Choir of West Gives Concert Sunday Night

Sunday evening at 8:00 the Choir of the West will be featured in concert in the Chapel-Music-Speech auditorium in their Homecoming concert. The choir returned last Sunday after a tour of 20 cities in Washington, Oregon and California.

Professor Gunnar J. Malm in is in his 19th year as director of the capella choir. He took over the baton from Joseph Edwards, founder of the Choir of the West. Malm is known in church music circles for his arrangements and for his own compositions, including the Christmas cantata, "Bethlehem."

For Sunday's concert Malm has chosen a program which includes (Continued on page 4, col. 4)

Coronation Reveals Saga King, Queen

Tonight at 8 p.m. the queen and king of the annual Saga Carnival will be revealed. They will receive their crowns from Stan Boreson, noted KING comic. The finalists in the contest to determine the rulers of the festival are: Carolee Chindgren, Marlene Eichmeier, Gordy Strom and Bob Timm.

Six freshmen women and five senior men were nominated for the Saga crowns of 1956. A district honor awaits the lucky pair who poll the highest number of votes tonight.

The sophomore class has as their candidate for queen a cute blonde by the name of Carolee Chindgren. Her home is in Molalla, Oregon.

Marlene Eichmeier, representing Ivy Hall, is from Vancouver, Wash. She is a cute redhead (just ask D. L.).

The Viking Club presents Sylvia Fyfling as their able candidate. This tall, dark-haired freshman hails from Seattle.

Ann Gustafson, beautiful brunette from Portland, has been chosen to represent the Nurses.

Circle K desires to see dark-eyed Barbara Johnson crowned queen. Her home is in Everett.

Slim, blue-eyed Leslee Rosenquist will represent APO. San Jose, California, claims her as a resident.

Steve Brandt, king candidate representing Old Main, is active in many fields: KRK, APO, choir, etc. This likeable gent calls Aberdeen his home.

Richie Heins, pre-see barber from North Hall, has been nominated by the sophomore class. Rich is from Albany, Oregon, and is a transfer student from Concordia College in Portland.

From Berkeley, Calif., Stew Morton has been honored by the freshman class by being nominated for Saga king. Stew is president of the student congregation and active in many PLC activities. His home is in Berkeley, Calif.

Gordy Strom, popular pre-med student, has been chosen to represent the Spurs. He hangs his homburg in Everett, Wash.

Bob Timm, likeable man-about-campus, has been picked by South Hall as their candidate for king. Bob, who is a pre-dental student, claims Everett as his home.

Weary But Happy, Choristers Return from California Trip

Returning home after the two week tour the members of the Choir of the West had many happy and eventful experiences to relate. The whirlwind tour saw the 60 members with director Gunnar Malm, Mr. Milton Nesvig, and choir mother, Mrs. E. C. Knorr, visit major cities in Washington, Oregon and California. In spite of a brief run with the flu, the members enjoyed every minute of the trip.

Eight members felt the change of weather and contacted the flu in the northern part of California. Jerry Bayne extended his vacation and spent several days in bed in Eureka with the virus.

Two freshmen who made the jaunt were especially impressed. Teddy Gulhaugen thought that the choir drew such marvelous crowds and she enjoyed visiting the many new churches. On the lighter side, Peg Byington was excited with the visit to Disneyland.

Sandy Jacobs was thrilled with the bus ride. She thinks that it was almost the highlight of the trip.

Larsen Likes Mansion
Eddy Larsen enjoyed his stay in the beautiful mansion in Pasadena overlooking the Rose Bowl. "The home had three baths upstairs and was two houses from the Gambels of Procter & Gamble."

Don Nelson thought the San Francisco concert outdid anything the choir had done. "The choir sounded better than at any time in the three years I have sung with them."

Ken Robinson, like all the California members, enjoyed the beautiful California weather. Carolyn Anderson, a good Washingtonian, also commented on the warm sunshine, but at the same time couldn't forget the sand storm that ended the picnic at Santa Monica. Ken appreciated the grateful hospitality extended to all the members by the congregations and Carolyn can't forget the breakfasts!

