

New Development Policy Is Started At Pacific College

Committee Is Elected To Have Charge of Investments; New Material Is Needed

Following the visit of Mr. Rudolph H. Anderson of Minneapolis, who audited the books at the College, a development policy has been formulated by the board and by President Tingelstad, according to suggestions of the auditor.

The first important item of this policy concerns the income from the endowment fund. It has been decided that at present this money will be used to retire indebtedness and to replace in the fund the expenses of the endowment appeal, as well as to meet operating expenses. By using half of this income and the specified 15 per cent of the endowment gifts, the College, according to an amortization plan worked out by Mr. Anderson, will pay back into the endowment fund all the endowment appeal expenses and retire most of the indebtedness in six or seven years, provided the donors of the endowment fund continue to pay their pledges in the next four years as they have done in the past.

Improvements Necessary

The first of two reasons for organizing the Pacific Lutheran College Development Association is to provide money for operating expenses to take the place of the interest income from the endowment until the above plan has been successfully completed. The second reason is to provide money for improvements. At present, one thousand dollars is being spent in expanding the library and three thousand dollars are being used to build a larger and better chemistry laboratory in the basement of the gymnasium. These two improvements fill a long felt need and will greatly increase the efficiency of the courses involved.

Committee Elected

According to the development plan, an investment committee consisting of five members has been elected by the board of trustees as follows: Representing the board are A. L. Loken, a banker at Stanwood, and H. E. Anderson, treasurer of the college and president of the Washington Hardware Co. of Tacoma; representing the alumni

New Students at Pacific

Three new students have entered High School at Pacific Lutheran College since the last issue of this paper. The new students are Fred Haugh from Seattle, Roy Hansen from Seattle and Jens Rikshel from Hoquiam, Wash.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS ARE PROMISING WITH HEAVY LINE AND FAST QUARTER

Can P. L. C. play football? "Yes, Bo." The game last Friday proved that even though the score wasn't exactly what we wanted.

Can P. L. C. get subscriptions to the Morning Mast? We believe so, but so far we haven't very much proof. With names like "Haw" and "Tiger" each side ought to be fighting tooth and nail against the other. What's the matter students? It takes funds to put out a paper. To put out a better paper, take more funds.

Daughters of The Reformation Hold First Meeting Here

The first meeting this year of the Daughters of the Reformation was held Tuesday, October 2, in Mrs. Ramstad's apartment. Punch was served as the girls entered the room.

The program was opened with the singing of the Federation song, after which Elma Trulsson gave a vocal solo, with a violin obligato by Eliot Mickelson, accompanied by Cora Vista, pianist. After a recitation by Dorothy Lehmann, Gertrude Sydow played an instrumental number. This was followed by a reading by Irene Dahl and a vocal solo by Anna Mickelsen, accompanied by Nelma Gullerson. Eliot Mickelson played a violin solo with piano accompaniment by Evelyn Solum.

Before the business meeting was begun, Mrs. Ramstad explained the work of the D. O. R. The president, Miriam Heimdahl, elected last year, had charge of the meeting; Elma Trulsson was elected vice-president; Beanca Jorgenson, secretary, and Lelah Grass, treasurer. A letter from Constance Newring, National President of the D. O. R. was read. It was decided that the secretary send the greetings of the organization to the National convention which will be held in Minneapolis, October 13.

HOFF'S SONS LEAVE FOR EXETER COLLEGE

On September 29th, Ebbe and Hebbel Hoff, sons of Doctor Hoff, sailed from New York on the Ile de France for Exeter College for the study of medicine. Hebbel Hoff is the Rhodes scholar for Washington, and his brother accompanied him, having also been admitted to Exeter. They graduated from the University in 1925, and will remain abroad for three years.

Mrs. B. Taylor, a former teacher in the college and normal departments, visited friends and acquaintances on Monday.

