

Alumni Reunion Banquet Feb. 20

Greetings From Alumni; Basketball Games Saturday; Choir Reunion on Sunday; Tingelstad to Speak

With special greetings from representatives of the classes of 1902, '12, and '22 as features, the annual Alumni Reunion Banquet will be held Saturday evening, February 20. The class of '32 will be formally admitted into the Alumni Association.

A pioneer theme will be used by the various speakers on the early history of Pacific Lutheran Academy, Columbia Lutheran College, Spokane College and Pacific Lutheran College.

Saturday afternoon a basket ball game is scheduled between the girls' Alumni team and the College team and between the Gladiators and the boys' Alumni team.

The Choir Reunion has been set for 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon in order to give time for rehearsal. All former members are urged to be present. The songs and rehearsals will be announced in the next edition of the Morning Mast.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad will speak Sunday afternoon in connection with the Choir Concert. Rev. L. Rasmussen of Burlington is to preach.

Begin Drama Plays

Casts Chosen; to Be Given January 22

The Masque and Daggers, led by Walter Young, will present "Is It 'Being Done,'" with a cast consisting of Ellen Soley, Delmar Mortensen, Ted Elyenth, Pauline Schlemmer, and Dorothy Lehman. "The Silver Gleam" will be given by the Pepper Players, Margaret Jacobson's group. Those in the cast will be: Evelyn Arneson, Ina Bakmatun, Ingrid Grollid, Harold Berntson, Clarence Manson, and Mable McCarter. The Tri De, under the direction of Dagny Hjernaad, will put on "Sauce for the Gander," with a cast including Ruth Howard, Eric Hauke, Bob Manson, Kathryn Patten, Clarence Roen and Margaret Hilmo.

Choir Gives Concert Next Sunday at Tacoma Church

"The Choir of the West" will give a concert on Sunday evening, January 17, at 7 o'clock, at the Mason Methodist Church in Tacoma.

Since returning from the Christmas holidays the choir has added "Welcome," by Christiansoff, and "Glory Be to God," by Rachmaninoff, to its repertoire.

Invention Aids Many Students

The most used of all inventions! One which never scoured a patent! Alibi! Who invented them, we wonder, whenever did, surely brought forth an almost indispensable habit to most students. Regardless of the situation or occasion, we always have a good excuse handy, be it prepared beforehand or at the spur of the moment. Results? Moral? Overstated.

Remember: Subscribe for your Saga before January 15!

Tingelstad, Preus, Elvestrom Attend Ohio Meet

Mr. Paul A. Preus and Mr. Victor A. Elvestrom, field representatives of Pacific Lutheran College, left on January 2 by boat for California, where they are working in the interests of the College Development Association. From California they will drive to Cincinnati, Ohio, to attend a Lutheran educational meeting on January 18. Ways and means of speeding up the Development Association program will be discussed at this meeting.

President O. A. Tingelstad will leave the College the latter part of this week to attend this conference.

Students Try Out For Debate Squad

Ten Chosen; Spoke on Centralization of Industry or Wage Cutting; Pflueger to Coach Squad

Wednesday noon, January 6, twenty students tried out for places on the Intercollegiate Debate Squad. Of these, ten were selected to form this year's squad. The boys chosen were Harold Berntson, Eric Hauke, Norman Hokenstad, Robert Reid, and Fred Walter. The girls selected were Evelyn Arneson, Clara Fjermestad, Marie Johnson, Dorothy Lehmann, and Helen Thrane.

Those who tried out spoke on either "Resolved: That Congress enact legislation providing for the centralization of industry;" or "Resolved: That wage cutting has retarded the process of recovery from the depression. Probably only the latter will be used in debates. This year Professor J. P. Pflueger, teacher of Argumentation, will have charge of coaching the squad instead of Dean P. E. Haug who has formerly had charge of it.

