

Board of Trustees Adopts New Budget At Meeting Monday

$54,000 Allotment Made for Next School Year; Name Dr. Tingelstad to Represent P. L. C. at Meetings

A $54,000 budget for the operation of Pacific Lutheran College during the next school year was officially adopted Monday by the college Board of Trustees at its meeting in the Mayflower Hotel in Seattle. This adoption, of course, contemplates the retention of the entire present staff. As compared with the $59,000 5-year average budget for years 1928-1933, the 1934-1935 budget is short $5,000; but it is $5,000 above the budget in effect last year, which amounted to only $49,000.

At the Seattle meeting, provision was made for the representation of Pacific Lutheran College at the coming conventions of the Augustana Synod, the American Lutheran Church, and the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America. It is probable that Dr. Tingelstad will attend all these meetings.

Dr. Tingelstad was also requested to represent P. L. C. at the second Lutheran Educational Seminar at the University of Chicago next summer. This group, which will be in session from late June until sometime in August, is the same group that Dean Hauge met with last summer, which studies the higher education problems of the church.

The Board also approved the making of plans for securing accreditation by the Northwest Association.

The president of the Board of Trustees, Rev. O. L. Haavik of Seattle, was authorized to appoint a committee of three to make the preliminary plans for the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of Pacific Lutheran University, the name by which P. L. C. was first known. This event will take place next October.

Gay Party Honors Graduating Class

At a joyous party in the school dining room, members of the Freshman Class presented their annual entertainment for the Graduating Class last Friday evening. Guests were seated at tables around the edge of the room, and light was furnished by candies at each table.

As master of ceremonies, Don Piper announced the program numbers. Arnold Anderson sang several numbers, as did the quartette including Madge Harmon, Vivian Kampbell, Ellen Bergstrom and Ann Engen. Specialty numbers were given by Hazel Goff and Betty Trickey. Thelma Daniels accompanied the vocalists, and John Drelbelbis furnished piano accompaniment for the singing of old favorite tunes.

Refreshments were served, with Arnold Anderson as head waiter. Concluding the evening was a scavenger hunt in which Irene Shafland, Jean-Marie Fowler, Milton Nesvig and Willie Pfleger took the honors.

Mr. Beck, the Freshman Class adviser, and Mrs. Bondy were the chaperones. Honors for costumes best depicting the gay 90's were taken by Elna Hutson and Willie Pfleger.

Does 'Next Best Thing' To Surprise Daughter

When a student finds it impossible to spend a vacation such as Easter at home, the next best thing is to have the family come to school to visit you, according to Pearl Homme. So Mrs. G. H. Homme of Kalispell, Montana, did that next best thing and walked in on her daughter Monday, March 26—a complete surprise to Pearl.

Vivian, Pearl's younger sister, and Lenora Foss, a friend, were the other members of the surprise party. Mrs. Homme and Vivian returned to Montana on March 30, while Miss Foss remained until April 2.

Campus Day Plans Being Completed

Entire Student Body Will Be Dismissed From Classes April 20 To Join in Annual Cleanup

If weather conditions are favorable, Friday, April 20 will be set aside for the celebration of the traditional spring event—Campus Day. On that day, classes will be dismissed and students and faculty will join in cleaning the school grounds and yard. In the evening there will be a huge bonfire to dispose of all the trash collected during the day.

The entire student body will be divided into groups, each with a leader, to work in sections on the campus. At noon lunch will be served in the dining room to everyone. The afternoon will be spent in sports and in completing the campus cleanup.

Detailed plans have not yet been made, but committees are at work on arrangements. Included on these are: Rules—Oscar Anderson (chairman), Virginia Byers and Bert Myhre; refreshments—Mary Nash (chairman), Alice Peterson, Bill Potter, Eldon Anderson, Ruth Carlson and Ida Thompson; tools—Clarence Monson (chairman); "Swede" Willard, John Stuen and Paul Preis; bonfire—William Zier (chairman); John Redden, Alice Roe, and Madge Harmon; campus division—Alvenc Schlermann (chairman), Jean-Marie Fowler and Jesse Efrueger.

