

Choir of West In Homecoming Concert Sunday In Gymnasium

College students and residents of the South End will have the opportunity this Sunday at 3 p. m. of hearing a well-known a capella choir which only last Saturday returned from a triumphant three-week tour of 12 cities in five Midwestern States. PLC's Choir of the West, under the direction of Gunnar Malmin, will present a "Homecoming" concert in Memorial Gymnasium under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club of the Parkland area.

Proceeds of the concert will form the basis of a 5,000 dollar fund which is being raised by the Kiwanians to outfit the college band with badly-needed uniforms. The band, incidentally, will present its annual spring concert next Tuesday evening in the SUB.

The 56-voice Choir of the West will give exactly the same program which it presented on its recent Midwestern tour. Fifteen selections, in three groups, will make up the presentation. Three encore numbers are also available.

Charles Martin will be featured soloist. He will have the solo part in three numbers.

This is the only full-length concert given in Parkland during the entire season by the Choir of the West. The choristers will be wearing new gowns.

Herbert Socolofsky, former Parkland civic leader, is chairman of Sunday's event, and all Kiwanians have been selling tickets. Student and adult prices are 50 cents and one dollar respectively.

Tawasi and Alpha Phi Omega, PLC student honorary organizations, and Harry Adams, college math instructor, are assisting with the arrangements for the concert.

Schaffer Presents Monodrama Tonight

Three acts of hilarity and drama involving an old maid and eligible bachelors will be offered to PLC students and friends when the department of speech presents Mrs. Pauline Schaffer in a monodrama of "The Old Maid" tonight. For her program, announced for 8 o'clock in the SUB, Mrs. Schaffer will use her own condensation of Zoe Akins' adaptation of the Edith Wharton story.

This will be the first "showing" of a Schaffer monodrama in this area and a capacity audience is anticipated for the program, complimentary to the public.

For her special version Mrs. Schaffer has condensed the original play to a one-hour performance, retaining, of course, all of the essential characters and action. In a scene of 19th century morals and manners centering about two cousins, playgoers will find a poet in love with one of the cousins, the other cousin in love with the poet and two wealthy brothers in love with the two cousins.

In introducing her monogram here Mrs. Schaffer is giving a type of program in which she won wide recognition and popularity in the southwest. She first produced one of her con-

PLC Band In Concert Next Week

The PLC Band will appear in its annual spring concert next Tuesday at 8:00 p. m. in the SUB. There will be no admission charge.

Feature of the evening will be a quartet "Dizzy Fingers," by the organization's ace clarinetist, Noel Abraham-

Two special instrumental groups will also vie for applause. Bob Winters, Ed Scheeler, Joyce Ferguson, and Charles Heinbigner will give a trumpet quartet presentation of David Bennett's "Tournament of Trumpets." A second quartet—brass this time—will bring together Don Reed, Walt Hufladt, Bob Winters, and Charles Heinbigner playing "One Fine Day" from Madam Butterfly by Puccini.

In all, the band will give twelve numbers, including both modern and classical selections.

Incidentally, band members are moving forward with anticipation to be able to wear the new uniforms which will be provided by the proceeds of the Kiwanis-sponsored "Homecoming" concert of the "Choir of the West" next Sunday. The band hopes to have the uniforms before the end of this school year. Everyone can help the band secure the new uniforms by attending the "Homecoming" concert.

The complete program for Tuesday's band concert is as follows: "Strike up the Band Overture," by George Gershwin; "The Song Is You," by Jerome Kern; "Monte Cristo Overture," by Paulson; "Andalucia," by Ponce; a suite, The French Quarter, in three parts: "Patio," "French Market," and "St. Louis Cathedral," "Tournament of Trumpets," by David Bennett; "American Folk Rhapsody," by Grandman; "Night at the Ballet," arranged by Walters; "Dizzy Fingers" by Confrey; "Coronation March," by Meyerbeer; "One Fine Day," from Madam Butterfly by Puccini; and the march, "Hands Across the Sea," by Sousa.

