Chorus List Released by G. J. Malmin

56 Luke Warblers Make Up Group

Missive G. J. Malmin announced the list of the PLC Chorus this week. The group has a membership of 56, 16 of them, which makes it exactly the same size as the Choir of the West, which has 56 members.

The Chorus has no definite schedule of appearances, but will probably sing at nearby churches and before other local groups. The Chorus also will participate in the Christmas concert.

Elected president of the Chorus was Arne Aaker, Parkland senior. Melvin Zier, Freshman from Renton, was chosen vice-president, and Maria Olsen, Everett sophomore, secretary. Membership in the group was listed as follows:

First soprano—Gloria Tove, Bellevue; Joann Super, Henrietta; Elin Margaret Loefer, Lorain; Elaine Stodd, Millie Bereseth, Alice Gustafson, Iris Knutson, Delores Swanson, Caryl Koster, Carolyn Riera, DeLores Garand, Margaret Hansen, Pat Blomster, and Shirley Hill.

Second soprano—Sylvia Marvason, Dorothy Mattson, Betty Cole, Kathleen Herman, Marjorie Kisp, Harolds Helle, Joan Kilde, Joan Trilo, Joan Nyström, Gladys Busacker, and Louise Edlund.

First alto—Dorothy Kowler, Irene Christensen, Maria Oren, Dorothy Meland, Joyce Larson, Janet Olson, and Elaine Eide.

Second alto—Mary Ann Wick, Eileen Odegaard, Louise Stephenson, Phyllis Isak, Demetrius Kylio, Martha Butler, and Jackie Nelson.

First tenor—Vernon Brownson, Alfred Scheller, Arnold Kjesbo, Merlyn Zier, James Gilkin.

Second tenor—Valdinar Johnson, Leif Knutson, Leslie Carlson, Henry Erickson, and John Bilbo.

First bass—Walter Wolfes, Delano Johnson, Otto Rosta, Allan Strand, Jerry Hindenst, Paul Meyer, Norman Knutson, Victor Peterson, John Gunderson, Paul Sumet, Ovid Aaker, Paul Braadford, Luther Stoen, Marcus Reitz, Ron Berg, and Walter Stead.

PLCites Guests at GOP Rally-Banquet

Arthur B. Langley, Republican candidate for governor, was the main speaker at a rally-banquet held on Wednesday evening at the New Yorker restaurant in Tacoma. Twenty-seven PLC students from the speech department attended the affair. Tickets had all been given complimentary tickets through the auspices of the Tacoma Young Republicans' Club, sponsor of the gathering.

Langley's 25-minute address, broadcast over KXVI, was mainly concerned with the necessity of reuniting a "clean and efficient state government."

One-Third of Students Live On Campus, 166 in Old Main

PLC's Old Main has a population of 166 coeds, and PLC's new life is the home of 122 men, thus making the late campus a resident population of 288 students, almost one-third of the college's enrollment this semester.

The upper four floors of Old Main are housing a total of 166 women students. The largest number, 71, live on the third floor of the building. On the fourth there are 38, and on the second there are 38, the rest of the floor being devoted to classrooms. Nine suites are beneath the rafters, in the third or fifth floor.

In the veterans' dormitories, erected by the government, the other houses 108 men. Fourteen more live in its more luxurious quarters of the vets' apartment buildings, also situated on the lower campus.

Figures released by the registrar's office show that 193 of the students attending PLC this semester come from a distance of greater than 200 miles. The home of 41 are between

PLC Orators Select Group Heads, Eye Competition in U. of W. Meet

At meetings held this week, the competitive forensic department of speech tentatively outlined its program for the coming year.

Three groups were organized to handle some of the different aspects of competitive speech. They are discussing, oratory, extemporaneous, and impromptu.

To facilitate handling of these groups, experienced student members were named to work with the members of each. Handling the discussion group is Don Graham. Loss Inzerovic is heading the extemporaneous speakers and Bill Landis leads the oratory group. Working with the impromptu speaking group is Larry Hauser.

"These groups are not as yet closed," stated Mr. Theodore Karl, speech mentor, "and we hope that more interested students will turn out to work with us."

Speech students from PLC are to compete with students from nine western states as a part of the annual meeting of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech to take place at the University of Washington, on November 22, 23 and 24.

Individual assignments were given to participants early this week. Junior and senior divisions of the debate squad will be entered. They will participate in original oratory, impromptu, and extemporaneous speaking and discussions. According to Mr. Theodore Karl, speech instructor, there will perhaps be some debate work done, too. Any student interested in any phase of speech is urged to see Mr. Karl for work in connection with this tourney.