P. L. C. President Speaks at Seattle, Mt. Vernon Meets

Yesterday Dr. Tingelstad left for Seattle to attend the pastoral conference of the North Pacific District, which includes churches in Washington, Oregon, British Columbia and Alaska. Last night he was the speaker at the conference banquet, speaking of opportunities for Lutheran cooperation on the coast.

On Friday of this week, the president of Pacific Lutheran College will give a brief report on the year's work of this school to the Columbia Conference of the Augustana Synod, in convention this week at Mt. Vernon. At the educational rally session of this convention Sunday afternoon, the P. L. C. choir will give its final tour concert.

Dr. Schuh Talks In Chapel Monday

President of Board of Education of American Lutheran Church Tells of Life He Would Re-Live

Dr. L. H. Schuh, president of the Board of Education of the American Lutheran Church, was guest speaker at the chapel exercises Monday morning. He spoke of the three things he would emphasize in his life could he re-live it from the age of twenty.

Health is the thing which Dr. Schuh stated he would emphasize first. This, he explained, is a gift from God and should be guarded as such.

In the second place, we should be concerned about our work, since if we choose the right kind of work, we will be the right kind of men and women. He also stated that the intent of college is not to train men to earn money without working, but to train them to do more work than the average citizen. One should take up his work with all seriousness, because it makes men to be like God.

With the statement "What is the use of developing a man's head if you can't see his heart," Dr. Schuh said that religion is a third important thing he would emphasize in re-living his life. It is necessary, according to this talk, to keep connection with the unseen world.

Dr. Schuh is a former president of Capitol University, which Prof. Pfleger, who presided at Monday's chapel exercise, attended. He is now associated with the St. Paul Lutheran Church of Toledo, Ohio. He was on the Pacific Coast to attend the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Tacoma, of which Dr. Schuh is a former pastor. Rev. Butenshon, also a former pastor of Trinity congregation, accompanied Dr. Schuh on his visit to Pacific Lutheran College.

Plan May Festival

Delta Rho Gammas Will Sponsor Event on School Lawn

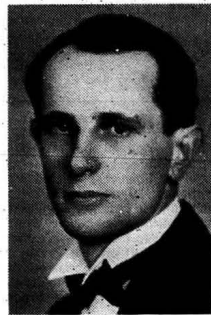

The first May Day festival in the history of the Pacific Lutheran College will be sponsored this spring by the Delta Rho Gamma girls. Dorothy Delamarter is chairman of a general committee to plan the affair, and is assisted by Irene Shafland and Jane Williams.

Preliminary plans reveal that the festival will be held in the front lawn of the school and will be regned over by a queen and her attendants. According to Evelyn Irwin, Delta Rho Gamma president, the cooperation of the entire student body will be asked in the first event of its kind planned at P. L. C.

At the last meeting of the day girls, it was decided that they hold a cake sale at some downtown department store. In charge of this are Dorothy Olphelt (chairman), Dille Quale and Elizabeth Stuen.

Announces Engagement

At her home in Silverton, Oregon, Saturday evening, March 31, Cora Gopferud, 31, announced her engagement to Alvenc Schlermann, vice president of the Pacific Lutheran College student body. A definite date for the wedding has not been set, but it will probably be sometime in August.

Prof. J. O. Edwards, who is directing the famed Pacific Lutheran College "Choir of the West" on its annual concert tour into northern Washington and British Columbia.

Choir Concerts Have Large Attendance

P. L. C. Chorists Appear Before High School Assemblies on Tour in Northern Washington

Latest reports from the choir on its annual spring concert tour reveal that the chorists are greeted with large audiences at the concerts, and are enjoying the trip.

There was a good attendance at the first tour concert given at the First Lutheran Church in Tacoma last Sunday morning. In the absence of the pastor Rev. Svenson, Dr. Tingelstad took charge of the service. After the service, the choir was served dinner in the church parlors.

From there the choir traveled to Bellingham, where a full house heard the concert given Sunday night in the Ballard First Lutheran Church. Rev. O. L. Haavik's charge.

On Monday morning, the choir appeared before two assemblies at the Everett High School. That noon they were served lunch by ladies of Rev. Norgaard's church, and presented a concert in Everett that evening.

