Delegates at Meeting of American Lutheran Conference Pass Resolutions Favorable to P. L. C.

President O. A. Tingelstad returned on November 29 from the American Lutheran Conference meeting held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, with encouraging reports of steps taken at the convention to assure the continuance of Pacific Lutheran College. The conference, composed of representatives of five Lutheran Synods, has not the power to act, but passed the following resolutions:

Resolved: That on the basis of facts and statistics submitted and in view of the urgency of the present situation, we are prepared to express the opinion that Pacific Lutheran College at Parkland, Washington, is essential to the proper development and healthy growth of our Lutheran Church on the Pacific coast, and it is hereby recommended:

- (a) That a program of more complete cooperation be worked out between the constituent bodies of the American Lutheran Conference, more particularly between the American Lutheran Church, the Augustana Synod and the Norwegian Lutheran Church.
- (b) That the above mentioned cooperation should involve control of the institution and should express itself in such continued financial support as is necessary to the permanent maintenance of the institution.
- (c) That the appropriations of the threefold aforementioned bodies be the subject of further negotiations between the bodies concerned.
- (d) That the school continue to operate as at present as a Junior College and that any major changes in the future be made only on the basis of

Pep Club Has Party

With Mary Nash and Olga Overlie as hostesses the Pep Club gave a Christmas party for its members in the reception room last night at 9:30 p. m. The room was decorated in holiday fashion with Santa Claus presenting small gifts to the girls present. Refreshments were served preceded by an entertaining and amusing program.

Wandervogel Boys of Youth Movement of German Club Present Program Under Auspices of German Club

An entertainment different from any given this semester to Pacific Lutheran College students was offered during the chapel period Wednesday, December 7, when the Wandervogel, a group of boys representing the Youth Movement of Germany were presented in a program by the German Club. Professor Pflueger, who has speaking knowledge of the German language, welcomed the guests and introduced Dr. G. A. Willenborg, who was host to the group during their stay in Tacoma. Dr. Willenborg told of the Youth Movement in Germany, and introduced the leader of the group, Wilhelm Schmidt, who gave a short talk in German, interpreted by Richard Becker, who also announced the numbers—4 songs and a recitation.

Ladies' Dorm Auxiliary Gives Radio to Pep Club

The Ladies' Dormitory Auxiliary, an organization of women faculty members, men faculty members' wives, and wives of ministers of Tacoma, has recently presented a mantle radio to the Pep Club. The radio was purchased by Mrs. L. B. Kreidler, Mrs. Ludvig Larsen and Mrs. J. P. Pflueger, acting for the Auxiliary, which authorized the purchase of the gift as its last meeting held at Mrs. Larsen's home.

Girls of the Pep Club have installed the radio in an empty dorm room, which will presently be converted into a lounge for members. "The girls," said Dickie Leland, president of the group, "Have no adequate words with which to thank the Auxiliary for the gift. We hope to furnish the room with easy chairs and cushions to make it as homey a place as possible, where we can meet in the evening to read and listen to the radio."

Delta Rho Gammas Entertain Gridmen

Delta Rho Gamma girls entertained members of the football team December 2 at a party in the college reception room. About 50 attended the affair, at which Coach and Mrs. C. O. Olson were guests of honor.

The evening was spent in playing cards and solving jigsaw puzzles. A ballot was taken at the party by which the handsomest man, prettiest girl, most bashful man, shyest girl, etc. present were chosen. The entertainment was arranged by a committee of Rachel Flint, chairman, Evelyn Irwin, Anja Mikkelsen, Helen Collins, and Virginia Lou Harris.

Decorations were in a Christmas motif, with the fireplace as the center of attraction. On the decoration committee were Irene Luudahl, chairman, Dille Quale, Cora Liden and Georgianna McClure.

Refreshments were served by Dorothy Winsor, Alice Johnson and Marian Penne.

