Boys Lay Plans For All-School Social In Honor of Girls

Party Is Scheduled For December 14; Dreibelbis Is Chairman

With John Dreibelbis as general chairman, the men of the college are planning a Saturday night of fun and frolic, December 14, for the girls, who defeated them in the Linfield ticket selling contest.

Invitations, made by John Dreibelbis, will be issued Friday, December 8. They are made on gray paper, with the art work done in red ink. The football motif will be carried out in all decorations, which are being planned by Ernest Johnson, Paul Preus, and Harry Gribbhorn.

The entertainment plans are not complete yet, but Ted Herred and his committee consisting of Ray Hinderlie and Vern Knutzen promise a good program and evening of fun. The refreshment committee, composed of Bob Martin, chairman, Ivan Larson, Jack Wall, and Russel Frye are serving something new and better in the way of P. L. C. refreshments.

For the purpose of collecting funds to finance the party, the general chairman has appointed Verner Bitter to represent the Day boys, and Jasper Johnson to take charge of Dorm Union collections.

Lehmann-Black Marriage Solemnized Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lehmann of Parkland announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Martha, a graduate of 30 to Benjamin Dinger Black, of San Francisco. The ceremony, which took place Wednesday evening, November 20, at eight o'clock, was performed by Rev. T. O. Sware at the Parkland Lutheran Parsonage.

The bride's gown was of rose crepe, a corsage of white caryophyllums completing the ensemble. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Dorothy Lehmann, also a P. L. C. graduate of '31. Mr. and Mrs. Black left Thursday morning for Los Angeles, but they will return for the Thanksgiving holidays. Their first home will be established in San Francisco, where Mr. Black is in business.

Thanksgiving

The harvest moon was shining
On those fields of long ago
That the Pilgrim Fathers planned.
Patient, hopeful, row on row.
Oh, how ghostly looked the pumpkins,
How the corn waved happy arms,
As if coaxing for the moon beams
To enjoy its straight-laced charms.
All the fields were ripe for harvest.

All the plants and flowers and leaves
Seemed to join their hands together
To bring hope, dispelling grief.
When the Pilgrims viewed the pageant,
How their hearts with joy increased,
While their thoughts turned to the Giver.
And their words of Thanks released.
So they held a feast of gladness.

For God's bountiful supply,
Extending hands to alien tribesmen,
While their praises sought the sky.
They forgot the griefs and burdens
They had borne the past dark way,
And acknowledging God's rich blessing—
Thus was born Thanksgiving Day.

The faculty committee on the student publication, which consists of Mrs. M. N. Franck, Prof. N. J. Hong, Prof. O. J. Stuen, Mr. Keith Reid, and Mr. Theodore Nelsson, has met to name candidates for these positions, and the final selection will be made at the faculty meet, to be held Monday evening, December 9.

High School Seniors To Buy Class Sweaters

Members of the high school senior class are planning to buy navy blue and silver uniform class sweaters. The design of the emblem is to be chosen soon.

Prof. A. W. Ramstad, science instructor, was named high school department adviser at a recent meeting.

It has been decided to contribute what money is made during the year to the College library for new books.

Delta Rho's To Have New Gold Club Pin

"New Delta Rho Gamma pins will be ready for club members who have ordered them some time next week," stated Eleanor Raudbaugh, president.

The emblem, although shield-shaped as formerly, will be the same smaller in size and will be gold instead of silver, with a small numeral attached to a gold chain. The pins will bear the letters D. R. G. in black enamel.

Delta Rho Gamma's Remodel Day Room

Joanna Manousos Supervises
Complete Redecoration

Under the direction of Joanna Manousos chairman, a complete remodeling of the girls' day room has been planned by the D. R. G. Wadene Calavan, Novell Nagel, Verna Teglund, and Marie Johnson are assisting in this work which will begin immediately following the Thanksgiving holidays.

The color scheme as planned will be cream color and medium green, with some brighter touches. The floor and woodwork are to be sanded to a natural color and varnished, while the lower walls will be a medium green. The furniture also will be painted green, and the upper walls and ceiling are to be cream color.

Drapes to be made by the club members will be of yellow, orange, and green figured cretonne. To complete the redecoration there will be small scatter rugs and lampshades of harmonizing colors and a few well-selected pictures.

Classroom Dreamer Rescued by "Turkey"

A sigh trembles on his lips, a blissful glow shines in the eye that was dull and colorless but a moment before. With thumbs in vest and mouth ajar, our hero shifts slowly, ponderously, to a new position and pauses in his meditations to lighten his belt a notch or two. A delightful aroma pervades the atmosphere, conjuring before the mind's eye a delightful vision, sweeping before it as clouds before a breeze all consciousness of theorems, phylums, formulas, and figures.

