

With Our Last Year's Graduates

Class of '25 Widely Scattered. Many Resumé School Work

The members of the class of 1925 are now pursuing their courses in various fields.

For the majority graduation did not mark the cessation of school life but it gave them inspiration to further pursue their studies.

LIBRARY INCREASED DURING VACATION

The college library has, during the summer months been increased by the addition of 1300 volumes. Among these are 40 educational volumes which were purchased for the new Normal Department. The list also includes a new set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and works of Science, Theology, Literature and History.

This extension of the library necessitated the addition of a Library Annex, directly across the hall. Here was placed the fiction as well as all books on religion.

Librarian Xavier and his class in Library Instruction are going to pocket each book and prepare loan-cards, so the card system of drawing books can be established this year.

CALIFORNIAN FAVORABLY IMPRESSED

Mr. Emil H. Erickson, Live Oak, California, who paid the college a brief visit last July, was so favorable impressed with our school that he intends to send his boy here next year. He is subscribing for the Mooring Mast to keep in touch with what is going on at our school.

FACULTY RECEPTION GIVEN FOR STUDENTS

The P. L. C. Faculty gave their annual reception to the students on Saturday evening, September 26, at the College building. The rooms were colorfully decorated with bouquets of autumn leaves and baskets of cut flowers. After the formal reception of guests the hosts presented the following program:

Address of Welcome, President Orin.

Vocal Solo, Mrs. J. O. Edwards, Piano Solo, "Nightingale" by Lutz, J. O. Edwards.

Short Talk, Rev. Bloomquist. Vocal Solo, Mrs. Bloomquist.

Thereafter the evening's entertainment consisted of humorous competitive games, under the direction of Miss Parr. Later, light refreshments were served.

P. L. C. STUDENTS ATTEND FAIR

Monday, September, 21st, was children's day at the "Bigger and Better" Puysallup Fair. Did we go? Uh! hah, we went. Because of a few engagements with several profs we could not get away until after noon, but we made good time after we got going. A big bus came for us at one o'clock, and forty-five of us "children" climbed in. When we arrived at the gate, there was a short delay. We soon discovered that the gateman must look us over to decide whether we were school age or not. It is rumored that one of the teachers got in as a very precocious youngster, where upon the other teachers decided to shorten their locks and their skirts ere another year rolls around.

Yes, we cannot afford to miss the Fair. It is educational. For instance, those interested in Biology carefully examined the "caterpillar" and the "hot dogs". They declared that the former is wonderfully and fearfully made on the inside, while the latter produces queer and unexpected commotions on the inside. Some of the children acquired Kewpie dolls. One of the boys brought home a little lady all dressed up in blue. Now she is all "lit up" at night, and the boy always has his lessons—for the baby doll sheds light on his subjects. Yes, Lady Luck just trails some folks around. Speaking of luck, did any of we children see any of the teachers after we got inside? I did not, but then I did not patronize the dancing pavilion or the side shows. Well, we had a heap of fun, anyhow, and hope that they will continue to feature children's day at the Western Washington Fair.

P.L.C. PRESENTED LOVING CUPS

Aim of Donors Is to Promote Tradition and Scholarship

A school without tradition is like a family without a family tree. Every well established college acquires tradition sooner or later and without them its students have very little to remind them of former years and classes. The gift from the class of '25 was presented to create and promote tradition.

Four silver loving cups representing four honors is the gift. They were purchased with the proceeds from the class play "All On Account of Polly." Two cups are for a boy and a girl from the college department and two are for a boy and a girl from the High School.

The boys are to be chosen annually by the faculty who shall understand the term "fair play" and clean sportsmanship, to include not alone those qualities and characteristics that have to do with the finest type of work on the athletic field, but the faculty shall also consider the student's record of scholarship and his respect for authority; his genuine interest in real life of the school; his devotion and loyalty to the best interests of the school; his genuine purpose of Pacific Lutheran College.