Guests present were Coach and Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Kreidler, John Fadness, Bill Whalen, Jesse Pflueger, Kenneth Roach, Carl Martin, Gil Sydnor, Carl Jacobson, Stan Svore, Clarence Monson, Gene Jack, Dutch, Moe, John Zackrisson, Ray Letback, Elmer Knutzen, Victor Knutzen, Floyd Knutzen and Clifford Mesford.

was held in the reception room, where the students became personally acquainted with the boys. The German Club entertained with a luncheon in honor of the travelers.

These boys left their homes in the lower Rhine valley early in the year of 1932, journeying by way of Hamburg to England and thence to New York, where they landed in May. Since that time they have traveled about our country giving entertainment to many thousands of people.

After leaving Tacoma they will go to San Francisco from whence they will sail to Japan, when they have visited China, India and some other Asiatic countries they will return by way of Suez, to their homes early in June of 1933. The purpose of their tour is to create a feeling of brotherhood between the youth of the different countries.

Mrs. A. W. Fowler Passes Suddenly

From a cerebral hemorrhage which she received last Wednesday, Mrs. A. W. Fowler, mother of Miss Fowler, normal supervisor and grandmother of Jean-Marie Fowler, passed away early last Saturday morning. Funeral services were held in Mabton, Wash., former home of the Fowlers at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Fowler was alone in her apartment home at 3910 So. Yakima when she was found unconscious on the floor about noon by the apartment janitor. She was removed to a local hospital, but did not regain consciousness before her death at 3:00 a. m. Saturday morning. On December 2 Mrs. Fowler celebrated her seventieth birthday.

Surviving are her four sons, Colin A. of Portland, James of Tacoma, George, Whalen of Salem, and William of Seattle; a daughter, Sophia R., with whom she resided, and a sister, Mrs. W. F. Anderson of Alhambra, Ontario.

Due to the death of her mother, Miss Fowler was absent from her classes from last Thursday until yesterday. Rev. J. P. Pflueger, college pastor, accompanied the Fowlers to the funeral in Mabton Sunday, as a representative of Pacific Lutheran College.

'The Christmas Party' Rates First

"Grandma and Mistletoe," and "The Christmas Ghost," Presented by Drama Club Dec. 9

By an unanimous vote of the judges, "The Christmas Party," one of the three one-act plays presented by the Dramatic Club on December 9, was accorded first place, with "Grandma and Mistletoe" second, and "The Christmas Ghost" third.

The presentation was the second of the year, and drew an audience of approximately three hundred.

"The Christmas Ghost," the first play presented, was given by group 3 of the club, under the direction of Clarence Lemming. The cast included: Cecile, Virginia Byers; Marion, Evelyn Irwin; Melisande, Jane Williams; Myrtle, Helen Spencer; Tommie, Dalores Roe; and Mammy, Carrie Hjidding.

An intermission of piano numbers by Saffie Torresdal was enjoyed.

"Grandma and Mistletoe," under the leadership of Rachel Flint, head of group number 2, was staged by Margaret Wesson as Orandma, Alice Roe as Jim, the thief, Nellie Olson as Nellie, and Jean-Marie Fowler as Molly, the maid.

After a vocal solo by Bob Monson, the third play, "The Christmas Party," was presented by Dickie Leland's group. Among the players were Irene Luudahl as Camilla Rose, Norman Westling as Chris, Lila Rudd as Mrs. Rose, Gerhard Pflueger as Ous Roe; Virginia Boer as Polly; Helen Oarbell as Janet; Marian Penne as Jane Able; and Jeanette Knutzen as Marie.

Delta Rho Gamma girls had charge of the candy sale.

In the absence of Trygve Runsvold, club president, Clarence Monson announced the plays.

At its meeting last Monday, the club decided to use the profits of the last two presentations to buy properties and necessary equipment for the stage.

16 Full Days of Eating, Sleeping and What-Not

Sleeping, eating, and getting in when we desire without signing a book will feature the Christmas vacations of most Pacific Lutheran college students. Of course, we'll have to visit "the kids" and all that—but won't it be fun!

