Library Rooms Being Completed This Summer

This summer the library reading room and offices are being completed. This $40,000 project is a continuation of the extensive and long range building program of the college.

Although the library was built in 1938 the reading room and offices were only roughed in. They have been in use these ten years.

Last summer the library stack-rooms were completed.

Work being done now includes the installation of a new heating and ventilating system; plastering of the walls in the reading room, offices and foyer; installation of a new lighting system. The beams in the vaulted ceiling are being finished in native fir; and new hardwood book-cases for reference books will line the walls. A sound-proof cork floor is being laid.

Just off the main reading room a new room has been built for use as a periodical room.

During the summer months the library staff has taken over the classrooms on the first floor of the building for their work. Summer session students have suffered no inconvenience and all of the books and periodicals are available to them. The large classroom has been converted into a reading room.

It is expected that most of the work will be completed by the time school opens in September.

Pres. Eastvold's Annual Report Records College's Expansion

Excerpts from Dr. S. C. Eastvold's Annual Report

The fifty-fourth academic year of Pacific Lutheran College will close with Commencement Exercises on Sunday, May 30. In many respects, this has been the outstanding year in the history of the College. The enrollment has exceeded that of any previous year. The appeal for the building funds has brought to our campus three major buildings, namely, the new Science Hall which was dedicated by Dr. Conrad Bergendoff on November 9, 1947; the new Memorial Gymnasium which was dedicated by Dr. H. L. Foss on December 5, 1947, assisted by Dr. Raymond B. Allen, President of the University of Washington; and the new Student Union Building which was dedicated by Dr. N. A. Menter, President of the Board of Education of the American Lutheran Church, on February 9, 1948.

It is evident that a tremendous amount of interest in Christian Higher Education pervades the Church in the entire territory served by the College.

Pacific Lutheran College has enjoyed a very healthy growth materially, academically, and spiritually during the past year. The present school year has been one of careful self scrutiny to the end that our educational program may be placed on the highest possible level. While we have no new formulas for the saving of civilization, yet we are conscious of a stimulating intellectual and spiritual ferment on our campus. We who work at the College have been thankful to God in the joy that we are conscious of a harmonious working together on the part of the Board of Trustees, the administrative officers, faculty members, and the entire student body.

I. FINANCIAL EXPERIENCES AND NEEDS

Currently Pacific Lutheran College is "in the black." This may be no real cause for boasting since we have had to economize at spots where more money should have been spent. The proposed current budget for 1943-1944 was slightly over $100,000.00, while the proposed current budget for the school year 1948-1949 is $453,340.00.

It becomes necessary to repeat again and again each year that our salaries are too low, our faculty and staff are overworked. Money for the erection of new buildings is always a great need at our College, but money for the salary roll is equally pertinent. We mourn to think how poorly we are able to match the salaries paid by the industries. With basic living costs increasing each month, when taxes are high and inflation a grim reality, our faculty and staff members continue to serve the College without selfishness and with efficiency. They deserve all that can be done to lighten an almost intolerable burden. The Trustees have been alert to this problem and have done all that available funds will permit. While the salaries are gratifyingly above the levels of a few years ago, yet these present salaries are reduced in terms of the "1939 dollar." They are far below the pre-war level in purchasing power.

Money to increase the salaries and to establish a more liberal re-

Dr. Aasgaard Addresses Class of Eighty Graduates

Speaking to a crowd of 2,200 persons in Memorial Gymnasium, Sunday, May 30, Dr. J. A. Aasgaard of Minneapolis gave the commencement address to a graduating class of 80 students.

Dr. Aasgaard, who is president of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, was amazed at the growth of PLC under the leadership of Dr. S. C. Eastvold. He commented, "What has happened here is one of the most encouraging things I know of in my entire lifetime. I rejoice in your growth."

Addressing his remarks to the graduates, the speaker reminded them that their graduation was made possible by the sacrifices of those who had gone before.

Pioneers Believed

He said, "The pioneers believed in such schools as PLC. Many of them couldn't afford to send their own children, but they saw the need of such an institution and gave as much as they could in financial support."

Urging the seniors to listen to God, Dr. Aasgaard told them they had a sacred trust to make a contribution to the world in their church and through their God.

Hauge Presents Class

Dr. Philip E. Hauge, dean and registrar of the college, presented the members of the senior class to the president, Dr. Eastvold, and he conferred the degrees.

