshoulder, Glenn Wernet, Bob Brog, Dale Keller, and Roald Fenes.

Mums for your mother, sister, or best girl to wear during Pacific Lutheran College's Homecoming festivities can be ordered in Old Main hall during noon or after supper hours Monday, November 3, through Friday, November 7, from the Spurs. Mums, which can be purchased for one dollar, are corsages composed of yellow chrysanthemums with the black letters PLC on them. Take hint, fellows!

EDITORIAL

A visitor to the PLC campus was just a bit surprised to see the fairer members of the student body wearing jeans, pedal pushers and having their hair up in pincurls—and all this in the middle of the afternoon.

This matter of the too-casual, almost careless dress of the girls on campus was discussed in the Associated Women Students Council—made up of the officers of AWS and the president of the women's organizations. The faculty and deans have been aware of the dress of the students, but it was the question raised by men visitors to the campus that brought it before the council.

On the large college campuses women are not allowed to wear jeans or pedal pushers out of their dormitories—except if they are going to some place where they must be worn or if they have a long coat. This seems rather strict, but the administrators of those schools feel that the students are young adults and representatives of their school and should dress accordingly.

The same is true of PLC. It is not a rule nor will it be a rule that the girls can't wear "pushers" or jeans. They can, but they should use discretion when and where they wear them. There will be no objection to casual dress on campus, so long as it is appropriate. This is also true of pincurls.

According to the council, there will be no set rules—you can't wear jeans . . . you have to wear flats and hose . . . you can't have your hair up . . . and so forth. The dress of the students is left entirely up to them.

So remember, you as members of the college should dress as college students—be good representatives of the school, especially during Homecoming weekend

Caught In THE WEB

Good evening ladies and gentlemen, this is station W-E-B. Ahhh, there is good news tonight but first a word from our sponsor: "Chester's Choice Chicken Cheese". The cheese with that feathery taste. Now back to my news please.

First the weather report. The skies tomorrow should be roudy with clains. Now back to my news please.

W-E-B views the news thusly:
 Jim Nokleberg was discharged from the Navy because he talked in his sleep. They sent him home to mutter.

Dick Larson reports he was a Boy Scout until he was 16. Then he became a Girl Scout.

Al Ahrens claims he doesn't have an enemy in the world. But all his friends hate him.

Attention all married men. For sale cheap. A wife-size lawnmower. See Marv Harshtman.

Remember the Golden Rule.—Do unto others before they do unto you. And now the correct time. The time is now twenty . . . rif . . . un ten . . . Oh, heck, it's pretty near time to get back to our news please.

We hear that Dorothy Broomfield and Jean Ryan have a beautiful little apartment overlooking the rent.

And now . . . a personal word please. Do you stink? Are you repellant to your former friends? We recommend no deodorant. Just take a bath—with soap. Now back to my news please.

We have it that Lloyd Eastman is the kind of a guy that would marry Marilyn Monroe for her money.

Along with the political scene remember the political parties. The Republican party, the Democratic party and the Masquerade party this Friday night.

Now one final last word . . . please. Where there is smoke there is toast. Ha, Ha.

Tune in next week to the same station, same time and same jokes. This is your W-E-B common-tater signing off.

Top Man <sup>on</sup> the Totem Pole

What happened to PLC's fine defensive play that had held opponents to an average 5.6 points per game?—P. U., leader of the N. W. Conference to date, ran wild and more than doubled total score and brought the average up to over 10 points per game. Of course, you can look at the other side of the picture and the possible unveiling of a high scoring offense for old PLC. Frank Buckiewicz netted 210 yards passing and running, but the smooth play of the P. U. featuring terrific blocking in front of the ball carrier powered the Lutes. In the Lute backfield Frank Karwoski ran a very game nearly breaking away for long gainers on several occasions. Guard Griswold held the defense together preventing a complete route with hard, smashing tackles.

Upsets highlighted last week's intramural play as Tacoma was beaten Central, who in turn were handed their first loss in 2 years by the spotlighting of Ivy Hall's Bud Lester. Look for the two Dorm teams to be plenty hot in the second half.

The Powder Puff Bowl game should prove to be an exciting one judged by the enthusiasm shown by both teams in their turnouts of late. The women girls might be gaining a slight edge by their daily workouts.

It's a shame to see such a fine organization as the PLC Lettermans Club drop from the picture at this time. This may be the case if the enthusiasm of membership continues to remain at the present low ebb.

Our thanks to Paul Wangsmo, A.S.B. president, for securing the very needed table tennis equipment.

The tall grass of the gridiron led us to check up on the comparative field statures of the Evergreen Conference. The results prove that PLC's line backs were the smallest in the league; average height, 5 ft. 7 in.; average weight, 167 lbs. And by the way, "Wart" Karwoski, (5-5, 158) will probably soon be playing the violin duet with Miss Ellen McConnell. "Wart" is that fiddle playing has the tendency to make his fingers dextrous.

Lutes vs. Wildcats; Conf. Title at Stake

Coach Marv Harshman's Lute eleven will travel to Ellensburg this Saturday where they will clash with the Central Washington College Wildcats. The battle beginning at 2 p.m. will be the Wildcat's Homecoming game.

