

Friday Evening to Be Carnival Night

Program and Booths Will Be At- tractions; Old Clothes Recom- mended for Good Time

Including features of interest to all, the long-awaited Saga Carnival will be given in the P. L. C. gymnasium, on the evening of Friday, April 15, beginning at 8:00 P. M.

According to Holden Hauke, in charge of arrangements, the program with which the Carnival is scheduled to start promises variety and interest. As planned, the program will contain duets by Clarence and Bob Morson; solo by Walk Ustad and P. A. Preus, the latter singing negro songs; a Japanese dance by Mrs. Taki Miyazaki; a tumbling act by Eric and Holden Hauke; and orchestra numbers.

Other entertaining features are being planned to include, boxing and wrestling matches, and roller skating. Candy and refreshment stands, a fortune-telling booth, a fish pond, a chamber of horrors, and a number of other booths will also be prepared for capacity crowds. Everyone who attends is assured of getting his money's worth, and the only warning is—don't wear your best clothes, remember this is going to be a Carnival.

On Wednesday the visitors will have more discussions with the administrators of the school in order to decide on a plan for presenting the cause of the College to the respective church conventions in June and October.

Mrs. M. A. Christensen Speaks at L. D. R. Meet

"Be messengers that work onward and upward" was the message Mrs. M. A. Christensen, of Astoria left with the members of the L. D. R. Tuesday afternoon, April 5, at Mrs. O. A. Tingelstad's residence.

Besides the interesting talk by Mrs. Christensen the program consisted of two selections by a girls' trio, whose members were Esther Jahr, Dorothy Delmarer, and Jennie Lee, accompanied by Grace Holte, and a piano solo by Gudrun Skelsted.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. O. A. Tingelstad and Mrs. Edwin Tingelstad, and the regular business meeting concerned. Miss Lorraine Thoren was elected historian of the organization. It was voted that the president and vice-president should attend the convention in Seattle as regular delegates, but that all were welcome and urged to attend as visitors.

Dr. O. A. Tingelstad Speaks At South Tacoma Church

President O. A. Tingelstad spoke at the First Norwegian Lutheran Church of South Tacoma on Friday, April 8. The occasion was to welcome Rev. D. Larson, formerly of California, who recently became pastor of the church. Before Rev. Larson accepted the call to the South Tacoma church, Professor A. W. Ramstad had charge of the congregation.

The following officers were elected: Irene Dahl '30, president; Laurence Hauge '28, vice-president; Ruth Fadness '28, secretary; and Alfred 'Cap' Anderson '26, treasurer.

The president announced that two successful P. L. C. clubs, the Seattle-Kent Alumni headed by Laurence Hauge as president, and the Skagit County Club with Miss Victoria Rasmussen as president, have turned over two checks each to the Student Loan Fund. The treasurer reported that several loans have been granted and that the Loan Fund is already proving to be a successful aid to students.

Teacher Placement Work Now Starting

Every effort is being made by the school authorities to get positions for those students who expect to teach school next year. Last year most of the placement work was done by Reverend Carl L. Foss who was then a field man for the school, and who is now a pastor in Silverton, Oregon. This year the work is being done by various members of the faculty.

The depression has affected the teaching profession, so that school boards are cutting down the teaching forces, teachers are not resigning their positions, and the experienced teachers are being given preference. Despite the dark outlook, Millard Quale signed a contract on March 29 to teach at the Seabeck school. This fact gives encouragement to other students who are looking for schools, since the first contract this year was signed a week earlier than the first contract last year, which was received on April 5.

Summer School Will Be Headed by Hauge

Definite Dates Not Yet Decided Upon; Training School Will Be Part of Normal Course

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees in Seattle on April 4, Dean Philip E. Hauge was appointed to head the 1932 summer school at Pacific Lutheran College. The definite dates have not yet been decided upon. Teachers will be chosen primarily from the regular faculty of the College. However, in case the probable enrollment warrants it, plans will be made to bring in some outside experienced teachers for some of the work.

