The president is on a visit to the churches in the West, the last stops having been at Seattle and Tacoma. His visit to Parkland was especially in the interest of the school.

The church was well filled Monday morning, many people from Parkland and several from Tacoma being in attendance. Rev. O. J. (Continued on Page Four)

P. L. C. WINS FROM FROSH OF C. P. S.

One of the Most Exciting Games of the Season Played to a Close Score

Playing their best and fastest game of the season, the Pacific Lutheran College 1st quintet defeated the C. P. S. Frosh, Friday, January 29, 1926 in the P. L. C. gym by a score of 17 to 16.

The game was very hard fought throughout. In the first half the Freshmen had the edge over the Lutherans and were ahead at the end of the period 11 to 6. The second half the Lutherans came back with 11 points to 5. The score was 16 to 16 up to a few minutes before the final whistle, when Ruddy Sanderson scored a free shot which gave the Lutherans a one point lead.

The playing of S. Glasco, who has been reinstated to his former berth on the team, strengthened the P. L. C. squad. The entire team worked very hard puttrug up to the best passing game of the season. Coach Ed Arthur expresses the opinion that his team is "on to themselves" and will be formidable opponents the remainder of the season. Rooters turned out in full force.

THREE SPEAKERS ADDRESS MISSION SOCIETY FEB. 3

An inspiring program was given by the P. L. C. Mission Society on the evening of February 3, at the college chapel room.

The meeting was opened with scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Svare. Peder Sognestad was first speaker of the evening and his talk centered about a plea for better financial support of church work. He quoted statistics showing just how the American dollar is spent. "Twenty-five per cent of each dollar," said the speaker, "is used for living expenses. Twenty-two per cent goes for luxuries—gum, cigars and such things. But for church work, only three-fourths per cent is given. With this comparatively insignificant three-fourth of a per cent, all our schools, churches and mission work must be carried on."

Arvi Oyen followed with a talk on prayer. "There are," Mr. Oyen stated, "two kinds of prayer, petition and thanksgiving. Of these we generally consider only the first." The Lord's Prayer was pointed out as the perfect prayer, as a pattern for all prayer.

Miss Parr then spoke at length on the topic, "The Need of the World's and You and I." Service was shown to be a great God-given privilege. "But," it is even more, said Miss Parr, "it is a responsibility, for God has left it to mankind to spread his gospel to those that have not heard." A plea was made for greater service.

The following number on the program was a vocal duet by Nina Elde and Betty Stephenson, accompanied at the piano by Leola Hagen.

Several mission hymns were sung by the audience, and after prayer, the meeting adjourned.

DEBATE TEAMS ARE SELECTED

Many High School Students Compete for Places on Team

Tryouts for the High School debating team were held at Pacific Lutheran College at the regular meeting of the Debating Society on Friday evening, February 5.

Requirements for the tryout consisted of a five minute argumentative speech on either side of the question for intercollegiate debate. "Resolved that the Constitution of the United States be so amended as to empower Congress to restrain, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under fifteen years of age."

The high school department was represented at the first tryout by a large number of contestants, and from this number, Prof. Ph. E. Hauge, debate coach, selected two teams—affirmative and negative—three speakers to each side. The speakers were judged on the basis of argumentative powers, speaking ability and ability to select important details. Those who will compose the high school debating team are: Peder Sognestad, Peter Grambo, Lillian Lee, Edna Brotnow, Harry Samuelsen and Irene Dahl. Alternates: Iver Dahl and Margaret Jacobson.

These students are all inexperienced in matters of debate—having never taken part in interscholastic activities of this kind, with the exception of Peder Sognestad who served as substitute on last year's team. However all are active members of the Debating Society.

The individual places on the teams have not been designated as yet, and will not be selected until all members have studied both sides of the question.

Girls Basketball Shooters Invade the North and Play Fast and Close Games

The Pacific Lutheran College girls' first team left Feb. 5, 1926, for a basketball ball trip to Sedro Woolley, Burlington, and surrounding country. They played Sedro Woolley Feb. 5, Burlington Feb. 6, and two other games are to be played which have not been definitely scheduled.

The party, accompanied by Rev. Ramstad, girls' coach, President O. J. Ordal, and Mrs. L. B. Kriedler, preceptress, left Friday morning amid the cheers of the students who were all out to bid them a successful and enjoyable trip.

The team was given lunch Friday by Rev. George Lane of Stanwood and the party from there continued on to Sedro Woolley for the first game.

