

Choir to Leave For Week's Concert Trip

Forty-Three Singers Will Give Seven Programs in Oregon and Washington

The Pacific Lutheran College Choir of the West will leave Parkland on Saturday morning, May 7, for a week's tour, visiting some of the Lutheran communities in Oregon and western Washington. The party, which will include forty-three members of the chorus, Director Edwards, a matron, and the choir manager will travel by bus. Mr. Oscar "Buck" Swisher will drive.

Going direct to Silverton, Oregon, the group will sing at the Eugene Field Auditorium on Saturday evening, under the joint auspices of the Luther Leagues of Immanuel and Trinity Churches. Rev. C. L. Foss and Rev. Jensen are pastors of the two churches respectively. Sunday afternoon the choir will sing in Eugene and in the evening at a concert in Peninsula Peace Lutheran Church, Portland, where Rev. L. Ludvig is pastor. The concert will be sponsored by the Lutheran Women's League. Sunday night members of the choir will be guests of Portland Lutheran friends.

On Monday, May 8, the singers will journey up the Columbia River Highway to Kennewick, Washington, where they will sing that evening at the First Methodist Church under the auspices of the Kennewick Lutheran Church, Rev. Harold Hammer, pastor. From there they will go to Pendleton, Oregon, where a concert is scheduled for Tuesday night at the Pendleton High School. This concert is being arranged by the Lutheran Church of which Rev. E. G. West is pastor.

Concerts will also be given in Endicott, Washington, on Wednesday, May 11, at the Endicott High School, sponsored by Rev. H. Maus Church, and at Riverville, Washington, on Thursday night, under the auspices of the Lutheran Church, Rev. Rein, pastor. The last day of the tour will be spent enroute home by way of the Snoqualmie Pass.

Mr. Edwin Tingestad made arrangements for the tour.

Commencement Date Changed to May 29

The faculty of Pacific Lutheran College, at a meeting held April 11, decided to hold commencement exercises on Sunday afternoon, May 29, at 3:30, instead of on June 1, as previously scheduled. This change in date was made because of the desire of many members of the college faculty and friends of the school to attend the Biennial Convention of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, which opens in Minneapolis on June 1.

Instead of Tuesday, May 31, class-day exercises will be held on Saturday, May 28. Plans are for baccalaureate services Sunday morning, May 29.

The administration has not yet announced the names of the baccalaureate and commencement speakers, as those invited to speak have not yet accepted.

Rain Fails to Halt Work of Campus Day

All Classes Dismissed While Students Don Old Clothes and Beautify Grounds

Despite the rain, which halted activities in mid-afternoon, P. L. C.'s Campus Day was celebrated in the usual way on Monday, April 18. With all classes dismissed for the day, students put on their old clothes and joined in cleaning and beautifying the school grounds. Both the tennis courts and the baseball field were raked, cleared and leveled. Flower-beds were cultivated and weeded, the road in front of the school was cleaned, and mud holes were filled. A new walk to the chapel, made of slabs of Alaskan marble, was another result of the day's activity.

The leaders of the different committees were: Bob Reid, chapel grounds; John Hopp and Millard Quale, main building; Art Sivertson, gymnasium and side hill; Eric Hauke, tennis courts; Alvenc Schierman, baseball diamond; Harold Berentson, side hill; Evans Carlson, north campus; John Redeen, chalet/auqua grounds; Fred Walker, road crew and president's residence; Harry Southward, tools.

The workers were served lunch at noon, doughnuts and coffee at 3:30, and dinner at night by members of the kitchen committee, Mrs. Hinderlie, Mrs. Thompson and Miss Olson were assisted in this work by Lorraine Thoren, Esther Jahr, Alice Johnson, Grace Hale, Clara Fjermadal, Mrs. Osta Bally, and Nelda Fjerdal.

All leaders received the accustomed ducking in Clover Creek by a self-appointed vigilance committee.

The huge bonfire, postponed until Friday night because of the weather, attracted a large crowd of students. Games and singing were features of this somewhat delayed ending of the usual Campus Day entertainment.

The Mooring Mast staff offers its sincere sympathy to the bereaved families of Ole Halsten and Theodore E. Samuelson.