Chemistry Laboratory Is Being Installed in Basement of Gym

College Library Has Had Many Changes

Board Appropriates $1,000 For New Books and Equipment; Work Shop Constructed

During the last year many improvements have been made at Pacific Lutheran College. For the least among these changes is the work done in the library.

About $1,000 was appropriated by the board for use in library work, with the understanding that approximately $700 should go for books and $300 for new equipment.

About 100 Books Now Added

The money expended for books so far has been used to strengthen departments wherein the library was weak. Special emphasis so far has been placed on books of English criticism, economics, political science, and language.

Up to this time only about 100 volumes have been added.

During the summer 60 volumes were added; mainly in the fiction department. These books were accessioned by the class in library instruction under the direction of Mr. Stuen.

Estate of J. O. Hougen

Another series of books was added to the library thru the estate of J. O. Hougen. There are about 300 miscellaneous volumes in this donation.

The $300 allowed for fixtures and equipment has been partly utilized by the construction of a desk for checking outgoing and incoming books. In addition to this the room formerly used as a work shop where books can be mended and accessioned by Mr. Stuen and Mr. Xavier.

Study Periods Supervised

Another new factor in the library improvement is the idea of having a student or teacher in charge of each period. This facilitates study and aids in checking on books that are missing. These additions and improvements make the library at P. L. C. more modern and more efficient.

Class Room, Showers, Apparatus Room, and Necessary Equipment; Other New Additions

During the past month scores of workmen have been busy remodeling the basement of the gymnasium. On the west side of the basement a fully equipped chemistry laboratory and apparatus room is being built. North of the swimming tank will be a modern chemistry classroom. The equipment resembles that installed by Professor Snel at Luther College, which is considered among the very best of its kind in the United States. Directly under the gymnasium steps modern laboratories and dressing rooms are being installed.

Chemistry Room Fireproof

The entire chemistry room is fireproof, with walls of gypsum blocks, cement floors and plaster-board ceiling. The plumbing and wiring, installed by Mr. E. B. Ellingsen, manager of the Parkland Light and Water Company, is of the best material and workmanship. The ventilation system, installed by the Anderson Sheet and Metal Works, is a special feature, so arranged that every part is accessible in case of any irregularity. The water pipes leading to the laboratory tables and the drain pipes leading away from them, as well as the ventilation pipes, are placed in trenches covered with marble slabs, which can easily be removed in case of trouble.

Can Accommodate 40

The class-room, twenty four feet by thirty-four, having seats for forty students, will be equipped with arm chairs like those in the classrooms. On the west side of the room there will be a table with a water faucet, electric connections, an acid proof sink, and other accessories. Blackboards will be placed on the south and west sides of the room.

Laboratory Is Large

The laboratory room, twenty-two feet by thirty-six, with twelve foot ceiling, has accommodations for twenty students at one time. There will be five acid-proof tables, four feet by seven feet four inches, and thirty-four inches.

'Red' Rooms Rampant 'Round Rooms; Fire Hose And Harrowing Happenings Daunt Not 'Stude'

'Tis a cruel old world when a young college football hero like "Red" cannot get the proper amount of sleep because some people, whose sense of humor is distorted, make so much noise in the boys' dorm about 4:30 that it is impossible to sleep. The first thing which aroused "Red" from a very profound slumber was the call of sweet angel voices and the stir of gentle footsteps on the stairs. "Red," having a good deal of common sense, which, by the way, is the most uncommon sense, decided that his imagination had played him a trick. So mumbling and muttering something inarticulate, he rolled over once more into another dose.

'Bang! Bang! Crash! The crash and rattle of ten thousand cannon seemed turned loose in the dorm, and "Red" awoke to realize the terrible truth that the dorm was being destroyed and ransacked by some terrible foe.

