However you say it, come celebrate the Language Resource Center opening

It's a fiesta, a s'viata, a fest, a celebration! The Language Resource Center hosts its grand opening from 3:30 to 5 pm on Jan. 24 at its new home in Mortvedt Library. All are welcome to come and enjoy refreshments and live music by a mariachi band, and say thanks to the representatives from the Charles E. Culpeper Foundation, the source that funded equipment for the center.

Lecture series, banquet celebrate Black History Month

John Stanford, Seattle Schools' superintendent, presents the first of four lectures by four different community leaders on "The Power of Difference: Challenges, People and Schools" at 5:15 pm on Feb. 10 in the CK. The lecture has been moved from its original time to precede the Black History Month Banquet, which begins at 6:30 pm in the SCC. The lecture series continues through the week, with Tim Sullivan, Auburn High School administrator, speaking at 4:30 pm on Feb. 12, Bernardean Broadous, prosecuting attorney for Thurston County, speaking at 4 pm on Feb. 13, and William Ponder, registrar at Pierce College, speaking at 4 pm on Feb. 14, all in the Regency Room. Banquet tickets are $15 and the lectures are free. For banquet reservations, call 7195.

First Steps gives thanks for Christmas gifts

A sincere (although belated) thank you goes out to the following individuals and offices that provided Christmas gifts for First Steps families. Your generosity is greatly appreciated! Thanks to Academic Advising, Alumni & Parent Relations, ASPLU, Campus Ministry, Career Development, Communication & Theatre, Counseling & Testing, Dining Services, Graduate Studies, Health Center, the Laura Majovski family, Library, Provost's Office, Residential Life, and Student Life.

January on the Hill receives grant

The Ben B. Cheney Foundation awarded Sara Officer (Physical Education) a grant to assist students of the January on the Hill class in renovating a basement for the Family Shelter Network. The grant was given through Associated Ministries of Tacoma/Pierce County.

Although there may not yet be a movie documenting the blast of freezing rain that hit western Washington just after Christmas, there are pictures of what the ice storm did to campus available on the web. Gene Gatlin (Library) has 18 pictures of frozen limbs, snapped trees and blocked buildings at PLU that he took on Dec. 27 available on his web page: <http://www.plu.edu/~gatlinet/icestorm.html>.

KPLU's on the web, too!

When you've finished viewing the ice storm photos on the web, check out KPLU's very own web site at <http://www.kplu.org>.

Health Services calls the shots: safe!

The media has brought to public attention lately that flu shot serum made by the Parke-Davis company was not fully effective. But don't sweat too much. According to PLU Health Services, the shots given in its facility were from Wyeth-Ayerst Laboratories, and were fully effective, so people who received shots there need not worry.

Sotto Voce prepares to close

All inventory at Sotto Voce, except for their popular oils and vinegars, is half-price until its gone. The store, located at 508 Garfield St., plans to close in late February, moving to a different locale where it will continue to produce flavored oils. The store is open 10 am-6 pm.

A look at Lutheran higher education

All faculty and administrators are invited to "Why Are Lutherans Involved in Higher Education?" the topic of a noon luncheon with PLU Regent James Unglaube. Throughout the day, Unglaube -- who also serves as ELCA director for colleges and universities -- will also meet with the PLU Academic Council, Religion and Humanities faculty, and other faculty leaders to share what other Lutheran campuses are doing. Registration is required for the complimentary luncheon; call Church Relations, 7423, to check on availability of openings.

CPR class available

A free CPR/First Aid class will be offered from 8 am-4:30 pm on Jan. 28 in the

In a large and information-packed building like the library, it's easy to overlook some of the most helpful features. Library orientation tours will point you to the important services and resources the library has to offer. Meet at the lobby at the following times for a 30-45 minute tour -- no reservations are required. Tours start at 3 pm and 4 pm on Feb. 4, 7 pm on Feb. 6, noon on Feb. 10, and 11 am on Feb. 12.