Smorgasbord Called Off By Viking Club

The Viking Club Smorgasbord, which was scheduled for this evening at 8:30 has been postponed until a later date because too many other social activities are being planned.

"Sdrawkcab" Go Tomorrow Night

The Associated Women Students of Pacific Lutheran College tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m. will present in Memorial Gymnasium their zany "Sdrawkcab" party.

Only women—college girls at that—could think up something like this. "Sdrawkcab" spelled backwards is backwards, and that is what the party is going to be—entirely backwards.

All clothes must be worn backwards (if they aren't, they must be changed before entering). Shoes must be left at the door. People will say "good-bye" when they arrive, and "hello" when they leave. Refreshments will be served, but the holes will be on the outsides of the donuts. There will be food, fun, games, and prizes, but watch out! Everything will be done backwards.

Co-chairman for the affair are Joyce Larson and Naomi Roe. Serving on the various committees are: publicity, Carol Schuler and Shirley Sagehorn; entertainment, Dorothy Sweet, Jody Triolo, and Helen Jensen; food, Phyllis Isvick and Gladys Busacker; and decorations, Jpanne Nodvedt and Olive Isacksen.

April 25 Deadline For Scholarships

The deadline for scholarship applications to be turned in to Dean Hauge has been extended to April 25. All applications must be in by then! The forms are on file in the registrar's office. Students should start to fill out their applications immediately, as the information requested may take some time to acquire.

Scholarships at Pacific Lutheran College are awarded in recognition of high scholastic achievement and as an encouragement to secure a college education. Special consideration will be given to students who show more than average interest in promoting the program of PLC. Particular attention will be given to applicants who identify themselves definitely with PLC's extra-curricular program, including religious activities.

It is understood that students accepting scholarship awards will plan to attend PLC until completion of work for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. PLC annually grants about 150 scholarships ranging from $25 to $100 per year.

Forensic Squad Completes Season With 11 First Wins

With an accumulation of 11 first place trophies and a number of other awards, the PLC forensics squad has completed its 1949-50 season of four major tournaments.

Records show that the squad coached by Theodore Karl won six second places and nineteen third ratings. In the Linfield college tournament, the group was judged third in the Student Congress. Lou Innerarity was awarded one of the five commendations given to participants of the Student Congress event at the Western Speech Association at Stanford University. At the Vanport discussion tournament, Innerarity placed third, Don Graham fourth, and Jon Ericson tied for fifth place honors.

PLC took second place for sweepstakes in both men's and women's divisions at the St. Martin's tournament and at the CPS Tyro tournament. In a PLC practice debate tournament, the team of Jon Ericson and Alan Hatlen won first place, and Don Graham and Bill Rieke tied for second place.

Don Graham led the men's team for the season by winning three first places, and one third rating. Lou Innerarity won two first places, a commendation, and two third place ratings. Graham and Innerarity took second place in debate at Linfield.

Herb Neve won a first place and qualified for debate finals at the CPS tournament with Bill Rieke. Rieke won first-place in one-man debate at St. Martin's and earned one second rating.

Bob Ericson was judged second in

'Quake of '49' Rocked PLC One Year Ago

Lights blinked, desks danced, windows creaked, floors swayed, and students ran for the out-of-doors one year ago yesterday during the earthquake of 1949.

The center of attraction on the PLC campus was the chimney of Old Main, which witnesses claimed was swinging with an arc of several feet even for several moments after the tremor had subsided. Total damage, however, amounted to only a few cracks in the plaster, a few magazines fluttering from library shelves, and mostly frayed nerves. No building suffered structural damage.

The quake took place a few minutes before 12 noon.

one event and third in two others. Jon Ericson won a second and a third place in individual events and qualified for finals in two events at the Stanford tournament. With his debate partner, Alan Hatlen, Ericson won a first, a third, and qualified for finals in the traditional debate events. Hatlen placed third in two individual events.

Howard Worley tied for a third place and qualified for the finals in another individual event. Frank Berry qualified for finals in two events. Howard Schull also passed from preliminaries to finals in an individual event.