The choir arrived in Stanwood yesterday before noon, where they were served lunch. Yesterday afternoon they sang at two different high schools, and appeared in concert last evening.

Choir Appears in Chapel Previous to Concert Tour

Last Friday morning the chapel period was turned over to the choir, following a short devotional service. The choir sang: "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," a double choir number by Bach; the negro spiritual number, "Ohlun, Come on Home"; and, "Lost in the Night," with Vivian Peterson and Pauline Watts singing solo parts. This was the last appearance of the choir at school before the concert tour which started Sunday.

On March 28, the last day of school before Easter vacation, the choir also sang before the student body in chapel. Numbers included on this program were the double choir number by Bach, "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," a Russian lullaby, "Gospodi Pomilui," and "O Sacred Head" by Gerhardt.

Graduates Will Give 'Goblin Gold' Here On Friday, May 25

William Zier Has Leading Role in Prize-Winning Comedy-Drama; Coaches Name Cast After Tryouts

"Goblin Gold," a comedy-drama in three acts will be presented in the Pacific Lutheran College gymnasium on Friday, May 25, as the annual Graduation Class production. Isabel Ecclestine Mackay is the author of the play, which won the first prize in the drama section of the Canadian Governor-General's competition in 1929.

As Simon Beamer, an uncle of the Beamer family in the play, William Zier will have the leading role. Other parts named after tryouts held last week will be taken by Kathryn Johnson as Mrs. Beamer; Ella Johnson and Jean-Marie Fowler as Ida and Baby Beamer; daughter; Ebony Whitman, Tom Beamer, a son; Virginia Byers as Brenda; Tom's wife; Clarence Lenzing, Nick Collins (hi partner), and Irene Shafland and Edgar Larson as Mrs. and Mr. Bolton-Brown.

Mr. Reid and Mrs. Taylor judged the tryouts and will coach the play. The class play committee, together with the coaches, elected the play. Committees to be in charge of details will be announced later.

Drama Club Plans Work Day April 28

To improve on its properties and facilities in the gymnasium, the Drama Club will hold its first work day Saturday, April 28. According to preliminary announcements made by Leonard Wesson, president of the group, all those in the Drama Club will meet at 3:30 that afternoon to repair, clean and build new club properties.

At 6 o'clock in the evening, dinner will be served to the members of the club in the dining room. To conclude the day, there will be a party in the gym, with Evelyn Irwin and Evelyn Monson in charge.

Norman Westling is general chairman for the work day. The manual labor will be under the direction of John Van Leuven and Ferdinand Bondy, while Virginia Byers is in charge of cleaning up the property-rooms and putting up a new cyclorama.

Friday, April 27, the night before the work day, has been set as the date for the next Drama Club plays.

Professor Beck Speaks At French Club Meeting

Presenting a summary of the Stovisky swindling affair, Mr. Beck spoke to the French Club last Friday noon at its meeting in the music studio. He pointed out that deplorable conditions prevail in France at the present time. French pawn shops, unlike those in the United States, are owned and operated by the municipal government, according to Mr. Beck.

At some later meeting Mr. Beck will speak to the club on the present political situation in France.

An Organization Is Needed

There is a small group of students in our school that is not enjoying social advantages equal with those of the rest of our students; this little group is the dormitory girls. This, however, is not due to any shortcoming of the school, but to the lack of some organization within the student body that would enable these girls to mingle with the day girls, who could introduce them into the proper social circles of Tacoma and its suburbs. The dorm girls, to be sure, have their own little club, but having only nine members at present, it can do but little for these girls socially. The Delta Rho Gamma, on the other hand, is a large organization, and could do much for the dormitory girls to whom outings and house parties naturally means more than to those who live at home, or with friends or relatives.

We are not familiar with the constitution of the Delta Rho Gamma and do not know whether it could be so amended as to admit the girls from the dormitories. If not, we would suggest that some organization be formed that will make it possible for these girls to make friends and acquaintances among the rest of the women students of our school and thus widen their all too narrow social horizon. We can readily understand that school life at times is monotonous to these girls who know practically no one outside their own group.

