J. A. O. STUB SPEAKS TO P. L. C. STUDENTS

Dr. J. A. O. Stub, president of the Lutheran Brotherhood of America and pastor of the Central Lutheran Church in Minneapolis, who is touring the West in the interests of the Brotherhood, visited Pacific Lutheran College and spoke to the assembled students on Monday, April 27. Dr. Stub is a classmate of President Ordal and visited Pacific Lutheran Academy last twelve years ago. The substance of his address was, "Keep Alive the connection between faith and that which thro the church generates faith—God." He urged the students not to take religious vacations as many are prone to do. No one thinks of giving his body a vacation by abstinence from eating "but many neglect to feed their souls which is of importance not only for this life but for eternity."

SENIOR PLAY TO BE GIVEN HERE MAY 15

"All on Account of Polly" Will Be Presented by the Graduating Class in the College Gym May 15 and in Tacoma May 16.

"All On Account of Polly" a three act comedy will be presented by the graduating class of P. L. C. Friday May 15 at the college gymnasium and Saturday May 16 at the Normanna Hall 15th and K Street Tacoma.

The play is under the direction of Prof. and Mrs. Ph. E. Hauge, who are also the class advisors. Those who have been elected to take care of the stage and the advertising are the following: Alvor Beck, stage manager; Arnt Oyen, assisted by Arthur Knutzen, business and advertising manager. The art class under the direction of Mrs. Kreidler has been making posters.

The story of the play is as follows:

At the opening of the play the affairs of the Beverly household have reached a critical stage. Mr. Beverly, a man of large affairs in New York City, is surrounded by two extravagant luxury loving daughters, a reckless, spendthrift son and a wife who, improvident herself, has spoiled her children from the time they were born.

The Beverly family has been spending money faster than the head of the house can earn it. Beverly is beset with creditors who even follow him out to his sumptuous Long Island home and threaten proceedings. He tries to make his family see the necessity of economy and warns them of the inevitable crash impending. Instead of heeding him, however, his warning is greeted with sneers and criticism and they decide that he is an old "grouch."

TENNIS BEGUN IN EARNEST

Courts in Constant Use at P. L. C. Outlook on Present Racquet Season Bright

With the advent of all this fine spring weather comes a great wilding of racquets on the P. L. C. courts. This year the courts are in better condition than they have been for many years, and we hope the style of playing will be correspondingly better. So far there has been a good deal of playing and although interest in the sport seems to be general among the students and outstanding stars have as yet come to the surface.

For the purpose of starting competition productive of a team able to represent the college in tennis, a tournament has been arranged by Coach Ringstad, and Birger Nelson, athletic manager. The list of entries was completed today and although not as large as it has been in some former years it is believed to contain the material for a really formidable team.

Some of the most promising prospects for this year's team are: Sid Glasso; tall, rangy terrific drives, accurate placements, and holder of first place on last year's team.

Myron Kreidler, control of serve, placement, and chops; member of last year's team.

Burton Kreidler, speedy service, member of last year's team.

Lyman Carlson, fast all around game with good "kill stroke"; member of last year's team.

Palma Langlo, flat speed serve, fast and accurate returns, first place on women's team, '24.

Erna Heimdahl, good fighting game and lob.

The complete entry list follows: Singles: Wilbert Nyman, Harold Ellingson, Lyell Kreidler, Walter French, Iver Dahl, Nels Quam, Lyman Carlson, Arthur Knutzen, Arnt Oyen, Sid Glasso, Rudolph Sanderson, Gladys Thomas, Peter Sognefest, M. H. Ringstad, O. J. Stuen, Myron Kreidler, Burton Kreidler, Ole Servold, Alfred Anderson, Edwin Beck, Bert Kragnes, Birger Nelson, Mabel Iversen, Erna Heimdahl, Palma Langlo, Lillian Lee, Carl Coitum, Dorothy Lehman, and Anelle Dahl.

