

New Mooring Mast Editorial Staff On Job For Semester

First Time Change Has Been Made at Mid-Year; Olaf Hagenes to Take Helm; Saga To Have Gopherud

Following the decision of the Mooring Mast Staff last fall and the approval of the faculty, the Mooring Mast will be put out next semester under a new staff composed mostly of College freshmen and high school students, headed by Olaf Hagenes, who will succeed John Gopherud as editor-in-chief. The plan to be followed, if it is found to work out to good advantage, is to change staffs between semesters each year.

This plan has been under consideration for the last two years, but only after the students decided to support an annual this year was the final step taken. Because this is a small school and because the annual is chiefly a circulating class project, it is necessary to recruit all the available talent in the graduating classes for this work. Accordingly John Gopherud, who has been one of the main stays in journalism work here, will work on the Saga staff next semester, where he will have charge of the College Life division of the year book.

The new editor, Hagenes, has not definitely chosen his entire staff yet, but has submitted the following tentative staff for publication: Editor-in-Chief, Olaf Hagenes; associate editor, Stella Sorboe; copy editors, Margaret Holmberg and Viola Taw; sports editor, George Cronquist; exchanges, Emma Kaaland; features, Cora Vista and Inga Gopherud; reporters, Ruth Jacobsen and Ruth Norgaard.

This change at mid-year applies only to the editorial staff. The present business staff will serve the second semester also with the exception that Ruth Jacobsen will take the office of circulation manager left vacant by Miriam Heimdahl, who finished her work last semester.

FINIS OF LIFE'S MENTAL TORTURES FOR ANOTHER SEMESTER IS COME

Exams, the joy of the instructor and the despair of the student, are finished! finished! finished! come to an abrupt end! to a termination, you understand. They will bother us brutally, trodden down, poor, overworked pursuers of knowledge no more for another semester. And those insidious, gloating villains who contrive these infernal methods of catching their victims off guard and exposing their ignorance to the whole world especially to Mr. Hagenes, must wait another semester before they are again allowed to run riot among the thinned ranks of the noble scholars (including Harold Gray, and Ben Palou). Now, according to our well-versed professors, it is harder to give good exams than it is to take them. It evidently is. Most students haven't seen an exam yet that they thought was any good. As for taking them, most of the

HYMN CONTEST

The contest for selecting a school hymn for Pacific Lutheran College closes at midnight Friday, January 31. All entries mailed or before this time will be eligible for the twenty-five dollar prize which is offered. Mail your hymns immediately!

POSTPONE DEBATE OF CLUB TILL LATER DATE

The Debate Club here, which was to have given its second debate Friday, January 17, postponed the affair because of conflicts. No definite date has been set as yet for this debate. The question is: Resolved, that extra-curricular activities, as now conducted are detrimental to good scholarship.

Elect Evelyn Solum, Forensic Manager For Debate Squad

The students elected Evelyn Solum at their meeting last Thursday, as forensic manager of the 1930 intercollegiate debate squad at P. L. C. The other delegate suggested by the nominating committee was Arthur Olson.

Within the next week or two Miss Solum expects to arrange a complete schedule for both men's and women's teams with as many schools in this vicinity as it is possible to debate during the next two months. Several schools have requested debates, but no definite dates have been set.

Miss Solum will also help arrange for a regular class for the debaters, to meet perhaps twice a week under the supervision of Dean Ph. E. Hauge, debate coach.

Upon the invitation, to this school from the Phi Rho Phi, a national forensic society, steps are being taken at present to form a chapter in this national organization.

COMMITTEE TO CHOOSE CLASS ANNOUNCEMENTS

Margaret Holmberg and Jack Lishness, of the graduating class, were selected by George Cronquist, class president, for the committee to select several of the best announcements cards offered by large printing companies. The contractor will offer their selections to the class from which will be selected the official class announcement for 1930. A class meeting will be held either on Thursday or Friday, to decide on several class issues.

atored said professors see to it that they are made plenty easy to take. Don't mistake me; the examinations aren't made easy—we should say not—but they are so "arranged" that not even 'Aristotle' 'Hugh Tallent' himself, the artful fibber that he is, could think of an excuse good enough to same him from taking the consequences of that contemporary civilization test the other day. It couldn't even save him from having to take the test.