What Can Be Done?

What can be done to eliminate the distracting and highly unpleasant noises in chapel during the opening of our daily exercises? Despite Dr. Tingelstad's repeated pleadings there are still a few students, half a dozen or so, who are talking and laughing aloud while Mr. Edwards plays his beautiful preludes. It is a pity that these students, who constitute such a small minority of our group, shall be allowed to so disturb the devotional spirit for the rest of the group. By their conduct they not only display a profound disrespect for the sacredness of God's temple and a contempt for the rights and wishes of others, but they expose to public view the homes from which they come. We do not believe that these students act as they do with malice aforethought, but purely from ignorance or lack of gray matter. If the latter is the case, this article is not addressed to them. It is addressed to you ladies and gentlemen, who, we are glad to say, constitute the vast majority of our group, in the hope that you may find some way of bringing this matter to the attention of the offenders.

We believe this is a matter of greatest importance to our school, for chapel exercises are a vital part of our school life, and anything that tends to lessen their value should be promptly eliminated. When the outstanding orator and theologian Professor Hallesby delivered a sermon in an Eastern city some years ago, he said to the mother of an unruly boy: "Take that child out!" He would allow nothing to disturb the work of the Holy Spirit. While the disturbing elements at our services are not exactly children, they act as such, and should, if other means fail, be dealt with accordingly.

Valuable Improvements

Parkland, the home of Pacific Lutheran College, could rightly fly the blue eagle from every house top, for it certainly does "do its part." This unincorporated community has through the efforts of Parkland Light & Water company, which is a mutual corporation buying its current from Tacoma, completed installation of street lights on Pacific and Park avenues, and will later also light the cross streets. The current was turned on for the first time Saturday night by the photo-electric cell—called the automatic electric eye—which is to "stand guard and turn the lights on and off each day with twilight and dawn." It is said to be "the first automatic installation of lights governed by the photo-electric cell in this part of the country."

These improvements are, of course, of much value to Pacific Lutheran College, and Parkland Light & Water company should be commended for its courage to go ahead with such improvements in times like these. It has not, however, proven any financial hazard to the company to install these lights, as it has no indebtedness, although it has sold its current at the same rates that the city of Tacoma charges its customers. All of which goes to show what cooperation and sound business sense can do.

"Which would you prefer in your husband—wealth, ability, or appearance?" asked Virginia Boen of Dorothy Delamarer.

"Appearance," Dorothy replied, "and the sooner the better."

Miss Reneau: What is 1/5 of 3/17?
Sweede Willard: I don't know exactly, but it isn't enough to worry about.

Mr. Hong: You missed my class the other day.
Lloyd: Not in the least, I assure you.

Buck O'Connor: How did you happen to fall down in your history test?
Milton Nesvig: Why, Mr. Beck asked me about things that happened before I was born.

Eleanor Raudenbough: Isn't it rather hard to eat soup with a moustache?
Clifford Mesford: Well, it is quite a strain.

Mr. Haug (during exam): Young man, what do you have to say about that writing you have on your cuff?
Clarence Lemming: Isn't it terrible the way the laundry treats one's shirts.

Mr. Pflueger: You can't sleep in my class.
Dutch Moe: If you would talk lower, I could.

Kampus Komments

When this sheet comes off the press, yours truly will be in Ankorates and we'll just bet that the old school's pretty lonesome without the choir kids. Oh yes, we miss you, too—?

Don't believe a word you read in this issue about staff members in the choir, 'cause they aren't on hand to defend themselves and are at the complete mercy of those remaining. Don't believe a word of it!

Wasn't the party Friday a wow! All you Frosh and Grads that didn't come missed something. With genial Don Piper as master of ceremonies, a swell program was given and the eats (and drinks) surely hit the spot.

Ever hear of the P. L. C. Floradora girls? Well, you probably never will again. The barrage of sugar lumps, waste paper, gum wrappers, etc. thrown at them during their first—and last—vocal attempts put a finale to their careers. Nice costumes, too, girls.

Local boys make good. Mr. Highby and Clarence Monson had parts in the last play given by the Radford Players, "Why Marry." This was Clarence's first appearance with this group, but Mr. Highby has been in several plays of late. Nice work, fellows, more power to you.