This game is theoretically the only thing blocking a clear cut Evergreen Conference championship for Pacific Lutheran. Should the Gladiators emerge victorious, they have only to defeat Eastern Washington and the University of British Columbia; both possessors of not too impressive records.

The Wildcats will field a fairly "green" team with freshmen and sophomores liberally sprinkled throughout their lineup. The Lutherans, meanwhile, have a mostly veteran squad and should be at full strength for this game.

Quarterbacking the Wildcats will be Bill Hashman, a 5' 9" senior who is an excellent passer and signal caller. He has a pair of fine ends and a very fast, shifty backfield to work with. Spearheading the Central defensive platoon is Don Pierce who plays in the safety position and has been able to bother Central's opponents considerably this year.

Pacific Lutheran, the heavier and more experienced faction, will be quarterbacked by genial Glen Huffman. This 6' 3" senior will probably be relying on his lineman's ability to stave off the Wildcat's charges while the Lute backs grind up field for that all-important yardage.

This will undoubtedly be the grid classic of the year in the Evergreen Conference. The final standings will be close to a predictable state after the results of this game are known.

Badgers Nip Gladiators In High-Scoring Tussel

Fighting and trying right down to the last minute, the PLC Gladiators fell before the hands of the Pacific University Badgers in a non-conference game last Saturday at Forrest Grove, 33-25.

Upsets in Intramural

Results of the past week's intramural clashes show a series of upsets in which only one game in four came out as predicted.

In the Tacoma-Eastern Parkland game, Tacoma virtually scored at will as every man on the team crossed the goal line at least once in Tacoma's 38-6 rout. After this show of power, everyone expected Tacoma to get by Central Parkland, but the tables were turned, and Central emerged victorious by the score of 18-12.

Other games played recently included Ivy Hall's humbling of Central Parkland 12-6, once again an upset, and Clover Creek tying Central Parkland 6-6. Even though this last game was a tie, it was a moral victory for Clover Creek who was picked to lose before game time.

Standing of the teams after the first round of play shows Tacoma on top with four wins and one loss followed closely by Central with four wins, a loss and a tie. Standing is as follows:

Tacoma	4	1	0
Central Parkland	4	1	1
Ivy Hall	3	1	1
Clover Creek	2	2	1
Eastern Parkland	1	4	0
Western Parkland	0	5	1

The Lutes were held down a little by missing the punch of Art Swanson and Don Chesterfield, who are both out with shoulder injuries.

The spectacular ball handling of Frank Buckiewicz and Gerald Millis in the Pacific U backfield was the main reason of defeat. The Lute pass defense was good, but holes were opened up in the line when Pacific U pulled their delayed plays.

PLC's scoring came early in the first quarter. Gary Gale set up the touchdown by intercepting a Badger pass on their 40 yard line. Dick Larson scored on an off tackle play, and missed the conversion. Al Fink scored the next two Gladiator TD's on a line plunge and a play off left tackle, and the last PLC-TD was made by Ron Billings on a leaping catch of one of Glenn Huffman's passes.

The Lutes played outstanding offense. Time after time Karwoski ripped through the line for good gains. Huffman hit the air more than usual, and connected consistently for good yardage.

The two outstanding plays of the evening were a 70-yard touchdown run by Gerald Millis of Pacific U., and Karwoski's punt that went out of bounds on the Pacific two inch line.

Girls Prime For Annual Gridiron Classic

With only one week of practice remaining before the biggest, and only, game on the girls' football schedule, both upperclass and freshmen teams are feverishly rounding into shape.

Your writer shall endeavor to analyze the competing squads. This Galloping Girdle outfit. The final analysis and announcement of starting teams will come Friday, November 7, on the very eve of the struggle of titans.

Besides the usual lack of manpower; the upperclass machine seems to, this year, be lacking in the very necessary element of womanpower. At the first turnout only eleven able-bodied gridsters were on hand to greet the whip-cracking of coaches Bob Nielsen, Ole Magnusen, and Al Fink. By now, however, ten more huskies have joined the group, swelling it to near two-platoon strength. It is an interesting question, which can only be answered on the field of play, whether this group can stand up before the constant pound of a Bustle juggernaut with twice the reserve bench strength.

The Girdles will field a predominantly letterwoman combine. Behind the sturdy rock wall of the seven Hens will be the prancing, hard-driving Four Felines.

The backfield will center around the line-crushing power of right half Kathy Biery, known in football circles as "The Crusher"; and the fancy broken field running of three-year left half veteran, and team captain, Joanne Schwarzwalter, the Yakima apply bruiser. The leading candidate at present to run from the fullback slot is Jean Bjerkeset.

developing into a tight between newcomer Phyllis Grahn and Naomi Roe, a letterwoman back after a year's absence from the pigskin battles. Grahn seems to call a very wise game; and "Rifle Roe" is well known in campus circles for her brilliant aerial fireworks. It goes without question that both girls will see plenty of action.

The line, at present, is very incomplete. Plenty of good material exists, but competition for spots has been so keen that nothing has yet crystallized as to starters. Standouts have been Hermina Meyer, Ellen Hensen, Helen Enger, Peggy Logan and Lorraine Gunderson.