The group taking the summer courses will be made up of teachers in the field who want to earn credits toward their life diplomas, and of present students who need the extra quarter of work to complete the Normal course. Although the work offered will be mainly in the Normal department, some liberal arts subjects will also be taught. A training school will be conducted in connection with the summer sessions.

Letters have been sent to members of the Alumni Association seeking their cooperation in making the 1932 summer school a success. Graduates are asked to let Professor Hauge know what courses they would like to be offered.

The bulletin, giving full details about the summer sessions, will be ready for distribution in about a week.

Clarence Roen President Of Day Boys New Club

In order to further interest in school activities, the boy day students at Pacific Lutheran College organized a club on Wednesday, April 6, and elected the following officers: Clarence Roen, president; Jesse Pfeiffer, vice-president; Paul Preus, secretary-treasurer. A name for the club has not yet been chosen.

A constitution is being formed and will be presented at the next meeting. A committee, composed of Ray Lerbach, Carl Martin, and Bill Shore, is making plans for a party which will be held soon. This is the first time that the boy day students of the College have been organized.

Norman Hokenstad Leads Discussion on Amusements

At the Mission Society meeting March 30, Norman Hokenstad led a discussion on "Sunday Amusements." Bertram Olsen played a piano solo, and Pauline Schierman gave a reading. It was decided to put a question box in the library and at the next meeting to try to answer the questions which had been put into the box. At this meeting the members of the Society will also talk about plans for joining the Pocket Testament League.

Welfare Club Seeks New Members

National Inner Mission Conference Names April 10-18 Lutheran Welfare Week

Lutheran circles all over the United States are observing this week, April 10 to 18, as Lutheran Welfare Week. The welfare work is being carried on with special enthusiasm in all cities during this week, the date having been set by the National Inner Mission Conference.

In Tacoma and the surrounding territory the Lutheran Welfare Society is an Inter-Synodical society, board members representing all Synods in Tacoma, but two. Professor J. P. Pfeiffer is president of the Society. The Society maintains a reading room and chapel for homeless working-men. It also does family and child welfare work and has an institutional visitation committee.

During the week the Society desires to increase the membership 1000, thus making a total of 1,500 members. If the Society is to carry on its work, this goal in increased membership must be reached. Anyone interested in the work may become a member by contributing one dollar or more each year.

On Welfare Sunday, April 10, at the request of the Society, most of the Lutheran pastors in and about Tacoma preached an Inner-Mission sermon.

During the first part of this week a group of visitors in every congregation taking part in the drive have made calls on each congregational member, in this manner giving everyone an opportunity to help in the work. This drive will be continued until the end of the week.

Of great aid in the publicity program of the campaign were radio broadcasts given over station KMO in Tacoma. Many men and women, realizing the necessity of the work, have given their time in putting on these programs.

Next Monday Is Chosen For Annual Campus Day

Monday, April 18, was chosen for Campus Day at Pacific Lutheran College. The Student Body will be divided into teams which will work on various parts of the campus. The grouping will be done by the following committee: Alvess Schierman, Margaret Ksland, Eric Walter, Clara Pjermadal, and Fred Hauke.

Lunch will be served at noon on the campus. Games will be played in the afternoon, and in the evening there will be a bonfire.

Library Adds New Books

A.L.C. Recommends Plan For Increasing Endowment Fund

Tingelstad Attends Conference in Chicago; Secures Resolution, Which Was Put Before Pacific Pastors

President O. A. Tingelstad together with Mr. Paul Preus and Mr. Victor Elvestrom attended the Executive Committee of American Lutheran Conference held at Atlantic Hotel in Chicago on March 18, and secured the following resolution: "In endorsement of the co-operative support of Pacific Lutheran College, the Executive Committee of the American Lutheran Conference expresses its appreciation of the study and plan presented by representatives of Pacific Lutheran College in presenting a definite plan for raising funds for endowment and payment of debts. "As to the realization of the plan, because it involves financial commitments, the executive committee recommends to its respective constituencies this plan for favorable consideration and such further action as they may find possible in relation to their own situation, as well as the goals of this joint enterprise."