Doubles: Carlson, Sanderson; Dahl, Sognefest; Heimdahl, Langlo; Nyman, French; Ellingson, Glasso; Kreidler Bros.; Fadness, Thomas; Servold, Nelson; Oyen, Quam; Lee, Dahl; Ringstad, "Dark Horse". Mixed Doubles: Glasso, Langlo; B. Heimdahl, B. Kreidler; Nelson, Iversen; Servold, Dahl; Carlson, Lee; Stuen, E. Heimdahl; French, Thomas.

Little girls like to play with dolls, and so do their big brothers at college.

GRADUATION PLANS ARE BEING MADE

The Class of 1925 Is Larger Than Any Former P. L. C. Graduating Class

Graduation days are again drawing near. The graduating class this year is larger than any former P. L. C. graduating class. Twenty-five expect to graduate. The classes are busy making graduation plans.

The first event given by the class is the Senior Play, "All on Account of Polly." This will be given May 15 in the College gymnasium under the direction of the class advisors, Prof. and Mrs. Ph. E. Hauge. The play will also be given in Tacoma, at Normanna Hall, May 16.

The Baccalaureate Services will be held May 24 by Rev. H. A. L. Hjeremstad of Chinook, Washington.

Thursday evening, May 28, the Seniors will give the annual class day program.

May 28, the commencement exercises will take place. Rev. O. E. Heimdahl of Fir, Wash., will give the commencement address.

Those who expect to graduate are: Normal and Junior Department: Ruth Olave Matson, Lillian Aamorette Day, Palma Heimdahl, Erna Heimdahl, George Ernest Cooper, Burton Kreidler.

High School Department, general course: Ruth Charlotte Rivness, Henry Kiel, Arthur Knutzen, Stella Samuelson, Alvor Beck, Edwin Beck, Arnt Oyen, Birger Nelson, Edna O'Farrell, Lyman Carlson.

Modern Language Course: E. Luetta Svinth, Ruth Evelyn Bull, Martha Hjeremstad, Signe Hjeremstad.

Business Course: Palma Laura Langlo, Mabel Iversen.

English Course: Esther F. Sydow. Scientific Course: Sidney Glasso. Special Business Course: Esther Angvik.

COACHS PICKS P. L. C. NINE

Material Chosen Looks Promising

After watching the candidates for the team during the last two weeks, Coach Ringstad made his tentative selection of the varsity nine, Tuesday afternoon, April 17th.

The choice was as follows: Ole Servold, catcher, Ed Arthur pitcher, Ole Servold, Peter Borseth and Sid Glasso will act as alternates as pitcher, Art Werson, shortstop, Sid Glasso, Wilbur Nyman and Ed Beck, first, second and third bases respectively, and Nels Quam, Lyman Carlson and Pete Borseth will hold left, center and right fields respectively.

Art Knutzen was given a suit and will act as utility for the outfield posts.

Although Wednesday's game did not give the team much chance to show their fielding ability, they worked smoothly and should shape around in fine order.

Players will have to keep on their toes this year to remain on the team. Coach Ringstad warned against over-confidence on the part of any of the players and said he had material to fill four of the positions on the team, without hurting the efficiency of the nine.

WE FUTURE ALUMNI

The enrollment of any private school is altered from time to time by the impression of the school given out by the members of its alumni. A prospective student always feels that if he can get in touch with someone who has been a student he can get a better idea of the school, thru him, than he can thru the school's catalogue.

The influence of the alumnus is great and far reaching, it is perhaps more than he himself realizes. What an alumnus tells his friends about the school they tell their friends, and so on and on. Again, the behavior of the graduate after he has left his school and returned to the company of those who knew him before he attended school is a strong factor in influencing for or against the school.

With the end of the school year near, we, who have been attending thruout the year, should begin to anticipate the impression we are going to give others of the school thru our speech and behavior. We are going to give an impression, consciously or unconsciously, which reflects on the school—we can't help it. Others will expect more of us and will look for it. It is comparatively easy to conduct ones self in a Christian manner here at P. L. C. where all attend devotion daily and are surrounded by a Christian atmosphere at all times. The test is coming when you leave Parkland. Surroundings may be different.

Let us all then, resolve to carry the school's influence into our homes and let our friends know what a Christian education is doing for us and what it can do for them.

