Debaters on Way to Tourney; WSA Holds Meet in California

Nine members of the PLU debate team left this morning for Fresno, California, and the Western Speech Association forensic tournament. The tournament will be held next Monday through Wednesday, November 20, 21, 22, on the campus of Fresno State College. With eighty colleges and universities entered from the eleven western states, this has become the largest debate tournament in the United States.

Discussion in the debates will revolve around this year's collegiate debate topic: "Resolved: that labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation." Participating in this event are the teams of John Stewart and Dick Helstrom; Ron Swift and Merle Overland; Norma Dayhuff, Joan Maier and Jan Dyer; Gordon Gray and Stan Trom.

All the PLU entrants are also participating in individual speech events. In Impromptu and Extemp speaking are: Helstrom, Overland, Maier, Dyer, Gray and Trom. In Oratory and Interp Reading are Stewart, Swift and Dayhuff.

The tournament is held in conjunction with the annual convention of the Western Speech Association, a professional organization for those in the speech field. Their convention will follow the tournament on Nov. 23, 24, 25. Professor T. O. H. Karl, chairman of the Department of Speech and the debate coach at PLU, will be presiding over the convention, completing his term as President of the organization. Prof. and Mrs. Karl will accompany the group which will be traveling by car and will return to PLU some time Thanksgiving day.

Last Saturday, members of the Forensic Squad participated in the Practice Debate Tournament at UPS, preparing for the Fresno trip. Results found John Stewart and Dick Helstrom as the only undefeated team of the tournament.

Rating Superior ranks in individual events were: John Stewart in Oratory and Interp; Merle Overland in Extemp and Impromptu; Dick Finch in Oratory; and Gordon Gray in Extemp. Also attending the tournament were Joan Maier, Norma Dayhuff, Jan Dyer, Ruth Pettet, Stan Trom, Dick Helstrom, Larry Hitterdale and Ron Swift.

WHERE IS ONE of the Nordics? He's missing here, but they'll all be together for "Knightbeat" tonight at 8:00 p.m. in Chris Knutzen Mall.

'J.B.', Fall Play, Opens Run December 1, on CMS Stage

Two weeks from tonight the curtain will rise on the fall all-school play, "J.B.", by Archibald MacLeish. The Pulitzer Prize-winning play was first presented in 1958 at Yale University and has since had great success. For an American play, "J.B." has had an exceptional success in Europe.

"J.B." is concerned with the age-old conflict that faced Job in the Old Testament — why does man suffer? This question becomes the main theme and is asked powerfully and searchingly throughout the play. This universal question is set in the contemporary setting of a circus tent, which serves to emphasize the timeless conflict, presented in today's world with modern calamities, setting and characters.

The play, which will run December 1, 2 and 3, is under the direction of Stanley D. Elbertson, drama director of the Department of Speech. Mr. Elbertson graduated from PLU in 1951, to return in 1953 as a faculty member. From 1953 to 1957 he directed such plays as the "Crucible," "Curious Savage" and "Physician in Spite of Himself" on the PLU stage. Elbertson returned again last year, and directed "Little Foxes" and "The Heiress." His graduate work was done in acting and direction at Stanford University and the University of Utah. In addition, he has worked extensively with the Tacoma Little Theatre and the Lakewood Players, again both in the areas of acting and directing. In discussing "J.B.," Elbertson suggested that to fully grasp the significance of the play, it would be best to read the book of Job before seeing the performance. He continued by emphasizing, "This play is tremendously powerful. In addition, the theme is very provocative and should stir up some controversial reactions."

Appearing in the lead role of "J.B." is John Stewart, a junior transfer student. Opposite him in the part of Sarah, J.B.'s wife, is Helen Hall. It is interesting that in the four main roles, three of the actors are freshmen and the fourth is a transfer. Also in the cast is John Odegard.

Junior Class Presents Local Talent In Program of Contemporary Music

"Knight Beat," featuring the best in contemporary music, mood music, Dixieland, ballads, and jazz, will be presented by the Junior Class tonight in the Chris Knutzen Fellowship Hall at 8:00 o'clock.