But, and here is our main argument, as has been mentioned before, professors say that it is a very difficult task to give a good examination. Evidently, then, it takes great intelligence to give an examination. Then what a genius the man must have, been who invented the things.

Now, in psychology we are told, and by a professor, too, that a genius is almost and sometimes is abnormal. In other words he borders on abnormality.

Now then, what could be more logical than to conclude from the facts we have on hand that the man who invented exams, being such a genius, was evidently abnormal. And who wants to take something that was invented by an abnormal man we ask?

Have Annual Meet Of Lutheran Club

Official P. L. C. Representatives Attend Program; Hindertie Elected to Office

At the Pacific Northwest Lutheran Students' Conference held in Seattle January 17, 18, and 19 seven schools of Washington and Oregon were represented by student delegates and pastors. The official representatives of Pacific Lutheran College, Professor W. H. Hellman, Miriam Heimdahl, Emma Kaaland, Irene Dahl, George Lane, and Arthur Olson, reported an interesting convention.

This was the second annual conference of Northwest Lutheran students. The first was held at Spokane College last year, when it was decided officially to organize at the next meeting. This year's convention was held at the University of Washington under the auspices of the local Lutheran student group, the Inkwell Club.

An informal reception to the delegates on Friday evening opened the conference. At the first session Saturday morning words of welcome were extended by the Rev. O. A. Bremer, University student pastor, and Arthur Hillman, president of the Inkwell Club. The delegates were then introduced, and the various groups brought greetings from their schools. Following the business meeting and luncheon a tour of the University Campus was conducted by the Seattle students.

Two papers were given during the afternoon session: "The Contribution of the Augsburg Confession to Modern Life" by Margarete Beistel, of the University of Oregon, and "What Should Be the Objective of Lutheran Student" (Continued on Page Four)

DELTA RHO GIRLS EXPLAIN MYSTERY

Because of several inquiries that have been made as to the meaning of "Delta Rho Gamma," the name of the new organization at P. L. C., the Mooring Mast offers the following explanation:

Day room girls, evidently thinking that things were become rather dead around school this time of the year, decided to pep said things up by forming a club or society of some kind. They formed a society and began to cast about for a name. Some brilliant mind thought of taking the first letter of each word in "Day Room Girls," which would be D-R-G. These letters the girls translated to Greek for effect, which resulted in the name Delta Rho Gamma.

Then, through a misunderstanding, this innocent name began to cause no little apprehension. Many thought that this was the name of a national sorority. The Delta Rho Gamma executive department was prompt in stating, however, that there is no other organization by this name.

PUMPKIN SHELL NOW UNDER NEW MANAGERS

The Pumpkin Shell, favorite luncheon place for students here and formerly managed by Mrs. Lehmann, has changed hands and is now operated by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Abbott, of Tacoma, who have leased it for a year. Abbott took the place over January 24. The Abbotts came from Texas three months ago.

Ask Dramatic Club To Repeat Plays In Outlying Districts

Miss Stixrud, dramatic club coach, has announced that the Dramatic Club, which presented a group of one-act plays in the college auditorium a short time ago, has been asked to present the same plays in several of the outlying districts, including American Lake, Lake View, Sanatorium, Des Moines, and Tacoma.

The plays which were presented in the college auditorium were "Forty Miles an Hour," "The Ghost Story," and "Mix Well and Stir."

The play "Forty Miles an Hour" was scheduled to be presented at the American Lake Veterans' Hospital Thursday, January 30, but because of conflicts it has been postponed indefinitely.

Several trips will be made at which plays will be presented by this organization throughout the term.