"Crabapples and pudding, tempting, tidbits, mince and pumpkin pie, stuffing and more stuffing, and this but a halo to offset the golden brown vision of"—but wait—over eager, unable to deny his craving palate any longer, he stretches his hand up in the air. Higher goes his hand, and higher mounts the vision, fast dissolving in misty clouds of disillusionment.

Too late young hopeful pulls his hand from the air. The watchful teacher has mistaken it for a signal of "I know."

"So what would you say should be the object of eating?" asks he.

A sudden flash, not of inspiration, but of recollection, sweeps before the young man's brow as he excitedly replies, "Turkey!"

"Right, bright student! Class dismissed till after Thanksgiving."

Lutheran Brotherhood Plans Annual Banquet

On Sunday evening, December 8, at eight o'clock, the Lutheran Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church will sponsor its annual Father and Son Banquet in the church parlors.

"We urge all men in the community to attend, even if they must borrow a father or son. We promise a good program," states Mr. Victor Elvestrom, president.

Henry Olson is general chairman, with Prof. O. J. Stuen, Frank Edness, and George Knutzen assisting.

New L. D. R. Committees Start December Work

At the last meeting of the L. D. R., held in the Trinity Lutheran Church, committees were named to carry out seasonal activities. Norma Preus, Gertrude Tingelstad, and Helen Holtcamp are to be in charge of collecting L. D. R. dues. In accordance with the annual custom of sending holly to the Deacons Home in Chicago, Margaret Larson, Olga Huse, and Margaret Melver will supervise this work.

The next meeting of the club is to be held at the home of Mrs. O. A. Tingelstad, Thursday, December 19. Mrs. D. Larson will be a joint hostess with Mrs. Tingelstad. The yearbooks show the following program planned: Eugenia Spencer, piano solo; Prof. M. N. Franck, talk; Mary Marhe and Anita Ball, vocal duet; and Lois Mae Morton, flute solo. The group will join in singing Christmas carols.

Senior Class Members Plan Theatre Party

At a meeting held yesterday, the Senior Class decided to hold a theatre party, the date of which is to be arranged by a committee consisting of Enid Hutson, chairman, Volvy Norby, John Dreibelbis, and Roy Lundquist, who will also make all other arrangements. Ione Madson has extended an invitation to the class to hold a reception at her home after the show.

Last Friday the class voted to wear caps and gowns when having the Sags pictures taken. The individual photographs are to be 3½ inches, and they will have a light background. Folders, instead of cases will be used.

A full day of sessions is planned for Saturday. Rev. Harry Lundblad will lead the opening devotion, and Mr. Arthur Johnson, president, will give the introduction to the general topic. Rev. G. A. Bremer will speak on "The Christian Faith, what is it?" Rev. A. M. Knudsen has the topic "The Christian Faith: how to live it." After a tour of the University campus, a banquet will be given at 8:30 as a final feature of the convention.

Last year this convention was held in Seattle; and Roland Swanson and Milton Nesvig were the P. L. C. delegates.

Each Pep Club member is inviting one Delta Rho Gamma girl, and written invitations will be issued Wednesday, December 4. Alma Stolee is chairman of the invitation committee, with Marie Lien, Lois Mae Morton, and Roberta Turrisson assisting.

The entertainment committee includes Onestance Clumb, chairman, Kathryn Anderson, and Ovedia Hauge.

P. L. C. AGAIN TERMINATES A GREAT FOOTBALL SEASON

Another football season has been finished; another team has been disbanded, with some of its players never again to play for Pacific Lutheran College except in spirit...

Facing some of the strongest colleges in the Pacific Northwest, Coach Olson's gladiators won four victories, lost one game, and played to a scoreless tie with the team that is co-holder of the Northwest Conference Title...

Pacific Lutheran College is proud of the team, of its record and of its coach, the popular Cliff Olson, who has not stooped to the practice so common with college coaches of recruiting that type of football player known in football circles as "Tramps"...

The student body may justly feel a thrill of pride in its fine team, as its whole-hearted moral support has done a great deal toward inspiring the team on to its gridiron triumphs.

HITS AND MISSES—

Thanks to an eastern contributor, did you know there was a P. L. C. in Seattle?—Pacific Lutheran Cemetery! The trouble with having your brother write a column is that you never see your name therein.

Why didn't Barney and the rest of us old timers choose that school as our Alma Mater? Toe-nail description: SYLVIA MILLER (a lusc chuckle in the dark) AD SONG TITLE: Bird Seed In The Socks To Keep Pigeon Toes Away From My Corns.