LADY LUTES TUESDAY

Members of Lady Lutes will be guests in the home of President and Mrs. S. C. Eastvold for their monthly meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Eastvold will show motion pictures and give a commentary on a trip to Alaska.

Wives of students automatically belong to Lady Lutes, and are invited to attend.

Student Council Picks Nominees

Student council nominations for the 1956-57 student body officers were posted by student body secretary Donna Swanson last Wednesday.

Presidential candidates are Wally Berton, Merle Hanson and Ed Larson. Larry Lane and Dave Steen are in the running for vice-president.

Those seeking the office of secretary are Carol Bottemiller, Janet Emilson and Helen Jordanger.

Rounding out the list of candidates are Dave Knutson, Dean Libner and Rose Goetz, hopefuls for the treasurer's position.

Additional candidates may be placed on the ballot, or present ones may be moved to another position, by a petition of 50 names. The petition must be turned in to Dave Wold by 6 p.m. next Tuesday.

Campaigning will begin April 4, the Wednesday following Easter vacation, and will continue until Tuesday, April 10. The primary election will be April 11, with the final on April 12.

Gilbreath Wins Area 6 Contest

Last Saturday evening at the "Top of the Ocean," Stuart Gilbreath walked up to the speaker's podium carrying the colors of the PLC Toastmasters and won the first place trophy in the annual Area 6 Speech Contest. This is the first step leading to the international contest which involves the top Toastmasters in the world.

Eger Players Featured Here April 4

The Eger Players who will be here on April 4, will give a concert of rarely heard music. It is the only ensemble of its kind in the world, and is composed of Joseph Eger, french horn; Gideon Grau, violinist; Aaron Shapinsky, cellist, and Grace Harrington, pianist. Each member is recognized as an outstanding soloist on his or her own instrument. In their programs they feature the french horn, with piano, violin, and cello, playing solos, sonatas, trios and quartets in a variety of combinations. They include in their programs works from Haydn and Mozart to contemporary composers.

Joseph Eger, who is the director, has performed as a soloist and first horn player under such conductors as Koussevitzky, Steinberg, Ormandy, Munch, Rodinski and others.

Mr. Eger is a scholarship graduate from Curtis Institute in Philadelphia and also did further study at Tanglewood. Since 1951, Mr. Eger has been active in radio, television, and motion pictures, especially with 20th Century-Fox, and as a soloist. He also has composed for the french horn as well as making many musical arrangements for horn.

Grau Leads Baltimore Group
Gideon Grau, violinist, a descendant of a member of the Cleveland Orchestra, has given solo recitals in New York, Cleveland and Israel. He is the leader of the Baltimore Chamber Music Society Ensemble, and has studied violin in Israel and at the Juillard School in New York. He studied conducting under Pierre Monteux, William Steinberg and George Szell.

Aaron Shapinsky has appeared in many solo recitals as well as chamber groups. He was first cellist with Leopold Stokowski at the New York City Center, and later was a member of the NBC Symphony under Arturo Toscanini. He also has appeared as first cellist with the Pittsburgh Symphony under Fritz Reiner and the Dallas Symphony under Antal Dorati. In 1950 and 1951, he toured with the Sadler's Wells Ballet.

Grace Harrington, pianist, is a winner of the Philadelphia Regional Prize of the Rachmaninoff Fund Contest. She has appeared as soloist with the Portland Symphony Orchestra and the NBC Symphony. She won scholarships for nine consecutive years from the Juillard School of Music and graduated with the school's highest honors.

Dr. High Lauds PLC Progress

Dr. Stanley High, well known writer who visited PLC Wednesday, was impressed with the college's growth and its physical plant.

The senior editor of The Reader's Digest stated, "I am deeply impressed by the near miracle which has taken place on this campus in the past decade."

Dr. High continued, "Of all the schools I have visited on this trip I have not seen better buildings and facilities."

The visitor is on a nation-wide tour of liberal arts colleges to gather material for a series of articles on the contribution of these schools to the American way of life.