Dr. Eastvold Report Shows PLC Growth

tirement plan can come from one or more of three sources: gifts for current use; additional income toward endowment funds; and an increase in tuition rates. The endowment fund of the College is so negligible that our income must depend upon the gifts from friends and church bodies, on the one hand, and tuition income, on the other.

Tuition rates at Pacific Lutheran College have been raised about to the level where they will have to stay for a time. The tuition rate of $150.00 during the past year will continue for the coming year, 1948-1949, according to a decision by the Board of Trustees. This is in contrast with raises in some institutions of our kind of 25% or more. Thus we will have no "new money" to meet pressing operating needs.

Capital Investment

The capital investment at Pacific Lutheran College has increased by more than $1,000,000.00 during the past five years. While we are grateful for that, we must not cease praying the good Lord who is the Banker of the nations and who owns the cattle on a thousand hillsides, to give us a tremendous new support in the assets of the institution if we are to fulfill our God-given destiny in a growing West.

Funds for the expansion of the plant of the College can never be secured by increased tuition. These needs are great. We need not thousands nor tens of thousands, but we need millions of dollars for buildings and endowments in order to make Pacific Lutheran College what it ought to be in the future. A good college anytime is an investment in our own future which is the future of the Church. These needs will have to be met by generous men and women who believe in Pacific Lutheran College and in the type of young Americans who come from this institution. We make no apology for asking our generous men and women to share their wealth with us. Where can some money be invested with greater returns than in the future of Young America.

II. THE FACULTY

We have increased our full time faculty and staff. It is the sincere belief of the Board of Trustees that we can have as fine a faculty at the College as we have ever had. We wish to credit the faculty with an unusual amount of faithfulness through a great many years. Some splendid new people are being added to make our faculty number about fifty for 1948-1949. Let us pray that God will continue to endow our faculty with the qualities of love, loyalty, perseverance, faithfulness, and joy in their God-given assignments.

III. THE STUDENT BODY

Our students are carefully selected by admission officers and deans who look for evidence of intellectual power but also for evidence of social stability, adaptability, with the qualities of mental, physical, and spiritual endowments. Many college executives would have good reason to say, "If we had your student body, we should not have so many problems to worry about."

We are happy to know that we have a little more than fifty pre-seminary students enrolled at the College. Our students believe in the United States. They will do all in their power to preserve the basic features of our American way of life and to extend them to other lands. Our student body is not made up of perfect young people. There are many imperfections, but we are serving God by leading them into a better way of life, we feel sure. The cases of discipline have been few and we have had a good campus morale. The students even educate one another through the process of living together and of sharing in the social activities open to all of our students. Our chief aim is to foster their spiritual development in the pattern of the Lutheran Church.

Our Student Veterans

We have had 455 veterans registered at the College for the school year 1947-1948. They are mature, intelligent, and ambitious. They are a real asset to the development of the institution.

The Religious Program

In an age when the moral standards of the youth of America have sunk to a new low ebb in spiritual ignorance and indifference, it is encouraging to witness the interest in religion among the students at our College. What we have said about our spiritual emphasis in past years holds increasingly true for the present year.

IV. ACCREDITATION

The College is accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary

PLC to Share In $2 Million Church Drive

A campaign to raise $2,000,000 for the capital investment funds of its eleven educational institutions was voted by the Evangelical Lutheran Church convention in Minneapolis, June 8 to 13.

Pacific Lutheran College will share equally with the five senior colleges of the ELC in the apportioning of these funds. PLC's share will go toward the erection of another building on the campus.

The five senior college presidents, including Dr. Eastvold, presented the appeal to the convention with twelve-minute speeches. They told of the crying and urgent need of our schools for more adequate facilities to train the youth of the church.

Dr. Philip E. Hauge, dean of the college, represented PLC at a meeting in Minneapolis recently where this drive was discussed. At this meeting a general committee was appointed to make arrangements for the campaign.

This general committee will meet in Minneapolis in August. Members of the group are Dr. A. J. Bergsaker, chairman; Dr. J. A. Aasgaard, Dr. J. C. K. Preus, Rev. Alvin Rogness, Dr. T. F. Gullixson, Dr. Clemens Granskou, Dr. O. J. H. Preus, Dr. S. C. Eastvold, Dr. J. N. Brown, Dr. L. M. Stavig and Rev. M. Nilsen.

and Higher Schools as a four-year liberal arts college with a teacher-training department. On January 14, 1948, we were admitted to membership in the Association of American Colleges, and we are also a member of the American Council on Education.