This resolution was put before the Norwegian Pacific Pastoral Conference of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America at Seattle on April 6. This resulted in the passing of the following resolutions by this conference on April 7: Whereas, the Pacific Conference of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America realizes fully the necessity and importance of Christian education as carried on at Pacific Lutheran College, and

"Whereas, it is realized that the future of the Lutheran Church on the Pacific Coast is intimately connected with and dependent upon the maintenance and continued operation of Pacific Lutheran College,

"Now, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the effort that is now being made within the American Lutheran Conference to develop and put in operation a plan of cooperation in the work carried on at Pacific Lutheran College is hereby declared to be highly commendable, and it is the sense of this conference that further

Faust Will Be Given At Temple Theatre

Frederick Pasterson, of London, as Faust; Given April 13

The Drama League has completed plans to bring to Tacoma a production of Goethe's "Faust," which will be given on Wednesday night, April 13, at the Temple Theatre. This year, which celebrates the one-hundredth anniversary of the death of Goethe, "Faust" is being given for the fourth time in the United States.

Burton James takes the part of Mephistopheles; Helga Lund is Margaret; and Frederick Pasterson, of London, is Faust. Mrs. James, who directs the production, says it is quite the most elaborate and spectacular of any offering made in the Northwest. With a cast of sixty, it combines an orchestra, singing-ballets, and colorful effects, with a new style in "plastic" staging. The board of the Drama League has arranged to give students a special rate. Mrs. Kredler has tickets to sell to Pacific Lutheran College students.

LET'S HAVE REAL SUPPORT FOR THE CARNIVAL

On Friday evening the staff of the Saga, the P. L. C. yearbook, is putting on a carnival to help raise funds for the publishing of the book. So far this year the staff has done excellent work. Each member has cooperated to the best of his ability with the editor, and every indication points to a very successful publication.

However, they can do nothing without the support of the members of the Student Body. The Student Body is the real publisher of the annual, and it is the duty of every member to give his whole-hearted support. The carnival offers everyone an opportunity to help in the work. The Saga staff members have been trying to be original in all their work, and this carnival will be no exception. Everyone who comes is sure to have a very enjoyable time. Be sure to bring yourself. If you want to be kind to a friend, bring him, too. Remember the Saga carnival next Friday evening, April 16.

SHOW YOUR MUSIC APPRECIATION

Pacific Lutheran College has always been known for its appreciation of the highest type of music. As evidence of this we have our wonderful choir. But it is not alone by the musical programs that we put on, but also by the support we give other musical organizations that we are judged. The faculty and students of the college have been especially fortunate in being given many chances to show their high appreciation for good music in the many fine musical concerts that have been given in Tacoma. We can be sure that the sponsors of these programs know when we give our support; and we will get support from them in proportion to the amount of support we give them. In the next two weeks there will be two very fine musical programs which should attract much attention.

The first of these is that immortal opera, Faust, by Goethe, which will be presented tonight. Many Tacornans have given much time and work in bringing this opera to Tacoma, and it surely warrants any support we can give.

The second program will be a concert by the world famous pianist, Paderewski, who comes to Tacoma on Friday evening, April 23. This will, indeed, be a treat to anyone who enjoys music. It is a chance that comes very seldom and one that should be taken without hesitation.