As the paper goes to press it is doubtful if Enger will be able to play in the game because of her part in the Homecoming court.

When asked to comment on the game, Coach Nielsen stated, "We've got a tough game ahead of us. It may look like a walkaway for the freshmen; but, remember, they can only play eleven women at a time (though at times it may look like twenty-four)".

Those who at present are fighting for positions on the Girdle squad are as follows: Captain Joanne Schwarzwalter, Ellen Hensen, Hermina Meyer, Kathy Chase, Phyllis Grahn, Jean Bjerkeset, Darlene Bronkhorst, Kathy Biery, Naomi Roe, Bernice Olson, Jeane Hansen, Faith Bueltmann, Mary Olson, Laetitia Bashore, Norma Borgford, Harriet Vorvick, Barbara Thorsen, Helen Enger, Peggy Logan, Lorraine Gunderson, Joy Gilmore, Karen Kvern, Mary Anne Sunset, and Carol Brace.

A huge line and a display of razzle-dazzle ball handling will highlight the offense being built by the Fresh Brusling Bustles for next week's traditional encounter with the upper class girls' grid combine.

According to coach Jack Johnson, who, along with Chuck Forsland and Don Chesterfield, has the job of forming the freshman standard bearers into a smooth functioning machine. The Bustles plan to concentrate on offense. "We plan to match them touchdown for touchdown, and then add a couple for good measure," states Johnson.

Woman for woman, the hard-driving frosh line will outweigh the upper class front wall. This advantage in "beef" may be enough to effectively stop the Famous Four Felines of the Girdles. It's quite possible that the Powder Puff Bowl game may turn into a physicists experiment on the age-old question of "What happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object."

Standouts in the group bending over the line of scrimmage are hard to find. The entire unit functions very smoothly as a team. Off turnout form, end Jean Cogburn and guard Joann Entman will furnish the pepper that will keep the girls fighting.

The backfield is built around outstanding triple-threat fullback, Carol Hintze, the California Cobra. Her coaches say Carol can run and pass equally well and is the top punter of the squad.

Backing up Hintze's power are two faster-than-greased-lightning scabbards, Betty Jean Condray and Ginny Grahn. If Condray, by far the fastest girl on the team, is able to break into the clear no opposing back will catch her.

An interesting battle between sisters may develop if the two Jersey

Grahns reach the field at the same time. Phyllis as a Girdle quarterback and Ginny runs from the Bustle backfield.

Clubs to Write Constitutions

In a recent meeting of the Student Council, it was decided that the newly formed political clubs on campus must, before they can call anymore meetings, form their constitution, by-laws, and in them state the purpose of the club.

According to the council, meetings held to formulate these papers may be held with the club officers and not more than five club members and they also must have a member of Student council in attendance. The constitutions are then to be presented to the council for approval. After this, general meetings of the Young Republican and Young Democratic clubs can be regularly scheduled.

This stand was taken in accord with the regulation of the school which requires that all organizations on campus have a written constitution, by-laws, and purpose, and not, as many people have wrongly felt, to rid the campus of any political organizations. It is good for a school to have both political parties represented, for through these groups, the college students receive, to some extent, their political education.

Twenty-five dollars has been set aside by the student council for a Memorial to Mrs. J. P. Pfeuger. Should any student wish to contribute to this, he is welcome to do so.

Odius Observations

It should seem obvious to any fool that the essential purpose of a sundial is to tell time. That's what we learn in Physical science, that's what Merriam-Wester and Funk and Wagnall say, in fact that seems to be the general consensus of opinion. I rather doubt if any so-called educated person would disagree with that seemingly logical conclusion. Which just goes to show how some people are push-overs for heresy.

We have on our campus a sundial whose purpose is not to tell time! It was erected in 1934 in memory of someone's mother, and that is the only function it has. Countless students have no doubt gazed at the face of this sundial and thought of the donor's mother. Personally I find it very gratifying to see some student paying such homage to that worthy personage, and I rest secure in the knowledge that no misguided individual will ever be able to abrogate the purpose and intent of this beautiful monument.

I think the college authorities showed commendable foresight in guaranteeing the inviolability of this sacred relic. It shall never be corrupted by some mundane individual who merely wants the time of day. No sniveling student shall profane it by blaming it for his tardiness. It need never fear the encroachment of hour-glasses, Mickey Mouse wrist watches,

"STANLEY AND LIVINGSTONE" "Stanley and Livingstone" will be shown at 7:30 in the SUB Saturday evening, at a nominal fee. The movie is being sponsored by the student council.

This is the famous story of Stanley, reporter for the powerful NEW YORK HERALD, who succeeds in finding the lost Dr. Livingstone in Africa, and the impact of Livingstone's missionary work on Stanley who carries on Where Dr. Livingstone had left off. Spencer Tracy is Stanley, and the other roles are portrayed by Nancy Kelly, and Walter Brennan. It is a Twentieth Century Fox production.

or electric clocks. Our farsighted authorities have seen to that, and in such a simple manner too . . . They have located it so that most of the day, the sundial is in the shade.