Incidentally, the advertising drive of the M. M. has turned out to be a tour. Imagine the thoughts of those people whom the Sophomore "party-ers" called on and said: "We're on a scavenger hunt, and we came down to see you."

Too bad ANENSON has to miss the hog-calling contest in the home town this year. The senior girls' team know captain ball backwards—and judging by the last two games, that's the way they play it.

With all the offices changed around, a fellow can't tell whether he is going into the lion's den or the store-room. Concentration in the library is proved by the way the students snap their heads around when the door is opened.

Always hope for the better things in the future—thus your life shall be filled with light. The best is yet to come. One day, the church militant shall rise to the church triumphant in everlasting glory.

DRIFTS....

By Browser

We are living in a modern world; everything is modern—our clothes, our customs, and even our thoughts. We have reached the apogee of attainment in appreciation and understanding.

Look at the literary field (look at it). The trend now is away from the idealistic piffle of the old bard. Every day the trend now is away from the idealistic piffle of the old bard. Every day the trend now is away from the idealistic piffle of the old bard.

We read the best-sellers, we go to the movies, we glance at the tabloids; and we wonder whether our feeling of revolt is satisfied; we go through college and come out wondering whether we should deny the existence of God in order to be educated; we enter an art gallery and see an oil portraying the spirit of spring, and leave, marveling at our ignorance for not being able to see more than an obese person standing awkwardly on a sun dial...

Have things progressed, or merely changed? If you believe pro or con, don't say "Amen"; say "Whoopie!—it's more modern."

Chapel Gleanings

Everyone should have a slogan—Christ's slogan: "I serve."

That the Lord will come again is as certain as the sun which rises this morning.

The calendar of the time for grace is known only to God.

We need the discipline of uncertainty; it prevents us from waiting until a more convenient time.

One day He will come in all reality—He will come to judge mankind. When we think of that great day, we experience awe and fear, joy and exultation.

Are you and I living a watchful life? Are we willing that the Lord should come at any time?

If you can gain a good goal by a good short cut, it is a good thing. Be honest with yourself; be honest with your God; then you will be fair to everyone else, too.

The Lord rules. Let us not be tempted to put ourselves in God's stead. It is He who rules the world. Let us surrender ourselves to Him.

Christians must obey their magistrates, save only when the magistrates lead to sin.

Jesus said, "What profiteth a man if he gain the whole world, if he lose his soul?"

What good is education, if character does not stand in back of it?

Always hope for the better things in the future—thus your life shall be filled with light.

The best is yet to come. One day, the church militant shall rise to the church triumphant in everlasting glory.

God has ordained that Christians shall stand among the hosts thro' out eternity.

With the Thanksgiving festivities at the door, it will not be amiss to call to mind the manner in which many of our pious forefathers gave thanks to God for His manifold blessings...

We print the following translation of this wonderful hymn in the hope that some of our students will take it home with them and help relieve the good old custom by singing it around their Thanksgiving table. It can be sung to the tune of number 97 in the Lutheran Hymnary.

Our meal is ready, decked our board. We pray that of Thy mercy, Lord, Thou wouldst bless these victuals so That they may health and strength bestow!

Dear Lord, O feed each one in need, Who cries for food to Thee indeed! Obless the earth, the sea, the sky! May peace and plenty multiply! Give us a Christian government, And by our sweat our nourishment! Our souls be fed with living bread, Which Jesus purchased when He bled!

Gladiators Close Most Successful Football Season

P. L. C. Goal Line Crossed Only Once As Hard-Fighting Eleven Hang Up Molekisks

Tying Linfield by a 0-0 score in their final home game, the Gladiators completed their best season in Coach Olson's regime. Only one touchdown was scored against the hard fighting Gladiators while they were amassing a total of sixty eight points. This is a defensive record unequalled by any college team in the Northwest.

Moreover, considering that the Gladiators were outwitted in every game makes the defensive record even more impressive. The P. L. C. team featured a wide open style of play with many trick plays and numerous forward and lateral passes.

With a hard charging line which at times played inspiringly on the defense and a pony backfield which was exceptionally tricky and elusive, P. L. C. was almost unbeatable.

Those veterans who will graduate—Hal Votaw, Bucky O'Conner, Ed Svinh, Bob Martin, and Dutch Moe. For future seasons—a record for leaving teams to try to better.