Vacation officially starts with the dismissal of classes tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. and ends at 8:10 Monday morning, January 2, 1933. That's sixteen full days in which to forget about school—what an opportunity!

Reading fiction books and magazines (not world literature and biology, either) in bed until all hours of the morning—oh boy—Isn't it a grand and glorious feeling?

E. Tingelstad Back; Choir Trip Doubtful

From an extended automobile trip through the Pacific District, Edwin Tingelstad returned to Parkland November 29, having left November 16. The purpose of his trip was to try and get each of 16 pastors to organize subscription campaigns for the Pacific Lutheran Herald in their own congregations.

He traveled as far South as San Diego, California, making contacts with all pastors in our church, from Portland to San Diego, enroute three.

Mr. Tingelstad made inquiries among the pastors as to the advisability of a Pacific Lutheran Choir tour through the Southern part of the Pacific district next Spring. He expressed opinion that it is too early yet to determine whether or not it would be wise to undertake such a trip.

Delta Rho's Will Give Christmas Box to Needy

At their regular meeting last Thursday, the Delta Rho Gamma's decided to prepare a Christmas basket for some deserving family. The service committee, with Lorraine Thoren as chairman, was appointed to get the name of a deserving family from some welfare organization in town.

Mrs. J. O. Edwards, wife of Prof. Edwards, is reported to be convalescing at her home here, after returning Tuesday from the Tacoma General Hospital, where she underwent a major operation Nov. 28.

Student Ponders Meaning of Christmas, 1932 Model While Recalling Fond Memories of Earlier Yuletides

Can Christmas of 1932 be the same? I mention this when my mind reflects back on those days when a Christmas song was one of prayerful hope rather than triumph. The days when a Christmas celebration held a different meaning than it does now, that is, apparently so. I wonder if our priceless conception of this holiday is changing. Just a few more days and practically all the students will be giggling in their merriment to get home; to enjoy the pleasures that this holiday has in store for them; to drink in the very essence of its significance.

In my moment of mental exaltation I become somewhat disgruntled. I am aware of what Christmas means and I intend to celebrate it accordingly. "But why?" I ask myself, "Isn't Christmas the same as it used to be?" My enthusiasm has ebbed. My mental at-

Associated Students Honor Football Men At Annual Banquet

College Awards Sweeters To Graduating Lettermen For First Time in History Of School

For the first time in the history of Pacific Lutheran College, football men received sweeters at the annual football banquet held in the college dining hall Tuesday evening. The awards were presented by Pres. O. A. Tingelstad. A fund started by Alumni at the homecoming banquet was used to buy the sweeters.

Dr. J. C. Siegle, Tacoma dentist and former member of the football squad of Northwestern University, was the guest speaker. He discussed the importance of football both in school and after life, with special reference to the advancement of this sport made at Pacific Lutheran College during the past season. Coach C. O. Olson expressed his appreciation of the team's work. Clarence Roen, as president of the Associated Students, was toastmaster.

At an election following the dinner, Frank "Swede" Willard was elected by the lettermen to be the 1933 football captain. Swede was captain of the Stadium High team in the fall of 1929. Graduating lettermen who were given sweeters were Captain Ted Cronquist, Carroll Jacobson, Bill Whalen, Carl Martin, Stanley Scott, John Fadness, Trygve Runsvold, and Ray Letback and John Zackrisson, managers. The sweeters are yellow slipcovers with black felt or chenille letters. Felt letters were awarded to Bob Levinson, Swede Willard, Harold Votaw, Sheldon Moe, Gene Jack, Bev Shuster, Norman Hanson, Russel Frye and Marvin Frye.