College Annual Carnival Given

With an estimated attendance of about 200, the Saga Carnival given Friday, April 15, cleared about $400.00. The gymnasium was attractively decorated for this affair, the third of its kind given here, and brightly trimmed booths, music, roller skates, wrestling, and boxing added to the enjoyment of those present.

The carnival opened with a program featuring an orchestra composed of: Nordis Arneson, Walter Christensen, Jack Hudson, and Bill Whalen. A skit by Bob Monson, Clarence Monson, and Esther Westby, a tumbling act by Eric and Holden Hauke, songs by Walter Ustad, and a dance by two Japanese girls in costume completed the program.

Helen Thrane was general manager of the booths, and those who assisted her were: Frances Jane Lavin, "Flapper Pannie's Beauty Parlor"; Kathryn Johnson, pom-poms and balloons; Agnes Berge and Stanley Score, fish pond; Amelia Holmquist, ice cream and pop; Pauline Schierman, refreshments; Kathryn Patten, candy; Margaret Jacobson, fortune telling; Clifford Mesford, shooting gallery, with "Briek" Hiltton and Harold Hagen as "Nigger babies"; and Trygve Runsvold, mystery chamber. Bob Reid was in charge of roller skating on the balcony. Ray Lebach had charge of the sale of tickets.

Two wrestling bouts, Ervin Dammal vs. Bert Olsen, and Harry Southward vs. Eric Hauke; and two boxing matches, Willie Pflueger vs. Johnny Stuen, and Ted Cronquist vs. Delmar Mosen, were also given as part of the evening's entertainment.

Luther Leagues Plan Summer Bible Camp

Will Be Held at Des Moines in July; B. M. Christensen and S. J. Sebelius to Speak

Plans are under way for the Luther Leagues of the American Lutheran Conference to unite in holding a summer Bible camp during the last two weeks in July, at Des Moines, between Tacoma and Seattle, on the Sound. For several years it has been customary for the Augustana Luther League of the Tacoma-Mt. Baker district to hold a Bible Institute each summer, but this year an invitation has been given by them to other Leagues of the American Conference to hold a joint Bible camp.

Representatives of the American Lutheran, the Norwegian Lutheran, and the Lutheran Free Church Luther Leagues have been invited to confer with the executive board of the Augustana group in completing plans. Reverend C. O. Bloomquist, of Seattle, as dean of the institute, will have charge of the details of the program.

Those invited as speakers for the institute are Reverend B. M. Christensen, of Minneapolis, and Reverend S. J. Sebelius, of Rock Island, Illinois.

Young people are invited to plan to spend a week at this Bible camp where, beside enjoying the benefits of Bible study and discussion and hearing messages from two visiting speakers, there will be the advantages of meeting young people and enjoying with them the opportunities for recreation and fellowship.

Mr. Tingestad Entertains Class
Mrs. O. A. Tingestad entertained the members of the College French class at a luncheon at her home on Tuesday, April 26. Those present were: Mr. Turkelson, Helen Collins, Shirley Hecht, Margaret Olson, and Mrs. Bondy.

PARKLAND DRAMA CLUB AIDS COLLEGE

After witnessing the splendid performance of the Parkland Drama Club on Saturday evening, nearly everyone feels that Parkland is fortunate indeed in having such an organization. Of course, this club has always given good plays, but Saturday night's production was exceptionally fine. Although the actors played with the freshness and enthusiasm of amateurs, they performed with almost professional ability. Even the little children lived rather than acted their parts.

When we remember that the club is using the money that was earned for improving our stage (indirectly giving the money to Pacific Lutheran College), we perhaps can more clearly see why they should put their whole hearts into the performance, and, understanding the cause, we can know why it was such a success. Of course, the members of the club realize what a new stage will mean to them. However, it will mean far more to the College.

The cast has spent weeks, perhaps months, of hard, grinding work in preparing this play. Those in the audience do not think of this at once, but it is good for us to realize this—to see what some people will do to improve our school.