Mary Larson lead the women's division by winning three first places, and one third. The debate team of Mary Larson and Marguerite Eastvold captured two third ratings. Marguerite Eastvold won three third places.

Lillian Leikauf placed third in three individual events. Joyce Taylor was judged first in an individual event at the Western Speech Association at Stanford university.

Mr. Karl wishes to express his appreciation to the administration, faculty and student body for their interest and cooperation this year. "To our way of thinking, it has been a successful season and I am very grateful to the squad for their efforts in behalf of the school."

Choir To Sing With Seattle Symphony

The Choir of the West will sing next Wednesday in Tacoma with the Seattle Symphony Orchestra under the baton of the distinguished conductor, Eugene Linden. The PLC group has been selected to give Mozart's opera, "Magic Flute."

The presentation will be in the Temple Theater at 8:30 p. m.

Wedding bells rang April 1 for Norma Johnson and Walt Oden.

Roller Blades Present Skate Party Tonight

Roller-Blades has scheduled a roller skating party at Redondo Beach tonight, to which all students are invited. The party will be held the session from 10:30 to 12:30. The admission charge will be 65 cents, and an extra charge of 25 cents will be added for the use of shoeskates.

Vern Fink is in charge of transportation for the evening. Buses will leave the school at about 9:15 and return shortly after 12:30.

Norm Knutsen is chairman of the event. Janice Johnson is in charge of ticket sales, and Doris Jensen is poster chairman. Chaperons for the evening will be Miss Elsie Berg and Evert Larson.

Seligh To Be Officer Of Zoological Society

The recently formed Tacoma Zoological Society held its first meeting of the year at Crawfords Sea Grill on Friday, April 7, Dr. Burton T. Ostenson, retiring secretary, presented his annual report of the organization's activities and nominated Mrs. Regina Seligh for acceptance as a member of the board of directors. Mrs. Seligh was unanimously accepted and later elected secretary of the organization. Dr. Ostenson was appointed director of field activities.

Besides Mrs. Seligh and Dr. Ostenson, several P. L. C. students are members of the Society. Among the different types of memberships of the Society are student memberships at reduced prices. Anyone interested in joining or finding out about the group should contact either of the above mentioned faculty members.

Hats Off to Lute Track and Ball Squads

Nothing—not even "lutefisk" and pickled herring—pleases a loyal PLC-ite more than a Gladiator athletic victory over CPS. Plaudits in profusion, therefore, to both the Lute track and baseball teams for their splendid whitewashings of invading Logger opposition during Easter vacation.

Individual star of the diamond encounter was freshman Glen Huffman, big and easy-going Glad pitcher. "We call ya 'Moose' but we love ya!"

McCarthy On Trail of Local "Red"

Rumors have it that Senator McCarthy visited Parkland recently to investigate the glowing red face (and hair) of PLC junior Paul Arlton. On April Fools Day Paul was handed a phony summons to appear in superior court as defendant in a lawsuit. The summons charged that he, as editor of the Parkland Times, had "published a libelous, malicious, and defamatory article, etc." Paul spent the best part of the day journeying about the South End visiting three different attorneys before he was told it was all an April Fools hoax.

So You Don't Like the Pictures in the MM?

In recent weeks criticism has come to the editor regarding the quality of the pictures appearing in the Mooring Mast. Many feel that the "cuts" often are neither timely nor appropriate. The editor feels that this criticism is, for the most part, justified. An explanation, however, is in order.

Before a picture can be printed it must be engraved on a metal plate, or "cut," by a downtown firm. This process is quite expensive—the charge for engraving a three-inch-by-six-inch plate being five dollars. There is a three dollar minimum no matter how small the "cut" is to be.

The Mooring Mast, under the business management of Phil Falk, is this year making a determined bid to get financially out of the "red." This is proving to be extremely difficult since printing costs are high and ad soliciting by PLC students is low. The present operating budget of the Mooring Mast makes no provision for engraving costs.

