Conner, Keel, Aus, Choir, Renton Band Combine to Make 1957 Festival of Arts

The spotlight of fine entertainment will again be focused on Pacific Lutheran College next weekend during the fifth annual Festival of the Arts.

Festival Director Karl E. Weiss has announced the following program. Beginning Friday night at 8:30 with a concert by Metropolitan Opera star soprano Nadine Conner, the Festival will continue on Saturday by presenting Mr. Howard Keel, star of stage and screen.

Sunday's offerings will be Dr. George Aus speaking at the student congregation services, and a History of Church music at 8:30 in the evening. Professor Gunnar J. Malm is arranging this program. The Choir of the West will be featured in musical numbers and Professor John Kuethe will narrate the program.

On Monday night, the high school band from Renton, Washington, will be featured. Concerning this band, Mr. Weiss stated, "Pacific Lutheran College, which specializes in training teachers for our public school system, has long been aware of the great work of music educators throughout our state. The fine orchestras and bands that have visited our campus during the year has led us to want to present to the general public, the magnificent work of the music educators. Therefore, we at Pacific Lutheran College are presenting the Renton Band, which has been chosen by the instrumental men of the state as one of the outstanding bands. They are doing a magnificent program, and here is an opportunity to honor the work of our public school educators by your attendance."

Throughout the four-day Festival, there will be an art exhibit. Paintings of Mr. Kenneth Callahan will be shown, sculpture of Charles Smith, and pottery by The Spencers. Professor George Roskos has made the arrangements for the art displays.

ASPLC Primaries Next Tuesday; Candidates Statements Given

Tuesday of this week the Mooring Mast sent out a questionnaire to all the candidates for ASPLC office. In response to this, the candidates have submitted their views on our student government. The presidential candidates were asked:

1. What do you feel the president's contribution should be to the ASPLC in 1957-58?
2. What are your views on the present ASPLC constitution?
3. What role do you feel the student council should play in the student government?

PRESIDENT
Presidential candidate Dave

Knutson answered:
"1. I believe that basically the ASPLC president should have two objectives in mind: first, he must act as a leader of student government in furnishing initiative and direction; secondly, he should serve as a coordinator of the student council and its subsidiary activities."
"2. I feel that at the present the ASPLC Constitution does not need a complete revision. Certainly there are indiscrepancies and omissions, but these are being remedied as has been shown by this past year's amendments."

Mrs. Rhoda Young is again the director of the May Festival. The 1957 Festival will be her nineteenth production. As a student, she participated in the first two productions.

Flower girls are Carol Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jacobs, both PLC alumni, and Dikka Schuackenberg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Schuackenberg.

Train bearer is Beth Fink, daughter of Mrs. Grace Fink.

In the two groups which will be presenting the folk art numbers are: Carol Bottomiller, Peggy Harty (Continued on page four)

PLC Shows Well At Pi Kap Meet

A "Superior" rating, the highest National Forensic award, was won by the PLC women debaters at the 20th Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament and Convention at Brookings, South Dakota. Anita Schnell, Bettelou Macdonald, and Betty Lou Bronice, in competition with more than 700 representatives from 41 states, were rated among the top ten percent, making them eligible for this award, the first to come to PLC.

Anita Schnell, president of the PLC chapter of Pi Kappa Delta and voting delegate at the Convention, received the individual award of "excellent" in extemporaneous speaking. Betty Lou Bronice, competing in both oratory and discussion, ranked in the top 15% for certificates of "excellence."

In debate, the women's team of Bettelou Macdonald and Anita Schnell scored a record of 5 wins against 2 losses to receive an "excellent" rating which ranked them with the top thirteen teams of the tourney. The men's team of Neil Munson and Don Douglas, participated together in debate for the first time at this tourney with a 3-5 record. Mr. Munson competed in oratory and extempore with a rating of "good."

Summer School Term Registration to Begin

The Registrar's office announced this week that registration for summer classes will begin next Wednesday, May 1, for students presently enrolled in the college. Registration will continue throughout the month of May. No special days or hours have been designated for specific classes. It is not necessary for students enrolled in the college to complete the form included in the Summer Catalog.