ORDER YOUR SAGA NOW

In spite of the so-called depression, this year's Saga has excellent chances of being published without a deficit. The whole business staff, under the able leadership of Millard Quale, is doing fine work. By determined effort, the advertising manager and his assistants have brought in many advertisements. The Carnival, directed by Holden Hauke, was a success despite the relatively small attendance, and will be a material aid to the publication. Special credit should be given to John Zachrisson, who has done splendid work as circulation manager.

Orders have been received for nearly all of the 250 copies to be printed. Those desiring a copy should order now as the Saga is already in the hands of the printer.

REMEMBER HER ON MOTHER'S DAY

In less than two weeks we shall be celebrating Mother's Day. To most of us this is one of the dearest days in the whole year. On this day, especially, do we like to shower our mother with gifts, and in other ways show our appreciation of what she has done for us.

However, we can show by kind words and deeds more clearly than by gifts how greatly we appreciate our mother's love and sacrifices for us. Older people tell us that we do not fully realize how much mothers enjoy just a few words from us. Those of us who live at home can make our mothers most happy by merely speaking a few kind and thoughtful words to them. Those of us who cannot be at home on Mother's Day should not forget to write our mothers a letter. Mothers appreciate little kindnesses. Don't worry if you can not buy an expensive gift. A letter, or a card, will go a long way toward making mother happy.

Hold Funeral Services For Two Friends of College

Ole Halsten and Theodore S. Samuelson Buried at Parkland

Since the last issue of the Mooring Mast two men, well known by many of the faculty, students, and alumni of Pacific Lutheran College, have died.

On Thursday, April 14, Ole Halsten, 85, former resident of Parkland from 1923 until two years ago, died at his home in Canby, Oregon. Rev. T. O. Svare conducted the funeral services from Trinity Lutheran Church in Parkland, Sunday, April 17, with burial at Parkland. On behalf of the College Dr. O. A. Thigestad spoke and Miss Anna Mikkelsen sang.

Mr. Halsten is survived by his wife, Mary, a sister, Julia Gilbert, of Wisconsin; two sons, Howard, of Portland, and George, of Atlanta; three daughters, Edna Lette, of South Dakota, Hilda Westby, of Du Pont, and Ovedia Rudolph, of Atlanta; and 23 grandchildren, among them Esther Westby, a student at P. L. C.

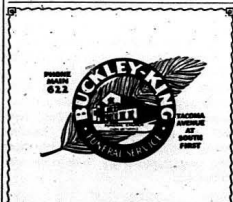

Theodore E. Samuelson, 62, a Parkland pioneer, died Thursday, April 21, at the Pierce County Hospital in Tacoma from burns received while extinguishing flames in his boat on Commencement Bay. Rev. Svare officiated at his funeral in Trinity Lutheran Church, on April 23. Burial was at the Parkland cemetery. At the services Mrs. Clifford Olson sang two solos, "It Was For Me," and "In Heaven Above."

He is survived by his wife, Alida; two sons, Alfred, of South Bend, and Seymour, of Parkland; two daughters, All e, of Parkland, and Stella, of South Bend; and two sisters, one in New York and another in Norway.

Control Discipline

At Augustana College the student association passed a resolution providing for the control of discipline by the students.

Why, I want to know, did Ruth snub me when I said she was as pretty as she could be?

She said I was a rarely handsome boy—very rarely, indeed. A dubious compliment, I call it.

I couldn't think of anything at the time, but now I say she is the kind of a girl who talks on and on about things that leave her speechless.

WILLIE: There's a salesman outside with a mustache.
MR. PFLUEGER: Tell him I have a mustache.

HONG (irately): Evjenth, what do you know about this course?
TED: Very little, sir. What would you like to know?

"Yes, Gudrun, is studying French and Algebra. Say good morning" to the lady in Algebra, my dear."

The other day Norman Westling and Tom Hagen asked me not to mention their names in this column, and then they dodged behind a tree, and laughed and laughed and laughed.

The school poet, comes forth with another extremely modernistic effusion:

CAGE BIRD

I'm the set perch all day long.
Oh! yearning blue sky, where beautiful blossom flowers.
Oh, green woods, but I'm yet cage bird.
Every I'm yearning, Oh! blue sky.
Some way answered my yearn.
Oh, I know well she calls me,
Oh! I'm yet cage bird.

