

School Wins Unanimous Endorsement in East

Saga Wins Entire Student Approval At First Showing

History of School Told in Story and Pictures; Lauded As Most Beautiful in Northwest

"Beautiful beyond all expectations," was the sentiment expressed by the entire student body when the "Saga," the school's first annual was distributed at 11 o'clock Monday morning. Ever since a mob of eager students and faculty members have swarmed about the table where the annuals were being handed out. Additional subscriptions to the book have been pouring in, according to the circulation manager, who says that all the books will soon be sold.

The book, which Mr. L. Brown, a prominent Tacoma engraver and authority on annuals, says is the best one of its size in the Northwest, is a credit to Pacific Lutheran and to the entire staff that published it, under the leadership of the editor-in-chief, Irene Dahl.

TROPHY CUP WINNERS

John Goplerud, Irene Dahl, Anna Mikkelsen, Fred Scheel

Ideal Students Receive Awards

J. Goplerud, I. Dahl, Represent College; A. Mikkelsen, Scheel, High

Irene Dahl, Anna Mikkelsen, John Goplerud, and Fred Scheel are the students chosen to have their names engraved on the four silver loving cups which were presented to the College by the Class of 1925. Irene and John are graduating from the college department, while Anna and Fred are graduating from high school. The purpose of these cups is to promote thorough scholarship and good fellowship among the students, therefore at the end of each year there are engraved on the respective cups the names of the boy and girl graduates who have earned the best influence on their classmates.

Those who receive this distinction are chosen by the faculty. The girls are chosen on the basis of womanliness, health, and scholarship, while in choosing the boys the faculty bases its decision on the student's record as to fair play, clean sportsmanship, and scholastic ability.

Place Graduates Of Normal Class

Sixteen of the normal graduates have already been placed, according to Mr. Ph. E. Hauge, dean of the Normal Department. Margaret Heimdahl will be placed in the Spokaneville system, having charge of the camp school. Dorothy Ebersole and Eugenia Crosby will have charge of the first, second, and the fourth and fifth grades respectively, at Vaughn. George Cronquist will be principal of the Crescent Valley school at Gig Harbor; Edna Dagsland will be in the Pleasant Hill school at East Stanwood; the Hay School has engaged Leona Forsroer; Miriam Heimdahl will be principal teacher in the Baker Heights school; Berger Jacobsen will be principal of the Crescent Valley school at Pearson; Irene McCulloch has a principalship at Puyallup; Viola Taw will be at the Liberty Bond school; Gerhard Molden will teach the fifth and sixth grades at Orilla; Cora Vista teaches in the Cronwell school; the Rhodet Lake school has engaged Frida Taylor; Florence Warren has the principalship of the Elks Plain school at Loveland; Glenda Waters will be primary teacher at the Collins school near Parkland; and Muriel Veltner will be principal of the Vinland school near Poulsbo.

These sixteen compose half of the class. The remaining will have positions by next fall.

ALFRED HAUGE CHAMPION SEER

FOUND—P. L. C.'s greatest football basketball, baseball, or what have you fan. Alf Hauge, normal student, holds the 1929 record for outstanding more athletic contests than any other student in Pacific Lutheran College. This may not appear to be so great an honor, but silent "Al" went out of his way more than nine to give support to the team. He did not always do as much yelling as some often do, but he figured that his presence at the games helped.

Hauge saw all the football games all but the two basket ball games that were played in Oregon and all the baseball games.

Baccalaureate Is Inspiring to Many

Rev. J. P. Pflueger Delivers Sermon on "Spiritual Light"

The baccalaureate sermon of 1930 gave to the graduating class a new conception of the word "baccalaureate." "There is light, there is light," "There is darkness, though, unless one has the spiritual light," which comes from the Savior, Jesus Christ Our Lord. This, in main, was the text of Rev. J. P. Pflueger, of Seattle, who preached the baccalaureate sermon last Sunday in the College chapel. According to many of the seniors who were present, the words of the speaker were most inspiring; they were so soon to leave Pacific Lutheran College. It gave to each a feeling that he could now leave knowing that this school had helped him in knowing this "light."

President Tingstad welcomed the seniors and the friends present and led the opening prayer. The number on the program was a special section by Holm-Jensen. "The Lord Chord," following this came the mass intercession by Rev. Pflueger. Before the services closed with the Lord's Prayer and doxology, the choir sang two selections, "Old-time Radiance" and "Beautiful Savior."