"Red," being brave and chivalrous, donned his striped armor and called to his fellow students to drive the enemy away while he hunted for water to drench the intruders. But alas! When he had assembled his forces and had gotten the fire-hose down, the invaders could be heard in the distance, leading a hasty retreat. Having neither weapons nor armor and believing that discretion is the better part of valor, "Red" took for him the unusual course of studying at half past four in the morning. Accordingly, he jumped down to the engine room where it was a little above zero, at least, and studied until the respectable students began to get up.

Such is the brave story of a brave man. (?)

CLEAN UP DAY

Last Thursday the students who were not busy were asked to help clean up the campus. Several of the boys in spite of the rain turned out with rakes and cleaned up the campus very nicely under the supervision of Dr. Hoff. However, a few shirked their duty. Come on, students! Show your school love! Show your school spirit! Show that you are not afraid to sacrifice a little of your spare time in making your school a beauty spot!

Let us all put on our rain-coats and make it a tradition to clean up the campus grounds once a week, or better still, once a day. Give the visitors a good impression of this institution from the time they enter the front gates, until they leave at the Kicking Post. Come on!

BE A FRIEND

It is hard at times to be funny—and the result is usually a very evident proof of that fact. It may be hard at times to be happy—but it has been done.

No one requires happiness from one all the time, but it is absolutely necessary on some occasions. A good genial nature is a real asset—especially at the beginning of the year. There is no difficulty in making friends if one only tries.

Cultivate a friendly attitude today—be a real member of P. L. C.

Chapel Talk

"And it came to pass, when our enemies heard that it was known unto us, and God had brought their counsel to naught, that we returned all of us to the wall, everyone unto his work."

And it came to pass from that time forth, that the half of my servants wrought in the work, and the other half of them held both the spears, the shields, and the bows and the habergeons, and the rulers were behind all the house of Judah."

These verses were read from the account of the rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem found in Nehemiah 4: 15-18. The difficult work at P. L. C. this year compares with Nehemiah's work, and this year will mark a definite forward step in the school or the beginning of the end.

When Nehemiah and his people of the walls of Jerusalem only half of the people built, the other half fought against it.

Let us work together for the advancement of our school and the kingdom of God.

OCTOBER

There is something in the autumn
That is native in my blood;
Touch of manner, hint or mood;
And my heart is like a rhymer,
With the yellow and the purple
And the crimson keeping time.

The scarlet of the maple
Can/shake me like a cry
(Of bugles going by.)
And my lonely spirit thrills
To see the frosty asters like
A smoke upon the hills.

There is something in October
Sets the gypsy blood astir;
We must rise and follow her
When from every hill and plain,
She calls and calls
Each vagabond by name.

Dear Ma and Pa:
I should of wrote yesterday, but how could I think of writing when I was lost in the basement?

If you could of saw your loving daughter running around like a lost turkey, and not knowing a soul besides the striped cat, which goes to college and sings soprano on the first squad, you would of wept at the sight. It was sad sniff anyway, without having useless weeping over me on top.

After I was lost, a man found me. You can tell that he didn't know much, when he asked a foolish question like "Did you want to go to class?"

I wonder, did he think I was having exercise without any aim in life? I asked him "Where is this room on my card?" and he said he didn't see much room left on it now, but that I was in the wrong place. Ain't it awful to hear such dumbness? I knew I was in the wrong place as soon as I got lost.

He showed me the 'right' room, on short order, after the withering look I gave him. He was almost too withered to say anything more that day. He looks all right today. I don't want you to start worrying about anybody's health unless it is your loving daughter's which you can't hardly help worrying about sometimes.

You can tell the hired man that I saw a man on the train that made me think of him in the head. It was mostly his ears, I guess.
Write soon and don't worry about me.
Your Loving Daughter,
CHEROBA.

Hasn't it been raining cats and dogs, tho? Which reminds us, we have heard that a glacier moves slowly because it is frozen stiff, but that doesn't account for the slow movement of our subscription contest. (If you didn't get the connection, you'd better quit reading now, because the rest of it is deep;—in fact, unfathomable.) No foolin' though, we suggest an acceleration of velocity and a correspondingly overwhelming momentum. To clarify the situation we might add that this degree of celerity is described by high school juniors as being, "fast." And, by the way, remember that strikers often receive rough treatment. Many a man who quit laying has found himself in the soup.

