Need Christmas gift ideas? Try the 26th annual Yule Boutique

From 9 am-5 pm on Nov. 22 in Olson, Puget Sound artists and cooks display their wares at the 26th annual Yule Boutique, a holiday craft show and sale sponsored by the PLU Women's Club. Shuttle buses will be offered from university parking lots to the auditorium and admission is $2, with proceeds funding student scholarships. Volunteers are needed. Call Bonnie, 537-5136.

Dessert Theater: Talkin' About It

Lael Peterson '96 (Wellness Center) will perform "Talkin' About It," a one-person play about stereotyping and labeling, at a dessert theater at 7 pm on Nov. 11 in the CK. Tickets will be available at the Health Services table in the CK during meal hours for $1 or a donation of a meal. CADET (Campus Alcohol and other Drug Education Team), a group that sponsors drug and alcohol awareness events throughout the year, is sponsoring this event. Call the Health Center, 7337.

'The Trip to Bountiful'

At 8 pm on Nov. 19-22 and at 2 pm on Nov. 23 in Eastvold, Alpha Psi Omega presents "The Trip to Bountiful," a play in which a rare amalgam of sorrow and laughter create a tender embroidery of a family whose struggles and aspirations mirror those of our own. Written by Horton Foote, the play is a reminder that the reflections of the past, not the promises of the future, are what hold families together in the present. Student Kevin Lee directs the play. Tickets are $7 general; $4 students/seniors. Call 7762.

Sunset magazine seeks biggest achievements at PLU

Sunset Magazine will celebrate its 100th anniversary issue in May 1998 and seeks to highlight the "most important work" at West Coast universities during the last 100 years. These include major scientific discoveries or breakthroughs in any field, as well as major works of literature, art or music created by our professors. Also, time-honored campus traditions are being considered for publication. Submit your items to Linda Elliott in University Communications Admin. 207, 7427, elliotlm@plu.edu.