From where, then, do the pictures come that are printed in the MM?

Two sources are available. First, the MM may use "cuts," on file, which remain from past years. Second, the MM may obtain, at small cost, "cuts" which have been printed recently in The Tacoma News Tribune. Admittedly, pictures which are reprinted from these two sources are not as timely or appropriate as PLC students desire them to be. The financial fact remains, however, that if pictures are to appear in the MM at all, they must come from one of these two sources.

German Instructor Gives 'Open House'

The German Club enjoyed an "open house," sponsored by Mrs. Little, German instructor, in the SUB Wednesday afternoon. An exhibit of books, magazines and pictures from Germany and Austria, and some wooden Latvian trays were on display. Recordings of German music gave a pleasing touch to the social hour.

Netter's To Meet Loggers Monday

Monday, April 17, will mark the opening of the 1950 Lute tennis season. At that time coach Ted Karl and his squad will travel to the College of Puget Sound to engage in the first of six scheduled matches with Evergreen squads.

Returning lettermen are Lou Gabrielsen, last season's number-one man, Jack Bowron, and Bob Larson. Several new men are turning out, Mr. Karl says, that he will await the results of inter-squad matches before he names any tentative team members.

LeRoy Spitzer, a freshman from Kennewick, is a three year high school letter winner and won this district tournament last year. He has been on the choir trip which has thus far prevented his playing in inter squad competition.

Those turning out, other than lettermen include: Bob Gregorson, Ernie Cementina, Don Nothstein, Nielson, Colburn, Bill Stout, Jack Hagen, Don Graham, Ken Daus, and Don Ellertson.

Coach Karl will select the team for Monday's matches from the results of the inter-squad ladder that is current-

Organize Softball or Intramural Play

The softball season for the intramural clubs will soon be under way. Clubs are requested to organize teams and turn the names in to Tommervik, John Hagensen, or Erickson as soon as possible. The teams should be organized according to the rules of the new intramural program that has been put effect this year. Each team will be limited to twelve players unless only one team from that particular club. Promptness in turning in the teams for each club will be greatly appreciated. Outpoint CPS 76-50 In Thinclad Opener

By BOB BELLAND

In their first dual-meet of 1950, April 5, on the Parkland cinders, the Lute thinclads downed the Loggers by a total of 76 to 50. The margin of victory came as a result of the fine performances of PLC distance men, who swept the 880, mile, and two-mile events.

Standout of the meet was big Frank Smith, a CPS freshman, who unofficially bettered the existing Evergreen Conference records in the shot-put and discus. In addition, he took first in the javelin. PLC's Hank Habegger also broke the shot and discus record.

Double winners for the day were PLC's Harold Anker in the dashes, and the Logger's Dick Lewis in the hurdles.

Harry McLaughlin took first place in the high jump. He outjumped favored Wayne Mann, who earlier this spring leaped over six feet in the Washington State College indoor invitational meet at Pullman.

Tomorrow the Glads will compete in a four-way meet with St. Martin's, Fort Lewis, and Seattle Pacific.

Standouts for the Martin's are Pete Muir and Bill Casey.

Fort Lewis and Seattle Pacific are the dark horses in the affair, for nothing is known about their material.

Following is a summary of the CPS meet:

Mile—Tie between Ulleland and Loper (both PLC), 3 — Madsen (PLC). Time—4:59.

440-Yard dash — 1 — Fabulich (CPS), 2—Ambuehl (PLC), 3—Fink (PLC). Time—:52.

100-Yard dash—1—Anker (PLC), 2 — Larson (CPS), 3 — McCorry (CPS). Time—:10.1.

High hurdles—1—Lewis (CPS), 2 —Belland (PLC), 3—Westlin (CPS). Time—15.6.

880-Yard run — 1 — Anderson (PLC), 2—Wells (PLC), 3—Shaw (PLC). Time—2:11:5.