Directly following the tournament the meeting proper will begin, to last through November 25, 26 and 27. This annual meeting is an important one in which speech teachers discuss clinical developments in their field and the business of the organization is taken up.

In the future, PLC will associate itself closely with the National As-

Orchestra Seeks More Members; Only 20 So Far

To wipe the "little" out of "Little Symphony" is another of Mr. Harlem Moon's objectives for the coming months. For several weeks he has been searching for new members to bolster the band, but he hasn't forgotten the orchestra.

At latest count, the orchestra had a roster of twenty. Officers have been elected, with Harry Carlson of Portland being chosen president. Eugene Ahrold of Rivelle was named vice-president, and the secretary's post went to June Nyström.

The only definite engagement that has been set is an appearance at the North Coast Lutheran Choral Union convention in Portland this winter. Several numbers will be played by the orchestra at the annual Christmas concert in December.

Members of the Little Symphony, as listed by Mr. Moon this week include:

Violin—Eugene Ahrold, Paul Braadford, Jackie Dwing, Elaine Eide, June Nyström, Kathryn Reule, and John Uusi. Cello—Walter Braadford, Viola—Harry Carlson and Jean Harbeck.

Flute—Gavin Watson, Jean Gilson, and Roberta Schwander. French horn—Ann Demers, Lee Felson, and Paul Meyer. Bass—June Jorgensen.

Trumpet—Bob Winters and Bill Sast. Clarinet—Noel Abrahamson and Paul Benton. Piano—Kathryn Herman. Trombone—Don Reed.

Savages Are Tough Hurdle

Things really get down to cases tomorrow night when the Gladiators tangle with Eastern Washington's power-laden Savages in the crucial game of the year for both clubs. The winner will hold a decided edge for championship honors.

For the past two seasons the rival superstars have battled to deadlocks. But on the basis of this season's performances, Eastern is being vaunted as the heavy favorite in tomorrow's Homecoming scrap. The Savages have piled up impressive victories over Montana, Montana State, Western Washington, Southern Oregon, and a not-quite-as-impressive win over Whitworth.

Mary Tommervik and Marc Harshman scouted Eastern at Spokane last Saturday and were lush in their praise of the Chewies. Despite the narrow squeak over the Whitworth Pirates, Eastern is the best small-college team the Glad hierarchy has seen to date, they reported.

Standouts in the Savage lineup are Quarterback Rip Raappana, who ranks among the nation's top runners this season, having completed 23 out of 38 passes for 322 yards and five touchdowns, and Center Hermon Pein, a behemoth on both offense and defense.

Bob Andrew, veteran Luke end, will be sorely missed by the Parklanders, particularly in the strength of his brilliant defensive play. Bob is out for the remainder of the season with a torn cartilage in his knee. Deane Blair suffered a sprained ankle in scrimmaging Tuesday.

If the weatherman permits, PLC will doubtlessly rely on a strong passing attack to subdue the Savages. Led by Greg Strandness and his accurate bullet-passes, the Tommerviks have had phenomenal success with the sky-lark in their recent outings. If Eastern can halt the Lute's aerial game, they will still have to tangle with a strong ground attack led by pile-driving Jack Guyot.

Ab Pfeuffer's club features a powerful running attack mainly, so it will be a battle of lin. With two weeks rest, and the team in both spirits, Pacific Lutheran will shoot the works to try to knock Eastern out of contention.

Homecoming Underway; Coronation, Parade, Tea, Plays, Grid Classic Set

With the real Coronation and Theme Night slated, Homecoming festivities will be underway at 7:30 tonight. The coronals will open at that hour for "The Strange Gate," the first of three contact plays being presented by the Alpha Phi Omega and Curran Gull Club.

The other two plays, "Dumb Dora" and "The Ghost in the Green Gases," will follow, with an intermission before the third production for the crowning of Queen Blanche Kilmer and the coronation of her two princesses, Betty Reiman and Selma Gunderson. Mr. A. B. Comfort, Sr., president of the Tacoma Kiwanis Club, will officiate over the coronation.

A short pep rally, also in the Student Union, is next on the schedule, and if weather permits, the multitude will file to the lower campus to warm themselves around a hot bonfire.

Prize for Parade
The big pep parade will highlight Saturday's program revelry. As an extra incentive to students and clubs

Describes Mission Work in E. Indies

Dr. Marcus Freeman, missionary to the East Indies for 17 years, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Mission Society Wednesday evening.

Dr. Freeman told of how he came to be a missionary. At the age of 17, he entered a church in San Francisco. Someone asked him if he would become a missionary if he were asked. Although his first reply was "no," he thought about it, and changed his mind.