Pacific Lutheran's successful season shows the following scores:

P. L. C. 7	Army 0
P. L. C. 14	Monmouth 0
P. L. C. 40	Ellensburg 7
P. L. C. 41	U. B. C. 0
P. L. C. 6	Bellingham 0
P. L. C. 0	Linfield 0

Sports Staff Commends Graduating Gladiators

Five Lutheran football stars have played their final game for P. L. C. Next year's team will feel the loss of such stellar players as Hal Votaw, Bucky O'Conner, Dutch Moe, Bob Martin and Iron Man Svinh. Besides being a good influence to the team, these players have contributed their share to putting P. L. C. on the football map. Here is a brief resume of those who have played their final game for the Black and Yellow.

Hal Votaw was P. L. C.'s mighty mite who often brought the stands to their feet with thrilling runs. He recently won the Bellingham game with a 67 yard dash. In '34 he captained the team and proved to be an inspiration to all the players.

Bucky O'Conner was co-captain of this year's team, and played a fine game at the right half position. He was a splendid blocker, an accurate tackler, and a good broken-field runner.

Bob Martin—He has played a bang-up game at left guard for two years. His spirit and drive made him a hard man to take out, and he was usually found at the bottom of the pile. When Bob is graduated this year he leaves a place hard to fill.

Ed Svinh was the lightest man on the line, but to the opposition he often proved to be the toughest. Ed made up for his lack of weight with determination and fight. This is Ed's third year at the right tackle post.

Dutch Moe—The smallest man on the team was especially noted for his accurate passing arm and his cool generalship. At quarterback Dutch had the ability to call the right play at the right time, and he was truly the brains of the team.

While the sudden and rather unethical cancellation of Pacific Lutheran football game with Albany College of Portland by that institution, left an unsatisfactory ending to their season, the Glads can still look back on the most successful season in the history of the College.

All indications point to the fact that the Portland school was frightened out by the record of the Lutheran team. To prove this statement, let me say that after receiving a telegram calmly cancelling the game despite a signed contract involving a guarantee, giving financial distress as the cause, the administration of P. L. C. offered to pay all expenses incidental to the team's trip to Portland, asking only that they provide a playing field and suitable facilities.

Taken by surprise by this unexpected move, the Albany officials went into a huddle and came out with a flat refusal to play Pacific Lutheran College under any conditions. This of course, ended matters as far as the ball game was concerned, but in the interests of collegiate football this breach of contract should be reported to all colleges in the Northwest. An institution which does not respect its contracts should be barred from the privilege of competition with other colleges.

The Glads are putting football on the shelf for another year with the comforting thought that thirteen lettermen will be back next year. Coach Olson's chief worry will be to find a scoring punch to replace "Hal" Votaw and "Bucky" O'Conner.

Basketball is in full swing this week with bright prospects for another championship hoop squad, which reminds us that a new title is necessary for this bi-weekly tripe. If any readers have any brainstorms in the line of a good title, hand them in. Thanks.

The constantly growing crowds of rooters who are watching the girls' captain ball games are being rewarded with fine playing, thrilling hard-fought games, which have been keeping the spectators in an uproar of excitement until the final whistle. Soon it will be necessary to provide seating accommodations for the spectators.

Basketball Season Opens With Forty MenonMapleCourt

Solie, Tommervik, Nilsen, Leask To Form Nucleus of P. L. C. Quintet

"Prospect for another championship basketball team depends upon whether or not some players can be developed for the forty odd candidates now turning out to fill the vacant shoes of Dutch Moe, Gene Jack and John Fadden who are lost to the team." With this statement Coach Cliff Olson summed up the basketball situation for the coming season.

As yet, the Lutheran mentor has not spotted any newcomers who promise to supply the scoring punch that will be sorely needed. The indications are that this year's Gladiator-five will be a close checking outfit when teamwork will be of paramount importance.

Of the returning lettermen, Omet Solie, Arnold Tommervik, Charlie Leask, Harold Nilsen seem to be in line for regular berths on the starting, with the strong possibility that Hal Votaw, Russell Frye or Stan Ford may break into the select five. A flock of newcomers will also be out to gain their places, although it is too early to pick out any outstanding players.

The following men have shown up well in practices thus far: Archbold, Knutzen, Leask, Ford, Simon, Anderson, Solie, Larson, Strand, Nilsen, Tommervik, Votaw, Jensen, Frye, and Haavik.

A separate schedule is being planned for the high school hoopers. Men who expect to see action in these games are: Haldane, Schlanbusch, Ganes, E. Haugen, Lehmann, Svare, Hudson, Pfleger, Xavier, Wall, Knutzen.

Tingelstad, Pflueger Go To St. Olaf Meet

Lutheran Educators Meet at St. Olaf College Friday, Saturday

Educational conference meetings will open Friday morning, November 29, at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota. Prof. J. P. Pflueger, Christianity instructor, and Dr. O. A. Tingelstad, college president, will represent Pacific Lutheran College at these meetings which will continue also through Saturday.