220-Yard dash—1—Anker (PLC),

Lute Netters Drop Seattle U. Chiefs

Lute Tennis men yesterday afternoon copped an eyelash 4-3 decision from Seattle University in the season's opener on the Parkland courts.

Lou Gabrielsen, Bob Larson, and Larry Nielsen won singles matches. Jack Bowron teamed with Bob Larson in a victorious doubles combination which garnered the winning point.

Leading hurdler on the Lute track team is letterman Bob Belland. A junior majoring in education, Bob plans to teach social studies and physical education when he graduates.

Bob did his high school running at Clover Park, where he lettered in his senior year. Bob stands 6'1" and weighs in at 165 pounds. His lean build as well as his good hurdling form makes him a consistent point winner.

Bob has lettered at PLC during the past two seasons. Last year he placed in the conference high hurdle race. Bob garnered six points against CPS in the first meet of the current season.

Only 5 Out For Golf

Five men have turned out for varsity golf so far this season. Marv Tommervik asks that anyone interested in playing on the team should present a 54 hole score to him. Those who have turned in their qualifying scores are: Jerry Enge, Walt Oden, Burt Servercid, Thane Echler, and Jess Thompson. The first golf match is scheduled for April 17 against the College of Puget Sound.

Enge Retains Lead In Chess Tourney

The chess tournament is moving into its final week with five competitors retaining a mathematical chance for the title. Jerry Enge holds the lead with 4½ points. B. Johnson, L. Amundson, G. Lundgaard, and J. Buffalo are the others that remain in contention. All matches are to be played by this afternoon.

Huffman Leads Glads To Diamond Victory

By PAUL TEMPLIN

The Lutes got off to a superb start in this year's Evergreen Conference baseball race by swamping the CPS Loggers 10 to 2 on the Parkland diamond Monday afternoon.

Glenn Huffman, freshman from Lincoln High of Tacoma, was the big gun in both the Lute offense and defense. Huffman pitched a five-hit ballgame, struck out nine Logger batters, and hit two singles in three official trips to the plate.

Gene Reiber and Bud Hatley each collected two hits to help the Lute cause. Good support from the rest of the squad in the field also helped Huffman attain his second college victory in as many starts.

Keith Predmore, returning letterman pitcher at CPS, was somewhat wild in the five innings he pitched. Predmore walked eight men, hit one, and threw the ball away on a possible force at the plate.

Mickey Murphy, left fielder, and Earl Birnel, shortstop, were the only power CPS could muster to the plate. Murphy hit three for four and Birnel two for three.

Evergreen Teams Work Toward Meet

The second year of Evergreen Conference baseball is under way with returning lettermen on all teams. The league is divided into two divisions, Eastern and Western. In the Eastern division are Central, Eastern and Whitworth. The Western division has College of Puget Sound, St. Martin's, Western, and Pacific Lutheran. Central won the Eastern division last year and CPS won the Western division. Playing at the Tacoma Tiger's ball park, Central defeated CPS twice to win the conference championship.

At the conference track meet last year, Eastern Washington College amassed a total of 51 points to win the championship. Central was second with 30 points and University of British Columbia was third with 26 points. PLC, CPS, Western, Whitworth and St. Martin's followed in that order. Eastern is favored again

The Leftovers . . .

By KAY SCHELL

We "left-overs," as Don Graham so aptly classified those staying on campus during spring vacation, didn't experience as long and boring a holiday as might be expected. Why? Because we organized and had a picnic Friday, thanks to the red tape breaker and sandwich maker, Marguerite Eastvold, and the help of Miss Holstad. Mr. Jacobs loaned us the "Grey Comet" for the day, so we sped out to Spanaway Lake with high spirits that even the inevitable Washington this year, but has lost some of its best runners. The conference meet will be held at UBC May 19 and 20.

New records are expected in the field events. Dick Smith of CPS already has broken the conference record in the shot-put and discus, but only during the conference meet is it possible to set new records.

rain could not dampen. On arriving we started a fast game of soft-ball by choosing as captains Evi and Elvi Nook. Even with the superb catching ability of JoAnn Nodtvedt, her captain, Elvi, was defeated. Maybe Evi's team won because Hyman Fish and Cliff Hatley were the umpires for their own team. George Bendikas did such a good job walking upside-down that we were convinced that he should wear his shoes on his hands.