V. INTER-SYNODICAL COOPERATION

One of the most unique things about Pacific Lutheran College is the inter-synodical cooperation. Our College is more than just an institution of learning. It is the focal point and center of the movement in Christian unity among the many and divided members of the House of Luther. In large measure, the future of the Church in the West depends upon the leadership that will come out of Pacific Lutheran College.

The appropriations given annually to the College by the American Lutheran Church, the Evangelical Lutheran Church, and the Lutheran Augustana Synod prove that this cooperation is more than just pious talk. In the case of the American Lutheran Church, the appropriation has been tripled during the past five years.

The United Lutheran Church in its Pacific Synod has been invited to place a teacher at the College to represent that Synod in the West, the same to be supported by the Pacific Synod together with the United Lutheran Church.

Roll Call Sunday

The annual Roll Call Sunday for the college will be held Sunday, October 10. On this day offerings for PLC will be given in the west coast churches of the American Lutheran Church, the Augustana Lutheran Synod and the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

A goal of $25,000 in Roll Call offerings is requested from the congregations this year by the Board of Trustees to meet increased costs.

"Marvs" Lead Gladiator Teams To Three Winco Championships

Three championships and a second place in the four major sports! That's the record of the PLC Gladiators during the past school year in Washington Intercollegiate Conference (Winco) competition.

Coaches Marv Tommervik and Marv Harshman were great stars on PLC's athletic teams from '38 to '41. The eyes of all Pacific Northwest sports fans were on them when they took over the coaching reins last fall. Can they do as well in coaching as they did on the field as players, everyone wondered? The Marvellous Marvs didn't disappoint them.

Undefeated on Grid

On the gridiron the Lutes went through a nine-game schedule with seven victories and two ties. They became co-champions of the Winco league with Eastern. Traveling to Medford, Oregon, on Thanksgiving Day they defeated Southern Oregon, 27 to 21, to gain the Pear Bowl title and the mythical Northwest small college championship.

Starting out with almost all new material in basketball, Harshman ran his men against the toughest competition available. They played Washington State, the University of Washington, Montana University, Portland U., and several others. They lost several ball games, but when the conference competition began they were ready to go.

Win Nine Straight

They won nine straight in league play before Central stopped them. The Lutes cinched the title before the season was completed.

The ace of the Lute quintet was Harry McLaughlin, who racked up 504 points in 32 games to lead all collegiate scorers in the Pacific Northwest. High Harry also broke the Winco scoring record and was a unanimous choice for the All-Winco team.

Diamond Title

The third title of the year went to Tommervik's baseball team. They copped the crown for the western division of the Winco league, and they went over to Spokane to meet Eastern in a two out of three series for the title. With a flurry of base knocks the Parklanders disposed of the Savages in two straight games, 16 to 5 and 7 to 5.

Merv Allen was the ace of a pitching staff which showed up well this year. Big Merv finished the season with 10 wins and one defeat. He graduated and is playing pro ball with Bremerton in the Western International League.

Harshman wouldn't have given a nickel for his track team's chances at the beginning of the season. But

Physical Education Men Are in Demand

Majors in physical education at PLC are in demand by school boards to coach sports and run athletic programs. All of the P.E. graduates this spring received positions in their field. Several of them will be teaching in junior high schools and coaching the high school teams in the same school system.

Last spring three PLC alumni had their teams in state basketball tournaments. Stener Kvinsland's South Kitsap five was a runner-up in the "A" tournament. Dean Martin, Oak Harbor, and Donald Sloan, Naselle, had their teams in the "B" tournament.

hard work and conditioning paid off. As the season progressed the Lutes won their share of meets; and came in second to Eastern in the conference meet held here May 28 and 29.

New Conference

Starting with football this fall the Lutes will be in the Evergreen Intercollegiate Conference. The six members of the Winco league plus the College of Puget Sound and the University of British Columbia have gone together to form the new loop. CPS and UBC withdrew from the Northwest Conference.

Coaches Tommervik and Harshman have some big holes to fill in their starting eleven. Six of their key men have graduated. In the line they lose Don D'Andrea, 284 pound center who will be playing with the Los Angeles Rams. Don was on the Little All-America team. Eldon Kylo, All-Winco tackle and honorable mention on the Little All-America; and Elmer Peterson, two times All-Winco guard, are the other linemen leaving. Kylo and Peterson will be assistant coaches this fall.