Talent from around the area will be featured, including Judy Peterson, singing "Fever"; Julie Dodds, who will do her version of "St. Louis Woman" and "Basin Street Blues"; the Nordics, an on-campus group, singing "I've Had It!" The fourth group on the list is a Dixieland band under the direction of Bill Koll. Beth Petersen from UPS, Bob Roberts, and "Southwind," King Dexter, a jazz pianist, and many more, including Dick Atkins, Ron Hammon, Phil Yokers, Don Gross, and Jerry Poppin, will perform.

Mike McIntyre is general chairman, and Marge Wilson is co-ordinate chairman. Susie Schock and LaVonne Erdahl are in charge of publicity. Judy Perry and Gwen Goldenman are co-chairman of the talent. Carol Mani is ticket chairman, Jo Ann Threewit and Tony Reynolds are in charge of the stage, Ray Ho and Ann Schnackenberg are in charge of the set design, and Gary Peterson is in charge of the seating.

"You won't want to miss "Knight Beat," said Mike, when asked about the festive affair. Tickets will be 50 cents, and will be sold at the door.

Lucia Bride Festival Opens Christmas Season

The Christmas season officially opens on the PLU Campus with the traditional Lucia Bride Festival. This program is sponsored each year by the Spurs. It is a re-enactment of the Scandinavian legend of a young girl who becomes immortal because of the good works she had performed.

Every campus club and organization is eligible to put up a candidate for Lucia Bride. Voting will be held by the entire student body. This year, the festival will be held on December 8.

The coronation ceremony will be held at the CMS, and afterwards the Lucia Bride shall lead the campus Christmas tree where she will turn on the lights. Then, everyone will go to CB-200, where Swedish refreshments will be served and carols will be sung, as a fitting climax for the festive evening.

Luther College Gym Burns

Our "sister college," Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, lost their gymnasium earlier this month when an explosion aided by heavy winds caused a fire which burned it to the ground. It apparently started in the band-room, back of the stage, spread into the stage and curtains, and on into the gymnasium.

Two boys who were in the gym playing basketball when the fire began, climbed to safety through the windows. Another student was in the broadcasting studio, but was able to escape from the fire.

AAUP will meet in the Faculty Lounge tonight at 8:00.

"High Society" will be presented as the campus movie from 7:00 to 12:00 in the Jacob Samuelson chapel tonight.

Co-Rec will be held in the gymnasium from 7:30 to 9:30 tonight.

The western branch of the Washington State League of Nursing will meet in West Hall Lounge today from 1:00-5:00. The purpose of this League is to meet the nursing needs of the people, and representatives are expected from all over Western Washington.

Mid-Semester is tomorrow, November 18.

LSA will meet at 6:00 Sunday in Chris Knutzen Fellowship Hall No. 3.

All those interested in "An Experiment in International Living" meet at 7:00 Monday, November 20, in the North Hall Lounge. For further information call Margie Quick, Ext. 264.

Toastmasters will meet Tuesday, November 21, in Chris Knutzen Fellowship Hall No. 2.

The Lions Society will present a Christmas banquet, December 6.

A Culture Series will be held at 8:15 in the North Hall Lounge, November 29, and a second one in the West Hall Lounge at the same time December 6.

Don't forget to go see the Harlem Clowns play Denay "Clown" Ross, and the All-Star PLU Alumni tomorrow night in the gymnasium at 8:00. Adults $1.50, students $1.00, and children under 12, $.50.

Student Recital will be given at 8:00 in the Jacob Samuelson Chapel, Sunday, November 19.

The registrar requests that all seniors turn in applications for graduation to the university business office at once.

One Day Shot in the Dark?

Thanksgiving is here again and once more we pause for a few brief moments to give thanks for all we've received this past year, and then forget about it for another twelve months. Some of us may even be so grateful that we will attend church Thursday, so we can be reminded of all our blessings and offer up a few words of prayer. Well, isn't this all very nice?

Admittedly some of us may hold lofty and heartfelt feelings of thanks—thank heavens it's Thanksgiving vacation and there's no school until Monday, or thanks that mid-semester is over and I won't have to cram again until finals, or TGIF, or for the more acute individual, who can project somewhat into the future, thanks in advance for Christmas because we get an even longer vacation then. Is this all Thanksgiving has come to mean to you—a vacation from school?