It's a shame that Jerry Farren had to leave so early, because just the smell of those weiners roasted by Denny Kettle and Bob Crumbaugh brought new members to our group, Phil and Jean Braafladt. After stuffing ourselves with the weiners, sandwiches, cookies and cokes, and Easter eggs, we availed ourselves of the opportunity to go boating, it being still a bit chilly for swimming. You should have seen the smooth way the canoe, handled by Val Johnson and Arnie Helegeson, glided over the murky water. Bob Johnson certainly has a trim ankle as can be attested by the four feminine passengers of the row-boat he captained. How could they tell? The trimness was much in evidence when he rolled up his pants legs and took off his shoes in order to be in proper garb when rescuing his "ship" which had crashed into a low bridge. Although she was pinned between the sinking boat and the bridge, Marianne Sunset was not hurt, however, Kay Schell will be glad to show you the wound on her hand. Paul Braafladt, the boy who took his own car because he had to leave early, was still around when clean-up time came at 7:30.

Coed Gives Impressions of West's Tour Through Midwest

By GLENNA NELSON

Here is a brief sketch of the highlight of the tour made by the Choir of the West.

We left Seattle on the Great Northern right on schedule. Everyone was well supplied with food so we ate and made merry until time to retire. It was hard for some to stop their merriment then. Annie Isacksen and Joan Soaper woke up at 3:30 a. m. just to giggle.

After a concert and a good night's rest in Williston we attended the children's church service at which time LaWanna Wellsandt, Charles Martin and Leif Knutsen gave their birthday pennies. They didn't drop them in one by one or we would have missed the train.

Grand Forks was the first place we had a long enough stop to do any shopping and everyone took advantage of it. Bob Baird, Bill Williams, Marcus Reitz and Ronnie Josi bought some wool plaid golf caps and started a fad. Before too long, practically every fellow in the choir had one. At dinner that evening, there was a capping ceremony at which time Mr. Malmin was made a member of the local "Choir Boys' Union."

Choristers Are Able Knitters

Most people expect girls to knit but in the Choir of the West the boys do a pretty good job too. Just ask Merlin Zeir, Leif Knutsen, Lud Siqueland, Arne Gregorson, Jim Williamson, or Cliff Johnson to see their work. Walt Braafladt could show you three pairs of socks and a hat that he knitted while traveling.

Everyone thought it was old home week in Fargo, Minneapolis, Northfield and Rock Island. In Fargo Miss Chilson was in ecstasy to see all her old pals. She and Miss Langemo were there to greet us.

The choir was well received and much impressed by the people in Dr. Eastvold's former parish, Eau Claire.

In Thompson, Mr. Malmin's home town, the people were very hospitable. The suit I was wearing must have looked pretty bad because the stayed with gave me three feet to make myself a new dress.

There was standing room in Pigeon Falls. The reason was that all of Delores Waller Jean Hesla's relatives were there.

A favorite saying of Storm, Iowa, was, "Did you stay in rooms and a bath or five rooms a path?"

Martin Pulls Boner

A choir trip wouldn't be complete without a boner or two. Charlie Martin bumped someone behind a dressing room curtain and it was a choir member, he said. It wasn't a choir member.

While on the train, Mahlon used 40 cents of his last dollar for his lunch. He left the change in the saucer too long. The waiter came along and whisked away the remainder of Mahlon's last dollar. What a trip!

All but Dick Svare, who is bound in North Dakota, have returned safely and will be around for the next choir trip.

Before the Pigeon Falls conference made our evening meal a party for the bus drivers, Dick Mike. One of the drivers was a yellow shirt and a tie that looked as though it had been dipped in methylene. At this dinner, C. Pflueger was recognized as being only graduating senior that has been in the choir four years.