BOYS TEST MOUNTAIN SNOW

Too anxious to wait for the trip to Mt. Tacoma in March, eight boys went up early last Sunday to Longmire and returned in the evening "much the worse from wear." The boys reported that the snow is in excellent condition for toboggan and skiing. Those who made the trip were Earl Percival, A. J. Beck, Edwin Kaagan, Stanley Berenson, Sankey Johnson, Warner Quale, Alred Hauge, and John Gopherud.

PETRIFYING ATMOSPHERE DECREASES FURTHER ATTEMPT AT APPEARANCES

Cold, bitter, cold, reigns over the neighborhood of our school, as well as most of the other important spots in Washington. It is so cold in fact that it has ceased to be fun long ago. We believe Santa Clause's reindeers would have died from cold had they passed through the night Snookie (froze her little toe, and Percy's toe, froze his radiator. That night was a corker, judging from the actions of the students the next day. The dormitory students responded so well to the breakfast call that they actually made themselves conspicuous by their absence.

Those who did come down appeared with red noses and a great many wraps. Not that red noses have anything to do with clothes or anything else for that matter, except being a symbol of the cold air.

Great Increase In Enrollment Number For This Semester

Registration Now 204; More Expected; Teaching Staff and Curriculum Enlarged; No Saturday Classes

With 204 students already registered, Registrar Hauge announced Tuesday that he expects the total enrollment to reach at least 210 this year. This is the largest enrollment at Pacific Lutheran college since the reorganization of the school in 1920.

Several changes have been made in the teaching staff to accommodate the increased enrollment. V. E. Elvestrom, who has been working as field man for the college, will teach a double course in algebra and a course in high-school biology, besides acting as manager of the choir and supervisor of the Campus development. President Tingelstad, because of his many other duties, will take care of only the Greek class this semester.

There are three new subjects that have been added to the curriculum, high-school psychology, high-school economics, and a course in counterpoint for college students.

The Saturday classes which were held last semester will be discontinued until next fall, at least.

MISSION SOCIETY TO BUY BOOKS AS GIFTS

At a meeting of the Mission Society held in the recreation room Monday evening, January 20, it was decided to send for six books on miscellaneous libraries for the P. L. C. Library: Christine Johnson, George Larie, and Thora Rasmussen were chosen to pick out and send for the books.

The same officers were elected to serve the coming semester: Arthur Olson, president; Warner Quale, vice president; Sena Johnson, secretary; Sigurd Bjeide, treasurer.

Thora Rasmussen gave a reading and Dorothy Eberstedt a piano solo.

SURPRISES COMING

The Saga staff has a surprise in store for students at P. L. C. and Parkland and Tacoma people soon, and it's not the Saga either. A full evening's entertainment at your disposal in a few weeks. Keep your eyes fixed on the next issue of this paper for an announcement and details of this pleasant surprise. It will be something new, something really fun for everyone of us. Stand by and be patient.

GET SOME PEP

Spirit and feeling is running high among the students for a mountain trip this year. Will the plans that are being made materialize or will they fall through like they did last year when the affair was postponed too long, and the students became discouraged because they heard that the snow was becoming sloppy at Mt. Tacoma? Are we going to let this happen again? Not if we can help it! Although the nearest probable date for the trip is March 1, let us all keep up the spirit, because we can't afford to pass up this opportunity. Just imagine a trip to Mt. Tacoma, with all its afforded pleasures for only a few dollars.

Don't forget that the hymn contest closes January 31.

SOMETHING NEW?

Mystery? Uh-h. Burglars? Guess not. Just plain spooks, we call it. An editor's office should be his home, as long as he chooses to call it one, but apparently he is not alone in calling it that. Apparently someone else has taken it to themselves as a desperate last resort upon finding the girls' reception room filled to capacity (two).

My business was urgent last Sunday night. Coming from down the hall I stopped to reach for my keys to open the office. In the silence, I heard a fluttering of something mingled with a quick tapping of something else. But I saw no light through the transom. I would not let the culprit escape and quickly opened the door. Against the window I saw a figure, of masculine features. As I snapped on the light a green somethingness, with a peculiar femininity about it, shot out from behind the now open door which warned me to be silent. Of course my eyes were closed, and so far as I knew, nothing had happened, but at least the Mooring Mast office has found a new purpose.