I realize that we've been stuffed with the story of the early settlers and the first Thanksgiving and all our many blessings until the holiday is more of a habit to observe, with turkey and all the trimmings, than anything else. But this time make it mean something—give it the place it deserves as a symbol of the thanks we should feel every day of our lives. For that's what true Thanksgiving is—a constant awareness and sense of gratitude for what life has given us. — Ann Haggart, editor.

Winning The Peace Is A Lonely Battle

The weeks and months are hurrying by and mid-terms are now here. It seems like it was such a short time ago that we began this year and already much has taken place. It is important for all of us to take a moment to reflect upon the events of the past nine weeks and do some intelligent thinking about the remaining time in this semester and in this school year. Many of us will look at our mid-term grades and vow to do better at finals. But we won't. Why? Because final grades are the result of an entire semester's work and not a night's cramming. By beginning now, you can be ready for finals when they come; this you must decide to do now.

But serious thinking is needed in other areas as well. I have frankly been a little frightened about one particular thing—the spiritual tone on campus this year. Oh, it seems to be okay on the surface, but I wonder how long it has been since each one of us really prayerfully studied our spiritual life. Maybe if we desire a lot of changes on the campus, it is our own lives that need the change, not the campus. Forgive me if my pre-semester orientation slips out here, but I think this is an area that needs a very great deal of attention. Please consider it.

The Student Council is about to begin the actual work of rewriting the constitution and we would ask you to offer any suggestions you might have to help us as we set up what we hope will be a realistic, workable student government. There is so much that can be done with student government for you, the students, but you must be willing to pay the price of being interested. If you stand by and say nothing while it is being drafted and then complain because it's wrong, you have no one to complain to except yourself. So please, we want to hear from you NOW. We are going to outline our broad plans and purposes for the new system of KNIGHTIME this coming Monday so you can get an opportunity to look at what we have in mind and see how you can help us improve it.

I have rambled on about several seemingly unrelated items this week but I want you to seriously consider them from your own viewpoint. I neither expect nor necessarily wish to have you agree with me in what I say in this column, but I do want and expect you to think about every area of your university life here at PLU in relation to what it means to you and in relation to the Lord of the church whose servants we must be. I think that you will be pleasantly surprised at the results we can get by openly discussing our differences of opinion.

BEFORE TEST! Don Selman was really "hitting the books," but afterwards it's all he can do to keep from collapsing.

had a one-man conference about your future lately?

You: Why the gold bars?

Future You:

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet. If we don't...

You:

All right. But what can I do for the Air Force?

Future You:

The Air Force needs college trained men and women as officers. This is caused by the rapidly advancing technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs.

You:

Say I was interested... how can I get to be an officer?

Future You:

You know about Air Force ROTC and the Air Force Academy. Then there's the navigator training program. You've probably heard about Officer Training School... where the Air Force takes certain college graduates, both men and women, and commissions them after three months of training.

You:

Future salary is important. What about that?

Future You:

Add it up. Base pay, tax-free allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay. You don't have to be an ace major to see it add up to an attractive package.

You:

I've been thinking about getting my Master's.

Future You:

As an officer you can apply for the Air Force Institute of Technology. At no cost, and while on active duty some officers may even win their Ph.D. degrees.

You:

Tell me more.

That's the job of your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC110, Box 7603, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

Harlem Clowns Meet All-Stars Tomorrow

CLINT ROBERTS (juggling) and Bob Woods (battling) join up for some simulated baseball in one of the Harlem Clowns routines. In the background another Clown plays umpire. The fabulous court comedians will be in town with their fun show on November 18 in the PLU gymnasium.

Grid Finale Against UPS

The Pacific Lutheran Knights will be finishing out the grid season against their arch-rivals, the University of Puget Sound Loggers, Saturday at Lincoln Bowl. The Lutes and Loggers will both be out to prove who is the better team after a 13-13 tie in an earlier entanglement this season.

UPS tasted victory last weekend when they downed Western to the tune of 14-6. Quarterback Jerry Huxsey passed to Gary Gregg and Les Ross for the two tallies. Other backs to watch tomorrow are Harley Somers and Don Stewart. The solid Logger line will be anchored by Dick Campbell and Ralph Ferguson.