Frank Spear, All-Winco left half; Jack Bratlie, quarterback; and Dwayne Rose, right half and quarter; are the three backs who won't be back.

There are replacements available for these graduates, but the Lute bosses are hoping for transfers and new students to give them the first line and reserve strength they need.

Athletic Plant

The continued improvement of the campus athletic plant is going on this summer. The new baseball diamond is being completed and a pipe and wire backstop has been installed.

With $250,000 Memorial Gymnasium as the hub, PLC's athletic plant is one of the finest for small colleges in the Northwest. There is a turf football field surrounded by a quarter mile cinder track. The track also has a 220 yard straight-away. A nine-hole golf course, free to students, is another feature. Four tennis courts, softball diamonds and horseshoe pits complete the picture.

Summer Session Records Broken

Summer session enrollment has hit an all-time record with 340 students receiving instruction this summer.

Three specialists in the field of elementary education were added to the faculty for the second term. They are Mr. Morris Ford, superintendent of the Parkland public schools; Mr. Olaf Hagness, treasurer of the Clover Park school district and former Pierce county superintendent of schools; and Mrs. Ethel Westwood, home economics teacher at Stewart intermediate school, Tacoma.

Many elementary school teachers are attending this summer working towards their three year, and six year elementary certificates, and for principal's credentials.

This issue of the college bulletin is edited by Milton Nesvig, director of the college News Bureau.

OLSON LEAVES—Cliff Olson, PLC athletic director, is retiring this summer after 19 years of coaching here. He is shown (center) turning over the reins to Coaches Marv Harshman and Marv Tommervik

Draft Bill Information

We have received many queries from college students and prospective students concerning the Selective Service Act of 1948. Recently we received from the Federal Security Agency of the United States Office of Education a communication stating how the bill will effect college students. The text of two important paragraphs of the bill follow:

Subject: Exemption of college students from new draft law—

"(2) Any person who, while satisfactorily pursuing a full time course of instruction at a college, university, or similar institution of learning, is ordered to report for induction under this title, shall, upon the facts being presented to the local board, have his induction under this title postponed (a) until the end of such academic year or (b) until he ceases satisfactorily to pursue such course of instruction, whichever is the earlier. Nothing in this paragraph shall be deemed to preclude the President from providing, by regulations prescribed under sub-section (h) of this section, for the deferment from training and service of any category or categories of students for such periods of time as he may deem appropriate."

"Sec. 20. This title shall become effective immediately; except that unless the President, or the Congress by concurrent resolution, declares a national emergency after the date of enactment of this Act, no person shall be inducted or ordered into service without his consent under this title within ninety days after the date of its enactment."

This means that men may enter college this fall without fear of having their work interrupted during the academic year. The ninety days mentioned above, which must pass before a man can be drafted, will not have expired before PLC's school year opens in September.

It must also be remembered that the new draft law will include a list of exemptions which will affect many young men taking college work. There is a possibility that many men will be able to finish their college work before being drafted.

National Guard Ranks Are Open To PLC Students

"We have plenty of vacancies in our local National Guard unit for men between the ages of 17 and 18 1/2," states Maj. Maurice M. Fletcher, commanding officer of the 41st Signal Company of the 41st Infantry Division.

"Students entering Pacific Lutheran College this fall who fit in that age limit are eligible to join our unit," Maj. Fletcher continued. "The enlistment is for three years and will exempt a person from the new draft law," he added.

Service in the National Guard requires one drill per week plus a two week summer camp at Fort Lewis. The camp is usually held in the latter part of June each year. The drills are also held at Fort Lewis which is located but a short distance from the college. Students who live out of the Tacoma area may go home during the summer months and can make up the drills they miss by taking six drills per month in the fall. However, every member must take the two week summer tour of duty.

Young men who join the 41st Signal Company of the National Guard are assured of having their college training uninterrupted by the draft.

Gulsrud Elected To College Board

At the meeting of the Pacific Lutheran College Corporation in Minneapolis June 12, the Spokane and Intermountain circuits of the ELC were officially welcomed into the PLC constituency. Mr. Ernest Gulsrud of Spokane was elected to the college Board of Trustees to represent that area.

Mr. Olaf Halverson, Huntington Park, Cal.; Rev. C. H. Norgaard, Everett, and Dr. Paul Vigness, Alameda, Cal., were re-elected to the board.

This entitles the student to carry a normal load of subjects; to attend regularly scheduled activities such as athletic events, social functions, lectures and programs; to use the College Golf Course; and to receive the College paper.