Seven and Eleven Pledge Honor Frats

Eleven people have petitioned for membership in PLC's Washington Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, the largest national honorary forensic society; and seven have officially indicated their desire to become members of the Theta Pi chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity.

This is the largest number to petition either of the two groups in several years, and is viewed by one student who is a member of both organizations as, "A happy increase in interest in our activities and the work that we do on the campus, about the community and in the nation."

Prof. Kari, advisor to both groups, said, "The group which has petitioned for membership appears to be a good nucleus for the activities of the organizations in the future. I am well pleased."

A joint banquet and formal initiation ceremonies for members and the accepted petitioners is to be held on May 10 at Tacoma's University Union Club.

Track Team Hosts Fort Lewis April 27

Pacific Lutheran College's endermen, with two track meets under their belts, are preparing for regular league competition by hosting the Fort Lewis track team tomorrow on the PLC oval at 1:30 p.m.

Fort Lewis will try to counter the offensive punch of the Lutes with a 2.8 second 100-yard dash man and a high jumper who has cleared six feet, four inches.

Two men on the PLC squad have undefeated records in their respective events. The one being John Fromm, javelin, and the miler and half miler, Ted Siek. Ted, in three runs, has won the mile twice and the half-mile once.

In their first outing of the season the Lutherans encountered the strong Seattle Pacific Falcons and were sent down to defeat by the score of 56-48. The score was balanced quite closely as PLC showed strength in the field events, but SPC, which had already been in competition at the Washington State indoor meet and the Williamette Relays, swept the sprints.

The second track meet of the season found the Gladiators traveling to Fort Lewis to meet the same team that they will face tomorrow.

Dorm Ping-Pong Nearly Finished

Coming to a completion in intramural activities was the table tennis tourney. The doubles combination of Dave Hiant and Rich Hamlin defeated the Dave Lindsey-Bob Fleming combo two straight in the final round to win the doubles championship.

In singles play, after three rounds of elimination, Al Cudahy, Rod Humble, Jim Von Schrititz, Bob Fleming, Jon Wefald, Dan Cheng, Dave Lindsey and Rich Hamlin were still in the ping-pong play.

Cudahy and Fleming met in the semi-finals, Fleming winning, and he thus was ready to meet the winner of the lower bracket, which might have been Cheng, Lindsey or Hamlin.

LET'S GO, LUTES!

Dave Crowner, Sports Editor

No doubt, if you have been on your toes, you have learned that PLC has a baseball team, and if you have really been alert you may have even found out that PLC doesn't usually do too good. In fact, some of the games for PLC have been lousy. It seems to me that at the rate PLC's baseball team is going, few good impressions are made—except for the opponents who can add another win to their record, and by now must have few qualms about meeting the Lute nine.

What it all adds up to, is that we of Pacific Lutheran have to admit that our baseball squad is not very good. I realize that the blame for these circumstances can't be pinned on any one factor, but I know for a fact that with little effort the team could become better and earn a respectable name.

Although the players themselves lose the games, I don't believe the fault can fairly be said to be theirs, for I know that many of those fellows really put their best into the games.

The fault can't be attributed to the playing, coaching, student-body support, or any one factor. Therefore, some changes should be made all the way around.

How about the practice diamond here at PLC? It doesn't have to look like Yankee Stadium, but on the other hand, why does it have to look like a gravel quarry? I propose that the baseball diamond be fixed up.

Secondly, what's with the publicity for baseball? A student never hears that the team is ever playing, and the team is never recognized. Let's hear something now and then about the team.

And then it seems as though down in the phys. ed. department there could be some real drive and enthusiasm behind getting a real fired up team. I have heard complaints as to how practice sessions have been held on some afternoons.

Of course, one has to keep in mind the purpose of Pacific Lutheran College and not lose sight of the goals of a liberal arts school. But I do believe that PLC is able to have, and deserves to have, a baseball team of which it can be proud.

Glad Tennis Men To Meet CPS, Central

Pacific Lutheran's tennis squad meets College of Puget Sound here for this afternoon's match at 2:00 p.m., and then takes on the Central team tomorrow afternoon on the opponent's court.

Yesterday afternoon the Lutes met the racketmen from Seattle Pacific College.

Today's contest against CPS seems to be fairly evenly matched, as both CPS and the Lutes took Central by the same score this season, and according to the previous meeting of PLC and Central, the Lutherans should have the edge tomorrow.