He began his work in Singapore in 1911, after graduating from College of Puget Sound. Later he switched to the Netherlands East Indies. Extensive work by Christian missionaries on these islands has resulted in the fact that there are more Christians there than in all of Japan and China combined. A large part of the Indies population was converted from cannibalism and head-hunting.

Special music for the meeting was furnished by Melvin Ostrick, accompanied by Dorothy Meyer. President Bill Williams announced that at the next meeting, November 3, the society will have as guests a group from the World Missionary Prayer League.

ANNOUNCE LATER HOURS
The Student Union coffee shop will stay open tonight and all day tomorrow. Co-Managers Maud Wright and Elise Erntanger. Up until now, the coffee shop has been closing its doors at 6 o'clock. The later hours this weekend will accommodate the many students and alumni on the campus celebrating Homecoming.

Fire-side Group Will Hear Norse Teacher

Miss Elsie Skavang, Norwegian and German instructor at PLC, will deliver the main address at the next Fireside gathering, Sunday evening at 6:30 in the Student Union lounge. Miss Skavang has the rather unique distinction of holding a theology degree from the University of Oslo.

Lorraine Lutz will favor the group with a vocal solo, after which an informal sing and discussion period will follow. President Leif Knutson today urged Lutes to end the Homecoming weekend with a short devotion, and hear Miss Skavang.

CAMPAIGNS FOR COURT

Harold M. Eastvold, a Seattle lawyer and brother of PLC's chief executive, is running for a seat in the King County Superior Court. For the past three and a half years, Mr. Eastvold has been on the staff of the King County Prosecuting Attorney.

entering floats in the parade. Homecoming Chairman Hal Jensen announces prizes of $10 and $5, respectively, for the two top entrants. The winning floats will take a spin around the Stadium Saturday night, and Queen Blanche will present their sponsors with the cash.

The parade will start its way down Pacific Avenue in downtown Tacoma, turning up Ninth street, and returning to Parkland via Broadway, Jefferson, and Park Avenue. A police escort will accompany the parade. Late car-owners are also urged to locate their automobiles and join the promenade.

Open house in the men's and women's dormitories will take place from 2 to 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Associated Women Students will serve tea during those same hours in the Union building.

Records at Stake
Little needs to be said about the importance of the titanic PLC vs. Eastern Washington battle under the arcs of the Stadium tomorrow night. The Gladiators, boasting an undefeated string of 11 contests, will fight for Evergreen honors with the Chewies, whose subversive record includes 11 consecutive frays. Sports writers are headlining it as the small college game-of-the-year in the Northwest.

During half-time, Lincoln high's Tugboat Marcheta Ki will present several intricate maneuvers and a skit, "The Parade of Queens," will be given by the Pep Club.

All work the Sabes has been accepting orders for crysanthemum corsages, and for the benefit of last-minute purchasers, Alpha Sigma Lambda will also sell corsages at the Stadium.

Homecoming weekend will end with a spiritual note, with all students and alumni being invited to the Sunday morning services of Trinity Lutheran Church, President S. C. Eastvold will be the pulpit guest.

Elberson, Malnes, Lunde Win Votes

The sophomore class, after being plagued by a slow start and still troubled with close elections, succeeded in polling Stan Elberson of Olympia to the position of president.

Also elected so far have been Ruff Lunde, Everett, as treasurer, and a Harold Malnes, Seattle, as sergeant-at-arms. But results of Tuesday's vote showed that Mayle Haglund and Sue Carpy, both of Tacoma, and Linnea Johnson of Puyallup, will battle for the secretary's post, and Ray Tobiasson of Longview and Bob Brass of Seattle deadlocked for vice-president.

According to the new ASB constitution, the winner must capture a majority (51%) of the vote cast. Final balloting will take place on Tuesday, according to Lowell Knutson, last year's freshman proxy.

Chatting with Virginia Warren

are three PLC students, Eve Haglund, sophomore, Paul Lillorea, freshman, and Bob Larson, sophomore. They met her at the Republica hall in the Tacoma Agency last Thursday at which California's Gov. Earl Warren spoke. Virginia, a co-ed at the University of California, is accompanying her father as he campaigns across the country for election to the vice-presidency of the United States. The awaiting citizen in the background sporting a Dewey-Warren button remains unidentified.

Homecoming Week End

The weekend of weekends is upon us! Guests are beginning to arrive and are looking the campus over with a critical eye. Prospective students are eyeing PLC with ideas of future enrollment. Alumni are back on the campus. It is homecoming weekend and nobody is going home.