In the game, the girls met defeat. They played hard, but due to the long exhaustive trip were unable to curb the victory of Sedro Woolley. The score was 24-20.

LITERARY SOCIETY GIVES PROGRAM

Comic numbers featured the Dramatic Society program on Friday evening, January 29. A one act comedy "Eli" depicting the trials of courtship days was acted by Nina Kida, John Weise, and John Sten. Irene Dahl and Bertha Olson dressed as little girls and acted rhymes from "Story Book Land." "Hunting a Mouse," a reading showing the stir and uproar a mouse may create, was given by Ruth Fadness, followed by a humorous monologue "Els Wedding Morn" by Alford Anderson. Two piano solos by Professor

MUSICAL COMEDY TO BE PRESENTED

The P. L. C. chorus, under the direction of Professor J. O. Edwards has selected, as the operetta to be presented this year "The American Girl." The operetta, a musical comedy in two acts, concerns itself with an American girl who, while traveling in Europe, enters by mistake an exclusive girls' school. Here she is mistaken for another girl, and being full of fun and loving adventure she plays up to the part. The amusing story deals with the many humorous complications that arise from this situation.

The chorus has begun regular practice on the songs, which are of two and three parts. The cast of characters has not been selected yet, but final tryouts are to be held at an early date, so individual learning of parts can be begun. Much interest is being shown by all members of the chorus and they, as well as students of the voice department are preparing for the final selection.

Edwards were well received. Following the program a short business meeting was held.

COUNTY P. T. A. HOLDS MEET IN P. L. C. GYM

The Parent Teachers Association of Pierce County, a unit of the state P. T. A. held its quarterly meeting at Parkland on Thursday, January 28th.

The business meeting, held in the college gym began in the morning and was taken up with reports of work done in the various organizations of the county. Most of the work reported was concerning the gathering of funds by means of programs, plays, teas and socials for the installments of necessities and conveniences in the various schools, such as, hot lunch, play-ground equipment, stage curtains, school kitchens and supplies. The meeting adjourned at noon, at which time pictures of the delegation were taken by photographer Read of Tacoma.

The delegates repaired to the basement of the Trinity Lutheran Church where the ladies of the Trinity Aid entertained the parents and teachers at a banquet. A feature of the banquet was the music furnished by an instrumental quartet from the college composed of Prof. Edwards, Signe Hjermetad, Marguerite Folco and G. A. Pollet. The first part of the afternoon session was taken up with the rest of the local P. T. A. reports. Then Senator Davis of the College of Puget Sound, was introduced to the gathering as the speaker for the afternoon. The topic of his speech was "The bills pertaining to education, introduced into the legislature."

At the conclusion of his talk the meeting was adjourned. The delegates upon leaving were met at the door by several college students who distributed catalogues, normal bulletins and copies of the Morning Mast in order to make all acquainted with the college, its curriculum and activities.

P. L. C. RESPONDS TO CHEST DRIVE

Mrs. Kreidler Heads Drive; the Work Has Shown Much and Fast Progress

Pacific Lutheran College has willingly responded to a call to help in the Community Chest Campaign. Mrs. Kreidler is heading the work at the college, being assisted by Mrs. Ramstad. At a student body meeting a plan for raising funds was discussed. It was decided to have a contest between the girls and boys. The drive began the 8th and closes the 16th. The educational division of the campaign plans to have their quota gathered on the opening day.

The pamphlet sent out by the teaching staff points out that the Community Chest is not conducting a money raising campaign in the schools. All donations are strictly voluntary and the aim is educational. The drive is brought into our college to give the students a concrete experience in social philanthropic work and to teach an important lesson in civic duties and obligations.

The object of the Community Chest is to give unified, systematized aid to those who need it. By cooperating, the twenty-eight charities benefited by the fund are able to eliminate the expense which separate drives would entail; plans for the coming year can be drawn up; and duplication of effort is prevented. Furthermore, the Chest builds community spirit by dealing with people as neighbors rather than as members of various creeds or classes.

During the year 1925 the Community Chest performed many valuable services. Chief among these were:

- 1467 free operations to children.
- 272 neglected children were cared for.
- 1088 families were given material relief.
- 2257 ex-service men and families assisted.
- 2093 babies were helped at the Child Welfare Clinic.

San Diego State College has launched an organization of College Boosters to advertise the growing manpower of San Diego State College and to acquaint the people with their college. The Boosters Club will hold banquets and invite prominent business men, local civic leaders and college members, thus bringing about a closer relationship among the college students and prominent men.