Junior College of Centralia Tangles With Parklandites

First Game of Football Schedule Played Off Here Last Friday; Gladiators Are Defeated By Score of 18-0

Pacific Lutheran College Gladiators, last year's champions of the Western Washington Junior College Football League, opened their season Friday, October 5, when they tangled with Centralia Junior College at Parkland.

Coch Coach Beck's Centralia Junior College eleven downed the "fighting Gladiators" in the first conference tilt of the season at Parkland. The Luther boys put up a great game but were overpowered by the heavy Centralia eleven. Beck is a former University of Washington football star.

Rally Starts Late
Centralia, with a powerful plunging backfield and a stubborn line, led the attack throughout the game. Only in the last quarter did the Parklandites exhibit any spectacular football. A series of end runs by Carlson and Sanderson, coupled with an effective passing attack, turned the tide, but the Lutherans' rally started too late.

Carlson, Parkland's flashy quarter, and Sanderson, at half, made large gains on end runs. A long pass from Carlson to Sanderson netted another large gain, but the whistle stopped the sensational rally and ended a hard-fought game.

Last year Centralia and the Gladiators battled to a 0-0 tie at Parkland. In the return game Centralia took a 6-0 defeat.

Palo Is Injured

Carlson brought many cheers from the fans by booting a beautiful kick, which traveled sixty yards. Palo, plucky Lutheran fullback, was injured in the first half, and Knutzen took his place.

Washing Squad Heavy
The Centralia squad outweighed the losers several pounds to the man. Oest, plunging fullback, and Ely, the speedy quarter, were the chief ground gainers for Centralia. The Parkland line worked hard to hold the ground gained, but the winners were too heavy.

What can be said of one can be said of all. They gave all they had, even though that was not sufficient to bring the victory. It was a great game.

Outlook for Girls' Basketball Team For 1928-29 Good

The outlook for the girls' basketball team of 1928-29 seems promising to say the least.

With many new aspirants, combined with the three letter winners of last year, the team should be one of the best in the history of girls' basketball at P. L. C.

Large Number Trying Out
Those trying for the different positions are:

Jumping center: Margaret Goinberg, Edna Dagland, Geanor Lothus, and Phyllis Grande.

Side center section: Marie Gardin, one of last year's letter winners, Margaret Padson, and Agnes Olson.

Guards: Eva Knutsen, Anne Mickelson, Martha Gline, Beatha Jorgensen, and Margaret Jacobsen, who is a letter girl of the last two years.

Forwards: Pauline Larson, who played the position last year, Dorothy Eberole and Emma Kaaland.

Competition Is Keen
Nearly all the girls turning out have had several years' experience with various teams so competition will be keen. This makes for a much stronger team, as competition makes all fight to their utmost.

As yet, a captain and business manager have not been selected by the girls but this will be attended to directly.

Miss Stitrod, the coach, has high hopes for a bigger and better basketball season, and will do her share in fostering good sportsmanship throughout the year.

Student Opinion

Pieces of My Mind

By A. Stado

Students that do not feel at home at P. L. C. either imagine that they are much better than the other students, or they have no interest in their school. Perhaps some of them have too many interests at home.

Some of the boys still insist on smoking on the front steps and in front of the building after they have been asked by the faculty to quit. This shows poor cooperation.

There is too much noise in the hall during class periods. A few of the students keep on running back and forth with a lot of unnecessary noise.

Habit's Tell

Some of the boys in the dormitory make their beds every day and sweep their rooms every week. Either they were used to it from home, or they are learning housekeeping fast. If every room in the dormitory was like 312, the girls wouldn't have to worry any more. There is no time to get homesick at P. L. C. as there is something to do every minute.