COOPERATE AND ADVERTISE

It is evident that the popularity of a school depends mostly upon the activities the school participates in. Therefore, in order to support these activities we must have the cooperation of the students and the faculty.

School spirit is better advertisement than any ballyhoo ever created. Why? Because it tends to make a closer connection between student and professor.

Wouldn't it be nicer if, before an athletic contest, we could have a big pep rally? Wouldn't it arouse more enthusiasm among us if we could learn to respect school property more and take greater pride in establishing a certain moral among ourselves? School spirit takes in all these problems. We admit they seem small, but they count a great deal. Remember, "I nited we stand; divided we fall."

FRESH START

We have just begun a new semester; exams and registration are over; the teachers are all urging upon us the need for an immediate return to our studies, although the next exams are nine weeks away. It is true it will take some time to get accustomed to our new schedules and to get over the results of our last semester's work, but this should soon pass. We have also seen the outcome of our work last year on our report cards, and if we remember what this work amounted to, we should try to do just a little better, if not a great deal better, to raise our grades.

Some of us are graduating this spring and want to leave school with a conscience which can say "I got something worth while, with a conscience which can say "I got something worth while should make the best of it. All agree? We hope so!

Dear Ma and Pa,

My arm is pudneeer broke. I've been taking exams lately, and those teachers keep us in those rooms for two hours trying to get us to write all we know, but nobody can make me tell all I know, even if they do keep me in their two hours. If it weren't that my fingers get so tired when I do that, I wouldn't mind it, 'cause it's purdy warm in the rooms. You sweat something fierce in there.

It seems to me the teachers are kinda dumb cuz they ask us the foolishest questions; some of them must hafta stay up all night to think of questions that we can't answer.

Last nite we were reading (John read, and I turned pages) that when the roots of the hair goes down and strikes smart brains, they act as good fertilizer; and this causes the hair to grow long; well—John said that if I didn't watch out I'd get bald-headed.

I got my new skedule made out, but I can't remember what's on it. They left a couple blank spaces. They said maybe I'd like to take some of my subjects over; I musta been nice and quiet in my classes, since the teachers want me back. Once I pudneeer ran Al Hauge a close second in snoring.

Say I was reading about a Donkey Engine. Is them one of those engines like Pa has in our ford? One that won't start when you crank it, and as soon as you turn your back or leave, it starts by itself?

I was wondering if you'd sign a check and send it this week. (I might have to buy a couple new books, though I think I can use some of the old ones again; it's almost too much to expect you to sign a check and my report card the same week; so please send the check soon.)

My fingers just wont work any more—they are so tired.

Love—Cheroba Secunda.

Thoughts are things,
And a small drop of ink,
Falling like dew, upon a thought,

That which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think.

words fit. In the first verses of the chapter the prophet, Isaiah, complains about the want of faith in the people of Israel. Plagues and calamities are sent upon them to cause them to repent and to strengthen their faith. Then, to point the way for Israel, he takes up the prophecy concerning the coming of Jesus Christ. He feels that this is the thing that can strengthen their faith. So a fulfillment of this same prophecy should also strengthen our faith. Seek what is true, and the Holy Spirit will lead us to it and awaken in us a sincere christian faith.

Funeral For Former Student At Chapel

Funeral services for Miss Sonva Fadness, a student here in 1920, 21, and 22, were held in the college chapel, Sunday afternoon, January 19, at 2:30. Rev. T. O. Svare officiating. A good many college students, as well as friends of the family, were present.

Miss Fadness was born on June 30, 1904; she died Friday morning, Jan. 17, 1930, after a long illness.

John Fadness, a brother of the deceased, is at present enrolled in the high school division of the college. Her other brother and four sisters have all attended this school.