Coach John Heinrich will be out to achieve his 20th victory as a grid-iron boss. UPS will be both on the ground and in the air, as they try to stop PLU's aerial attack.

The Knights should be up for the game even though solidly defeated by the Whitworth machine last week. Those who will be seeing action for the last time are Doug McClary, John Mades, Dave Bottmiller, John Hanson, Bill Bates, Gary Vestal and Jack Cocchi.

Pirates Blast Knights 45-0

The Lutes were outclassed by the "one play all the way" Whitworth Pirates last Saturday. The Pirates scored on their first play from scrimmage with a 69-yard pass fired by Dennis Spurlock to John Murio. Three other passes, two runs, and an interception went all the way, as Whitworth accumulated a 45-0 victory.

Statistics coincided with the score; the Pirates totaled 462 yards in offense to the Knights' 60. Doug McClary connected for ten passes out of 25 attempts. He still leads the Evergreen Conference passers, and is "pudding" his own record for PLU quarterbacks.

SPLINTERS FROM THE BENCH

Coach Gabrielsen will soon be forced into hiring a knee doctor for his team. This season Bill White, George Vigland, Doug McClary, Marv Soell, John Hanson, Gary Vestal, and Ed Beaman have all been plagued with knee injuries. . . For one of the best classic basketball games in the school's history, don't miss the Harlem Clowns when they play Denny Ross and his All-Stars tomorrow night. . . Playing their last game for PLU tomorrow will be Doug McClary, John Mades, Bill Bates, Gary Vestal, John Hanson, Dave Bottmiller, and Jack Cocchi. I am sure the entire student body appreciates the service of these young men as they have done their best to bring honor to our school. . . Denny Langston, a freshman from Montana, will be the only football player out for varsity basketball this year. Denny was on both basketball and football all state teams in Montana. . . PLU improved some 22 points the second time they met Whitworth, but was not quite enough. . . Tomorrow's game with UPS will decide the winner of the totem pole. The team that wins the totem pole often considers its season a success no matter what its season record may be. . . George McCune, member of last year's golf team, recently won a putting tournament at the College golf course. . . When does Mr. Salzman find time to rest? Salzman is assistant football and basketball coach, head track coach, athletic director, intramural director, as well as full time instructor. I would like to know someone who has more duties than this. . . Dave Bottmiller only needs one more pass reception to break a school record—good luck, Dave! . . . Personal Opinion Department: "It seems logical to me that an average boy eats much more than the average girl. If this is true, why don't they serve the food accordingly?" (Many others hold this same view). — Mike Macdonald.

Lutheran Defensive Back Plays Final Game Tomorrow

California has been an excellent source of supply for Pacific Lutheran football talent in past years, and this year is no exception to that rule. One of the best examples of the above statement is Jack Cocchi, senior from San Carlos, California.

Jack, who played baseball and basketball during his high school days at Carlmont High in San Carlos, had not played tackle football in his life before enrolling at San Mateo Junior College. However, during his first year there, he alternated starting roles with San Mateo's eventual All-League quarterback, and was finally beat out only during the final three games of the season. While at San Mateo, Jack cut basketball out of his varsity sports program, and concentrated on football and baseball. He is, by the way, one of the best pitchers in the Evergreen Conference, and promises to improve further this year.

After transferring to Pacific Lutheran for his junior and senior years, Jack has backed up starting quarterback Doug McClary, and played an important role in the Lutes' defense as defensive halfback. He has also done some punting chores for the Knights, and has even played at offensive halfback for the purpose of using the double pass situation. His football pitching has greatly improved the stature of the Lutes' baseball team, and was a big factor in the series with Seattle University last year.

Jack is majoring in business administration, and plans to go into business somewhere in the San Francisco area after graduation. May great success and good fortune follow him, and knowing him, they will.

The Intramural Scene

This past week found two days of torrential rain which made play practically impossible. Delta and Third Floor fought to a 6-6 tie under these conditions. Jim Skurdall passed to Ed Davis for Third's lone touchdown, while Jerry Curtis threw to Karl Albrecht for Delta's six points.