The girls are also to be chosen by the faculty who shall consider any girl of health and vigor eligible for the award. Scholarship shall be interpreted to mean earnest, consistent and honest work. Womanliness shall be understood to imply modesty in dress and general demeanor, the love of the beautiful, the good, the true and helpfulness towards others.

The purpose of these cups is to have every student do his best to obtain the honor of being a representative of his High School or College class as an all around gentleman or a girl with true womanhood as the basis of her character.

With Former Faculty Members

THE YEAR AHEAD

School again! Classes! Vacation is gone, and another school year has opened at P. L. C. Another year stretches before us, with untold opportunities—a year bright with high hopes, with possibilities for achievement. In our hands, fellow students, is the making of this year. Days come and go, weeks lengthen into months, and soon we look back upon the year that was. Swiftly and surely this school year, 1925-1926 is slipping away, and with it, the opportunities. Are we taking advantage of them as they are offered us each day? Are we putting forth our best efforts in our lessons? Are we taking an active part in the organizations within the school? Are we boosting P. L. C.? Are we striving to help our school or are we knockers, constantly looking for fault?

This year is now with us for the making—it will never come again. When, in after years we look back, will it be with a feeling of satisfaction or regret that we regard 1925-1926 at P. L. C.?—M. H.

PURPOSE AND POLICY

There must be a purpose for all things, a policy for all papers.

The purpose of the Mooring Mast is to give to the subscribers including faculty, students and alumni, the news of the school. The staff aims to fulfill this purpose and with the help of all concerned expect to put forward a paper worthy of Pacific Lutheran College.

The policy of this newspaper is to give to its adherents the news which will be of interest to the student body, faculty and alumni of this college and to do this on an economical and business like basis.

To this policy and purpose the staff of '25 and '26 dedicates itself. L. A. D.

LOOKING FORWARD

The addition of the accredited normal course now offered to students will mean much for P. L. C.

Parkland is only a few miles from Tacoma, a city that millions of people are hearing about each year, and can be reached in a few minutes by street car. Tacoma, and Seattle, another large city, are the railroad and shipping centers of Washington. These two cities are only forty miles apart, the fare being 60 cents by boat.

This means that P. L. C. is one of the nearest colleges, offering a normal course, to the center of travel in the State. This means a great deal for the college, bigger libraries for the students' use, larger industries to be studied, a better chance to study city school systems and their methods of teaching, and ideal surroundings to live in.

With conditions so favorable and new students that are bound to come, after hearing of the work P. L. C., from other schools, the college will be busy adding more room and equipment for its new students.

P. L. C. graduates will do fine work in the schools that they will teach and they will tell about the college and splendid opportunities offered by the school, they will tell about the President and faculty, who radiate character in their teachings. Their work will also speak for the college.

The Normal department has several first and second year students enrolled now and deep in studies, with more students on their way.

These students come from all parts of Washington, Oregon, and California for the type of work they get here.

This course is offered to any student graduating from high school with a minimum of 32 credits. E. A.

The Mission Society will continue to meet for one hour every Wednesday evening.

The Average Man

Dear, this is a singular plight! If I'm five and nineteen the average man belongs to a species of at least five-foot ten, slightly helpless and over self confident, but interesting quite interesting.

If I'm a critic and essayist, a woman who raids statistics for amusement, I'm sure that the "average man" refers to the baldheaded jolly year old being. One who is a complacent, successful business or professional man and is beginning to think of turkish baths and golf as "a good means to control his avoidpoups."

Anybody can be an essayist but they can't be me. All young men can age and become satisfied cigar smokers. Therefore I shall write on the average young man.

The average man is an egoist, unconcerned with altruism, absolutely destitute of sympathy in affairs that do not affect him. He is slightly conceited, he has not exposed his deficiencies yet or promoted his pride until it is obnoxious. His vanity is delightfully amusing.