Guess outdoor classes are getting to be a fad. Last week Prof. Bardon took some of his classes out in the great school of Nature. Outdoor classes must be conducive to study, for Prof. Bardon is the third to take his classes out. Who's next?

These profs who seat their students alphabetically have done more than one favor. Look what happened to Wrang and Westling, Nash and Nesvig, and McClure and Monson.

One of the saddest items ever to appear in these columns is the notice of Major's death. Of all things loved around P. L. C., Major was our dearest. He had a greater part in our campus life than some of us believe. He shall rest near our kicking post. May we suggest a memorial?

From the second item appearing in this column it would seem that Milton Nesvig has a guilty conscience. Better not lead the choir members too far astray. But, of course, we miss you, too, Tish, Tish!

Mr. Ramstad (in chemistry): Name three articles containing starch, Miss Wesson.

Margaret: Two cuffs and a collar.

Miss Reneau (in child lit.): Now, Miss Norby, what happened when the cow jumped over the moon?

Volly N.: Someone got an idea for vanishing cream.

Mr. Ramsiad: "Borax is used for washing."

Eugene B.: "Where do the mules come in?"

"Is man a free agent?" asks Professor Pflueger in Ethics class.

"Not while he is going with a dame," replies Oscar Anderson.

Mr. Beck: Where is Hawaii?
Bert Myhre (awakening): What?
Mr. Beck: Hawaii?
Bert: Oh, I'm all right.

Mr. Bardon: Mr. Haugen, have you read "Little Women"?

Ernie: No, sir.

Mr. B.: Have you read "Little Men"?

Ernie: No, sir.

Mr. B.: Well, what have you read?
Ernie: I have read flannels, sir.

Mr. Hong: I find great pleasure in giving you B in English.

Don Reid: Make it A, and enjoy yourself.

Floyd: Mr. Highby, is it true that rabbits bark?

Mr. Highby: Of course not. Whatever gave you that idea?

Floyd: Well, I read in my Biology book that rabbits eat cabbage and bark.

Mr. Stuen, our perfectly bald adviser, is offering a reward of one thousand dollars for a tale that will make his hair stand on end.

The ball player was declared mentally deficient because they found he was off his base.

Ray H.: This dinner tastes just like the ones mother used to serve.
Lloyd T.: Of course. It comes from the same delicatessen store.

Mr. Stuen: Johnny, the essay you intend handing to your teacher this morning is the poorest in a long time.

Johnny S.: Aw, don't be too disappointed, ma'. Dad had a hard day at the office yesterday.

Chapel Gleanings

The miracles of Jesus alone should be enough to substantiate the strength of our belief in Christ.

Easter brings to us the hope for immortality in this life and the life to come.

Let us be more thankful to God for the glory that is ours through Easter and the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

—Pflueger.

The human nature of Christ suffered all the humiliation that it was possible for any human nature to bear.

—Xavier

Although the Lord Jesus Christ, His cross, and all His words, He always emerges victorious.

Shall the Lord Jesus-Christ emerge victorious in our individual lives?

That Jesus Christ emerges victorious in our lives meets our needs for all personal battles.

Unless you keep close to Jesus in His Word in the Scriptures, He will not be victorious in you.

The Word of God clears up all difficulties and divides truth from error.

Only one thing is a safe guide—the Word of God, of which Jesus Christ is the center from beginning to end.

—Tingelstad

There are truths in the Christian religion that even the most unlearned can grasp and thereby be saved.

The most educated people can study the Word of God and still not know all it contains, for there are things in His Word which no man will ever understand.

—Ramstad.

H. McCormick Wins Top Place in 1934 Golf Tournament

High School Sophomore Beats College Graduate By Default in Links Competition; 13 Playing in Ladder Tournament

The 1934 school golf tournament came to an end last week with Harry McCormick, a high school sophomore, carrying off the top honors. He came through the finals with victories over Norman Westling, Ray Hinderlie, and Paul Preus. Westling copped the second spot with wins over John Stuen and Bud Lehmann.