Banquet Tonight to Honor Football Men

Letters to Be Awarded; Honorary Captain Will Be Elected; Olson, Beal to Speak

The Student Body will hold a banquet in honor of the football players on Wednesday evening, January 13, at 5:30, in the College dining room. This will be the first all-school affair ever held for a Pacific Lutheran College football team; in former years the Letterman's Club has sponsored the banquet.

After dinner the team will elect an honorary captain for the past season. Other features of the program will be the awarding of letters, a talk by Mr. B. O. Beal, director of athletics at Lincoln High School, a talk by Coach Clifford O. Olson, and several novelty songs by the College Knights Quartet. Eric Hauke, president of the Student Body, will act as toastmaster.

Clarence Roeh, who has been making plans for the banquet, has chosen the following committees to help him: Table—Nordis Arneson, Dorothy Le Gore, Louise Larson, and Oscar Anderson; Decoration—Clarence Roeh, Frances Newton, Ina Bakmatun, Godwin Roem, and Harold Meredith; Kitchen—Pauline Schlemmer, Jennie Iverton, and Shirley Hecht; Cleanup—Jesse Pflueger, John Stuen, Willie Pflueger, Paul Preus, Orval Dahl, and Ray Hinderlie.

The Pacific Lutheran College library has recently purchased about 130 new books that are worth approximately $50. There are about eighteen volumes of Everyman's Library, mostly literature.

Following is a list of a few of the books: Brewer, Reader's Handbook; Stetson, Man and the Stars; Dampler and Whetham, A History of Botany; Marshall, Principles of Economics; Bogart, Economic History of the American People; Macdonald, Documentary Source of American History; Kimball, College Physics; Eaton, Austrian Philosophy of Values.

Marchison, Psychology of 1930; Overton, The Women Who Make Our World; Johnson, Shepherd, Historical Atlas; Johnson, Geashore Animals of the Pacific Coast; Fawcett, Encyclopedia of Medicine and Musicians; Comstock, Forest Life; Eddy, The Challenges of Rome; and Ward and Whipple, Freshwater Biology.

Student Body, League Plan Trip to Mount Rainier Soon
A Student Body, composed of John Knutzen, Margaret Hilmo, and John Hopp, was appointed to meet with Stanley Dahl, from the Trinity Lutheran, to plan a trip to Mt. Rainier. The date has not yet been decided upon, but it will probably be the latter part of this month.

Otto Jensen Will Speak At Luther League Meet

"Am I A Christian?" is the topic for discussion at the Fireside Hour on Sunday, January 17, at 8:30. Walter Young will be the leader.

At the regular Luther League meeting at 7:30 Walter Wright will lead the devotions. Mr. Otto Jensen will speak on "My Experiences Over Seas." Miss Norma Preus will play two piano solos, and will accompany Arthur Hoppe, who will play two trumpet solos. All students at the College, as well as the young people from Parkland, are invited to attend both the Fireside Hour and the Luther League meeting.

P. L. C. Buys Good Will Certificate

Means for Funds to Continue Functioning; Collections Taken From Students, Faculty; Fifteen Dollars in Canadian Money

An Outlook College Good Will Certificate was purchased by the Student Body of Pacific Lutheran College. Reverend K. Bergsagel, president of the College at Outlook, Saskatchewan, claims our school as his Alma Mater. He graduated in the Class of 1914 from Columbia Lutheran College.

Collections taken in chapel on December 17 and 18 amounted to a little over twelve dollars in United States money, or fifteen dollars in Canadian money. Through the Good Will certificate this amount was loaned, without interest, to the College for several years. Because of the drought in central Canada, Outlook College is experiencing some financial trouble, but with the aid of the certificates it hopes to be able to continue functioning. The enrollment at the College dropped quite low this year, but the administration at Outlook look for a larger student body in the fall of 1932.

The Good Will certificate and a letter of thanks from the president of our sister school were received by President O. A. Tingelstad on January 2. On Monday, January 4, at the chapel exercises, our president read the letter and turned the certificate over to the Student Body.