The second noticeably conspicuous trait is his devotion to sports. Evidently they are football devotees or followers of the ring. The man who cannot become a howling maniac at a football game or championship boxing match is either mentally deficient or a newspaper reporter.

He has two attitudes towards women. Either he is a campus sheik and the maidens are all "wild" about him, or he is a woman hater. His vanity, makes the former attitude more prevalent.

The average young man has, a careful air of camaraderie, a decided sense of humor and ability to converse in a jargon which is senseless but amusing.

We like his self-confidence, his care free demeanor and his good natured acceptance or removal of all difficulties to an extent that makes us tolerate all of him. —Student

MUSIC DEPARTMENT HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT

The music department under the direction of Prof. J. O. Edwards, new Dean of Music, opened this year with a splendid showing, almost one-third of the students enrolled being registered in the piano and voice departments.

The college chorus has been reorganized and has commenced work with Prof. Edwards as the director. The members of the orchestra have not as yet been selected, but they will be announced at an early date.

STUDENT SUFFERS UNUSUAL INJURY

An accident which might have proved more serious had fate been less kind was the experience of Arnold Ellingson '24, last Saturday.

For quite a while he had been riding a horse which did not seem so very wild when suddenly, he was thrown. As the horse galloped away, it kicked at him, striking his jaw. Two deep gashes were made and a tooth was loosened. Arnold was taken to a doctor at once where it was found that the jawbone was not broken as had been feared. It was necessary, however, for the doctor to take several stitches to hold the cuts in place for healing.

Arnold was in school again Monday but his jaw was in bandages and was, of course, still sore and swollen. It is feared that he has lost some, if not all of his interest in horse-back riding.

Mr. Bernhard Wierson, Hemet, California, recently presented the following books to the library: Macaulay's History of England in 5 volumes; Prescott's Conquest of Mexico in 3 volumes. The school wishes through the Mooring Mast, to express to Mr. Wierson the thanks for this splendid gift.

Mr. Wierson's daughter, Agnes, is a student in the College department of our school.

GYM WORK STARTED

Gymnasium classes have started for both men and women at P. L. C. The men are taught how to handle a basketball. The parallel bar exercises are taught, and all kinds of body exercises. The men say that one hour of this kind of exercise is sufficient to last them a week, but it is noticed that all are back at the gymnasium the next time, and enter into the exercise with a will and eagerness. These exercises help to get the men into first class condition till the basketball season opens in November.

The gymnasium work this year is compulsory. The faculty assumes the right to withhold diplomas from anyone showing an unsatisfactory record in gym work.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT ACCREDITED COMPLETE COURSE NOW OFFERED

P. L. C. after many years of striving has finally accomplished a piece of work that will mean more and more as time goes on. This work was engineered by President Ordal, Professors Hauke, Stuen and Xavier.

In the school year of 1921 the faculty started what was then called a pre-normal department, with a fully accredited Normal department in view. The purpose of the pre-normal department was to give one year of normal work to students wishing to prepare themselves for teaching.

This amount of normal work was just enough to make those students just it crave more, and to finish the second year of work meant that students would have to attend some Normal school many miles away. This meant addition in expenses and travel and for many the finding of work as they are paying their own way through college.

Knowing what it meant to the students and to the school, the faculty worked much harder to win a fully accredited Normal Department for P. L. C.

Professor Hauke reports that they received excellent treatment from the Board of Education and the fulfillment of a wish of many years—a fully accredited Normal Department for P. L. C.

Recognition of this department means that any one finishing the two year course will be granted the Standard Elementary Certificate. Professor Hauke makes plain that this Certificate will be granted to only those students whose individual achievement is satisfactory when two-thirds of the marks of the student are C or above.

SLEEPYHEADS PASSE

"Oh it's nice to get up in the morning, but it's nicer to stay in bed." This has been the sentiment of dormitory men for the past years. Sad and friendless has been the life of the bell ringer, who at an early hour each morn dispersed, sweet sleep.