Centralia Defeats P.L.C. Basketball To Tune of 25-23

Hide Turns at the End of Half to Favor Jases; Overtime Period Played to Decide Winner of Tilt

Centralia, Jan. 18 (Special)—In one of the fastest and most interesting games played on the local floor, the Centralia Jr. College basketball five came through with a win over the highly touted casaba outfit from the Pacific Lutheran College of Parkland, (Tacoma). The game ended in a 21 to 21 tie, and in the extra period the Jases made 4 points, while the best efforts of the Lutherans only accounted for 2 markers.

The Jases were entirely outclassed in the first quarter, failing to count once, while the Lutherans sunk four baskets. During the second period the locals came to life and managed to make three baskets, but at half time the Lutherans were leading with a safe margin of ten points, the score being 16 to 6 in favor of the Lutherans at the end of the second quarter.

Throughout the entire second half, the juniors were playing snappy, offensive ball and were dopping the ball in from all angles, especially after four of the Lutherans, Milton, Colton, C. Munson and Nyman, had been taken out on fouls. The score at the end of the fourth quarter was tied 21 all to start the overtime period. Kirchen's two beautiful baskets were too much for the Lutherans' lone counter, the game ending 25 to 23 (1) the Jases' favor.

The game was unusually rough, with 22 fouls called on the Lutherans and 8 on the Centralians.

The Lineup: P. L. C. Dale (4) F (6) Johnson Brown (6) F (7) Colton Althousen (3) F (5) Milton Kirchen (12) G (4) C. Munson Schwalm (1) G (3) Nyman Substitutes: Dirks for Dale; Ellis (3) for Dirks; P. L. C. Gardlin (2) for Colton; Sanderson for Johnson; Johnson for Milton; B. Munson for C. Munson; Thomsen for Nyman. Referee: Skinny Hall.

Team Wins First Conference Game

Lead of 10 Points Held Throughout Whole Game; Score Ends With 29 to 19

The Gladiators turned in an impressive win in its first conference game with the College of Puget Sound Reserves' five on the local court. The Lutherans held a 10 point lead almost throughout the entire game, the final score being 29 to 19.

Long accurate passes and exceptionally good team work on the Pacific Lutheran's part were outstanding features of the game. Milton led the field in scoring honors with 15 points, while Grant of the Logger Reserves accounted for 9. Clarence Munson and Arnold Thostenson both played a good game at guard for the Lutherans. The Lineup:

P. L. C. C. P. S. Reserves Johnson (6) F (1) Van Trojen Colton (2) F (4) Williams Milton (15) G (3) Welch C. Munson (2) G (2) Rauts W. Nyman (4) G (9) Grant Substitutes: P. L. C.—B. Munson, Gardlin (4); Sanderson; Schiermann, Thostenson. C. P. S. Reserves—Link, West, Krangness, Brown, Husby (2), Newell (2), Williams. Officials: B. O. Beal of Tacoma, referee; Scorer, Cronquist; Timer, Lee.

Quintet Quips

Since the last issue, there have been many interesting happenings in sports-dom. Let's take a few seconds to review a few of the highlights.

Jan. 16—The girls played a great game, defeating the Lincoln Park team for the second time this year. On the same evening the Gladiators won their first conference game with the C. P. S. Reserves. The fellows were sweet work and led throughout the entire game by at least 10 points. And how that read-headed center of ours was going—Great is the best way to express it.

Jan. 19—The Centralia Junior College showed a two-point victory over the Gladiators in an over-time game in the Hub City Exciting—well you remember how excited you were when you went to the circus the first time. The Lutherans had the game on ice, but a warm wind, full of fouls, sent four of the regulars to the bench, and it ke soon melted. For details, see Bill Nyman.

Jan. 24—The Sumner girls' basketball team spelled doom for Miss Stixrud and her bunch, who were well started an what looked like a perfect record. Tough indeed—but as "Pop" Warner said, "A defeat for a team is sometimes for the better." I didn't see the game, but it could have been a case of over-confidence.