The conference is an outgrowth of the Lutheran Seminar held last summer at the University of Minnesota, which made a stud and did research work in connection with a curriculum for Lutheran colleges. Dr. O. E. Pannkoke, director of Publication and Research Commission on Lutheran Higher Education, from Quitman, Georgia, supervised this activity.

The general theme is to be "The Nature of a Christian Education." At the opening meeting Friday morning, Dr. H. A. Preus will speak on "The Outlook for the Christian College." Dr. O. E. Pannkoke will address the group on "The Answer: Christian General Education."

Friday afternoon a number of college educators will discuss the topic "Integration: The Heart of Christian General Education." In addition to this, Dr. L. W. Boe, president of St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota, will speak on the program for midwestern Lutheran higher schools. At the dinner Friday evening, the speaker will be Prof. W. C. Peik, professor of education at the University of Minnesota.

Group conferences will be held Saturday morning with Dr. E. P. Philblad, president of Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kansas, presiding. Dr. Pannkoke will give a summary of the conference at the closing session.

CHAPEL SPEAKER

Dr. E. M. Hegge of the Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma, gave the Thanksgiving address in Chapel today.

Mystery Man's Return Invokes New Vogue In Sport and Style

The bearded hermit is among us, proudly he struts his flowing fuz, but it is not perfect; he went and got a haircut. Formerly, the head and chin moss maintained a consistent motif with the conditions productive of shoulder length locks and belt length razor breakers. But no longer need fond mothers fear the magnetic influence of Peter the Hermit, Rolph Preus, nor fear for the safety of their children. Again, he went and got a haircut; so, broken is his spell.

Through the months he has lived snugly bugged in among mountain heights. To him it is truly the band of men and beards. Here he can commune in perfect union with his pipe. Five other hermits share Rolph's sanctuary. Every single one has but a single purpose for enduring such hardships as the Preus beard. They are searching for gold. In fact, they are actually digging for it. Two tunnels they have constructed—one a little higher up the mountain than the other. Even the powder blasts don't seem to affect the search or the beard.

The home life of the six hermits runs its course in two of three log cabins down the valley. One is occupied by Dangerous Dan Floate, Sup't and Hermit No. 1. Here he superintends the daily consumption of grub as well as weighing all the golden eggs and enjoying manifold dreams at night. In the other of the living quarters, cozy bunks are the prime object of importance. Here sleep (snoring, of course) hermits two, three, four, five, and six—six to Hermit No. 1. The last house happens to be the Powder Magazine, and no one spends more time there than necessary.

Really these men (?) do live in the deep dark hills. In order to get back after Christmas, they will drive to McCall, Idaho. From there they will next cover a thirty mile stretch by bus. Pulled by a caterpillar tractor this bus struggles the thirty miles in three hours or more and mostly more. The end of the bus ride is at Birdgorf. Fourteen miles of snow-covered hills (mountains) now separate the gallant recluses from the mine and home. It is a pretty long hike, at that, for a hermit, even with a weight-reducing haircut.

Soloists Named to Appear In "Messiah" Presentation

Under the direction of Prof. J. O. Edwards, "The Messiah" will be presented at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Parkland on Sunday evening, December 15, at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Bernhardt Bronson of Seattle, who is conducting a class in voice at Pacific Lutheran College, is singing the baritone recitatives and airs. Mr. B. Raymond of Tacoma, who is manager of the Parkland Light and Water Company, and Mr. Paul Link, of South Tacoma, will be the tenor soloists. There is a possibility that Dr. E. M. Hegge of Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma may sing one of the dramatic tenor solos.

Others who will appear as soloists include Mrs. B. Raymond, Mrs. H. H. H. Freeman of Brookdale, Mrs. H. H. H. Clifford Olson, and Mrs. Phillip E. Hauge.

Ramstad Will Speak At Next Mission Society

Prof. A. J. W. Ramstad, College Science instructor, will address the Mission Society at its next meeting to be held Wednesday, December 4. The topic will be "The Madagascar Mission." Romola Rust will sing a solo, and Jenny Bardan has been asked to play the piano.

Thanksgiving baskets have been prepared by the Mission Society, under the supervision of Mildred Larson, chairman, Dorothy Anderson, Alfvinn Arne.

DEBATE SEASON

Debate season will not begin until the second semester, according to Prof. J. P. Pflueger, debate coach.

The question to be discussed is "Resolved, that by a two-thirds vote, Congress shall have the power to override a Supreme Court decision."