Commerce Committee Will Study Education

Following a discussion with Mr. Paul Preus, Pacific Lutheran College field man, Mr. T. A. Steverson, executive secretary of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce, suggested the appointment of an Education Committee consisting of ten of the leading business men of the city to consider all educational problems connected with the educational institutions of Greater Tacoma. This is the first time in the history of the Chamber of Commerce that such a committee has been appointed.

Hear of India; See Alaska Pictures at L. D. R. Meet

On Tuesday, January 5, the L. D. R. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. T. O. Svare, who was assisted by Mrs. J. U. Xavier as hostess. After refreshments had been served, the following program was given: a vocal duet, Helen Thrane and Amelia Holmquist; a talk on India, Reverend J. P. Pflueger. The president, Pauline Schlemmer, showed some photographs of the Stillemarer mission in Alaska.

Choose Members For Saga Staff

Student Body Confirms Choice; Business Must Be Completed by Jan. 15 to Assure Publication

Staff members of the Saga were selected by a joint committee representing the faculty and the Student Body. Because of the limited amount of time before Christmas vacation, students submitted their names for the various positions they desired, and the committee chose the staff from those available.

The staff is: Editor, Esther Westby; Associate Editor, Holden Hauke; Organizational, Evelyn Arneson; Classes, Pauline Schlemmer; and Robert Reid; Art, Helen Thrane; Music, Kathryn Patten; College Life, Dagny Hjernaad; Photography, Nordis Arneson; Athletics, Tryve Runovold; Assistant Athletics, Ruth Howard; Religion, Kathryn Johnson; Copy Reader, Edgar Larson.

The business staff is: Business Manager, Myron Leque; Advertising Manager, Clarence Roeh; Assistant Advertising Manager, Frances Jane Lavin; Circulation Manager, John Zackrisson; Assistant Circulation Manager, Millard Quale; Typist, Grace Holte.

The committee which picked the staff members was composed of: Nils J. Hong, Phillip E. Haug, Mrs. Lora B. Kriedler, and Clifford O. Olson, representing the faculty, and Fred Walker, Eric Hauke, Margaret Forth, Myron Leque, and Esther Westby, representing the Student Body. The staff's choice was confirmed by a vote of the Student Body.

The business program of the Saga must be completed for the faculty's approval by January 15. Whether or not the students will be allowed to publish the annual will depend upon the amount of support shown.

Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary for Olsons

Daughters Act as Hostesses; Receive Many Silver Gifts

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Olson was celebrated on the evening of December 27 with a banquet supper served at the Olson home. About forty guests attended the affair which was planned by Miss Bertha, Miss Thora, Miss Inga, and Miss Anna Olson, all of whom acted as hostesses.

Miss Emily Coltum played Lohengrin's wedding march as the surprised couple entered the house. Mr. I. Strand sang "I Love You Truly."

Mr. O. J. Svare was toastmaster. Mrs. Olson cut the anniversary cake. The table was decorated with a combined silver and Christmas idea. The supper was served by Miss Irene and Mr. Stanley Dahl.

The guests of honor received many silver gifts. Mr. Olson has for many years been engineer at Pacific Lutheran College. All the Olson children have attended school here.

Jacobson, Knutzen Are Commercial Substitutes

OPPORTUNITY FOR COOPERATION IN THE LIBRARY

Cooperation is Christianity applied to business. It's adherents, like Christians with respect to their religion, expect it to leaven the entire world. They believe it is applicable to every kind of business. They feel that ultimately it will remove the misunderstandings and conflicts between the producers and the consumers, and between capital and labor. —Harvey B. Hartsook

This Student Body, as well as any business, could profit by the above quotation. The principle of cooperation could be applied to an even greater degree than it is now. Take as an example the library. Under the efficient guidance of Professor Xavier we have a library to be proud of. But still it is far from perfect.

Those in charge have done their share, but the students have failed to cooperate. At present over three hundred dollars worth of new books are going on the shelves. Quite a few of those new books are to replace volumes which have been taken from the library and not returned. Handle those new books as they should be handled, and don't take them out without having them checked first. Cooperation of all the students will be much appreciated.