Jan. 25—The Fort Lewis five proved no match for the Lutherans. The teamwork of the gang was to be commended. They worked as a whole. After all, what are individual points, compared to teamwork? On the same evening the Lutheran Reserves lost to the Tacoma Veneer five. In this game, poor teamwork was well demonstrated. A basket ball team, or any other team, cannot win if it does not function as a unit.

Palo, former Lincoln High star, and last year Lutheran letter winner, was back on the floor when Fort Lewis was defeated. Palo, was a bit stiff, but performed well. Palo, no matter how tense the situation is, does not lose his head. What a great advantage such a characteristic is.

We want to express our deep regrets to the parents of Ralph Douglas, student and athlete of the J. P. Stewart Jr. High School, who was fatally hurt while taking part in a basket ball game on the afternoon of Jan. 23. The scholastic and athletic record of this young man, is a good standard for all of us to strive for.

Lutherans Defeat Fort Lewis Team By 38 to 12 Count

Long, accurate passes coupled with first class team work enabled the Lutherans to run roughshod over a weak Fort Lewis basket ball team, by a 38 to 12 count. The soldiers were no match for the Collegians, who were checking almost perfectly.

Time after time the Lutherans would work the ball under the basket where Johnson was almost always waiting to drop in a counter. Johnson led the scoring with 14 points in his credit, while Villaseca played good ball for the Fort Lewis aggregation. The game, despite the lopsided score, proved to be a thriller.

The lineup: P. L. C. B. Munson (4) F (4) Frerich Gardlin (8) F (4) Besson Johnson (14) C (3) Kirby Thostenson (2) G (4) Villaseca Palo (1) G (4) Villaseca Substitutes: P. L. C.—Schiermann, Colton (8), Milton (2); Nyman (5), C. Munson. Fort Lewis—Margoles (1), Homan (3), Priddy, Snyder, Sherman.

Tacoma Veneer Five Show Ability in Preliminary Game

In a preliminary event, the Gladiator Reserves dropped a slow uninteresting game to the Tacoma Veneer basket ball five. The Reserves were wild in their passes and at no time was any real team work displayed. The Veneers were gradually pulling away to a big lead when the game ended. The final score being 15 to 9.

The lineup: P. L. C. Reserves Tacoma Veneer Gray (2) F (3) Webster Sanderson (3) F (3) Albers Evgenth (1) G (12) Radovitch Schiermann (1) G (3) Ness Hageness G (3) Skok Substitutes: Reserves—Fadness (3), Tacoma Veneer—None.

College Choir Gives Spanaway Concert

Director Edward's Latest Song To Be Presented at Next Public Appearance

The Pacific Lutheran Choir again appeared in concert in the auditorium of the Spanaway grade school Friday evening, January 17, before a small but appreciative audience of listeners.

The choir gave a complete concert consisting of twelve numbers, sung in three groups of four songs in each. The selections were the same as those sung at Summer January 7. The choir was assisted by Anna Mikkelsen, who sang three soprano solos between the first two choir groups, and by Wallis Kerr, who played three violin solos between the second and third groups. Both were accompanied by Cora Vista at the piano.

The next concert for the choir is scheduled for Des Moines, Washington, next Friday. For this concert at least one new addition will be made to the list. "This a Good Thing," the latest composition of Director Edwards, is being learned and will probably be sung at this concert.

Mountain Trip For P. L. C. Students To Come in March

Fred Lee, chairman of the committee appointed to arrange for a mountain trip this year, announces that Saturday, March 1, is the first available date on which the trip can be made. The committee, consisting of Fred Lee, Cornelia Mohn, and George Cronquist, has unanimously decided that this will be the best time to make the trip.

If 35 students sign up for the trip, a five-ton truck will be hired, which will make the round trip for a cost of $1.45 to each individual. If less than this number sign up, the fare will necessarily be higher.

The truck will probably leave school at six o'clock in the morning; this early start will no doubt enable the party to reach the mountain before nine o'clock. As the trip back will not be made till late Saturday night, everyone will be able to get plenty of enjoyment out of the stay at the mountain.