There has been little action in the second division, with only three matches played to date. In these, Paul Larson defeated Herbert Norgaard, Milton Nesvig took Bill Mackie, and Ebon Anderson won Ferdinand Bondy.

In the ladder tournament, each player may challenge any two above him. By winning, the challenger takes the higher position, moving those below him down one place. The person challenged must be willing to play within three days or forfeit. According to Mr. Olson, this law may not be enforced if a player finds it impossible to play.

Those who are in the ladder tournament are eligible for competition in the order named: Harry McCormick, Norman Westling, Alvin Lehmann, Ray Hinderlie, Paul Preus, John Stuen, Lloyd Thompson, Orvill Dahl, Paul Larson, Osten Ellason, Harold Trulsson, Herbert Norgaard, and Orville Schlanbush. Anyone not on the list may enter the tournament by challenging and defeating either of the last two on the list.

Sport Slants

By Milton Nesvig

All tennis team aspirants hearken. Upon the return of the choir a tournament will begin immediately. As the school courts are not in shape, most of the matches will be played in town. Everybody interested should sign up in Coach Olson's office, and as soon as the tournament begins, play your opponent and get it over with. The matches must be run off in a hurry as a tennis schedule is being arranged and a team must be chosen soon.

S. S.

With Harry McCormick's default win over Norm Westling, the upper part of the tournament is completed. This spring tournament was run off in double quick time, the boys playing their matches as soon as possible. That's the stuff, fellows—nice goin', and good luck for the coming season.

S. S.

The Glad golf squad this year looks pretty good and should go places again this year. They have a fine schedule ahead of them with lots of stiff competition, but they'll be out there playin' real golf and will take their share of matches.

S. S.

Many inquiries have been received regarding the cup for the State J. C. Title. Clarence Lemming wrote to the donors, the Yakima Lion's Club, regarding it, but has received no word in return. He believes, though, that some definite news will be forthcoming in the near future.

S. S.

Talk about your good ball games. Last Thursday the dorm and day boys played the closest game seen on the local diamond in many moons. For eight and a half innings, both teams fought 'em even terms neither team scoring. Finally the day boys took advantage of the breaks and punched a few runs across. Wottballgame!

S. S.

If you want to see some good exhibitions and some real rivalry, come out to the ball field on Tuesdays and Thursdays. After the choir trip a league will be arranged and right now it looks like there will be a neck and neck battle between the dorm and day teams.

Golf Squad to Compete in Scheduled Matches

The matches arranged for the 1934 golf team will make the finest schedule in the history of this organization according to reports. Olson has definitely scheduled matches with Columbia University of Portland, Aberdeen Junior College, the College of Puget Sound, and Bellingham State Normal. The squad, subject to changes in order made during the ladder tournament will consist of Harry McCormick, Norman Westling, "Bud" Lehmann, Ray Hinderlie, Paul Preus, and John Stuen in the order named.

Baseball Teams Organizing
The intramural baseball program which has been arranged for the boys' physical education classes is developing nicely. The dorm students have organized and are under the leadership of Milton Nesvig whom they elected captain. The day students likewise have organized and will be led by their captain, Paul Larson. The shakers will also organize if they find that they have enough material.

Miss Rohlman Changes Girls' Gym Activities

According to Miss Rohlman, the girls' gym instructor, the program for the girls' gym is to be changed so as to give each girl an opportunity to take up what activity she wishes. The Monday periods will be continued as they are, with baseball as the principal sport. The Wednesday periods will be turned over to tennis and golf, and later hiking. This will give those girls who do not know these sports, a good opportunity to learn.

In a week or two, tennis and golf tournaments will be started, and those who have not already signed up for them, and wish to, are urged by Miss Rohlman to see her as soon as possible.

Tennis Matches Scheduled; New Men to Compose Team

An interesting schedule has been arranged for the Pacific Lutheran College tennis squad of 1934. Coach Olson announced that matches have been definitely arranged with Aberdeen, Mt. Vernon, and Centralia Junior Colleges, and another tentatively with St. Martins.

According to Coach Olson, the spring tennis tournament will be run off immediately upon the return of the choir. The success of this year's team will depend almost entirely on the amount of new material available, as there are no former lettermen returning.