NATION TO CELEBRATE MARKHAM'S BIRTHDAY

Edwin Markham, "poet of the people," will on April 24 celebrate his eightieth birthday—not he alone, but also the whole nation. Indeed, virtually the entire nation will be united in the affair by a great national radio hook-up. This man has endeared himself in the hearts of everyone who knows him or his poems. His whole life is one of love and charity toward his fellow men. He has been poor all his life, not of necessity but of choice. He felt that this was the only way he could be in close fellowship with the common man, for whom he had unbounded sympathy. He expresses his great sorrow for the terrible condition of the laborer in his famous poem, "The Man with the Hoe." This poem has been called "the battle cry of the next thousand years," and has been translated in 30 languages. Edwin Markham reflects the spirit of Christianity in nearly all his writings. Even now he is writing a work which he will call "The Forgotten Purpose of Jesus." The following lines show his Christian attitude, his boundless love for others, even when they treat him spitefully:

"He drew a circle that shut me out—
 Heretic, rebel, a thing to flout.
 But love and I had the wit to win;
 We drew a circle that took him in."

Teachers Speak in Fife, Lawrence, and Tacoma

On April 1 Professor P. J. Bardson and the Kollege Knights Quartet gave a program for the Parent-Teachers Association at Lawrence, Washington. Professor Bardson spoke on "The Seriousness of the World Situation." On Tuesday evening, April 5, he spoke on the same subject at the Lutheran Compass Mission in Tacoma.

Professor Bardson and Professor A. J. Beck spoke, on Wednesday, April 6, to the Japanese high school students at Fife. Mr. Beck talked about "International Relations," and Mr. Bardson spoke on "The Opportunities for Young Americans," including native-born Japanese, who are also Americans.

Hard Time Soup Social Held By Trinity Luther League

Trinity Luther League sponsored a "Hard Time Soup Social" in the church parlors on Saturday, April 9. The program included solos by Mr. Paul A. Preus, accompanied by Professor J. O. Edwards, readings by Margaret Jacobson, and songs by Gloria Swanson. The rest of the evening was spent in playing games. Soup and crackers were the refreshments served.

Delta Rho Gammars Give Food

The Delta Rho Gammars recently gave food to a needy family in Tacoma. Alberta Schmitz, Helen Thrane, and Clara Fjermedal were the committee in charge. Money with which to purchase the food was secured through cards and popcorn sales.

Tri Ds Will Give Party For Other Drama Groups

That the Tri Ds were the unfortunate losers of the Drama Club contest was announced at a meeting of that club, Monday, April 4.

The ratings of the deciding last three plays were as follows: "Kitchen Mechanics," presented by the Pepper Players, third; "Mistletoe and Moonlight," by the Tri Ds, second; and "The Right Answer," presented by the Masks and Daggers, first.

The total number of points for each division for the five plays given were: Pepper Players, 28; Tri Ds, 34; and the Masks and Daggers, 28. The group with the least points won the contest.

The penalty of the two losers was to give a party for the winner. But, since two divisions tied for first place it was decided that the Tri Ds would give the party, but that the Pepper Players and the Masks and Daggers would not only be the guests but would pay 50% of the expenses. The date for the party was not set.

Coach Clifford Olson

Regarding his position here as coach, Clifford Olson says, "I like it lots, and think a great deal of the students here. They are of the finest type, and if I should look for a position elsewhere, it wouldn't be because I desired a better group to work with, for that, is impossible. In my estimation it is of great value to be connected with Pacific Lutheran College because of the great future it has."

After being graduated from Luther College, Cochr-Olson attended a coaching course at Brimhill, Minnesota, a summer session at the Washington State College, and last-summer at the University of Washington. During his college life he was prominent in sports, finding the greatest pleasure in football, basketball, and track.

His greatest hobby at present is gardening and fixing up around his home. Not since just May has he played golf. Having been beaten at that time by Mr. Larson he decided to give up golf, but may change his mind now with the approach of nice weather. He issues a challenge to Mr. Larson, as his main object is to beat him. He still believes he can beat Dr. Tingstad.

Regarding the matter of food, it was discovered that he loves to eat—plenty and often—and having a good cook, he doesn't suffer any bad effects from his big appetite, which is caused from physical as well as mental exercise.