The weekend has taken on the atmosphere of a great big dare. There will be speeches, plays, a parade, teas, open house, pep rally, and a football game. And we dare you to get your studies done!

Only one thing can and will make this big weekend a howling success—the wholehearted participation of the student body. Much work has gone into the planning of this occasion and almost every group on the campus has some connection with the planning and carrying out of homecoming activities.

Perhaps it is just from the general air of impending frolic that is felt about the campus, but somehow the students seem to be more than usually excited and expectant.

It is said that Eastern Washington's team is entertaining no serious worries concerning tomorrow night's game. It is also said that they have quite an excellent team this year. But their team is certainly no better than ours, and they would have to go far to find a student body with the spirit to match that of ours.

See you at the game!

If all of the political parties involved in the coming election are honest and correct in what they say about each other, the nation is doomed to economic and political chaos no matter what the outcome of the election is.

It isn't the cough that carries you off; it's the coffin they carry you off in.

Quot the Quot

Thank you for your tumultuous ovaions and great words of praise. I really don't deserve them very much, but since you have chosen to bestow these wonderful honors upon me I would be an ingrate not to receive them in the vein in which they were intended. Since discovering the atom, the principle of jet propulsion, the radium deposits in Manitoba, and Skibo's forehead, I have had a great deal of time on my hands. During these loose minutes, I decided to devote my declining years to an authorship of my memoirs . . .

First love . . . Her hair was brown, her skin was tan and she had deep limpid pools that looked like eyes. I called her Maria Tortilla Frazilla Frigole Fiechilada Bebe. She was a polyglot of natarous delineation and dubious geneology. Spaking figuratively (which is one way) she was quite a little melting pot. Her actions weren't so much illustrative as they were suggestive. A friend of mine described them as amoesoid.

Every night this intriguing creature would coil herself submissively at my feet and chew on the scraps from my evening repast. Now and then she would become too frantic in her show of affection and I'd have to kick her or use my whip. Often I'd be covered with tooth-marks after our frequent tussles. Still through it all she never lost her humility, her compassion and her will to her bidding.

In this manner we spent five memorable years. Then came Pierre. Disguised as a Lepidopterist, he lured my Bebe into his waiting lorry and whisked her away. Though I searched incessantly, I never saw her alive again . . .

And so it holds true that first loves are always lasting loves and I know that I shall never forget my Bebe. She was the best setter a boy ever had.

Thank you, my noble collaborators, next week it's total destruction.

Business Club Has Social Gathering

Alpha Sigma Lambda, the PLC business club, met in the Union lounge Wednesday evening for a business and entertainment meeting. Vossy Drenso officiated over the program.

The members were entertained by Neil Abrahamson and his jam session band. Pat Fos sang a solo, "Corredian." Donald Duncan let loose a few timely words, and Evelyn Mickelson, a newcomer to PLC, displayed a few fancy baton tricks. Finishing the program was a quartet composed of Dale Hoffaker, Rosy Felde, Bob Meincke, and Jim Gilson. Afterwards, refreshments were provided by Lorraine Lorenzen.

Eugene Anderson, the newly-elected president of Alpha Sigma Lambda, will urge all social science majors to join the group.

Jupe Pluvius Has Hit Last 4 Homecomings

Four of the last four PLC Homecomings have been rained out, a survey of the Mooring Mast files showed today. But the 1948 Homecoming chairman are looking at that fact optimistically. They say that it can't possibly rain on five consecutive celebrations.

The gridiron prognosticators were busy sifting through old Mooring Masts and discovered that the Gladiator-Savage competition has been a sore-affair since rivalry began between the two schools in 1937. Each boasts three wins. The last two meetings have ended in stalemates.

PLC's trio of victories over the Cheney club came during the golden years of the Marvellous Masts. The Lutlars shellacked the Easterners, 18-14, 20-14, and 27-0, between 1939 and 1941.

REVEAL ANOTHER BETROTHAL

Cupid's arrow seems to have made its mark on Nellie Rice and Chauncey Christofferson, who announced their engagement last Saturday. Nellie is a graduate of '46 and has a teaching position in Othello, while Chauncey is a junior in the college of education. No wedding date has been set.

 A sizzling prairie fire from the Palouse area has been raging unchecked for several weeks, and tomorrow evening the Gladiators of Pacific Lutheran College are going to assume the role of volunteer firefighters in an attempt to stop the conflagration.
 The fire, in this case, is the undefeated Savage gridiron machine from Eastern Washington College of Education, which has battled all opposition to date, and has its sights set on the Evergreen Conference title.
 The Savages have a very potent outfit, as their past scores indicate. Their conference record thus far boasts of a 31-7 win over the Western Washington Vikings, and a 14-13 thriller over Whitworth College. In inter-conference tilts, the title has a perfect record, three for three.