Second and Fourth Floors also waded through the PLU sea as Second, led by Vic Sedo, won 18-0. Vic ran for two TDs and passed to Dale Thompson for the final tally. Western sneaked past Delta 24-18 as Ron Hanna sparked the Western team. Jack Meyers, Al Bloomquist and Larry Flammoe also were vital in the defeat. Jerry Curtis and George Lechner were the scoring threats for Delta as they scored all 18 points.

Third trounced Second Floor 60-0. The main offensive players for Third were Denny Gudal, who scored four touchdowns, and Jim Skurdall, who threw four TD passes.

Basement defeated Western 12-0 in a game which was highlighted by a pass completion to Duane Meske. Five players jumped for the ball but Duane ended up with it as he has done many times this year.

The game of the week was definitely Evergreen's victory over Basement. Gary Olson and Bill Peterson continued to fight for the lead in the total passes for TDs. Both completed three which gave Bill a total of 43 to Gary's 42. The best play of the game was Gary's pass to Bill Kuder who then ran 35 yards for an Evergreen touchdown.

Intramural basketball practice starts this Thursday evening and continues through the 28th of the month. By this time all team rosters should be in. The leagues will be set up and play will start the 30th. To be eligible to play, ALL players MUST attend an officials' meeting of which there will be several during the practice schedule. Please check all the league rules as written by Mr. Salzman.

OPEN WIDE and SAY A-H-H-H!
Get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Pacific Coca-Cola Bottling Company Tacoma, Washington

Dear Editor:

I would like to submit this selection for publication in the Mooring Mast. This is in the form of a challenge to the type of paper the Mooring Mast represents.

The "nice" People — the "nice" person lives in dualism, being something and nothing at the same time. The profundity of their verbosity is small enough so as to defy analysis or measurement. Here is the classic description of a "nice" girl: "Well . . . she gets along real good with the other girls." Which is best, to spend un-needed time with these people, or to read a book of your choosing?

The religious people — Most of the so-called religious people have a huge headache all the time. This headache is caused by a little man with a hammer. The religious person believes this little man to be self-made, yet a self-made man is usually made by unskilled labor. The little man's name is the conscience. The conscience stands upon the head and hammers all doubts and questions into the sub-conscious. Blind acceptance is one name for this type of headache. A sharp rap with a hammer is the treatment.

The agnostic people — Agnostic people can think on their feet while their minds wander in all four directions. The four directors eventually form a circle, a vicious circle, a meaningless circle. The agnostic attempts to cling to this circle, which is as useless as trying to make the hand grasp itself, or having a bald man worry about dandruff rather than ulcers. Their basic philosophy of life may be summed up as: "What is in it for me?" or "Why should I?"

The atheistic people — These people form the group known as the black plague of the religious people. They seek to demolish religious beliefs as an atom bomb would demolish a bag. In the atheistic people we find aspirations for meaning so great that they are often driven to the brink of insanity.

All of these people exhibit variety to the fullest extent. Variety is often said to be the spice of life. I say this type of variety is the handmaid of Hell!

The "real" people — Finally, we have the "real" people, the people who can't truly be classified. These people have a mind and spirit which cannot be explored by words. Maybe each person is a "real" person, more or less, but classification permits a mountainous blinding of the "real" person.

How nice to be in a classified rut so deep that we can climb to the edge only a few times during our earthly sojourn! Who can give you this boost to the edge of the rut?

Any "real" person you talk freely with; thus any person when you throw off the chains of classification and classify yourself honestly.

Council Discusses Political Emphasis

Bob Zimmerman attended this week's ASPLU Student Council meeting to discuss the political emphasis on this campus. He stressed that some kind of co-ordinator is needed for political affairs, such as a series of speakers, professor exchange and other programs of interest.

Dan Erlander announced that Governor Rosellini has consented to be the speaker at a Student Body Chapel program some time in the future, but a definite date has not yet been set.

The ECSA Convention will be held tomorrow beginning at 9:00 a.m. and running until 7:00 p.m., ending with a banquet at the "Branding Iron." Those attending will have a general session, attend the PLU-UPS football game, tour the TV center, and discussion groups. Charles Mays stated that Eastern has dropped from the ECSA because it has joined the National Students Association.