Miss Sophia Fowler

Just a word of enlightenment, dear students. Your instructor, Miss Fowler, is not trying to imitate Professor Highby when she wanders aimlessly here and there poking in the grass; she is not looking for bugs, but for mushrooms. Next to hunting for mushrooms, her favorite hobby is hiking.

Miss Fowler knows the teaching profession from the ground up, having started in a rural school and worked her way into the circle of instructors of Pacific Lutheran College. Prior to her present position here she was registrar at the Ellenburg Normal School, of which she is a graduate.

In 1929 Miss Fowler received her degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education from the University of Washington. Her major was Psychology and her minor English. Also, in 1930 she received her degree of Master of Science while majoring in Psychology and minoring in Education. She is a member of one of the high honorary societies, and Phi Lambda Theta honorary educational fraternity.

Miss Fowler began teaching at P. L. C. two years ago, entering with this year's graduating class. Miss Fowler says this makes her feel as if they were her own. Her chief aim, to quote her, is, "To make good teachers out of us."

Sophisticated Co-eds Enjoy Childish Games

Bean porridge hot,
Bean porridge cold,
Bean porridge in the pot nine days old.

Some like it hot,
Some like it cold,
Some like it in the pot nine days old.

Do you remember in the days of—well, not so long ago—the rhymes like this that were sung and spoken to the blending rhythm of the slap of the hand and the stamp of the feet? Do you think you have outgrown those days, that you are too old to play childish games now that you are in college?

Never! The art of playing games is a common practice of the high and low, the undergraduates and seniors, the scholar and the athlete. Indeed, it is even required in the normal gym classes, but, don't try to say it is merely the exercise and knowledge that attracts. They (the sophisticated co-eds) really enjoy it.

"Oh, it's great sport," says Anna Mikkelsen, our ideal of the gentle and modest in sweet young things. Even Avolon Wojahn, the personification of a perfect scholar "Skips to My Loo," and grows appreciatively while imitating a bear.

Golfers Complete First 10 Matches

With the coming of old man sol sports activities received a bit of a push, and the first round golf matches were completed and everything was in order for plunging into the second round flights.

Winners of the first flight pairings are as follows (either taking their matches by the method of better playing or getting them by the default route). Ben Palo, Walter Ustad, Orvold Dahl, Palmer Odegaard, John Brottem, Bertram Olen, Paul Preus, John Zachrisson, Bud Lehman, Norman Westling. These winners will be paired, and the lucky ones in these matches will make up the final or first flight players.

The losers in the first round matches will get another chance in the competition and will make up the third flight players. These pairings include: Elmer Knutzen vs. Stanley Score; Fred Walters vs. H. Southworth; Lloyd Thomas and E. Larson; E. Dammell and T. Cronquist; Jack Hudson vs. A. Schryman.

Players in all flights are urged to complete their matches as soon as possible in order that team selections may be made if a team is desired.

Damp Food, Damp Feet, Damp Hair and Clothes, But Not One Damp Spirit

Some men have looked upon the leaning tower of Pisa, others have seen the sun rise upon the Matterhorn, still others have paused breathless before the wonders of Niagara. But the nine girls who stood in the pouring rain, wrapped in wonder at the sight which confronted them, were witnessing something even more breathtaking. Before a smoking campfire Agnes Berge balanced upon one foot, holding the other foot, a damp shoe and a hot dog over the fire, while tears caused by the smoke blended with the rain which ran down her cheeks and dunked the sandwich held firmly in her mouth.

The setting for this unusual scene was the beach between Day Island and the Narrows Towers; the day was Saturday, April second; the characters were those brave members of the P. L. C. Girls' Hiking Club, who, despite the pouring rain, were embarked upon the first hike of the year. And rain or no rain, the hike was a success. The girls went by street car and bus to Fircrest, and walked from there to Dickie Leland's home at University Place, where they picked up some dry kindling and, more important, Mickey Leland. From there they went to the beach where they ate, to the delight of Hulda Simonson who had been inquiring solicitously about the dinner hour from the time the hike started. The food, though somewhat damp, tasted good to everyone but Alice Alviness, who insisted upon rolling her wieners in the sand and washing her oranges in the salty bay.