NOTICE!
Reunion postponed until graduation week in May. Look for date later.

LOYALTY

What is loyalty? According to the best definition I can find loyalty is the willing, practical and thorough-going devotion of a person to a cause. A man is loyal when, first, he has some cause to which he is loyal; when, secondly, he willingly and thoroughly devotes himself to this cause; and when, thirdly, he expresses his devotion in some practical way.

There are many kinds and degrees of loyalty: There is the devotion of a patriot to his country; the devotion of a martyr to his religion; the employees enthusiastic devotion to his firm; and the boastful devotion of a student to his school.

The world always rewards the man who is loyal. To better illustrate my point I'll take a couple examples from real life. A certain young man was asked by his master to work Sundays. It was necessary to do so, his employer said, in order to get through with their excess work. The young man declined to work on Sunday, because it was against his religion. On account of his belief he was dismissed and was forced to walk the street to seek employment somewhere else. His dependent mother became sick at this time and starvation was facing him. As his money was gone and he had almost given up all hope the bank president of the town came and offered him a position as cashier of his bank. The young man was of course thankful for the opportunity to go to work but said he had no experience as a cashier. The bank president then answered that he was just the man to fill that position, honesty and loyalty are the chief characteristics he wanted his employees to possess. After the young man had taken the position he found out through indirect channels that in a conversation between the bank president and his former employer the latter had spoken about this young man that he was forced to dismiss him. On his way home the bank president was thinking about this young man and came to the conclusion that this young man was just the one he needed to fill the vacant cashier's position.

In order that a student may derive the most benefit from his school days it is very essential that he should be loyal to his institution; and not be will find school work a drudgery, rules arbitrary, and will make the school life miserable for himself and his fellow students. History shows that the strength of a nation depends upon the loyalty of its people. So also with a school, it needs enthusiastic and loyal students. Many pupils are loyal when it comes to big things but fail to show loyalty in small things. A loyal student tries as far as possible to live up to the adopted rules, and never does anything to injure the good name of his school, even though to do so may appear to be to his disadvantage. There is a good proverb which says: if you cannot say anything good about a person it is better not to say anything at all. Boost, tell the people about the good things you meet in your school life. The school is just what you make it. It should be the best period of your life, and it is up to each individual student to do his share in building up a good and wholesome school spirit. It means a great deal to the school to have a loyal student body and it means a great deal to the student that he be loyal.—P. S.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

We are now approaching the birthday of one of the world's greatest men, Abraham Lincoln. A man who through an untiring effort to rise in the world and to set right in the eyes of man and of God that moral and political evil, slavery, rose to the Presidency of the United States in the most trying and critical period that any nation can enter—the period of internal strife.

Abraham Lincoln believed in God, in His power over worldly affairs; to Him he made his report; from Him he took his council; he gave thanks to Him. Through faith God came to him and gave him cheer in his dark moments, gave him strength in moments of despair, and gave him victory.

Verily, Lincoln had many sterling virtues—qualities that we would do well to strive for—perseverance, honesty and justice. But it was his faith in God that was the greatest factor in his life—and, this same faith we should seek.—A. A.

THE TALE OF A TAIL

A tinge of that ante-deluvian instinct mingled with the ever-lasting state of adolescence led a bunch of young college chumps into something they couldn't finish. The story is simple and somewhat pathetic. It consists of a race. A one man race, or rather, a one dog race. With the above mentioned petardious desire, "Crackers," the college tramp was unwarily abducted. A piece of string and a good sized can were also asked. The race was easy enough to start but the finish—? Crackers set the lead by about three feet and managed to maintain it to the end. Faster and faster went the dog but the can followed him like a shadow. He turned and jumped, cut corners and pivoted for fifteen minutes. Where was the end of the race? The runner had traveled miles, still no goal was in sight. He must keep on to the last for suppose that thing should ever catch up with him. To make a long (tail) short, (some one could have stepped on the tin can when the streak of yellow was passing), the first place was awarded to "Crackers," who, at the end dragged himself into his box exhausted. His opponent still "dogged" him, so to speak, but was apparently worn to a frazzle and lay just outside the box. (And—the boys went tripping merrily to their classes).—E. A.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

ESSENTIAL TO GENERAL

"It is impossible to divorce religious education from general education for instruction in the history and development of the human race includes study of the total values of the experience of all mankind, which in itself includes religion," said Dr. Charles P. Wiles, of Philadelphia, Pa., addressing the Community Institute on Religious Education, held late in September in Rochester, N. Y.