PLC Tops Central

PLC's tennis team ran up against trouble on Tuesday, April 16, as the Lutes tried to stave off a 7-0 defeat delivered by the Seattle University Chieftains. However, two days later things looked brighter on the PLC courts as the netmen outplayed Central. But, the sun wasn't as hot as the Lutes, and the match was called because of rain with PLC out in front, 5-2.

Lutes May Be Champs

Of the remaining matches, in the Evergreen Conference, the strongest opponent appears to be CPS. There are predictions that PLC can be the next tennis champs. Says Bill Johnson, player-coach, "We have the strongest team PLC has seen in years; the only thing lacking is student body support."

Lutes, Loggers Clash On Diamond Today

Baseball men from PLC travel to the Western State Hospital field (perhaps Cheney Field) to play CPS this afternoon in the second doubleheader of Evergreen Conference play.

On Tuesday, April 3, the Lutes meet Seattle Pacific for the second time this season in a practice game.

PLC, CPS Look Even

Using Western Washington as a measuring stick, today's battle could very easily be taken by the Lutes, as PLC and CPS had approximately even showings against Western earlier this season. On April 17, when the Glads played Western, the Vikings squeezed by the Lutes 5-3, and in a sloppy seventh inning scored seven runs that broke the tie and won the second tilt, 10-3.

In its Western double-header, CPS finally topped the Vikings 3-2, in the tenth inning of the first contest, and Western gathered in a 6-0 victory on four hits for the nightcap.

The Lutes are hoping for some good, steady pitching to spark their defense this afternoon.

Beat SPC Already

With some good hitting the Lutes defeated the Seattle Pacific Falcons 8-3 earlier last week, Chuck Curtis the winning pitcher; in the second battle the SPC stickmen came back to defeat the Lutes 3-1. Pacific Lutheran hopes to take two more diamond wins from Seattle this Tuesday by duplicating the 8-3 victory taken in the first meeting.

Seattle U. Wins

In the last double-header played by PLC, Seattle U. breezed by to 11-0 and 14-2 victories. Highlight of the games for the Lutes was Ron McAllister's two-run homer in the first inning of the opening game—the last runs of the day for the Lutes.

Bob Simmons threw a no-hitter for the Chieftains in the second game, with Chuck Curtis, Arden Iverson and Don May working for the Glads. Pitchers for PLC in the first game were Jerry Larson and Wally Stencil.

Baseball Results

April 5: PLC 0-0, Wash. U. 10-3.
April 9: PLC 4, Ft. Lewis 12th Inf. 3.
April 11: PLC 1, Ft. Lewis 8th Inf. 1.
April 16: PLC 3-1, Seattle P. 3-3.
April 17: PLC 3-4, Western 10-5.
April 23: PLC 0-2, Seattle U. 11-14.

Fromm Vies For Record At Drake U.

Back at the forty-eighth annual Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa, in Pacific Lutheran College's javelin tosser, John Fromm.

John will be competing against other javelin men from across the nation tomorrow, April 27, and will be aiming to break the record set in 1951 by Miller of Arizona State at 224.30 feet.

With the school paying for his travel expense, Fromm left from Sea-Tac airport last Wednesday night at 11:50 p.m. Traveling with six members of the Seattle Pacific track squad, he will continue from Minneapolis to Des Moines by new car, and the men will also be driving new cars back here to Seattle for the return trip.

First place awards for the winners of the special events and for members of the winning relay team will be gold, seventeen Jewel Drake Relays wrist-watches, and medals will be given the second, third and fourth place tracksters.

Fromm is expected to have a very good chance of breaking the javelin throw record of the Drake Relays. His toss at the Seattle Pacific meet was 222 feet, 8 inches, and in practice he threw it unofficially over 230 feet.

Mrs. Young commented: "The students taking part in the May Day festival have worked hard for many months and certainly deserve the support of the students and faculty."

More Statements . . .

"3. The student council is a coordinator and sponsor of certain ASPLC activities. However, at the present it functions as a distinct unit in student government. The ultimate end should be a certain degree of supervision over all of the ASPLC activities, especially supervision in policy."