The railroad track, down which the hike then led them, offered the girls an opportunity to climb up on some stranded flat-cars and slow the progress of a passing train in the non-claustrophobic young lady looks after two hours tramping in the rain. Margaret Elliott and Dorothy DeJamarer then devoted some time to taking two flat cars apart, while Margaret Olson, who wasn't wearing stockings, had an adventure with nettles. The rest of this dignified group of college students tried to play "follow the leader," with Dickie as leader. But the game was a dismal failure because everyone fell off the slippery log in a different place than the one chosen by Dickie for her graceful descent to earth.

By this time Hulda was wondering audibly about what time the bus was going to leave. So the group wandered back toward Fircrest, stopping to observe what, according to Helen Collins, was "Leland's Tomato Factory." Having named every horse, dog and insect in the vicinity, the girls crowned their efforts by calling a large and lovely pig "Lorraine Nigrah Thoren," and caught the bus (or home). And despite the rain they had a swell time—just ask any of them.

Sport Slants

Plans are being made for the tennis elimination tournament. With the advent of better weather the courts will be conditioned and the tournament will be run off to determine the squad.

None of last year's team, consisting of Anderson, Nyman, Dahl, and Thostensen, are back. Much new material is available, and a good season is expected.

Two matches have been scheduled with St. Martins, and two matches each are planned with Aberdeen and Centralia.

The golf tournament is well under way, and most of the initial matches have been played. Coach Olson is very optimistic about the coming season.

Matches will be scheduled with St. Martins, Aberdeen, and Centralia.

Olson plans to pick eight men from the tournament. They will be arranged in ladder formation. The low man having the privilege of challenging the next highest. The team will be picked from the four or six highest on the ladder at the time of the match.

Palo, Hinderlie, and Preus are the last year's men. Westling, Lehman, Dahl, Stuen, Larson and Brottem are showing very promising form.

The turnout is as follows: Palo, Knutzen, Score, Ustad, Dahl, Southworth, Walters, Odegaard, Thompson, Brottem, Larson, Oien, Preus, Dammell, Bondy, Zachrisson, Cronquist, Hudson, Lehmann, Schierman, Westling, Stuen, Carlson, Larson, Rasmussen, Hinderlie, Hauke, Anderson, Fadness, Sydow.

Sprig has cub and it doth make me feel good. You know, I think that maybe now us little shrimps might have a chance to prove that we are alive. It takes a big man to block out another big man in a football game but most big men get beat on a golf course. To wit, Paul Larson.

One good thing about intra-mural baseball is that everyone in school knows every member of each team. The shack, the day students, and the dorm boys all have an equal number of supporting enthusiasts, except maybe the dorm boys have a slight advantage. They have a rooting section in the person of the Hon. Clifford Mesford.

Baseball Diamond Is Scene of Activity

Regardless of the extended mist and low hanging clouds, stout hearted baseball lovers have been getting out on the old diamond to have a fling at the one time favored sport of baseball. Now that things look a little brighter it is safe to say that one may predict that there will be even more out trying to boost the apple over you fence.

Although there has been no attempts to organize teams from the various groups in and around the college, rumors have it that there are several in the process of being whipped into condition. Should that be the case, a great deal of interest is bound to come up—at any rate the day roomers still insist that there is not a team in the school that come out ahead when they have the say as to who shall arbitrate all arguments which may arise. All boys physically able to crawl are urged to become active members in the hectic scrambles, politely termed baseball games, on each Tuesday and Thursday.

Reverend Knock Speaks to Student Body and Faculty

Reverend Knock is conducting a series of meetings at the First Lutheran Church, Sixth and I Streets, in Tacoma. These meetings will continue until April 28, when Reverend Knock will leave for Billington, where he will be the principal speaker at the Luther League Convention of the North Pacific District on April 29 and 30 and May 1.