"We must apply the best methods which civilization of today has developed to the cause of religious education, and for this we must borrow from the public schools," he continued. "We have no business to send our boys and girls out into life, strong in body and mind but weak in religion. It is necessary for the church to open its eyes to the truth that everything depends upon the two primary institutions—the church and the home, which hold joint responsibility for making this civilization Christian.

The inventions of modern science are to be feared if put into the hands of man who know not God, but I have no fear of our scientific achievements so long as they are not dedicated to the lust of power and conquest. Just so, I have no fear of education so long as we can keep the spirit of Christ within it. I believe that the day is coming when every boy and girl in this land will have the privilege under most favorable circumstances of learning the love of God and Christ.—The Big Inkwell.

DEBATE SOCIETY CHOOSES A PIN

Committee Appointed to Specify Requirements Has Given Report to Society

The P. L. C. Debating Society has chosen a pin for the members who attain certain distinctions in debating. A committee for choosing a pin and specifying qualifications was appointed and the Society unanimously accepted their submissions. The pin is of sterling silver on which is engraved an open book and burning lamp, signifying the lamp of learning.

Members of the Debating Society who take part in various events receive a certain number of points such as:

- Members of a winning team in a debate each get 6 points.
- Member of a losing team in a debate each get 3 points.
- Trying out for a debate, 2 points.
- Extemporaneous speech, 1 point.
- Eight points qualifies a member for a pin.
- Twenty points qualifies a member for the "Degree of Honor."
- Thirty-five points qualifies a member for the "Degree of Excellence."
- Fifty points qualifies a member for the "Degree of Distinction."

In order to earn the "Degree of Excellence" and "Degree of Distinction" several years of active membership in the Debating Society is necessary. Therefore one who wishes to attain one of these goals must start early, while in High School, and work faithfully and diligently, throughout the years of schooling at P. L. C.

Few of us can escape the punishment of poverty unless we work hard in our early days and spend less than we earn.

BOYS' SECOND TEAM LOSES

Pacific Lutheran College 2nd team lost to American Lake in a game played at American Lake gym, Sat., Jan. 30, 1926, by a score of 15 to 9.

Undoubtedly the cause for the defeat was the lowness of the ceiling in the gymnasium. The boys could not get the accustomed loop on the ball in shooting.

Church Program Given by P. L. C.

Prof. Ph. E. Hauge is Principal Speaker on the Subject of Church Schools

The church school was the theme of an evening's program given at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Tacoma. Rev. Floren's charge, on Sunday, January 31. The program was given by members of the faculty and student-body of Pacific Lutheran College.

Professor Ph. E. Hauge was principal speaker for the evening, charging as his topic "Building Tomorrow's Church." He stressed the importance of building a strong foundation for the church of tomorrow, by building the characters of the youth of today. "God's Word, is our great heritage, we know," said the speaker, "but are we just as sure that it will be ours forever? If we are to insure it's safekeeping for the succeeding generations we must work with the youth." He quoted the church school as the greatest factor we have in building the church, for ninety-nine per cent of pastors and ministers come from church schools.

The Trinity Church Choir, under the direction of Prof. Edwards, sang four sacred anthems.

Miss Ruth Fadness, student of the College department spoke on "Religious and Social Life at P. L. C." She showed how these two phases of college life aid the student in his preparation for life.

The Trinity Ladies Quartet composed of Mrs. Ph. E. Hauge, Miss Solveig Rynning, Mrs. J. U. Xavier and Mrs. J. O. Edwards sang two songs.

Mack: I'm afraid, Ruth, I'll never see you in heaven.
Ruth: Great Scott, what have you been doing now?

CHAPEL TALKS

Prof. Hauge chose "Giving" as told in Luke 21:1-4, as the subject of his chapel address on Tuesday, Feb. 2. "The so-called eleventh commandment is 'love thy neighbor as thyself,'" said the speaker. "The widow obeyed that commandment when she gave her mite—her all—to charity. Few of us are willing to deny ourselves eye of our luxuries in order to help our needy neighbor or our church. To pity distress is nothing more than human, but to relieve it is godlike." A plea was made for giving liberally to the Community Chest, to help carry on the charity work among the needy of the community.