Decorations, favors, and the costumes of the waitresses carried out the football idea, together with the school colors. Waitresses, under the direction of Jane Williams, were Saffie Torresdal, Helen Garbell, Virginia Boen, Shirley Savage, Jean-Marie Fowler, Marion Penne, Martha Orande, Hazel Monson, Evelyn Irwin, Anna Roness, Mary Louise Preus, Evelyn Monson, Irene Luudahl, Freda Hendrickson, and Alice Nolan.

"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"

Christmas, the most festive occasion of all the year, approaches again with its spirit of cheer and fellowship. Do we welcome it in the right spirit? Is Christmas merely another vacation just a little more colorful than the rest? Some say that Christmas has been too much commercialized, and that, left to the mercy of the modern era, it is losing its sacred meaning. They deplore wholesale giving of gifts and sending of cards, because it causes beautiful sentiments to become hackneyed and worthless.

Yet it seems that those who really possess the true "Christmas spirit" cannot really suffer from these so-called inroads on the sanctity of Christmas, nor can the first great "Gift" be forgotten. Look beneath the social veneer of good Christians and you will surely find the true spirit of Christmas which causes us to lift our hearts at Yuletide and listen with a warm feeling to the beautiful words, "Peace on Earth, good will toward men."

An Expression of Sympathy

The Mooring Mast staff joins with other members of the Pacific Lutheran College family in sympathy with Miss Fowler and Jean-Marie Fowler over the death of their close relative. Although the occasion marked the removal from this world of one of their dearest on earth, it also marked the entrance of our friend into the Greater Kingdom. Each of us must have our time of departure, or partake of the sorrow of the departure of some loved one.

May God comfort the bereaved ones, and may this incident help to show to us who are left the glory and praise due to His Holy name.

To the Student and Faculty Administration

It's an old, old story, but nevertheless it is true. If any group is to succeed, it must have cooperation, and that's what P. L. C. needs more of.

When one thing is scheduled, to plan another for the same time is certainly excusable. Couldn't the administration cooperate with the students a little better in regard to meetings announced in chapel, as well as meetings held outside the school? Chapel announcements become the laughing stock of the school when three or four different meetings are announced for the same time.

May we suggest that a student manager be appointed to see that only one meeting is held at a time, so that students might partake of more than one activity? This manager would be responsible for seeing that only one meeting was held after chapel and only one each noon. The plan would be that students wishing to call meetings see the manager, who would regulate the time. How about it, student and faculty administration?

Prexy's Corner

The students are going home for Christmas.

They will watch the traffic signals. They will watch the stop lights. Red and green will have a special meaning for them at every important crossing.

Red and green are the Christmas colors, too. Red at Christmas means the love of our Heavenly Father as manifested in the loving sacrifice of His only-begotten son. Green at Christmas means the hope of everlasting life. The upward-pointing evergreen Christmas-tree is the symbol of this heavenly hope.

At the last great crossing may we see the love of Jesus, who shed His blood to save us from our sins, and may we go into the full realization of our Christian hope in the heavenly home above.

Merry Christmas!

The young man whose curly hair is the envy of all the coeds?

He spent the first part of this semester enjoying himself by pushing opposing football players over into the mud, a pastime at which he excels.

He is a crooner of no mean ability, though he has managed to keep this talent fairly well hidden. He does, however, sing in the College Choir, of which he is an officer. He also holds an office in the Mens' Dorm Union.

He is rather heavy, not too tall, and very dark. Concerning the aforementioned hair, it is black, and the accompanying eyes are brown.

Santa Claus Slighted

Old Saint Nick, it seems to us, has always been sadly neglected by the writers of stories. We read a great deal about little Johnny and Marj on Christmas morning, but hear little of the adventures of the old man himself. What a class that would make! Imagine his journey down quiet, lamp-lit streets in Tacoma to leave Margaret Wesson a new skirt in place of the one she tore sliding down the bannister at school; then the exhilarating flight over the forests to visit Bill Whalen, to leave him the pair of water-wings he's needed so badly. But how will the old fellow get down the Klippen chimney with the baby-buggy. Left has been wanting so badly. And then he will come to the school and his footstep will ring in the vacant halls as he pats his respects to the few hibernating there during the Christmas vacation. We are rather dubious, however, of his descending the school chimney, but then—imagine his visiting the night-watchmen under the chimney at the smelter.

