Honor PLU inspiring women

As part of PLU's Women's History Month celebration in March, the Women's Center will hold a banquet in honor of the Inspirational Women of PLU's Past and Present on at 6 pm March 12 in the CK. The banquet will celebrate those women of PLU who have inspired others through their work and commitment to community building and outreach, support for individuals, leadership and participation, and justice and equality. If you would like to nominate any former or current female faculty, staff or administrator for this recognition, please contact the Women's Center, 8759. The deadline for nominations is March 7.

Lemkin essay contest looks at genocide

Raphael Lemkin was the man who coined the term "genocide" and labored for passage of the United Nations genocide convention that outlaws destruction of races and groups. In dedication to him, PLU sponsors the Raphael Lemkin Essay Competition, with prizes and scholarships

If you can't tell your CD-ROM database from the Internet or don't know how to access those journal indexes from home, be sure to attend one of the database workshops held by the library. The sessions teach the basics of database searching and include time for hands-on searching. Workshops take place 6-8 pm on Feb. 25 and 7-8:30 pm on March 5. Both are held in the Library Instruction Center in the library basement, and the March 5 class also includes demonstrations of some databases used most heavily at PLU. Call 7507 to sign up.

PLU Open House

Prospective students will enjoy a day of activities as they check out PLU on March 2. High school, community college and adult returning students and their families will all be on campus.

Lutheran education in the classroom

All faculty and staff are invited as the discussion of "PLU 2000: What's in a Middle Name?" continues with Wendy McCredie's presentation "How Does the Lutheran Tradition of Higher Education Intersect with the Classroom?" from 3:30 to 5 pm on March 6 in the Faculty House. McCredie is a faculty member at Texas Lutheran University.

Worship at Evensong

The University Singers, Men's Chorus and the campus pastors give an evening worship at Evensong, at 5 pm on March 5 at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Get aboard the "Streetcar Named Desire"

University Theatre is putting the last touches on their production of "Streetcar Named Desire," Tennessee Williams' masterpiece about a fragile Southern gentlewoman who struggles to retain a way of life that is doomed to extinction. The play begins at 8 pm on March 6-8, 14 and 15, and at 2 pm on March 16 in Eastvold. Tickets are $4 for PLU students, staff and faculty. PLU students may preview the show at 8 pm on March 6 for $2.

Coming Attractions at MBR Camas Quintet Feb. 27

supported by the Raphael Lemkin Trust, founded by Irving Young of Haifa, Israel. PLU students are invited to write an essay on the topic of genocide, reflecting Lemkin's ideals and concerns, including topics such as ethical and legal aspects of genocide and international law, historical incidents of genocide, current events and the issue of genocide, or other appropriate topics discussed by contestants and the faculty committee that reviews the essay. The first place essay writer is awarded $750, and the second place is awarded $250. Complete details on the contest are available from the social sciences office. Essays are due March 14.

Seminary reps visit PLU

Representatives from six Lutheran seminaries are available for questions and conversation from 9 am-5 pm on Feb. 27 in the Scandinavian Cultural Center. Luther, Trinity, Pacific Lutheran, LSTC (Chicago), Gettysburg and Wartburg seminaries will all be represented. Call Campus Ministry, 7464, if you want to make an appointment to see one or more of the representatives, or to sign up for a free informal lunch and open forum from 11:30 am-1 pm in the SCC. Lunch reservations are due Feb. 24.

The PLU Forensics team, coached by Sue Weber (Communication & Theater) took

Wellness & Sick Days: Susan Mann met with the ASC in December to provide a few updates. Among them: The implementation process for the wellness program is scheduled to begin mid-year. In regard to questions that were received regarding the distribution schedule of earned wellness days, Mann said that wellness days are awarded on an annual basis to reduce the number of paid days lost to short-time employees. Concerning the sick leave policy, employees with more than 100 days accrued sick leave will be grandfathered, retaining the number of accrued days. Once the number of sick days is used, the 100 maximum sick-day cap takes affect.

Pay Increase: The Budget Advisory Committee reached a decision regarding this year's salary increases. All employees third place in the individual events team sweepstakes at the Western Washington University Tournament on Feb. 8 and 9. Eight students placed in events such as impromptu speaking and parliamentary debate.