ADDED FUEL FOR AN OLD ARGUMENT

Educators can generally insure a warm session by starting an argument on the merits of coeducation. So can some other folks. The argument has a tendency to travel in a circle, and the rim of the circle is worn by now to such a rutt that there is little likelihood that the participants will climb out and blaze a new path. The East will continue to educate its youngsters in colleges in which the sexes are kept distinct, even though they may be located on adjoining campuses. The West will continue to practice coeducation. Just to add to the material for the old argument, however, it is of interest to regard the announcement recently emanating from the University of Kansas. This institution was founded in 1866. As in the case of most of the state schools of the West, students swarm thru its courses. A great many campus romances result. Now comes the dean of women with the affirmation that, in all the years since 1866, of the hundreds of marriages contracted between students of this university, only one has ended in a divorce court! Is this because the parties to these marriages have had something of a common intellectual foundation on which to build their homes? Or is it because they have had four years of companionship in which to gauge the likelihood of mutual happiness? Or is it because the college is in Kansas? Or why? At any rate, champions of coeducation will do well to file the fact for future reference.—The Christian Century.

ANNUAL SENIOR SNEAK MAY 6

P. L. C. Graduates Leave the Rest of the School in the Lurch and Enjoy a Launch Party

Wednesday dawned bright and clear at P. L. C. Everything looked just fine. Still there was something missing. The sun shone in vain for the school was dead and lifeless. Why? Simple, isn't it? To be sure, the answer is obvious if not superficial. The class of twenty-five was not at home. The wise old birds who have been the life and spirit of the college during the year had taken to the air and left the high roost in the belfry of wisdom empty.

The graduates left early and quietly without leaving any blatant, vulgar, excuses for school or class spirit in the form of paint smearing, to deface the college.

At about seven o'clock they embarked from the port of Tacoma in a small launch. The cruise started off in the direction of Vashon Island and there over past the Narrows at Point Defiance and out towards Fox Island. The committee in charge of the supplies played a very important part in the production of "That Contented Feeling"; a two meal hot dog comedy. No anxiety was expressed, by anyone in the party, for coming home. So the launch coasted thru the moonlit waters of Puget Sound till a late hour. "Everybody happy?" "Yea, bo!"

'VACCINATION' WAS TOPIC FOR DEBATE

The Negative Received the Judges' Decision by a 2 to 1 Vote

Vaccination was the subject for discussion by members of the P. L. C. Debating Society on Friday, April 24. The question was stated: Resolved, "that vaccination is beneficial to humanity." The affirmative was presented by Arnt Oyen and Henry Kiel, while the negative was upheld by Peder Sognefest and Martha Hjermstad.

The affirmative based their contentions on the following issues: Since the introduction of vaccination there has been a tremendous decrease in deaths from smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid. Since introduction of vaccination there has been no scientific proven increase in any disease because of vaccination. A brief survey of the decrease in deaths from smallpox was given, beginning with Europe in the eighteenth century and closing with the last severe epidemic of smallpox in Detroit, Michigan in 1923. The benefit of vaccination as a preventive against diphtheria was stressed, especially the epidemic at Nome, Alaska, last winter. Statistics were brought to prove that typhoid fever had been completely removed from the U. S. Army by vaccination.

It has been demonstrated that nurses and physicians in smallpox hospitals can be completely protected against smallpox by vaccination. The affirmative gave much credit to sanitation but maintained that sanitation could not replace vaccination. The negative contended that vaccination does not cause immunity to disease but rather spreads other diseases and increases the death rate. That quarantine, isolation, and sanitation are more effective in staying smallpox than vaccination.

The negative first proved that the affirmative had misinterpreted the question by including typhoid and diphtheria. Vaccination for smallpox and inoculation for typhoid and diphtheria are two quite different processes. Vaccination has proven a complete failure in Japan, Philippine Islands and Germany where it is compulsory and has been applied extensively.

The best way to attack a disease is to eliminate the cause and not the effect. Diseases may be prevented, not left for treatment after they have been established. Smallpox and many other diseases are filth diseases, therefore if the community we live in is kept clean and proper sanitary precautions are applied to the body of the individual, we need not fear smallpox. Just in proportion as in recent years, exemptions from vaccination has gone up, so deaths from smallpox has declined. The negative received the judges decision by a 2 to 1 vote.