Trinity Choir to Give Cantata Here Sunday

Girls' Gym Classes Organize

With Margaret Jacobson as instructor, girls' gym classes have organized for the winter season into four groups. Captains of the four basketball groups are Helen Collins, "Buster" Roe, Alice Alvnes and Evelyn Monson.

French and German Clubs Meet to Hear Program

The Youth Movement of Germany was explained by Gilbert Sydow at the German Club meeting on December 5. Potsdam, a city noted for its militarism in Germany, was the topic of the talk given by Ethel Hagman at the German Club meeting November 29. This city, with its many beautiful gardens and fountains, was the home town of King Frederick the Great, according to the speaker.

The German Club octet sang a group of German songs at the close of the meeting.

A discourse on the governmental and educational systems of France by Jane Williams, featured the meeting of the French Club Friday noon, December 2. Le Cercle Français members gave French proverbs and translated them to the English at the beginning of the meeting.

19 Girls Attend W. A. A. Hike

Under the auspices of the Women's Athletic Association, fifteen girls attended the first 10-mile hike of the newly-organized group on Saturday, December 3. Leaving school at 9:00 a. m., the girls hiked to Lakeview and back to Parkland. The hike was the first of a series of three hikes which the girls will take to earn points toward permanent membership in the W. A. A.

To obtain credit for a hike, at least two W. A. A. girls must hike nine and a half miles together in three hours with no more than 10 minutes stop for rest.

Peterson Studio to Take Class Pictures

Price of $4 for First Dozen, $3.00 For Second, Quoted on Photographs: Party and Ring Committees Named by Stan Score

That the Peterson Studio will take the photographs of the graduating class this year is the decision of a committee from the class. Pictures will be $4 for the first dozen, and $3.00 for the second, of the regular graduation pictures in folders. An 8 by 10-inch enlargement is given free with each dozen ordered. Application pictures may be had at $1.50 for the first dozen and $1.00 for the second. Sittings will begin after the Christmas vacation.

The committee from the class to choose the photographer as appointed by President Stanley Score included Trygve Runsvold, chairman, Elmer Knutzen, Olga Overlie, Shirley Hecht and Jennie Iverson, the last representing the high school graduates. A number of photographers submitted bids on the work.

At its meeting, the class also decided to postpone its party until after Christmas. The second year normal class will join the graduates in the affair. Preliminary arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Anna Mikkelsen (chairman), Alice Alvnes and Norman Westling.

To investigate the prospects of securing class rings, the following committee was named: Odwin Rorem (chairman), Frances Andrews and Walter Ustadi.

This year's graduating class is composed of 38 members, Dean Philip E. Hauge is the adviser.

The date for the next plunge, which will be held after the Christmas vacation, has not been definitely decided upon, according to Jean-Marie Fowler, club president.

Women Are Better!

At the first debate of the year held at noon Thursday, December 1, the topic for discussion was: "Resolved: That Men are Superior to Women." The respective sides of this comic debate were upheld by speakers representing each of the sexes. In question, the speakers on the affirmative being Lord Comstock Willingsworth, known to Pacific Lutheran College students as Clifford Mesford, and Archibald Dullop in the person of Clarence Lemming. The argument of the negative was presented by Miss Filhruine Inka Philanthropist known to us as Bafre Torresdal, and Susie Snooty, none other than Jean-Marie Fowler.

Margaret Wesson, recently elected president of the club, acted as chairman, and Jane Williams held the alarm clock. It may be of interest to know that the negative won unanimously, but it would never do to tell that the five judges were of the fairer sex.

George Cooper, graduate of Junior College in 1925, was married this fall to Nellie Swearingen in San Antonio, Texas, where Mr. Cooper is practicing law.