GOINGS ON

Walt Wright making a mighty splash as he fell prone in Clover Creek. He redeemed himself by making a graceful landing, however.

Dorothy Lehman wearing a screaming lightning-liquid pajama suit. And none of us were lucky enough to be color blind.

Prof. Edwards toiling all Campus Day constructing a walk from the Main Buildings to the Chapel. Now the thin-soled students can go to Chapel without a murmur.

Dutch Moe making a sham fuss over Charlotte Shoup. Charlotte can certainly laugh becomingly when she is angered.

FANTASY

My heart is a dancing maiden,
Enraptured, airy, and free,
Spreading the joys of her gladness,
Her glorious ecstasy.

Her gown is a pearl-gleaming cloudlet,
Each sandal a quivering star,
Her girdle a rope of seamless,
Her mantle a bright, sandbar.

She sings as she sways in the moonlight,
A love-lilted song of the dawn;
Her feet are like fairy moondrops,
As they flutter across the lawn.

She rises above the terrace
And breaths to the far-most spire,
Where she's crowned with a ribbon of sundust
Entwined with a lace-web of night.

Chapel Gleanings

By Agnes Berge

If we are going to have Jesus as part of our lives we will have to realize we have a cross to carry.

No king or conqueror deserves more honor than He.

His monuments are living monuments.

He comes and raises men from the dead spiritually.

Without Christ there is no escape.

Christ is the giver of life.

If you desire a monument to Christ, look about you.

In every Christian there is a miracle.

Identify religion with life.

The Lord is conqueror of our enemies.

To all mankind He comes with the question, "Lovest thou Me?"

Like Peter we may question, "Can our sins be forgiven?"

The children of God are in the world, but not of it.

A living hope, that is the Christian hope. It is based upon the risen and the living Lord Jesus Christ.

The strength of the Lord is perfected in human weakness.

Take your troubles to the Lord.

Make it possible for Him to use us.

The Lord is faithful.

God has planned your salvation.

The only real progress is that which leads out of this world and into the life that is to come.

Christ wants our religion to be part of our life.

God has put us into this world for a certain purpose—to prepare for the life to come.

A Christian's hope is built upon the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead.

You must know the Lord Jesus Christ and believe in Him before you can put your trust in God.

It is just like God to love even His enemies.

Professor Higby

Luther College, of Decatur, Iowa, is Professor Paul Richard Higby's alma mater. He says he enrolled there out of pure affection for the school. After receiving his first degree there he was offered a fellowship at the University of Minnesota where he received his second degree, in Parasitology. His research study during this time was done in the children's hospital.

Now, after dispensing with the necessary facts of Professor Higby's life, we will delve into the reasons that prompted him to take up the difficult study of life and its parasites, the science which undoubtedly renders the greatest service to humanity. Mr. Higby says that he accidentally became interested in science after taking his introductory course in college in languages and finding that science was more to his liking. He finds that biology, especially botany, is intensely fascinating. To quote him, "Biological knowledge is the key to human nature, and gives one a better insight and understanding of his fellow-men."

And, students, do not try to get on a square footing with your science teacher by talking about passes, strikeouts, forward plays, or love sets, but chatter fluently about swan dives and the Australian crawl, for swimming, and not football, baseball, basketball, or tennis, is his favorite sport when the weather permits, but for an all-year sport, he contents himself with golf.

As you have probably already suspected, one of his favorite hobbies is studying nature. To be out alone with plenty of old Mother Nature handy is his idea of Utopia. He tells us that he likes and enjoys our somewhat roomy West very much because material for nature study is so abundant here.

Writing—yes, writing—is Professor Higby's special passion. But, even though I listened attentively during the interview, hoping that he would drop a clue as to who inspires him in his literary efforts, I learned nothing. I am forced to admit that it must be solved by a better Sherlock Holmes than I.

German and French Clubs Are Organized at College

Lorraine Thoren and Edgar Larson Are Presidents

In order to further conversation in foreign languages and to get foreign correspondents, two new clubs have been organized at the College. The students of Mrs. Bondy's high school and college German classes have formed "Der Deutsche Verein" and elected the following officers: president, Lorraine Thoren; vice-president, Norman Westling; secretary, Clarence Roen; and treasurer, Evans Carlson. The group has adopted a constitution.