Commenting on his visit with the faculty, Dr. High stated that he was impressed with the clarity in which they spoke of the purposes of the school.

"I enjoyed speaking in chapel," he said. "I love student audiences. Collegians are so responsive. They catch a wisecrack in a hurry . . . and nothing falls flatter than a poor wisecrack, on the other hand," he said.

He said that college students are easily bored and easily interested.

Because of mid-semester exams and Easter vacation, the next issue of the Mooring Mast will be April 8th.

Old Samson Washes Dishes

by Sallm Mitrl

You are very handsome, Sir . . . in fact wonderful . . . speak more to me . . . your harsh voice tickles me . . . Oh what a nasty teaser . . . you make me run after you . . . you make me sleepless . . . Poor boy . . .

He is a goat with red fir . . . and his beauty is attributed to him falsely . . . for there is nothing beautiful about him . . . and he knows this well . . . but he believed . . . believed . . . that he had tortured the girl and caused her sleepless nights . . . and dragged her behind him . . . the naughty boy . . .

The handsome boy was trapped and tumbled down . . .

For who then among us does not fall in such a soft trap . . . we are like ants . . . we run after the honey and we fall and sink into it.

Man has horns . . . his arrogance and pride, and the woman knows well how to pull him by these horns.

Have you ever tried to understand the woman? . . . you cannot . . . and I cannot . . .

They call her the weak sex . . . and the truth of the matter is that she is the strong sex . . .

They say that she is affectionate . . . and she is practical.

They say that she is dreaming . . . and she is awake.

They say that she is the hunted . . . and she is the hunter.

You understand her better whenever you view her just the opposite.

The woman invented the art of cooking . . . when she knew that man's stomach leads her to his heart.

She also invented jealousy to deprive man of his freedom . . . she is jealous of both his mistresses and his friend, of his pipe . . . and his books . . . and his musical instruments . . . she tries to sever his relationship with his friends . . . and if she fails, she flirts with them . . .

She wants to lock the door behind him as he locked the door behind her . . . only in a skillful manner.

What made the woman use these secret means? To this secret, there is a long story . . .

A thousands years ago . . . the woman was cheaper than the slave.

The Jew put her with his cattle, and ordered the mother who gave birth to a girl to purify herself twice . . . or to light a candle . . . and he used to pray daily, saying: Thank you, Lord . . . because thou has created me neither a heretic nor a woman.

Nietzsche used to advise the man to take his whip with him when he goes to his wife . . .

The woman was something simple and disgraceful . . .

The Duty to The Right

A short time from now the students on this campus will go to the polls and vote for the candidate of their choice for student-body officers for next year. Before that day you will be exhorted to "Get Out and Vote" and a great number of people will exercise that which we have learned to call "the Citizen's Right." And perhaps most will be aware of the significance which it bears with regard to the operation of the college.

One might be given cause to wonder, however, how many of the people who vote, do so wisely. Investigation, if such were possible, might reveal that many of the voters have little sound basis for their choice of candidates. A good friend, or a nice guy, or even a friend's friend is more apt to receive a vote than the person best qualified for the position.

The point of all this is the fact that there is something in the background of the election system without which the "Citizen's Right" has little meaning. This is the duty to right; which is the use of some reason and discretion in voting. We can probably all remember from High School that the football hero was always a cinch for an office when he chose to run, and many may recall the situation right in this state a few years ago when an unknown was elected to state office by a large majority, apparently only because he bore the same name as a popular public figure from a few years before that time. When such occurrences as this appear it becomes rather evident that the voters have ceased to take their right seriously, and that they have neglected their duty completely.

As this article is written, the names of the candidates for the coming election have not been revealed, and it is hoped, therefore, that this will not be viewed as emanating from the stimulus of names in that list. When the list is made public it is sincerely hoped that before you exercise your right, as you owe it to yourself and others to do, that you will consider seriously the duty to the right.