The library should not be used as a study hall in the evenings except for reference work. If students want to study together and talk out loud, they should go into another room where they won't interfere with others.

Gladiators Meet St. Leo's Friday

Dummy Gets Plenty of Use By Fellows Trying to Overcome Their Weak Tackling

Although still smarting from the defeat, the Gladiators are preparing to meet the strong St. Leo's eleven on the latter's field, Friday afternoon.

While it was a severe blow to lose, the experience proved valuable in many ways. It showed several weak spots, which Coach Ramstad hopes to have mended before next Friday's game. The tackling in last week's game was poor, and as a result the dummy has had to stand much severe punishment this week in order that the defect may be remedied.

Lions Defeated Last Year
Last season our team defeated the Lions on the Parkland field with a score of 14 to 0, and we hope that the process will be repeated this year. Coach Ramstad expects to be able to use the full strength of the team again on Friday.

Although Sanderson has been nursing an injured ankle, it is thought that he will be in shape by Friday. Palo has been showing up well in practice and seems none the worse for the injuries received in last Friday's game.

Second Team Game
Saturday afternoon the second team will get its first taste of real football when they meet the Lincoln intermediates in the Lincoln Bowl. The teams appear to be evenly matched, and the game should be well contested.

YEAR'S REQUESTS FOR IMPROVEMENTS MANY

Among the requests that have been made for specific improvements at the school this year are the following: phonograph; class-room decorations (pictures and other attractive features); all-weather tennis courts; showers in the gymnasium; teacher's desk in library; dictionaries; president's residence; library building; girl's dormitory; new gymnasium; and campus survey by a landscape architect.

Bonfire Greatest Pep Rally Staged At Pacific College

Have they got pep? You tell 'em. In preparation for the Centralia game the student body on Thursday evening, October 2, participated in one of the most enthusiastic "pep rallies" ever staged at Pacific Lutheran College. The rally was featured by a large bonfire, yells and speeches by various representatives.

After a fusillade of yells, led by Gerhard Lane and Howard Wells, yell leaders, Professor Haug was called upon. He responded with a very clever little talk concerning the team and the coming game. Coach Ramstad also said a few words appropriate for the occasion.

"Red" Carlson, football captain, and Walter French, athletic manager, were each greeted with a wild conglomeration of noise and the usual war cry "Sposh!"

Peter Flott, in response to a hearty request, spoke briefly. Fred Schell showed the "gang" some of the old school spirit by saying a few words and leading a rousing yell for Garry Lane, the yell king.

But all things have an end. Old man J. Pluvius put an abrupt stop to the noisy celebration by sending his greetings in barrels.

FRENCH IS ELECTED ATHLETIC MANAGER

At the regular meeting of the Student Body, September 28, Walter French was elected athletic manager for the coming year.

"French," as he is known to the students, is well qualified for the position. His interest in athletic affairs as well as the experience he has gained as a member of former P. L. C. basketball and baseball teams should do much towards making him a successful manager. French's work will be an essential factor in promoting another successful year in the history of athletics at the Pacific Lutheran College.

Wonders of East Are to Be Told

Only Outsider Who Ever Saw The Sacred City of Tibet Gives Lecture Course

Dr. William M. McGovern, Ph. D. Oxford, the Scientist Explorer who forced his way into the Sacred City of Tibet and lived to tell the story, opens the most attractive celebrity course ever given in Tacoma. The date is Friday, October 18th, at the Central Lutheran Church. Slides and motion pictures taken in Lhasa, the sacred city, by Dr. McGovern, well disguised as a coolie, will make this strange course live before the eyes of the audience.

Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets are now on sale by members of the club house association and mall orders will be received for reservations at Sherman Clay & Co. October 12th. General sale October 15th at Sherman Clay & Co.

Mrs. Ira Davison is General Chairman for the course.