A support group for non-traditional students

Did you know that 25 percent of PLU's student body is 25 years old or older? If you're one of those students, consider joining PLU's Non-traditional Student Association, a group formed in conjunction with the new National NTSA. Interest meetings will be held at 10 am on Jan. 28, at 3 pm on Jan. 29, at 5:30 pm on Feb. 10, at 12:30 pm on Feb. 11, at 8 am on Feb. 12 and at 3:30 pm on Feb. 13 in UC 206. If you have questions, contact Marty Mogk, ASPLU non-traditional student senator, at 863-5392 or e-mail to biophiliac@aol.com.

Discussion of hate groups opens CommUniversity

"Getting In and Out of Hate Groups" will be the topic of the opening convocation speech for CommUniversity '97, an adult education program for Pierce County that will be held at PLU in February. Convocation speaker James Aho, a sociologist and author from Idaho State University, will discuss the sociological story of how individuals migrate into and occasionally out of hate groups. His presentation is based on personal field research through in-depth interviews with skinheads and members of the Aryan Nations. CommUniversity will offer 18 courses on a variety of topics from 3-5:30 pm on the four Sunday afternoons in February at PLU. The opening convocation will begin at 2 pm in the CK. Tickets are $5. Additional classes will be held in the North End, South Tacoma, Puyallup and the TCC area on dates through April. Subjects vary from Celtic Christianity to healthy lifestyles to "buildings of God" in Pierce County, and PLU staff and faculty serve as some of the teachers. For a Regency Room. The course is open to all PLU employees. The 8-hour course meets state requirements and includes a two-year certification card. Pediatric CPR is also available for an additional $5 fee. Class size is limited. Call Nancy Scott, 7233, to register.

Forensics hosts high school debaters

PLU Forensics will host the T.O.H. Karl High School Speech and Debate Tournament from Jan. 30-Feb. 1. The event will draw 1,200 high school students to campus to compete (that's who all those young folks carting around full file boxes will be).

brochure or more information, call Kathy Johnson, 7423.

Church Relations hosts theological symposium

PLU is one of four stops on the Northwest Theological Symposium lecture tour, hosted here by Church Relations. The symposium, called "Individual Rights and Corporate Responsibility: the National Debate from a Biblical and Theological Perspective," will be held from 6 to 9:30 pm on Feb. 4 in the SCC. The event features two short lectures as well as a buffet dinner. Terry Fretheim of Luther Seminary will discuss "The Rich and the Poor: the Prophets, Politics and the Year 2000," and Gary Pence will speak on "Parents and Politics: the Cradle of Civic Life." Registration is $20. Call 7423 for information and registration.

Coming Attractions at MBR

Augustana Choir -- Feb. 5

Augustana College Choir from Sioux Falls, S.D., performs at 8 pm.

Violin Solo -- Feb. 6

Violinist Marta Kirk performs the works of Wieniawski, Telemann and Paganini in an 8 pm recital.

Kirk Isakson (University Communications-TV) and Anne Hirsch (Nursing) were involved with the production of an award-winning nursing video, featuring community health nurse Betty Bekemeier '84 in a one-person play. The play is a historical portrayal of Lillian Wald, who founded community health nursing and established innovative and creative nursing care programs in the early 1900s. Bekemeier had wanted to find a way to present the play to as many nurses and nursing agencies interested in community health nursing as possible. With the help of Isakson, Hirsch and Janet Primono at the University of Washington-Tacoma, she produced "Lillian Wald: At Home on Henry Street." The two-hour video won the Region Multimedia Award from the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing. Patricia Hughes (Nursing) will accept the award at the Region 1 Assembly in Salt Lake City on Feb. 7.

Amy Kramer (Alumni & Parent Relations) has left PLU to take a position with the admissions and alumni departments of Seattle University Law School, located in Tacoma. Linda Satterlee, from Parkland, has stepped into the senior office assistant position. She comes to us from Foundation Health.

Joel Markquart (University Printing & Publications) has left his post as pre-press design assistant to do web and graphic design for a company called InterFlow. He will be staying in the area, and plans to supplement his income with freelance work.