Notes from Emanuel Nurses

Dear PLC:

Here we are, the two PLC classes having our first get-together, kind of crowded, but loads of fun. The juniors just got back from Salem, all present and accounted for. They really liked it at Salem and almost hated to leave there.

We just witnessed a very serious ceremony. The official hanging of the name of the building that houses the junior class. It became the Delta Iota CHI house. The sign, painted on cardboard, was hung by Shirley Toepke over the telephone with the help of the heel of one green shoe.

Capping for the new degree class will be at PLC on the 22nd of May. We surely are looking forward to it. As many of the juniors as possible will be there, too.

The "Mooring Mast" is always a welcome sight around here. It is about our only contact with PLC and it is good to know about the activities even if we can't participate in them. Most of us are going to try to come up for the weekend of the Saga Carnival. It will be good to be back on the campus again.

The sophomores have been working on the wards for three weeks. We are all thrilled with working with the patients and all like it very much. It seems good to be getting actual experience which will lead us to our final goal of a degree.

With our floor work classes and activities we are kept quite busy. Extra-curricular activities include LSA, Nurses Chorus, bi-monthly movies, Fellowship, firesides, birthday dinners, Oregon State Student Nurses Association, and student body meetings. Knitting seems to be the favorite pastime around here. Sixteen of the twenty-two sophomores are working on some kind of knitting project.

We are very proud of the PLC basketball team, too. We want them to know that we'll be wishing them the best of luck at the NALA tournament at Kansas City.

Our doors are always open to all PLC students and we would love to hear from anyone from school that is passing through Portland.

Sports Talk

with Don Hall

Appearing soon on the local sports calendar of events, will be the Sports Award Banquet, which is scheduled to be held in the college dining hall April 11, at 7:30 p.m. A full program has been planned, including entertainment, guest speakers, and the presentation of awards to athletes. In talking to Dave Neavig, the organizing force behind the event, he mentioned that the purpose of the banquet was to give the student body an opportunity to express their gratitude to the college lettermen for their efforts in representing our school in the various athletic events.

Heading the list of guest speakers will be Jack Hewins, Associated Press writer for the Northwest and a long-time figure in sports doings in this area. Dave said that he has also contacted several outstanding active figures in sports from the Puget Sound area to speak before the group.

All varsity lettermen will be guests of the student body; however, students will be required to purchase tickets. The price and time of sale will be announced later. Presentation will be made to all-conference award winners and trophies will be presented to the various teams. Not only will the basketball and football teams of this school year be honored, but also the track, baseball, golf and tennis squads from last spring.

About this time each year speculation runs high as to the make-up of the all-conference basketball team. Each has his own opinion—see how this fits yours:

First Team	Pos.	Second Team
Nordquist, P.L.C.	forward	McLeod, U.B.C.
Brantner, Central	forward	Oxwang, Central
Adams, Whitworth	center	Curtis, P.L.C.
Iverson, P.L.C.	guard	Sinderson, P.L.C.
Theissen, Whitworth	guard	Burkhart, Eastern

The coming of the four spring sports puts an increasing load on our small sports staff, with the burden already placed on too few shoulders. If there are any of you students who are experienced in sports writing and would like to share in the joy of creating this page each week, you may leave your name in the Mooring Mast office in the C.U.B., or else you can contact me directly, at Granite 3890.

Western Illinois Noses Lutes Out of National Basketball Competition

Nosed out 72-67 by a rangy Western Illinois basketball squad, the Pacific Lutheran Gladiators were eliminated from the NAIA National Tournament last Wednesday afternoon in Kansas City. The top seeded Leathernecks controlled both backboards to edge the Lutherans and advance into the quarter finals of the tourney.

The loss gives PLC a 25-6 record for the year, which places the Evergreen Conference champion among the top 16 small college teams in the nation. Western Illinois had all 10 players back this year from the team that placed third in this same tourney last season. The Leathernecks average 6-foot, 3-inches, and boast an All-American in guard Lupe Brjos.

In the first half Western maintained a slight edge over PLC with the Lutes pulling with a 2-point, 42-40, at intermission. The height advantage became more apparent in the last stanza as Illinois increased their lead to 12 points with eight minutes to go. PLC fought back, but were unable to close the margin to less than five points when the final gun sounded.

