AUTO DEALERS

The Distinguished Teacher Award to be presented to a PLU faculty member during a special Thursday convocation is sponsored by the Washington State Auto Dealers Association.

This year the association is giving each of the ten independent colleges and universities in the state of Washington an award that the schools can present to one of their teachers.

The award will be presented by Arvid Andresen, past president of the Washington State Auto Dealers Association.

At a special Thursday morning convocation in Eastvold Chapel, Pacific Lutheran University will present a Distinguished Teacher Award to a member of its faculty.

The teacher to be honored was chosen by the PLU administration upon recommendation by the faculty. Selection was based upon the professor's teaching ability and contributions to the University and local community.

Dr. Robert A. L. Mortvedt, PLU president, will preside at the convocation. Miss Grace Blomquist, associate professor of English, will speak.