We have already found God's way and His blessings many, but the new church year promises greater knowledge, gifts, and closer approach to God.—Pflieger.

Loggers Beat P.L.C. 32-18 In Opening Tilt on C.P.S. Floor

Lack of Offensive Power Causes Weakness in Lutheran Lineup; Gladiators Outshine Rivals in Second Period of Contest

In a close game the College of Puget Sound defeated the Pacific Lutheran College Gladiators, 32 to 18, Wednesday night on the C.P.S. floor.

The Lutheran's defensive power was evident throughout the game, but their failure to produce on the offense gave the speedy Loggers a decided advantage. The contest was fast and both quieted showed promise of developing into a nice working team after they have a few more games under their belt.

Bates, Logger's forward, started the scoring a few minutes after the game had started, and throughout the first period Sandberg's basketeers held the upper hand. At the half the score stood, 24 to 5 in favor of C.P.S.

In the second period the Gladiators can, and outscored the Loggers, chalked up 13 points to 8 for C.P.S., and played a much better offensive game. The Loggers' close checking handicapped the Lutheran guards, who were unable to take any of their famous top shots.

Martin, Lutheran center, was high point man for P.L.C. with 8 counters, while Carlson, Logger forward, chalked up 11 points. Moe for P.L.C. and McCoy for C.P.S., played a nice game and proved to be constant threats throughout the game.

The lineup

P.L.C. (18)	Pos.	(32) C.P.S.
Moe (2)	RF	(8) Bates
Jack (1)	LF	(11) Carlson

Pacific Lutheran College football warriors next year can be proud to be led by one of the most outstanding gridgers who ever donned a Gladiator uniform: At the football banquet Tuesday evening, the unanimous vote for Swede Willard by the lettermen, showed that his teammates were well aware of his capability.

His work on the Lutheran gridiron this season was of the caliber that was not only recognized within our own circles, but by every team we faced. Columbia University, who defeated the College of Puget Sound, champions of the Pacific Northwest conference, voted Swede the most valuable man they had played against this year. This is significant enough, with him leading our eleven next year. Coach Cliff Olson can look forward to our next year's campaign with much optimism. Here's luck to our new captain!

S. S.

Christmas is near—ahem. Well, anyway, I'm enthused or maybe a bit dubious as to what the 1932 hoop season has in store for us. It's really hard to tell—I'm aware of the fact now, that no matter if you have a good team, that term "tough schedule" sometimes counteracts it.

S. S.

After all, why worry? The nature of the company that's slated denotes the success of our season, whether we win or lose.

S. S.

Even since Coach Olson has been at P.L.C., he has inwardly wished for a large team. This season it appears that our mentor's wish will be gratified, with practically all of our starting line-up averaging close to the six foot mark.

S. S.

In John Fadness and "Swede" Willard, we have a pair of guards that are good—heavy on the good. They literally swarm over the opposition in their own territory and work together like veterans.

S. S.

Not only that, we have some good guards. Jack Hudson, Bob Levinson, Bev Shuster, Stan Score, and Harold Holmberg are all capable of holding up their end. They compose a quintet of powerful reserves.

S. S.

Carl Martin at the pivot position, is handicapped by lack of experience, but he is big and his looming figure is quite an asset under the basket. And Gil Sydow, even if he has to wear a mask to protect his bespectacled eyes, surprises us with the game he can really play.

S. S.

Dutch Moe and Gene Jack at the forward positions, are a clever pair of ball handlers. Moe is hard to find at times, but he's there. Jack has a world of experience behind him, and his best games are yet to come.

S. S.

Sanderson, Votaw, and Preus are comparatively small, but at the forward berths, are very capable reserves.

S. S.

I stated that I was a bit dubious as to what the hoop season has in store for us. We have the material, but what constitutes the most important factor in basketball is exactly what is causing our coach the most grief—and that is working together smoothly.