Presidential candidate Richard Schwandt had this to say:

"1. At present, it seems, the only prerequisite is a good speaking voice so that those in Tuesday chapel may hear the announcements. Now I even doubt if a good voice is necessary since the number of people attending Tuesday chapel does not necessitate the president to speak in more than a moderate tone. A student body president should be an individual who has fresh ideas of his own, an open mind for any suggestions, and the drive and interest in student government to work toward realizing those ideas that would enhance and strengthen student government. Since he is the representative of the students he must present those ideas that represent the feelings of the majority of the students and do his utmost to achieve those goals.

"2. Our ASPLC constitution as it is now written embraces in its structure only general items that we expect to find in the constitution of any organization. We should take definite steps to include in our constitution of the student government, its powers and limitations.

"3. The Student Council should be the place where individuals from different groups, representing different segments of student life, pool their ideas and talents in order to fulfill the requests of the student body as a whole and strive to obtain those things that will strengthen student government."

VICE-PRESIDENT

Bob Aust's reply was: "The task of next year's vice-president will be to create greater student interest in campus affairs. This I believe can be done through the ICC by getting more students involved in the planning of events. However, should this student body wish to maintain government of the few, by the few, and for the few, I hope they don't elect me as their vice-president."

Don Cornell said: "In my opinion the chief duty of the vice-president should be to assist the president whenever called upon. He is the chairman of the I.C.C. and there lies the responsibility of coordinating the club activities on campus. Finally, he should be ready and willing to assume the duties which the students and administration call upon him to fulfill."

From Joe Danielson came this word: "The main contribution that any vice-president should make to the ASPLC is the faithful execution of the duties prescribed him by the constitution. At all times he must work for the majority of the students, and keep in mind all the aspects of every situation."

Keith Hoefft stated: "It is imperative that the vice-president should strive to fulfill all duties presented him by our ASPLC constitution to his fullest capabilities. Also, through the ICC, of which he is chairman, much can be done toward a well-rounded schedule of social events by developing a closely-knit council with an aim of well-coordinated and future-planned events. He must be willing, not only to accept the responsibilities given him by students and faculty, but to see that they are handled and completed in a superb manner!"

And Jon Soine answered: "Realizing that there will be a rise in enrollment in the fall of 1957-58 term, there will be an increased need for varied means of social life on campus. I think that one of the more important functions of the ASB vice-president should be to coordinate student body efforts through the ICC and the Deans socially as well as educationally along the old adage 'Building for Character!'"

SECRETARY

Skip Douglass outlined this four-point plan:

"1. Responsibility is of the most importance and this should be to both the student body and the student government.

"2. So that every student will know what is happening during the month to come, a publicity program should be worked out between the secretary and the paper along with a calendar for all to see.

"3. Enthusiasm so that each student will feel when he is asked to participate in an activity that his job is of the utmost importance and this job must be done soon. Also the zest to follow through with the work that must be done by the secretary.

"4. Cooperation and patience within the student body and the student council so that each may understand the thoughts and will of the other."

Secretarial candidate Patti Finn offered this suggestion: "The secretary can contribute to better understanding and cooperation between the student body and ASPLC leaders by keeping the students well informed through clear and accurate records concerning the affairs of their student government."

Mary Lou Sword made this remark: "The ASPLC secretary should keep accurate accounts of all student council meetings. These minutes should be compiled in a legible form, which can be referred to at any time. She should be of such character as to represent PLC and what this college stands for."

Evelyn Quast responded with: "Besides the regular duties a secretary should help promote good inter-school relationships by corresponding and any other contacts that may be made. Also she should help the students know the present activities of the school government."

TREASURER

Bob Bills emphasized: "The treasurer should be one with imagination, for after his main duty of balancing the books he should help to develop methods and activities to unite our student council to our student body."

Barbara Gronka said: "Besides balancing the books accurately, I feel that the treasurer should initiate a program in which the executive officers would present to the students the duties and functions of their respective offices. Most students are hardly aware that their student government exists, except in name only."

This statement came from Dean Limer: "The treasurer of the student body should, first of all, be efficient. Secondly, I believe that he should do as much as he can to work in harmony with the other officers in order that the students might reap the greatest benefits."

Primaries will be held on Tuesday, April 30, with finals either on Wednesday or Thursday.