Glad Junior Varsity Battles Fort Worden to 13-13 Tie
 Don D'Andrea's junior varsity grid-ers scored in the last five minutes to tie a bruising Fort Worden outfit, 13-13, at Port Townsend last Saturday.
 The tying tally came when Junior Kilcup lateralled to Jim Schweitzer, who lofied a 30-yard pass to End Dick Mason in the end zone. With the score at 13-12, Timberwolves, favor, Guard Phil Thurlfield kicked the first-quarter conversion.
 The Lutes took the lead in the all-important conversion.
 The Lutes took the lead in the first quarter when they recovered a Worden fumble on the Timberwolf 20-yard stripe. They drove to the one-yard line. Fullback Dick Griswold taking it over from Lutz. The conversion attempt failed.
 Fort Worden deadlocked the game in the second stanza when a 30-yard aerial clicked for a touchdown. When the Wolves' conversion also failed, the score stood at 6-6.
 In the third quarter, the soldiers took the lead when another pass went for a TD, 30 yards this time. A pass was successful on the conversion try, so the Townsends took a 13-6 advantage.

 The Builders came back in the second stanza with their score which broke the four-game winning streak for the Army team. Among the wins to Fort Worden's credit had been a 19-13 victory over the CPS reserves. D'Andrea was highly pleased with the performance of his charges, stating that they delivered in top style.
 Three contests remain of the Gladiator JV schedule, the next being against the St. Martin's javvy squad.

Auditions Slated For Senior Mixer

The senior hierarchy after all practical considerations on the campus to select their staff at the auditions which will continue through Thursday of next week. The auditions, in preparation for next week's senior mixer, are being conducted each day from 4:30 to 6:30 in the Student Union.

Several new comers threaten to steal the show from such veterans "show-stoppers" as Sara M. Ellerson, Joan Hols, "Doc" Bowers, Jim McLaughlin, Rosalind & Starr, and the boys quartet, Jim Williamson, Dick Starr, Hal Jensen, and Jason Bell. The mixer committee hopes to see more new and old talent and at their seniors next week.

The finalists will be developed the night of the mixer and will perform on the spot. An applause meter will be obtained to make the final judging of the "winners." The mixer is slated for 8 p.m. next Friday.

It is possible that the top talent from P.L.C. will compete with the top talent from C.P.S. on the Campus Radio Theatre program on KMO and KTRF later this fall.

Senior's Uncle Is Only Storm Survivor

Because he couldn't find room on a busy Highway, George Skarby, uncle of P.L.C. Senior Bernie Lavy-Lentz, was the sole survivor of a marine tragedy 400 miles off the coast of Alaska this week. Four other crew members who crowded from their damaged launch into the storm were drowned when a side occupied it.

The 103-foot power launch Skarby had run into a terrific storm front from Seattle to Anchorage. Four of the men decided to go overboard when the ship's seams spread under the strain. Mr. Skarby stayed on and for several days drifted with the leaking vessel until it finally hit land.

According to Lavy, he was rescued by airplane, and will probably return to the States within ten days. The reports of the tragedy were carried in front page stories throughout the Northwest.

Retha King's WAA Soccer Team Wins First Round of Tournament Games

Preliminary soccer tournament contests got underway this week with team II, captained by Retha King, emerging victor of the first round of games.

Team members of King's Kickers, as they are officially known, include Barbara Beckman, Mary Paulsen, Gloria Swanson, Marianne Steves, Inez Larson, Blanche K. Fure, Marilyn Fieldt, Jackie Nelson, Dorothy Edlund, Shirley Hall, Edna Holm, and JoAnn Nordvold.

Their opponents in Wednesday's games were Topps' Topp, Helen Knutson, captain. Team members include: Shirley Roxane, Kay Lucas, Louise Toffelid, Hjordis Herle, Dora Harvey, Lois Fulton, Beverly Slobson, Margie Anderson, Margaret Hansen, Doris Berg, LaWanna Welland, Gwen Adams, and Shirley Thompson.

New space in this issue has been sacrificed to merchants who extend their best wishes for a successful homecoming. Incidentally, the ad staff set a M.M. record this week with 256 column inches of ads.

WISHING THE BALL TEAM, STUDENTS, FACULTY AND ALUMNS AN ENJOYABLE AND SUCCESSFUL WEEK-END.