An admission of 10c was charged for this debate. The net proceeds amounting to $7.50 will be used for buying debating material for future P. L. C. debaters.

Campus Locals

Prof. and Mrs. Hauge, Miss Lund and Prof. Thorson motored to Green River Gorge on Saturday, May 2.

P. L. C. was visited by S. Kvale, a superintendent of a high school near Christiansund, Norway. He has been touring the U. S. to see if he can raise $20,000 which is to be used for lectures about conditions in both countries. Americans will go to Norway for a one weeks course and then give lectures on our country.

The following students spent the week-end May 1-3 in Poulsbo, Washington. Ole Serwold, Mabel Iverson, Arnt Oyen and Birger Nelson. While there they attended the Senior play given by the Seniors of the Poulsbo High School.

Ruth Matson visited with her sister at Hoquiam over the week-end May 1-3.

Nina Edde motored to Stanwood with the Bulls on Saturday May 2 and spent the week-end at her home.

A number of the students enjoyed the evening of Saturday April 18, at the home of Alfred Anderson in Tacoma. They ate: Ole Serwold, Birger Nelson, Teddy Lundin, Arthus Knutzen, Myron Kriedler, Alvor Jbeek, Lymán Carlson, Martha Hjermstad, Signe Hjermstad, Lenore Nelson, Mabel Iverson, Anelle Dahl, Marie Ordal and Edna O'Farrell.

Dorothy Lehman gave a May Day party on Friday May 1. Those present were: Marie Gardlin, Ruth Rivenes, Esther Angvik, Palm Langlow and Agnes Pétter. The girls listened to radio concerts from Oakland and San Francisco.

Prof. and Mrs. Xavier, Prof. and Mrs. Hauge, and Prof. and Mrs. Steep dined at P. L. C. on Thursday April 30.

Mrs. Kreidler and Lyle Kreidler spent Saturday May 2 in Seattle.

THE CAST FOR THE SENIOR PLAY "ALL ON ACCOUNT OF POLLY."

selfishness, deceit and false show comes Polly Perkins, Mr. Beverly's ward and a modest heiress. The Beverly mode of living on Long Island is in decided contrast to the simple New England village life to which she has been accustomed and for a moment she loses her bearings. But her heart and understanding are as big as all out doors and her eternal optimism and good will soon assert themselves. She brings with her the freedom and fragrance of the New England Berkshires, and instead of adapting herself to her new surroundings, she sets out to make them conform to her own standards of simplicity and happiness. Her very presence clarifies the atmosphere.

Not content with performing the Beverly household, she goes into the poor districts of the village and even there her winning personality works miracles. Through her kindness of heart two ragged unwashed children are introduced into high society, causing joy, consternation and condemnation among the various members of the "400."

Beverly returns from the city a ruined man and his family face the prospect of moving into a Harlem flat, which to their way of thinking is worse than death. At this juncture, Polly comes to the rescue and with sublime faithfulness places her legacy, which represents every penny she has in the world, into the hands of her guardian to help him stem the tide.

In the meantime Beverly's son Baldwin, who makes love to every pretty face he meets, has fallen desperately in love with Polly. It proves the making of him. He actually goes to work for the first time in his life.

Through Polly's influence we see the better instincts of the Beverly family and their friends come to the surface. They realize that money is not everything, that social position and false friends do not constitute happiness and that Polly Perkins is a wonderful little person. Her guardian is saved from ruin and she finds her own happiness in the good she has wrought and the true love of Baldwin Beverly.

The cast of character is as follows:

- Ralph Beverly, Polly's Guardian.
- Burton Kreidler.
- Baldwin, his son, George Cooper.
- Peter Hartleigh, a prospective son-in-law, Sidney Glasso.
- Silas Young, a money lender, Birger Nelson.
- Harkins, a butler, Lyman Carlson.
- Tommy, a poor little boy, Olga Ellingson.
- Polly Perkins, a small town girl, Palma Heimdahl.
- Jane Beverly, the wife, Ruth Bull.
- Hortense, her elder daughter, Stella Samuelson.
- Geraldine, her younger daughter, Martha Hjernstad.
- Mrs. Herbert Feather-Stone, of the "400," Esther Sydow.
- Mrs. Clarence Chadfield, a climber, Luetta Svinth.