Because of the added expenditures this would necessitate, the proposed plan of staying over night at the mountain was dropped. It is suggested, however, that each person bring along two or three dollars more than is necessary to pay his fare to use for personal amusements.

The group of boys who went to the mountain last Sunday report that conditions for skiing and tobogganing are ideal.

Girls Meet First Defeat of Season At Summer Game

Failing to get started until the last part of the final quarter the Lutheran girls' basket ball team met its first defeat of the season at the hands of the strong Summer basket ball six. Pasting and teamwork of the Pacific Lutheran girls were lacking, and the 36 to 19 defeat was the worst beating ever suffered by the local girls' outfit. Summer, however, was playing over their heads and were dropping the ball through the irons from all angles of the floor. Esther Geiger made 29 points for the Summer team to Pauline Larson's 12. This was also the first game the local girls have played away from the home floor this season.

The lineup:
Summer
 Esther Geiger 29 F
 Vivian Saeloi 18 F
 Marg Livesby C
 Celina Cleretz C
 Elizabeth Kelly G
 Paul Miller G
Substitutes: P. L. C.—A. Roe, Kaaland '69, Mohn. Summer—Mildred Taylor.

Girls Make Fourth Consecutive Win In Lincoln Park Game

Running their record up to 4 consecutive wins, the Pacific Lutheran College girls' team defeated the strong Lincoln Park girls' basket ball team by a 34 to 27 score. The perfect teamwork of Miss Stixrud's bunch was the deciding factor of the game. The Lincoln Park girls were leading by one point 13 to 12 at the end of the half period. This lead was soon wiped out and a substantial lead established during the third period, when Pauline Larson and Emma Kaaland made basket after basket.

The Lineup:
Lincoln Park
 Kaaland 15 F
 Ebersole 11 F
 Lofthus C
 Dahlberg C
 Holmberg G
 Crosby G
Substitutes—Lincoln Park L. Adams, Holt, P. L. C. Larson '81, Munson, D. Roe, Rasmussen, A. Roe.
Officials: B. O. Beal, Tacoma, referee; Cronquist, scorer; Lee, timer.

Miriam Heimdahl and Margaret Flint have completed the normal course at P. L. C.

HAVE ANNUAL MEET OF LUTHERAN CLUB

 Activity" by Theodore Erickson, of Washington State College. Both papers were followed by an informal group discussion.

At the business meetings the following officers were elected for 1930: Arthur Hillman, of the University of Washington, president; Theodore Erickson, of Washington State College, vice president; Helen Pieterli, of Oregon State College, corresponding secretary; Ida Hinderle, of Pacific Lutheran College, recording secretary; Rev. O. A. Bremer, of Seattle, Rev. Wm. Scholer of Independence, Oregon, and Rev. Werner Fritz of Pullman were chosen to serve as the advisory board.

The crowning social event of the evening was a banquet Saturday evening in the Seattle Chamber of Commerce rooms under the direction of the Lutheran Women's League of Seattle. Rev. Bremer, toastmaster, introduced the newly-elected officers and called upon various persons for a few words. Music by the Inkwell Club male quartet, girls' trio, and orchestra, and informal "get-acquainted" singing by everyone added greatly to the congenial spirit of the evening. Doctor C. P. Harry, traveling adviser, gave the main address.

On Sunday the delegates attended a special Sunday School class conducted by Doctor J. H. Groth, of the University, and Bivine services at the University Lutheran Church, where the sermon was preached by Doctor Harry. Special music was given by the University Church Choir, and Arthur Olson, of P. L. C., sang a solo.

A fireside hour Sunday evening in the Inkwell club room marked the close of the conference. Here the delegates discussed student problems, and musical numbers were enjoyed. After the luncheon, served by the Inkwell Club, most of the delegates left for their respective schools.

An invitation to hold the 1931 conference at Washington State College was unanimously accepted.