S. S.

Two practice games have been played to remedy this, but still it seems a bit ragged. If our big boys can get to working together—watch their dust.

S. S.

Two days before our home coming football game, with Columbia University one of the most popular personages around P.L.C. was forced to have an appendicitis operation. A disappointed lad was he—in fact it was written all over his face.

S. S.

Being an ardent enthusiast of every possible activity that goes on at our school, he asked the doctor to postpone the operation until after the game. The old physician stroked his bearded chin, looked at the patient critically, and replied with an emphasis, "No."

S. S.

So "Buck" Swisher, our popular bus driver missed the home-coming game. A few weeks later I happened to see him down town, a bit pale, but the same old "Buck." He closed a short conversation by asking "I wonder what the basket ball team will do this year?"

S. S.

Well, my conglomeration of nothing combined with over-exertion of the epoglottes must cease, but permit me to wish you all a Merry Christmas.

P.L.C. Varsity Win 2nd Practice Game

Gladiators Win Spasmodic Hoop Tilt; Willard and Fadness Star At Guard

In the second practice game of the season, Coach Cliff Olson's hoopmen downed the scrappy Yelm town team 27-21, on the Parkland floor, Saturday, December 10.

From the opening whistle, the Gladiators started sinking shots at leisure and at the same time stretching a string defensive net around the opposition. At half time, the score stood 19-3 in favor of the Lutherans.

In the second period the visitors abandoned their orthodox style and formed a man to man defense that checked the Lutheran scoring spree. While the guards checked the eagle-eyed forwards of P. L. C., the remaining three began piling up points, and before much of the time had elapsed, the Gladiator lead was cut down to five points.

At this point, Olson's men reorganized themselves and halted the threatening Townsman. From that time until the end of the game, the Gladiators managed to hold this lead.

"Swede" Willard and John Fadness, Lutheran guards, started most of the team's plays, and also worked well on the defense, while Dutch Moe furnished most of the fireworks on the offense. "Jug" Jolly, Yelm guard, and Ed Coates, forward, were the invaders' mainstays, causing the Lutherans much trouble by their fast offensive work and flashy floor play.

Lineup:

P. L. C. (27)	Pos.	(21) Yelm
Moe (4)	RF	(9) Cartright
Jack (4)	LF	(5) Coats
Martin (5)	C	(2) Gerwells
Willard (6)	RG	(3) Jolly
Fadness (3)	LG	Donaldson

Gladiators Win In Practice Hoop Tilt

Lutherans Win First Game of Season From Parkland Men's Club; Moe and Fadness High Point Men

In their first practice game of the season, the Pacific Lutheran College basketeers won a double-header on the College maples, December 3, when the first team defeated the Parkland Men's Club, 33-25, with the reserve winning from the Milton town team 27-25.

The Lutherans failed to display a smooth type of basketball. Although their defense seemed to be intact, the offense was a bit ragged throughout. The game was marred by numerous fouls, with the result that three Gladiators left the floor. At the half the Gladiators held a close margin, but during the second period increased this lead by the accurate shooting of Moe and Fadness.

Dutch Moe took high scoring honors for the evening by ringing up 10 counters, and playing a nice floor game. John Fadness, who came next with 5 points, proved to be a power on the defense by his uncanny floorwork, and showed signs of much improved work from last year.

Ben Palo, ex-P.L.C. star, was the shining light for the Clubmen, by checking up 6 counters and playing a very consistent game at guard.

Lineups:

P.L.C. (33)	Pos.	(25) Men's Club
Moe (10)	RF	(4) Dahl
Jack (3)	LF	(6) Lennox
Martin (7)	C	(2) Giasso
Fadness (8)	RG	(5) Palo
Willard (5)	LG	(1) Colton

Substitutions: P.L.C.—L. Sanderson, Sydow, Hudson, Shuster; Parkland Men's Club—R. Sanderson, Dessen, Scott, Betchold.