Center Chuck Curtis was high man for the game with 20 tallies. Chuck Schramm, Illinois center, was next with 17. Schramm was the only man to leave the game via personal fouls, going out with eight minutes left in the contest.

PLC Wins First Game In NAIA Tourney, 79-64

Crushing South Dakota State 79-64 Tuesday in the first round of the NAIA Tournament, the Pacific Lutheran Gladiators moved into the second round and face Western Illinois, the tourney's top seeded team. Led by jump-shooting Roger Iverson, the Lutes burst forth in the second half of their encounter with the Jack Rabbits with a barrage of points to eliminate South Dakota from competition.

Both teams started slowly, getting accustomed to the tension surrounding a championship contest, but PLC was able to gain a 11-4 lead after six minutes of play, with freshman center Chuck Curtis supplying the Glads' first seven points. South Dakota whittled away at the Lute lead and went ahead 32-31 with 17 seconds to go in the first half with a pair of free throws by center Kent Hyde. Iverson tried a desperation shot as the gun sounded but the ball bounced away and South Dakota held the one-point half-time edge.

With the lead changing hands for the opening minutes of the second period, the Lutes began to find the range with Iverson and Jack Sinderson swishing one-handers from outside the keyhole. After eight minutes had elapsed the Glads led 48 to 41, and slowly increased their lead until only 1:26 showed on the clock and the Jack Rabbits had pulled within nine points, at 71-62. However, Iverson and Jim Van Beek led the game with a pair of field goals and the final tally read 79-64. Iverson was high point man with 22 tallies, 18 coming in the second half. Jack Sinderson was next with 17, Kent Hyde and Virge Riley led South Dakota with 13 each.

Quarter-Final Round

A field of 32 players has been narrowed down to seven in the table tennis tournament as play enters the quarter-finals. Ron Kitzel plays Ferry Sells, Art Nerheim meets Bob Rodin and Dick Elmer tests Chang Hi Kim for the right to join Jerry Larson in the semi-finals. In doubles play, the team of Rich Hamlin and Dave Hatt is in front at the present.

Intramural head Mark Salsman announced that volleyball competition will start Tuesday and that there is still room for a few teams in the schedule.

Old Samson

 ... his paganism and in the way he cut his hair, and she gradually became a mistress instead of a mother ... and the family began to collapse.
 Pregnancy became dangerous to her for she works all day ... so she started to prevent pregnancy and to control birth ... and the number of children decreased.
 A new order appeared ... the order of free marriage ... marriage without license ... without expense ... without a home ... and without children ...
 The woman freed herself from the ... was left without a heart ...

The woman today is eager to have a husband for she can never forget the greatness of motherhood ...
 The modern man runs away from marriage for his wife offers him nothing special ... He has retired to singleness ... He has depended on his ever increasing relationships which satify his passions.
 The wheel of oppression has come back again to crush the "great mother" ...
 But the woman is intelligent ... She went out to the street, entered the school, read books, competed with and outran man. She barged speedily into every field ... with the zest of an obstinate and persistent girl ... while the man east tired and yawning ...
 The men then awoke to find out that their world of old had changed and that half of the woman is in the offices and the other half is in the sleeping rooms ... and she is going out to the streets step by step ... In fact she is becoming the boss.
 In the long run only the old people will stay home washing dishes and clothes and dreaming about Samson who permitted his wife to cut his hair.

The more I think ... the more I become convinced that the woman did not stem from man's body but that man is becoming a limb of her limbs ... the little babbling man.
 This world we live in is a real world and be it known that PLC is not a true picture of the world. A big challenge confronts us Christians of PLC and the Christians of the world. The family has to be restored and strengthened. The woman has a tremendous job at home to accomplish ... Train your daughters to become faithful, honest "mothers" and not "mistresses" ... Bring them up according to the Word of God ... for a nation's rise is dependent upon strong morality ... beginning in the Home.