A pun note from the Los Angeles Junior College Collegian: Pasadena Junior College recently spent $100,000 for temporary tent housing alone; class work there probably will be intense this year.

Burt Kreidler Weds In Tacoma Sunday

Assistant Dean of Men Takes Wife, Former Louise Donati, To Alaska on Wedding Journey

On Sunday afternoon at the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, Louise Donati of Los Angeles was united in marriage to Burton Kreidler, assistant dean of men at Pacific Lutheran College. Dr. O. A. Tingelstad officiated at the ceremony.

Parkland talent furnished the wedding music, with Prof. Edwards playing the wedding march, the Faculty Ladies' Quartette singing "I Love You Truly" and "The Bells of St. Mary's", and Mrs. F. E. Hauge singing "O Promise Me."

Immediately following the ceremony, 150 guests assembled in the church parlors for the wedding reception and to wish the young people Godspeed. Mr. and Mrs. Kreidler left Monday on the MS Northland for a wedding journey to Alaska, where the new home will be established.

Walter French '33 and Stanley Dahl '30 were ushers at the wedding.

Reporter Finds That P. L. C. Has Interesting Trophies in Library Case

The Pacific Lutheran College trophy case which makes its show between the tiers of books in the library, was opened recently in the interests of seeing what it contained. Judging from the thick layer of dust over everything the case had not been opened for many months.

In order of the years, the first trophy dates back to 1908 when P. L. C. captured the championship of the Tacoma Interscholastic Basketball League. This is a large three-handled enamel finished cup.

A smaller cup was titled "M. L. Davis Baseball Trophy." It was dated 1915. On it was inscribed "Won by Commercial."

The class of 1925 is responsible for the next four cups. On these the names of the two graduating students, a boy and girl each in the high school and college divisions who have been of greatest inspiration to their fellow students. The names range from 1926 to 1932, last years not having been added yet. "The two larger are the college trophies, the two smaller, the high school trophies.

The last trophy is that of the Mahncke Jewelry Company. Each year two P. L. C. students having the highest scholastic average in the high school and college departments have their names engraved on it. The names date from 1929 when Edgar Larson won the award for two consecutive years in high school and in 1932 in college.

Above are shown Nettie Olson '33, now teaching at Edgewood, and Major, the College Mascot, who was run over and killed by an automobile in Parkland last Sunday morning. The above picture was taken by the Tacoma News Tribune and ran in that paper last May when Major was officially adopted by vote of the Associated Students as the Pacific Lutheran College Mascot.

Major, P. L. C. Mascot, Run Over and Killed; Buried Monday Afternoon Near Kicking Post

Major, the shaggy dog who once roamed the campus as school mascot, is dead. He was run over last Sunday morning in Parkland, a few blocks from the school. No longer will this friendly little pup follow the couples to the kicking post; no longer will he meet the street car riders in the early morning. He has frisked his last with the students.

Coming to Pacific Lutheran College several years ago, he decided he liked the place and stayed. Though attempts were made to return him to his owner, they were all in vain, for Major preferred Pacific Lutheran College to be his home. Therefore, he was officially

Many College Students Recognized Longfellow As Favorite Instructor

Henry W. Longfellow, recognized as one of the most famous American poets today, was the favorite professor of the student body at Harvard, where for eighteen years he occupied the chair of modern literature and languages.

His originality and freshness, his great charm of presence and manner, his ability to be "the life of the party" in any social circle, his lively humor and wit, alienated him so entirely from the category into which the proverbial professor so often falls, that we rarely today think of this great educator in terms of pedantry.

He was quite ahead of his time in technique and class room decorum. The modern trend is towards socialized recitations in a comfortable, cozy environment. Today when professors design a special classroom a la drawing room, where the student, without being aware of it, is supposed to absorb culture, knowledge, and attitudes, it is news.

Almost a hundred years ago, Professor Longfellow, garbed in the resplendent collegiate clothes of the time (cravat and waistcoat) met his class in a sort of parlor, carpeted, hung with pictures, and quite handsomely furnished. Teacher and students sat around a mahogany table, which was meant for the dinners of trustees, and the whole affair took on the aspect of a friendly gathering in a private house, where the study of German was the amusement of the occasion. Students committed German ballads to memory without knowing it.