The French class has organized but has not yet selected a name for its club. The officers are: president, Edgar Larson; vice-president, Shirley Hecht; and secretary-treasurer, Rachel Flint.

The students in both the German and French classes have been meeting on Wednesday and Thursday noons, respectively, throughout the year, but organized their clubs last week.

Students to Hold Prayer Meeting

A group of students who felt the need of having more prayer, met on Tuesday noon to discuss the matter. It was decided to hold the first prayer meeting on Friday morning, April 29, at 7 o'clock. Walter Young will be the speaker at this meeting. All students who are interested in this organization are welcome to attend.

People From Tacoma Business College Demonstrate Machine

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, from the Knapp's Business College in Tacoma, demonstrated to Professor Reid's typing and shorthand classes on Thursday, April 21, the use of the steno type machine, a mechanism which can take shorthand dictation at the rate of six hundred words a minute. They also compared the speed of the Gregg or written method with that of the machine method. The correct and incorrect methods of using a typewriter were also shown.

Before the demonstration Mrs. Davis gave several readings.

Boy's Tennis Tournament Matches Now Being Played

Our Team Scheduled to Play Aberdeen On Friday

With a match scheduled with Aberdeen next Friday, the tennis team aspirants are practicing hard. The tournament has been drawn up and the determining matches will probably be completed by Thursday. The players have been handicapped by lack of practice, but hope to get into early season form by the first match.

The pairings for the initial matches of the tournament are as follows: Thompson and Lewinson, Brottum and Preus, W. Flueger and E. Larson, Ruvold and Dammel, Hudson and Steno, Whalen and Raasmussen, P. Larson and Mesford, Jensen and Martin, Pedness and A. Harvinton, Mau and T. Hagen, Hauke and H. Hagen, Hokenstad and Sydow, Krogh and Anderson, Mortenson and Shore.

Girls Hiking Club Planning Constitution and More Hikes

A committee, composed of Kathleen Porath, Lorraine Thoren and Ednae Shafer, will draw up a constitution for the newly organized Girls' Hiking Club.

A hike which was planned by Margaret Hilmo, Esther Westby, and Angela Jacobson was held Thursday afternoon. The girls hiked to the mill pond, where they ate their meal which was cooked over a bonfire.

The next hike is being planned by Dorothy Delmarter, Ruth Goodwin, and Charlotte Shoup.

Eric Threatens to Die In Desert—Helen Tells That She Loves Harold

And where? thunders Harold Berentson with a dreadful frown: "Are your shoes and stockings?"

"Nobody cares," answers Esther Westby. "Nobody cares now that Michael's gone," and flinging herself on the davenport, she breaks into tears—extremely noisy tears.

The fact that Esther is really quite properly clad in the way of shoes and stockings, and that the young man for whom she is weeping is calmly sitting five feet away enjoying her grief, has no bearing upon the matter. This is only a rehearsal for the senior class play. It must be a rehearsal. For in real life Amelia Holmquist isn't found dashing in mad pursuit of Eric Hauke, while inquiring in sorrow-stricken tones, "Then you didn't mean them, Bobby. All the lovely things you said? Normally we do not find Helen Thrane shyly confessing her affection for Harold Berentson, while that individual pats her heartily on the back as if he were trying to cure hiccoughs instead of expressing affection.

But in rehearsals such things frequently happen. Evelyn Arneson, if anyone can imagine that, is "stubbier than a mule." Moreover, she says such perfectly dreadful things to her little brother, Eric, that there is no wonder, the poor boy walks like Desperate Ambrose and starts out to "Join the Foreign Legion, and die in the desert," every ten minutes.

Harry Southworth is the villain, at least anyone whom the heroine calls "that toad, that inchworm" should be the villain. But it seems a pity that anyone who can rave on so charmingly about counting stars through skylights up seven flights of stairs has to be a menace.

And then of course there is a hero. During rehearsal he was displaying his talents by coming in a window where there wasn't any window, and bringing joy into the hearts of everyone in the cast. He's a smart fellow, this Michael, or Alvene if you insist. But can he persuade the heroine to let him go on singing to Nora (Hilma Johnson) on the back porch? That is another of those pressing problems that will be answered on Friday evening, May 6, when "The Odd Job Man" will be given at 8:00 in the College gym.