The students could cooperate in another way—by not using the library as a visiting place or as a place to talk over the day's gossip. Don't open the door just to see who is in the library in hopes that you can find some friend to talk to.

After all, the library is for the students, and they should appreciate it enough to cooperate with each other and the librarians.

DO YOU WANT A SAGA? SUBSCRIBE NOW

Do you students of Pacific Lutheran College want an annual this year? If you do, you should back up the action you took at a recent student body meeting by paying the required deposit promptly.

One of the best advertisements this school has is its annual. It is better than even a visit to the College, because it records the activities of this school for the whole year, whereas a visitor sees little of our school or its numerous activities.

The Saga staff, under the leadership of Esther Westby and Myron Leque, is capable of producing fully as good an annual as the preceding ones. The only thing necessary is the support and confidence of the student body and faculty. The Saga should become an annual college activity, and should be taken as a certainty like the Mooring Mast.

Many of those in responsible positions in the school profess to believe in minimum number of rules and yet the number seems to increase as time goes on.

College should prepare young people to cope with life better than they otherwise would be able to do. Most young people will not have a set of regulations to live by when they depart from school to take their place in the world.

RESOLUTIONS GOOD FOR MENTAL CHECKUP

The staff of the Mooring Mast wish you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year. This year, as in former years, you may make New Year's resolutions. It is very doubtful if you will keep all of them, but even making them is to be encouraged. Making these resolutions is a mental checkup on yourself, because it is a realization that you have certain faults or bad habits which should be corrected. Everybody should strive to better himself physically, mentally, and morally. New Year's resolutions are a long step in the right direction.

SIDSUMPKER INFERNO IN AN INLAND CITY

Blistering sun pouring penetrating heat.
Atmosphere oppressive, deserted by any cooling breeze.

Quivering, shimmering into the distance.

Black tar boiling up through the cracks on hot pavements.

Smearing lovely shoes as tired feet slowly pass;

Seething masses incessantly moving.

Seeking a breath—a moment's respite in ice-cream cones, frosted glasses, or foam topped sodas.

Faces haggard, pale, bereft of cosmetics;

Beads of perspiration on every brow

Mopped up by wadded kerchiefs of varying whiteness;

Coats, vests, collars, stockings,

Even strings of beads discarded, and garments worn dampish, wilting, clinging, sticking.

No place to find relief—

No salty beach, no friendly lake—waters to cool fevered bodies.

No shady trees, no open spaces.

Just blocks of steaming pavements oozing black tar.

High, head-reflecting buildings on either side.

Juggling burning waves back and forth,
Too hot to hold for long
Making of it a fiendish game.

And the people—
Seething masses incessantly moving,
Mopping beaded brows,
Cursing, or is it praying?
God, when will it rain?

—Muriel Watts

THE GREATEST THINGS.

The best day—today.

The greatest sin—fear.

The best gift—forgiveness.

The meanest feeling—jealousy.

The greatest need—common sense.

The most expensive indulgence—hate.

The greatest trouble maker—talking too much.

The greatest deceiver—one who deceives himself.

The best teacher—one who makes you want to learn.

The worst bankrupt—the soul that has lost its enthusiasm.

The cheapest, stupidest and easiest thing to do—finding fault.

The cleverest man—one who always does what he thinks is right.

The best part of anyone's ethics—gentleness and cheerfulness.

The St. Paul Dispatch says in part:

"The death of O. E. Rolvaag has deprived the Northwest of an interpreter of Norwegian-American life.

—The human sympathy and literary skill with which he treated the struggle of the pioneers in his 'Saga of the Northwest' assure his work of an audience beyond his own generation. His 'Saga' will always be not only an absorbing narrative, but a path to a better understanding of one of the Northwest's dominant racial groups."