So familiar was Longfellow with the themes of the literature under discussion, and ready in speech, that he would read Don Quixote into translation and almost into verse.

Mr. Longfellow always addressed students as "Mr.—," a rare thing in those days. It was for him the respect of all the young men at school. One time, when a student rebellion began to threaten, and the other professors were unable to manage the angry mob, Mr. Longfellow began to speak and the students instantly became quiet, saying, "Let's hear Longfellow, he always treats us as gentlemen."

He recognized individual differences in his students, appreciating an acute intellect, but was always willing to help those who came along more slowly. No man had less of the schoolmaster, or of the cut-and-dried technical wisdom which so often makes the title of professor synonymous with Tassil.

Personals

On Monday night, Rhoda Hokenstad entertained Valborg Norby, Marie Wrang, Margaret Wesson, Mary Nash and Alice Peterson at her home in Snohomish.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad was guest speaker at the Sunday morning service of the First Lutheran Church in Tacoma last Sunday. Prof. Ramstad conducted the evening service in that church on the same day.

As the house guest of Berglot Vogan, Irene Shafland was in Portland during vacation.

Clarence Monson and Prof. Highby had parts in "Why Marry," a production of the Radford players presented last Thursday and Friday evenings in Tacoma.

Jack Hudson and Charles Leask spent last week-end in Seattle.

Louise Jackson was ill during Easter vacation with an attack of appendicitis.

Gene Jack has been out of school for more than a week with throat trouble.

Ervin Dammel, who finished his work in the Liberal Arts department here last semester, left last week for the Hawaiian Islands. He plans to enter the University of Hawaii next fall.

After the concert in Seattle Sunday evening, Osten Eliassen honored twenty choir members at a party at his home.

Mrs. Tingelstad Entertains

Girls of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation met last Tuesday, April 3, at the home of Mrs. Tingelstad, with Mrs. Tingelstad and Mrs. L. Larson as hostesses. The program presented included a reading by Margaret Wesson; a violin solo by Winifred Butsch; a paper—"L. D. R. a Stepping Stone to Women's Missionary Federation," by Rhoda Hokenstad; and a report on the W. M. F. meeting in Seattle by Virginia Mahncke. Following the program was the business meeting at which the organization decided to have its picture in the Saga.

Alumni

Harold Gray '31, now teaching at Midland Junior High School, has coached his boys' basketball team to the winning of the Pierce County League championship.

Helen Collins '33 is working near Stellacoom Lake.

Christine Knutsen '27, now teaching at Burlington, visited at school last week.

Tingelstad Attends Educational Meets

On April 2, Dr. O. A. Tingelstad went to Spokane where he attended the organization meetings of two educational associations. Dr. Edward H. Todd, president of the College of Puget Sound was elected first president of the Association of Independent Colleges of Washington State.

The other new organization, the western association of Independent Colleges, has for its head Pres. Ward W. Sullivan of Whitworth College in Spokane. Representatives from the states of Washington, Oregon, California, Utah, Idaho and Montana were present at the first meeting of this group.

Both these new organizations represent an attempt on the part of the church-related colleges and other independent colleges to face common problems and in part to lend strength for character education.

Dr. Tingelstad also attended the meeting of the Northwest Association of Colleges and Secondary schools, which is the general accrediting agency in the Pacific Northwest. Of particular interest to his friends at P. L. C. is the re-election of Dean Frederick E. Bolton of the University of Washington as the second vice president and thereby chairman of the commission of accreditation of this group.

During his stay in Spokane Dr. Tingelstad was entertained by Rev. and Mrs. M. B. Tollefson. He returned to Parkland last Thursday morning.

Germans Hear Program

Members of the German Club were entertained with a short program at their meeting yesterday. Clara Kuhnhausen read "Das Deutsche Schulsystem" and "Die Hoheren Schulen in Deutschland," and Herbert Hopp read "Auf der Deutschen Universitat" in German, giving a resume of its contents afterwards in English. The singing of German songs concluded the meeting.