On November 19th, Albert Wiggam, author of "The Fruit of the Family Tree," "The New Decalogue of Science," "The Next Age of Man," and "Making Science Human" will lecture on the subject "What Civilization is Doing to Us." The much discussed theory whether heredity or environment are determining factors in our lives will be discussed in a popular and interesting way.

Edward Tomlinson, a specialist in South American affairs will appear February 5th, speaking on the subject "Under Ten Flags." He has been a contributor to leading newspapers and magazines, including The Travel Magazine, The Current Magazine, and The London Spectator.

Boy Is Speaker

Much enthusiasm has been aroused over the news that Richard Halliburton, the play boy adventurer, who circled the globe on a shoe string, will tell us of "The Royal Road to Romance," his most popular and fascinating book, on March 8th.

Those interested in Japanese dramatic art will welcome the appearance March 12th of The Onagawa Japanese Players. They will produce "The Fox Woman," mystery play of the East and songs and dances of the Cherry Blossom Land.

is A. Buschman, president of the Deep Sea Salmon Co. in Seattle and classmate of Dr. Tingelstad in 1900; Forbes Haskell, president of the Puget Sound National Bank representing direct contact with the investment field. This committee held its organization meeting on September 20 and adopted the policy of investing, at present, in class A bonds and first real estate mortgages accessible for appraisal by three members of the committee. On September 27 action was taken authorizing the diversified investment of $10,000. An official report on the status of the endowment fund will be made soon.

Support Asked

In accordance with the development policy, the P. L. C. Development Association is now being organized. All the owners and friends of Pacific Lutheran College will, as far as possible, be approached with the request that they voluntarily support the College with a contribution of at least one dollar at least once a year. As soon as the contribution has been received and recorded in the office, the contributor is given a serial number, and is placed upon the mailing list of the bulletin issued quarterly.

During this school year the attempt will be made to enlist 10,000 contributing supporters through membership in the P. L. C. Development Association.

296 Names Already

This campaign was launched in Trinity Congregation at Parkland, September 23, with nearly a one hundred percent response, and at this time there are nearly 200 names on the membership roll.

On October 3, Pres. Tingelstad and Field Manager Elvestrom left for California to lay the matter before two Luther League meetings—a Circuit Convention, and a South Pacific District Convention to be held in Pasadena during the middle of October. From there as a starting point the campaign will be carried northward, with Mr. Elvestrom spending all his time in the field and President Tingelstad being there part of the time.

A WORD PUZZLE

Somewhat Crossed—
A small boy sliding on a cellar door, snags by the seat-of his trousers, and is—fast.

A racing car, setting a world's speed record at 206 miles per hour is—fast.

A person, voluntarily abstaining from food is on a—fast.

While conferring, one of a group of people mention a name. Immediately silence spreads over those gathered, then a whisper—"Oh, my; that girl is—fast."

Now, I'm asking—Just what does FAST mean?—North West Viking.

"Are there any dumbbells in the room," the teacher asked. "If there are, let them stand."

A long pause. Nobody stood up. Finally a boy in the rear of the room rose.

"Do you mean to say that you're a dumbbell?"

"No," replied the boy. "But I hate to see you stand alone."

Wiseacre Tell Us, Where Was Moses?

Dark as night was the gloomy day. The world was dismal indeed. The light was dimmed by an uncanny force—a force more powerful than any man can wit.

Moss and his miseries were soon on view—in a classroom at that! What is the trouble? How can he be hel d? "Come, all ye faithful!" and solves the mystery for the Moving Mass and for the many curious ones at school. Why has Mr. Hauge suddenly appeared with a dingy lamp—if such a term can possibly be used in speaking of the ocular apparatus of a member of the revered faculty. What malignant force exerted enough pressure to cause the disorientation that has appeared around the orb of the teacher of Psychology? Perhaps it was too much psychology and not enough "common sense" that caused Mr. Hauge to bump into the door jamb (to use a well-worn alibi). We are still wondering.