Marie, a maid, Amorette Day.
Miss Rembrandt, a manicurist, Ruth Riveness.

Miss Business, a hair dresser, Palma Langlow.
Pudgy, Tommy's sister, Dorothy Ordal.

I AM CALLING YOU!

I am the best friend of mankind. To the man who prizes sanity, peacefulness, pure-mindedness, social standing and longevity, I am a necessity.

I am hung about with sweet memories—memories of brides, memories of mothers, memories of boys and girls, memories of the aged as they grope their way down the shadows.

I am decked with loving tears, crowned by loving hands and hearts.

In the minds of the greatest men on earth I find a constant dwelling place.

I live in the lives of the young and in the dreams of the old.

I safeguard man, with a friendly hand to the man in fine linen and the man in homespun.

I give gifts that gold cannot buy, nor kings take away. They are given freely to all who ask.

I meet you with outstretched arms and with songs of gladness.

Some time—some day—some hour—in the near or far future you will yearn for the touch of my friendly hand.

I am your comforter and best friend.

I am calling you!

I am the Church.

—The Trumpet.

WHAT IS THE BIBLE LIKE?

1. It is like a large, beautiful tree, which bears sweet fruit for those that are hungry, and affords shelter and shade for pilgrims on their way to the kingdom of heaven.

2. It is like a cabinet of jewels and precious stones, which are not only to be looked at and admired, but used and worn.

3. It is like a telescope, which brings distant objects and far off things of the world very near, so that we can see something of their beauty and importance.

4. It is like a treasure-house, a store house of all sorts of valuable and useful things, and which are to be had without money and without price.

5. It is like a deep, broad, calm, flowing river, the banks of which are green and flowery; where birds sing and lambs play, and the dear little children are loving and happy.

Friday, May 1, the Parkland Public School held the annual Fair where work done during the past year was exhibited. The exhibitions included academic work and that of Manual Training and Domestic Science.

The first event of the evening was a motion picture show given in the auditorium. After this, the gathering visited the exhibits in the basement which were there were various booths. All reported a good time. Mrs. Forest Crews spent the afternoon of April 24 visiting with Mrs. Lehman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tenwick of Aberdeen visited with Xaviers during the week-end of May 2-3.

At the meeting of the Trinity Junior League last Sunday afternoon, May 3, the following program was given:

Piano Solo—Sylvia Larson.
Mission Topic—Inga Olson.
Recitation—Irene Dahl.
Piano Solo—Joseph Brye.
The unmarried women of the Young Ladies Guild will give a party for the Married women because they lost the contest for subscriptions for the "Women's Home Companion." The party will be given Monday May 4.

The Junior League held the regular social gathering last Monday evening. Bertha, Anna, and Inga Olson served.

During the evening, the girls decided to meet at Miss Benrud's May 13, at 4:15 p. m. to organize a sewing club. Miss Benrud will be one of the leaders.

Rev. and Mrs. T. O. Sware are being congratulated upon the birth of a son, born at the Tacoma General Hospital on Tuesday, April 14. The proud father reports that the young man shows great vocal ability, both as to quantity and quality of tone. He is impatiently awaiting the day when this voice may be added to his famous "Men's Chorus."

PARKLAND WINS OPENING GAME

College Nine Defeats Fife High on Local Diamond by 14 to 5 Score

The P. L. C. baseball team won an easy game from the Fife High School, Wednesday afternoon, Apr. 25th, at Parkland by a score of 14 to 5.

Numerous errors were registered against the Fife team and this paved the way for the Lutheran victory. The P. L. C. nine played a good game all around, although there were a number of errors, which were not excusable. The slugging of the squad was especially effective.

Ed Arthur in the mound position, seemed to experience little difficulty holding the high school boys in check. His pitching was one of the big features of the game. Lyman Carlson played a fine fielding game and his heavy slugging was very effective. Art Werson at shortstop deserves mention for his field work.