Staff Holds Annual Banquet
The staff of College Chips held its annual "Greater Luther College" banquet. At this affair the old staff returns and the new staff is initiated.

Sport Slants

As was evidenced by the baseball game last Thursday, a lot of enthusiasm can be stirred up in intra-mural baseball. Keen rivalry will be felt in all of the games. Why don't some of you fairer sex come out and root for your favorite team? You know, nothing will goad a man to such colossal action as a yelling female.

When the tennis courts get in good condition let us take care of them. We have some courts to be proud of. Coach Olson has asked that no one play unless he wears tennis shoes. If all of us are careful of the surface of the courts, they will need fewer back-breaking rollings.

Why not use some tournament politeness when we are playing on the courts? It would make the games more interesting and teach us a valuable lesson in controlling our subtler emotions. One of the marks of a good player is a cool head. Watch the students on the courts some day and see if it is not the player who does not lose his head and throw his racket, who is the most consistent point maker.

Let us get behind this golf team, when it is picked, and give it our support. With the scores that some of the likely members are turning in, it looks as if P. L. C. will have a place in the Washington Junior College golf world.

Ah, yes. I almost forgot something. Just how much we should support our golf team is evidenced by the fact that they practice even at night. No, this isn't a fish story, it is golf. Five of the most promising members of the team played nine holes by moonlight. That's enthusiasm for you.

Students Have Drive For Clothes and Food

Godwin Rorem, Chairman, Has Committees to Help

A drive for clothing and foodstuffs is being made at Pacific Lutheran College by the Tacoma Lutheran Welfare Society. Those in charge have asked all the students and faculty to bring any clothes or canned foods that they can spare.

The following students were appointed by Godwin Rorem, chairman, as editors in the drive: for the day boys, Harry Southworth and Erwin Dammel; for the dormitory boys, John Hopp and Thurston Logar; for the day girls, Anna Mikkelsen and Nellie Olson; for the dormitory girls, Margaret Olson and Mildred Lee.

The plea from the Lutheran Welfare Society for clothing and foodstuffs was made because of the great need for such things in Tacoma and vicinity at this time.

Der Deutsche Verein Will Sell Root-Beer, Pretzels

On Friday, April 29, after the Chapel period and during noon hour, Der Deutsche Verein, the newly organized German Club, is sponsoring a root-beer and pretzel sale under the trees in the front lawn. Herr Torkelson and Herr Dammel have been elected as waiters.

On account of the depression, only five cents will be charged for a glass of root-beer and some pretzels. This is the first time that such a sale has been held at the school.

Day Boys Elect Ben Palo Captain of Baseball Team

The boy day students met on Friday noon, April 22, to select a name for their club. Godwin Rorem has become secretary-treasurer in place of Paul Preus, who resigned. At the meeting members of the club elected Ben Palo as captain of their baseball team for the intramural baseball tournament.

GOLF

The golf tournament has been completed all except the last match, which will be played off between Brottum and Hinderlie. The tournament offered no outstanding upsets but brought to light some new and valuable men.

In the determining of semi-finals, Brottum won his match from Odegaard one up on the eighteenth hole. Hinderlie won his from Stuen four and three.

The championship match will probably be thirty-six holes instead of the regular eighteen.

The last ranking eight in the tournament are: Ustad, Odegaard, Brottum, Preus, Westing, Stuen, Hinderlie and Bondy.

Debate With Centralia and Grays Harbor J. C.

On Friday, April 15, the Pacific Lutheran College debate squad held two debates with the Centralia Junior College teams. At P. L. C. the girls' affirmative team, composed of Evelyn Arneson and Marie Johnson, debated; the boys' negative team, composed of Norman Hokenstad and Harold Berentson, debated at Centralia. Both were non-decision debates.

Eric Hauke and Fred Walter upheld the affirmative for P. L. C. against a team from Gray's Harbor Junior College on Monday, April 25. On the same day Norman Hokenstad and Harold Berentson debated at Aberdeen.
