Legislative candidates address higher education

Concerned about how to pay for your college education? Talk to your potential representatives at a public forum featuring Pierce County legislative candidates. The discussion is part of a statewide Higher Education Day, declared by Gov. Mike Lowry, and will be open to questions from the audience and the media. The event takes place from 7 to 9 pm tonight in the Kilworth Chapel at UPS. Call Rick Eastman, 7455, to carpool.

Kresge grant improves technology

Computer networking in Rieke, Memorial Gym and the Math & Computer Science building is a part of PLU's future thanks to a grant from the Kresge Foundation. In addition to creating campus links, the $250,000 grant will also provide computers for the open lab and resource center and for Computer Science, Engineering and Math, microscopes for Biology, a global positioning system for Geosciences, and interfaces boards and mechanics equipment for Physics. Still remaining is the task of raising $1 million over the next year for an equipment endowment, to which Kresge will add another $250,000.

Recruiters seek employees

Attention, seniors and recent alumni: the fall recruiting schedule is available in the Career Development Office in Ramstad 111. In addition to employers seeking accounting majors, there are many companies recruiting liberal arts majors with strong computer skills or an interest in business. Salaries are very competitive and training is provided. Whether you have graduated within the last year or plan to graduate in December or May, you can take advantage of these opportunities.

Award committee honors Heyerdahl

When Thor Heyerdahl, famous Norwegian explorer, anthropologist and author, visits campus on Oct. 12, he will receive the PLU President's Medal. The decision to present the award was unanimously supported by the University Awards Committee at its Sept. 26 meeting. The President's Medal is given to individuals who have demonstrated strength in vocation, excellence in professional service, and who exemplify Christian values. The University Awards Committee, made up of faculty, administrative staff and regents, also considers nominations for honorary degrees in accord with the revised procedures adopted by the faculty assembly last May. Honorary degree nominations may be submitted to Laura Majovski in the President's Office.

Church and society in El Salvador

Fr. Manuel Acosta, a Catholic priest in a formerly conflictive rural area of El Salvador, will talk about the church's role in a post-war society. His lecture, titled "El Salvador: Building Communities, Building Faith," begins at 7 pm on Oct. 10 in the Regency Room. The lecture will be in Spanish, with Jeri Schultz '85 providing English translation.

Help ghosts and goblins

South Park Community Center seeks volunteers to help with its annual Monster Mash Bash on Oct. 25. Last year, more than 200 children attended the party, so many volunteers (in costume, of course) are needed to assist the little ghosts and goblins with carnival games and the Haunted House. Orientations will be held soon to provide volunteers a chance to say how they want to help. Either individuals or groups can participate. Call the Volunteer Center, 8318.

Faculty Lectures Begin

The new faculty lecture series "Perspectives in the Social Sciences" will be kicked-off by Don Wentworth (Economics), speaking on "Market Solutions to Environmental Problems: Environmentally Friendly Prices for Water." The lecture begins at 2:30 pm on Oct. 11 in Xavier 114, refreshments will be served.

Blue jeans mark Coming Out Day

Sexual minority (gay, lesbian, bisexual) people who are honest and open about their winning filmmaker and gay black man, completed the documentary "Black Is, Black Ain't" after Riggs' death from AIDS, but his lifelong dedication to examining the complex and varied identities of African-Americans is the guiding force behind every scene. Riggs asks viewers to explore issues such as spirituality, sexism and homophobia, and demonstrates the power of individual voices and visions in the context of major political struggles. The film starts at 6:30 pm on Oct. 14 in Ingram 100, with a panel discussion following at 8 pm. For information, call Beth Kraig, 7296 or Lisa Marcus, 7312.

Film Series Shows Cuban Flick

The Humanities film series "The Americas" continues with a 1994 Academy Award-nominee for Best Foreign Film, "Strawberry and Chocolate." The film follows the lives of two Cuban men who meet over dishes of ice cream, one a gay bureaucrat and the other a Marxist college student. Film starts at 7 pm on Oct. 18 in Ingram 100.

University Theater presents "The Foreigner"

by Larry Shue, starring a shy, insecure individual who pretends not to understand or speak English, with hilarious and perceptive results. Directed by William Becvar, the show starts at 8 pm on Oct. 17-29 and 25-26, and at 2 pm on Oct. 27. Tickets are $4 for students, faculty & staff, and can be reserved at 7762.

identities must cope with insults, rejection, discrimination and threats from anti-gay people. "National Coming Out Day" provides an opportunity for all people to acknowledge and work against such condemnation and discrimination. Harmony invites members of the PLU community who support social and legal acceptance of sexual minority people to demonstrate their affirmation visibly by wearing blue jeans on Oct. 11, to "come out" against discrimination based on sexual orientation. For more information, attend Harmony at noon on Oct. 8 in UC 208, or call Beth Kraig, 7296 or Tom Campbell, 7226.