Prospective Debators Work Hard on Tryouts

Pretend that you are going to try out for the debate squad. A question is given to you to prepare a speech on what you think is absolutely the worst one you have ever seen. In spite of this you are answering and intend to "stick it out." At the public library the librarian brings to you volumes of books. "Much material for your subject may be found in each of these," she politely tells you.

Just a look at all these books is enough to cause beads of perspiration to stand out on your forehead. However, you begin your task of constructing a speech. After you have read several articles, you attempt to choose just one phase of the question to write about. This seems so impossible that you give up and say, almost despondently, "I always have hated debate, and now I despise it. No more for me!"

SEA WILDNESS

I love to go to the wild seashore
On a rain-tossed, wind-tossed day,
And watch the waves like soapuds flung

Their hoary-headed spray
I love to feel the whip of the wind
As it writhes and twists and twirls
In mad attempts, to capture me
Within its sand-flung swirls

I love to go to wild seashore
On a hardened winter's night,
When the sea is alone in its wild disdain,
And fendish, crazed delight,
I stand at the top of a pointed cliff
With the sea a whirl at my feet,
And flinging my arms to the blackened sky
Proclaim my undefeat.

Much of Interest In Ferry Museum For Curious Folks

Few people interested in the History of Washington know what a wealth of knowledge on the subject can be obtained by a visit to the Ferry Museum in Tacoma. The institution was founded in 1893 by the Washington Historical Society. Although it is not very large, the museum has collections from the pyramids to the present day, specializing in objects from Washington.

The model of the old legislative hall, constructed from lumber and shingles of the original building, in which Isaac Stevens assembled the first legislature of the Territory of Washington, in 1854, is an object worthy of study. Likewise, the model of the pioneer house recaptures the spirit of early life in the Northwest.

Of great interest is the battered and marred old stage coach used from 1877 to 1883 during the gold excitement in the Black Hills, and the covered wagon of Ezra Meeker, in which the latter travelled twice across the continent from Tacoma.

There is an old worn and tattered American flag carried by the battleship "Kearsage," when she sank the Alabama, the bugle which pealed forth the first command at Fort Sumpter for the Northerners to fire, the valise carried by Lincoln during the Lincoln-Douglas campaign, the satin hat worn by Governor of Idaho Territory when he officiated as pall-bearer at Lincoln's funeral, and the old flint-lock musket used in George Washington's army during the Revolutionary War.

Of present day interest is the material from the "Norge," in which Amundsen flew over the North Pole. A friend of the museum, present at Teller, Alaska, when the airship was being torn apart for shipment, asked Mr. Amundsen for some souvenirs. To his satisfaction, Amundsen replied that he should take while the taking was good! The Ferry Museum is believed to be the only one to have any material of this kind of any value.

Those persons who have not heard of the Ferry Museum would profit greatly by a visit to it. Visiting hours are from nine to five on week days, and from two to five on Sundays.

My Conscience Bothers Me, That's Why I Have Bad Dreams, No Sleep

My conscience bothers me; I have disobeyed a rule. Forgive me. It was unintentional, but I assure you that I was ignorant of the fact that such a rule existed. You would not have known of it, of course, but I had to confess to relieve that pang of conscience. Believe me, I'm not a malefactor, I have always been of a benign disposition. I can't fathom it, though, that I should make such a mistake. Nevertheless I feel depraved.

Please save me the mortification of such a mistake again by inflicting upon me a penalty that will leave an impression. I should have known better—but evidently, I did not. I am accustomed to routine, I have traveled, and the moral code which my parents taught me has clung to me. I have sincerely obeyed the rules which my conscience has urged me to follow, and yet I have disobeyed a rule.

In my sleep, horrid faces appear before me; they seem to laugh at me, taunt me. I shudder at the sight of them. They become vague, and then they appear more clear. Their awfulness holds me within their power; it seems I cannot wake from my fretful sleep and free myself.

What have I done? What is the significance of this Ghastly Dream? They come closer; I see something written on their foreheads, but it is not clear till they meet me face to face and sneer. I immediately see the gilded letters, R-U-L-E-S. I have a sigh of relief. Is that all? Never again will I disobey a rule; it bothers my sleep, and after all, sleep is of most importance.