The batteries for P. L. C. were Ed Arthur and Ole Servold. Kawamoto and Andre worked for Fife High.

REV. T. O. SWARE, Pastor. MEN'S CLUB PLANS BOOST PARKLAND

The Publicity Committee of the Parkland Men's Club, consisting of H. J. Dahl, O. J. Stuen, and Arthur Bloom are busy formulating plans for advertising Parkland. It has been decided to assist the college at the centennial exposition in Minneapolis in June and materials for a fine display as possible are being gathered. Mr. Holmes, the artist residing at Parkland, has offered a large painting of the school with the mountain as a background which is to be used as a centerpiece around which scenes from the college and its vicinity are to be grouped. The Rainier National Park Co. has donated twenty beautiful photographs from the mountain and the road to the mountain. In addition to this, a pamphlet setting forth the advantages of Parkland is being prepared and will be distributed at the exposition. The committee feels that the school is the center around which this community is being built and that a boost for the school is a boost for Parkland.

'FOLLOWING JESUS' WAS MISSION TOPIC

"Following Jesus in the Service," was the topic, taken from the Church Herald for meditation by the P. L. C. Mission Society at its meeting Wednesday evening, April 29. The topic was divided into three parts. The first, "Service of Jesus," was explained by Arnt Oyen. It was shown how Christ's life was one of service.

The second topic, "Samaritan Service" was interpreted by Arthur Knutzen. The speaker showed how christians should seek every opportunity for service.

"Mission Service," as explained by Martha Hjerstad was the third topic. The various kinds of mission workers, including foreign missionaries, pastors, church goers and church workers were mentioned. Prayer was led by Rev. Sware. A piano solo by Palma Heimdahl and a reading by Erna Heimdahl were the other numbers of the program.

MORE NEW BOOKS FOR THE LIBRARY

Several new books have recently been added to the fiction library. These books were purchased with the money collected by charging five cents a week for the use of the other fiction books.

The new books are: Buff, A Collier, Terhune; Man to Man, Gregory; A Man for the Ages, Bacheller; The Flaming Forest, Curwood; Hand of Fu Manchu, Rohmer; Winds of Chance, Rex Beach; Slippery McGee, Owen; Magnificent Adventure, Emerson Hough; Man from Gleggarry, Ralph Connor; Cheerful by Request, Edna Ferber; Snow Shoe Trail, Marshall.

Book Review Digest of 1924 has also been added to the library.

COMPULSORY CHAPEL

All over staid old New England, college students are in rebellion against the old system chapel. The Yale News takes up the cudgels. The Williams Record begins a series of articles on the system, and invites an open forum to discuss the subject. The Record has received hundreds of letters, many of them from the faculty members, and nearly all of them condemn the compulsory chapel system. The student body of Brwn recently voted overwhelmingly for abolition of the system. Dartmouth gets along this year with voluntary chapel services.

What is wrong with student, or with chapel, that the undergraduates of so many of our neighboring schools unite in condemning the custom as useless and archaic? The modern youth is criticized as unreligious and those who thus criticize him would seize upon this movement as indicative of his descent. But is that the trouble?

As regards the religious benefits, it is useless to deceive ourselves into thinking that a six or eight-minute talk three times a week adds one iota to the morals or ethics of the listeners, least of all, when they are there as listeners under compulsion. Gifted indeed would be the chaplain who could three times a week, for thirty-five weeks, select for his subjects which would inspire his unwilling listeners. It is too much of a task. The present chapel service has become so stereotyped that if the usual order of service is departed from at all, half of the assemblage looks bewildered, and not 50 per cent ever remember the service after they have reached their first class.

College men are not unreligious, at heart. With many of them, their indifference and callousness is merely a veneer to cover a deeper interest in religion which for some reason or another they are ashamed to exhibit. Many of them are regular church goers and since they go voluntarily usually know what the service is about. Many others might go if they did not have the excuse to offer that they had three doses of it a week. One voluntary attendance a month at an hour service is of more benefit to the individual than twelve such chapels as are customary where attendance is compulsory.