Gordon Slethaug, from the student congregation, came to talk to the council concerning Luther League Day. In the past Luther Leaguers from all over Washington have come on campus for just one day. Gordon proposed that from now on it be a week-end affair with only high school juniors and seniors attending. He also suggested that this be an affair handled by both the Student Council and Student Congregation, with co-chairmen from each group. It was decided to send a representative to the Deacons meeting last night and then discuss the project at future meetings.

The adoption of a policy concerning the use of the CUB pa system was brought up and tabled until next meeting. Meeting was adjourned until Monday.

"I Have My Bags Packed"

The white-haired man paused a moment as he looked out over the student body. Then he said quietly, "In your bags, young people, take from college a reverence for truth, an appreciation for freedom, and a purpose in life. Shall we pray . . ."

Reverend J. C. K. Preus, who will be eighty years old the 5th of December, smiled as he said he had been born in Columbia County, Wisconsin, in 1881, for

"that's so long ago I can hardly remember!" Growing up as the son of a Lutheran minister, he had the benefit of a Christian family—"a wonderful mother and an exceptional father"—who influenced him to attend Luther College in Decorah, Iowa. Graduating with a class of eighteen in 1902, he was intent upon becoming a Christian educator. His father, however, suggested he attend theological seminary for a year to obtain a more complete background in religious instruction. This he did, but the one year soon became three, concluding in his ordination as a minister.

Reverend Preus served as a pastor for twenty-five years. During this time he married and had three children, Linka, Jean, and Rolf. Today, Linka (Mrs. Johnson) is Registrar here at PLU. On the door leading to her office is a small plaque with these words: "In Memory of Rolf Brandt Preus, 1916-1959." Rolf, who attended PLU when it was but a three-year college, passed away two years ago.

In his twenty-fifth year of ministry, he was called to be the executive secretary to the Board of College Education of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. He retired several years ago from this important position.

Reverend Preus now lives in Minneapolis with his wife. She would have come with him on the trip, since she received an Honorary Doctorate from PLU, but she hesitated about flying this distance.

Reverend Preus left PLU after Chapel. As he stood in the lobby waiting for his ride to the depot, he glanced down at the suitcases by his side. Then this fine man looked up and said with a twinkle in his eye, "You see, I have my bags all packed."

PLU Band Tours

The PLU Concert Band will be taking its annual tour during the Thanksgiving vacation this year. They are leaving on Sunday, November 19, and will travel across Washington, stopping to play for several cities along the way. Thanksgiving Day will find them at Nez Perce, Idaho, and then will continue on to Bend, Oregon.

They will travel across the state of Oregon and give their last concert in Silverton on Sunday, Nov. 26. They will be back on campus by Sunday evening.

Thanksgiving Psalm of Praise

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands.

Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing.

Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

Enter into his gates with thanksgiving and into his courts with praise: Be thankful unto him, and bless his name.

For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations.

Tassels Hold Semi-Annual Tea

Semi-annually, Tassels hold an Honor Tea at which they honor all women with a 3.00 minimum for the preceding semester. At the fall tea, freshmen women with "honors at entrance" are invited. This fall the tea is being held on November 19 in the North Hall Lounge. The tea will last for about an hour, beginning at four o'clock. Martha Stoa, chairman of the tea, has announced that Jay Tronsdale, a PLU alumnus, will present an illustrated lecture on some of his oil paintings. There will be a few musical selections, and refreshments will be served.

Tassels is a senior women's honorary, the members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, and cultural and social contributions to school life; a minimum gpa of 3.00 is required. They seek to promote participation in cultural activities.

The members of Tassels serve at the receptions following the Artist Series throughout the year. They also engage in several money-making projects in order to raise money for a scholarship to be awarded to an incoming Tassel at the Awards Program in May. Every Saturday, one Tassel and one Spur help Dr. Arlton with his house work and shopping. This year's group includes 11 members; their officers are president, Marilyn Paulsen, vice-president, Edith Wollin; secretary, Dixie Likkel; and treasurer, Singhild Johnson.

BUMBERSHOOT, BUMBERSHOOT, where is my bumbershoot? Dick Carr seems a bit bewildered as he searches for his missing umbrella in this gaily-colored mound left in the CUB.