Lutherans Bow to Bellingham Normal in Hard Encounter

Score: 27-25; Lutherans Gain Only Seven; Village Opposite to the Normal; Good for Village; Bad for Lutherans

In the opening game of the season, the Gladiators met the short end of a 20-25 result after a hard fought encounter with the team of the Bellingham Normal school on the Teacher's floor Saturday night.

The Lutherans swung into action with the first whistle to gain an early lead, and for a while it looked as if the Normal were to be crushed under by

The Gladiators attack. The Village was organized their defense to stop the Lutherans' shot, and took the game into their own hands when they started using their height advantage for a good purpose.

Although the Normal was conventional in penetrating the Lutheran defense for many short shots, they showed an unusual ability to drop the ball through gaps a considerable distance. Immediately after the opening of the third quarter, the Gladiators showed excellent scoring ability, but were unable to continue long enough to even the score.

Midway toward one on the Normal squad, but his eye changed to a fine point and slipped the ball through the hoop from all parts of the floor to score 14 markers for high game honors. The clever Viking scored the ball from long and short range, and occasionally scored the ball through on some shots that are not in the book as common everyday basketball.

Carlson, guard, and one of the best players to ever grace a Lutheran team, played a whole of a game for the Gladiators to score top spot with 7 pointers. The speedy little Lutheran was here, there and everywhere from the opening to the closing whistle. Skipped forward, trailed "Red" in the scoring department of the game to one point when he tallied 6 markers.

Too Much Work Spoils Days of College Life

"There's no rest for the wicked" - what states, "waked children we must be" for their is little or no rest to be had while going to college.

After two weeks of bliss and fun and frolic at home during the Christmas and New Year's holidays, we returned to the routine of class, studies, and work. And what's the talk it was to write down our own story and endeavor to study intelligently the problems of education. In the way and character of education, of the who, what and when of these things. Indeed, it has been only a little more diligent responsibility that I have managed to persuade myself that the remaining assignment must be done.

Our winter holiday and their heads and could their dear old college days and the present they were kind of playing. But sometimes their experiences must have been very slight fellows, for by all accounts they were no less studious than we. But now, the way of the investigator is hard, on with our noses back to the grindstone our own, we prepare for another year.

Sport Slants

By Southworth

The basket season is now in full swing with the Gladiators going at the sport hammer and tongs. The first try of the season resulted in a defeat for the Parklanders, but from all reports from the scene of contest, the play was much better than the score might indicate. The Northern boys were somewhat elongated, a handicap that the Lutherans were not entirely able to overcome. When the fast breaking play of the Lutes was working smoothly, they plainly had a decided advantage, but, as it were, the team work was not consistently smooth throughout the game.

"Red" it seems proved to be a veritable cyclone on the Bellingham floor. Reports declare that the diminutive Parklander turned in by far the best performance of the evening, outshining even McShane, the charmed player that graced the hoop 8 times for a 16 point high game score.

By the time this reaches the hands of the readers, the results of the first meeting with the Puget Sound Varsity game will be known. Remember, however, that there is another game with the same outfit on Friday of this week. If you were not present at the first game, make a mighty effort to be there on Friday to support the team. A team needs support, win or lose; if the team is willing to spend time and energy in playing the game, we could at least spend a little of our time in watching such important contests as are and were slated for this week.

Tonight is the night of nights. The footballers are determined to smash through seas of spuds and to make a outdawn of what have you. And there will be some reminiscing: Remember when "Red" rolled down the field around end, Shore smashed through and halted somebody dead in his tracks, the bang a Lisherness tumbled nose, the boozies that Poffenroth booted down the field on the kickoff, the sleeper play, Martin saying "no" to the opposition, Folsom tearing up the center of the line, all these are but fond memories now—but remember that the whole school has the opportunity to attend this banquet honoring the footballers of the past season—take it and be there—you will never be sorry.