From the story of the Marathon Races, as told in Paul's first epistle of the Corinthians, Chapter 9, Prof. Xavier took his text for a chapel talk on Friday, Feb. 5: The great battle of the Marathon, from which later sprang the well-known Marathon races was described by the speaker. The preparation for the race—the keen rivalry—the endurance necessary—the hardships encountered—and the great honors given the victors. "But we, as Christians," said Prof. Xavier in drawing his conclusions, "are runners in an even greater race. Ours is the great privilege, as runners of Christ to bring the living gospel to the world. We have a long and difficult course. But it is the most glorious of races. Run your race, boys and girls, with endurance and with patience and the reward shall be yours."

A STARTLING CONFESSION
A startling confession was recently made by a student from one of the leading colleges of the country and we quote it as published in the Christian Herald: "Here I am a graduate after four years' study. I majored in philosophy and sociology.

I find that my faith in the Bible teaching has been removed. I do not know what I believe about Jesus Christ. I am not at all sure that there is any such thing as immortality. My teachers, both in philosophy and sociology, bore down heavily on scientific facts. Everything must be proved in order to be believed—that is, proved scientifically. Miracles, they taught me, were a part of the superstition of the times. In short, I am left without any definite belief in Christ, and in doubt as to what are the essential things in religion. And my condition is that of all my classmates, with a few exceptions. We are out of college, and we are also out of our father's and mother's old gospel faith. We do not have theirs and we have none of our own.—Lutheran Church Herald.

The Norse actress, Arna Henri gave a recital of Peer Gynt, Ibsen's master drama at Augustana College. Arna Henri, a Norwegian by birth lived and won her greatest triumphs in England. She has made a life long study of Ibsen's works and portrays his characters slightly—showing great dramatic power and skill.

The impossible is possible when demand lacks. No one knows your assets better than your neighbor. But what's more, he knows your liabilities. Ask him about them some day.

If you are jealous of a person it is the fact that you do not care to let that person become aware of it. That proves jealousy is not an admirable trait and should be avoided as much as possible.

REV. AASGAARD SPEAKS

Ordal presided at the meeting.
Rev. Aasgaard was formerly president of Concordia College, a church school, for fifteen years and the heart to heart manner in which he spoke to the students drew their close attention.

Rev. Aasgaard's remarks were centered about the topic "Build the Foundation Strong." He said that most of us are too economical and in too much of a hurry when we lay this foundation. To succeed one must be willing to work hard. Life after all is pretty hard and youth is the time to build the firm foundation for that which is to come. A Christian school, he pointed out, was the best place to build that much needed foundation because there alone we find the essentials for that foundation.

The following of the ten commandments and daily reading of God's Word was emphasized by the speaker. "After all we are building for the future life. Let Christ be your foundation. He is the luminous figure of the Bible. Christ who dies for you should provoke the greatest loyalty in you. Let us be willing always to say, 'Master, I will follow Thee wherever thou goest.'" were the speaker's concluding words.

Said the friend to the proud father of a college graduate who had just been awarded an A. M. degree. "I suppose Robert will be looking for a Ph. D. next?"
"No, he will be looking for J. O. B."—The Clarion.

The Spokane College orchestra gave a program broadcasted from station KPYY. This was the orchestra's first concert this year and according to reports was very well received. The orchestra is planning to travel and will play in outside towns, and then give their final concert at the College.

DAILY DIARY

Monday, January 25th: Registration Day. Nothing exciting.

Tuesday, Jan. 26th: Half a day of new classes. Hall full of new faces.

Wednesday, Jan. 27th: Still very novel. We hope it doesn't wear off.

Thursday, Jan. 28th: Overheard in the halls: New student, "Where do we get copies of our Mooring Mast?"

Friday, Jan. 29th: Managed to slide through this week on our reputations and good looks with a minimum amount of work.

Monday, Feb. 1st: The new semester is under way. Grim reality has us in her sordid clutch. That portion of our cerebral mechanism ascribed to physical processes, yes, even part of the other hemisphere, were compelled to function today.

Tuesday, Feb. 2nd: We think it snowed!

Wednesday, Feb. 3rd: Sealing wax, the erstwhile Sphinx, is seen with a new pair of shoes.

Thursday, Feb. 4th: If it would only rain a little more we could take an exhilarating morning swim in the lake located immediately in front of the gate.

Friday, Feb. 5th: Professor Xavier forgets his Biology class—almost. He arrives upon the scene 15 minutes late to find his class in beautiful order tranquilly awaiting him—The perfect tribute.