But now, all is changed. Ed Arthur, new member of the coaching staff at P. L. C. has broken the old custom by starting a cross-country running club. This club leaves the school at six A. M. every morning and runs two or three miles. This sport is taken up with keen interest. The bell ringer has passed into seclusion and every one is at breakfast on time.—A. A.

Vacationing With The Faculty

President Ordal spent the month of June in the east as a representative from the School and Trinity Lutheran Church to the church convention in Minneapolis. He killed two birds with one stone by being at the same time a representative from Tacoma to the Kansas convention, which took place in the same city a few days later.

During the rest of the summer he was occasionally to be found at home in Parkland.

Professors Xavier and Stuen, each spent a month working in the library. Through their combined efforts they accessioned about 1300 new books, mended that many old ones and carefully removed the dust and book worms from the books already on the shelves. Their crowning achievement was the building of an annex to the library, where all the good and the bad books were housed—the books on religion and fiction.

The rest of the summer they spent at their homes in Parkland cultivating their cabbages and flowers.

Just before the opening of the school they visited Rainier National Park and climbed to the top of Pinnacle Peak. Prof. Stuen had some difficulty in dragging his 200 pounds up to the top while Prof. Xavier, on account of his slight weight, had greater difficulty in getting down. Their wives have since been busy mending those parts of their clothing that usually comes in closest contact with nature on a long down hill.

Hauge, together with his family, spent the month of June

Autobiography of a Stingy Man

Thesis: If there is anything to distinguish this man from other stingy men it is this: he is more stingy. His main characteristics are:

1. A mania for collecting ink paper clips and blotters.
2. Pretending to buy, so that the salesman will present him with samples.

3. Trying to ride twice on the street car with one fare.

Autobiography
I find college a very nice place. At the bookstore one can get free blotters, paper clips and ink. Already I have filled my pen at the book store and emptied it in bottles at home so that I now have three full bottles. Every morning I take a trip to the bookstore for ink, then what I don't use I put into one of my bottles. If the drug store man will give one enough free bottles, I figure that I can get enough ink in my four years of college to last me fifty six years. That is; providing the ink doesn't dry up.

Each morning when I make my ink trip I take a handful of paper clips and blotters. Why not? They are free and if I should ever go into business they would help to cut down expenses.

The Avenue offers much profit to a clever man. I talked to a man in a multigraph store, pretending that I wished to buy. He gave a cigar and two dozen mimeograph sheets that can be used on the other side for scratch paper.

"I'll have to think it over," I remarked upon leaving.

Pretending to buy is always a good plan. I talked with a man in a cigar store about buying cartons of cigarettes. The clerk actually gave me three full packages of different kinds of cigarettes as samples. "I'll come back when I've smoked them," I said.

I will end my experience on saving by stating how to save money on transportation. I ride to college in the morning on a street car. I always ask for a transfer. Then at five o'clock I take the other car at Eight and Park and present the transfer. Sometimes the conductor will look at the transfer, and point

NELSON-LUNDIN WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Lenore Nelson to Mr. Ted Lundin was solemnized at high noon, on Saturday, August 29, at the home of the bride's parents in Chinook, Washington. Rev. I. M. Stubkjaer of the Chinook Lutheran Church officiated.

Before the ceremony Rev. Stubkjaer sang "O Promise Me."

The bridegroom and Leonard Nelson, his best man, awaited at an altar of banked palms and cut flowers, the coming of the bride, who entered with her father to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, as played by Mrs. Stubkjaer. The bride's gown was of white satin and silver lace, and her veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Martha Hjerstad, her attendant, wore peach crepe de chine and silver. Her bouquet was of orchid sweet peas and maidenhair.

A wedding reception followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Lundin left by auto for a wedding trip to Tacoma and Paradise Valley. Both bride and groom were P. L. C. students in 1924-1925.