Win Three Games

Girls Show Up Well in Hoop Games; Play Summer Next

Glance over the report on the activities of the Girls' hoop squad during the past weeks and see what the Collegians have been handing out as gifts to a trio of teams in as many games. First and foremost a score reads: P. L. C. 46-Shamrocks 27; second, P. L. C. 19-Parkland Independents 11; and thirdly, P. L. C. 29, Lincoln Park 21.

In the first game played the girls had a very enjoyable evening, practically having their own way in everything as regards to scoring. Alice Alvins, had a total score of 23 pointers as the close of activities while Hilmo followed with an 18 tally. Against the Parklanders, things were not so nice, and it looked for a while as if the Independents were going to upset the College team. In the latter part of the final sessions, Hilmo and Alvins became irked at having the short end of the score—all of which resulted in a change of events.

Against the Lincoln Parkers, a sad state of affairs occurred as throughout the first half Alvins was weakened—the ball fell short just by inches on every shot, and for some reason Hilmo cared little for scoring. But it seems that the Collegians love to give the fans a thrill, so in the last half they methodically went to work to bring home a victory, which they did by the score of 28-21.

Home! Place of Leisure Week-Ends, Excitement

A short time ago we were home again on our eternal quest for the school which offers the least in work and the most in week-ends!

During vacations we do keep going at top speed although we feel rather tired after a strenuous autumn studying the football situation. We did remain at home for two weeks and yet gave the family no chance to inquire what seemed to be the matter in French.

Then we go back to school again as peepless as a pin-pricked balloon. But wasn't it worth it? And who would have it otherwise?

Three Games Slated For Coming Week As Gladiators Warm Up

Meet Loggers Twice on North-end Floor; Mt. Vernon Also on Schedule; Olson to Use Two Combinations

Coach Olson believes in fitting up plenty of work for his men, and as a result the Gladiators will see action three times this week. The Lutherans are slated to tangle with the Puget Sound Loggers two different evenings, and with the Mt. Vernon aggregation Saturday night.

The first of the encounters with the Loggers was run off last night on the North end floor, but the results will probably not be on hand before press time. For the second meeting of the week the Gladiators will take the Tacoma on on Friday night. The Loggers have a powerful team of former college and high school stars that is being revealing enough skill to topple some of the best industrial outfits of the city with a great deal of ease.

In addition the Loggers possess plenty of that old altitude that proved a big problem in the opening game of the season for the Lutherans.

Coach Olson has two nice working combinations in Herget, Moe, Milton, Leverson and Carlson, which usually gets the initial call when game time rolls around, and Padness, Krogh, Monson, Hauke, and Poffenroth. In order to complete this week of tough work, Olson will need his entire squad.

After the first meeting with the Logger squad, one can get a slant on the possibilities of taking the measure of the Mt. Vernon five. Reports have it that the C. P. S. Reservemen easily took the measure of the Updaters. However reports can be little relied on, as a determined fighting team can often upset the old dope bucket. And then, it might not have been a bona fide reserve squad—who knows?

Gym Team Wins From 98th Street Wolves; Score 20-18

Parkland's ponderous basketball, otherwise known as the gym team literally bowled over their opponents, the 98th street Wolves, captained by the diminutive H. Campbell, to take the contest by a 20-18 score.

The gym team, composed entirely of former members of last year's grid team who love the sport but go into the basket game to keep in trim for future grid years, brought to light a new and effective system of hoop play. Before the Parklanders became winded in the latter part of the game, the Wolves were unable to advance much beyond midfloor, as the line held. In later parts of the game the gym boys called on some reserves to aid in finishing the game with the lead still intact. The final whistle found them with a one basket lead.

Harold Berentson led the P. L. G. squad with 6 points and 8 fouls. Ted Cronquist dropped the pellet through for 4 pointers as did Holden Hauke, Hultgren, McPadden, and Nissen turned in the best basket performance of the evening.