Kuethe Tells Of Conference

"It was obvious that the students were aware of the large challenge of higher education in the ELC and have a better sense of vocation in the ELC colleges," reported Dr. John Kuethe after returning from a two-day conference at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa.
 He also said that they were very much interested in the coming merger with the American Lutheran church and had collected an offering for the new Luther college in California.

800 Attend Meeting
 There were 806 in attendance at the meeting. Dr. Kuethe was one of the four speakers which also included Drs. Dahl, Rogness and Hulme. Campus pastors Gerhard Frost and Robert Jensen conducted worship services.

At the banquet on Saturday a plaque was given to honor Dr. J. C. K. Preus and his wife, Dr. D. B. Preus, as founders of the Lutheran student movement thirty years ago.
 The Luther Symphonic band of 100 pieces played a half hour concert after returning from their spring tour through North Dakota. Some students presented a one-act play, "Afraid in the Dark."
 To climax the meeting a blizzard struck which marooned some students on the Luther campus for two days.

Ivy Hall Takes "A" League Title

By defeating North Hall (2), 61 to 43, the Missionaries from Ivy Hall won the "A" League crown, Wednesday. The win gave the Missionaries a 13-2 record, a game better than second place Tacoma. The Villains and the Faculty have to share the "B" title since both finished the season with 11-4 records. The Faculty, after a dismal start, won its last 11 games to overhaul the Villains.

Leading all the way over North Hall (2), the Missionaries trio of Arden Munson, Duape Moe, and Roger Servold did the damage on Wednesday. Munson scored 18, Moe pumped in 17, and Servold 14; Curt Hovland dropped through 15 for North Hall (2).

Eastern (B) upturned the Clover Lovers, 50-40, Wednesday. The Lovers' Gabrielson was top scorer with 16.

North Hall (2) handed Eastern (A) its second straight defeat Tuesday, 34-33. Elwood Rieke, Wendel Stakkestad, and Richard Schwindt scored 11, 10 and 8 points, respectively, for North Hall (2). Tacoma dumped the Campus Trotters, 53 to 35, as both teams finished their seasons. Dick Brown led his Tacoma teammates with 16 tallies, followed by Galen Nusbaum with 13, and Don May who garnered 12.

In "B" League play Tuesday, Eastern (B) clobbered the Monks, 56-28. Richie Heins rang up 21 points for Eastern (B) and Art Nerheim led the Monks with 16. Both teams had trouble finding the basket in the Clover Creek Hall-Johnson Annex clash. Clover Creek suppressed a second half rally by the annex 40 win, 27-26. Clover Creek led 17-12 at the half.

Choir Concert

 compositions by contemporary composers, famous chorales and church music classics and arrangements of familiar hymns.

Bach Featured
 Featured in the first group will be one of Johan Sebastian Bach's great works, "Jesu, Pieceless Treasure," and "Our Father," by Gretch-anloff.

To open the second group the choir will divide into two groups to sing Jacob Handel's "Alleluia." Two nativity numbers follow — "Hodie, Born Today," by Willan, and "Mar-lenlled—Song of Mary," by Fischer. Next comes "Thy Kingdom Come," Berger, and the entrance scene from Schreck's "Advent Motet."

Choir is Unique
 According to Malmin, the PLC choir is one of the few, possibly the only, choir in America today which sings Peter Lutkin's "Nunc Dimittis." Long out of print, mimeographed copies of this song are used by the choir when learning the work, which has been sung annually at PLC for over a decade. Lutkin was head of the music department at Northwestern University until his death some years ago.

Another well-known selection in the final group will be Willan's "An Apostrophe to the Heavenly Hosts."

Don Ogaard Talks To Sociology Club

Speaking to the Sociologists next Monday, March 19, will be Don Ogaard, a 1953 graduate of PLC. Don is now enrolled in the University of Washington graduate school of social work. He will speak on various aspects of graduate school and on social work in general.
 The meeting will be held at 7:30 in North Hall lounge. Refreshments will be served. Sociology majors and all others interested are urged to attend.