The chapel was beautifully decorated with cut flowers. At the feet of the statue of our Savior was a basket of styrages, whose colors, as President Tingstad brought out, stand for immortality and purity. The whole program coincided beautifully with the theme of the evening. As the congregation began the Lord's Prayer, the lights of the chapel went out. Although this was purely accidental, it probably caused much thought on "Spiritual Light" and seemed to make a very fitting ending for the baccalaureate service.

Seniors Present Class Exercises

Carry Out Traditional Ivy Planting; Interesting Program Follows

Graduates of Pacific Lutheran College presented several interesting talks and musical numbers at their class night program held last evening June 3, in the College Auditorium, at 7:30 p. m. The traditional planting of Ivy was carried out this year by Pauline Larson, who planted the Ivy about twenty feet south of the main entrance, while Fred Walter gave the Ivy oration in which he stated:

"We plant this Ivy not merely as a matter of tradition, followed by former classes, but out of esteem and respect for our Alma Mater which we are about to leave. It is the hope of this class that this Ivy as it grows throughout the coming years will be a fitting reminder of the Class of 1930."

Professor Joseph O. Edwards played "Country Gardens" by Percy Grainger, as the professional, who presided, and graduates marched to the auditorium. Everyone assembled, George Cronquist, master of ceremonies and president of the sophomore class, spoke these words of welcome:

The graduating class of 1930 extend to you, friends of Pacific Lutheran College, a most cordial greeting and welcome you to this evening's ceremonies which will mark our final opportunity to express ourselves. (Continued on Page 4)

"The Millionaire" Is Great Success

That the senior class play, "The Millionaire," held in the College Auditorium last Saturday evening was a great success, any one of the numerous enthusiastic spectators, will readily agree. Gate receipts totaled approximately $108. All expenses paid, the senior class has about $75 profit, according to those in charge. This profit, plus what is already in the class treasury, goes toward buying a gift for the school.

In this, one of the most successful programs of the year, a merry and comical brought forth laughter and applause from the most serious person present.

H. F. Hunt to Give Main Address at Exercises Tonight

Graduating Class Will Receive Diplomas in Auditorium; Interesting Program Is Planned

Tonight at 8 o'clock the commencement exercises for the class of 1930 will be held in the College Auditorium. Mr. H. F. Hunt, assistant superintendent of the Tacoma public schools, will deliver the address of the evening. Previous to his present position, Mr. Hunt was principal of the Stadium High School of Tacoma for many years.

Other speakers of the evening will be Reverend Theodore Hokenstad, father of one of the graduates, who will give the invocation; President O. A. Tingstad, who will deliver the address of welcome; and Reverend O. L. Haavik, who will speak to the audience on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the College.

Miss Ethel Stumette, a freshman in the Normal Department of the school, will play the professional march before the opening hymn is announced.

During the program the choir will present the following numbers: "Make Me, O Lord God, Pure," by Brahms; "From Heaven Above" by Christiansen; and "O Praise Ye" by Tschakowsky.

Another musical number in the form of the vocal solo, "Thoughts Have Wings" by Liza Lehman, will be sung by Anna Mikkelsen, Pacific College soprano soloist and a number of the high school graduating class.

After the presentation of diplomas by President Tingstad, Reverend H. A. Hjermstad will pronounce the benediction.

Choir Presents Final Concerts

Aberdeen Presentation Closes Successful Year With Help of Soloists

A concert at Aberdeen, Friday night, May 23, closed a very successful choir season. The choir has presented many concerts in various towns and as a result of these has brought much favorable comment upon itself and the college which it represents.

The concerts consisted of ensemble selections by the choir; soprano solos by Anna Mikkelsen, and violin solos by Wally Kerr. Cora Vista assisted by Mrs. Clifford Olson, Arthur Olson, and Paul Holm-Jensen who sang incidental solos. Much credit is due Prof. Edwards who has worked faithfully to make choir season a success it has been.

Mr. Elvstrom, manager of the choir, believes prospects are bright for a still more complete season next year. This year the choir made many short trips and one tour of any length. On the tour north, Stanwood, Fir, Everett, Bellinsham, and Lakewood heard the choir sing. The choristers sang at the Luther League Convention in Bremerton and gave concerts in Seattle, Gig Harbor, and Aberdeen as well as the annual complimentary concert to Parkland and Tacoma.

Although many members of the choir are graduating and do not expect to return next year, it is hoped that a successful choir will again carry on its work of bringing to the public sacred songs.

Lutheran Church Pledges $17,500 As Survival Sum

Board Resolves to Support College in Maintenance of Present Accredited Standing

All doubt as to the uninterrupted survival of Pacific Lutheran College was removed at the convention of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, at Minneapolis, Minnesota, when the following resolutions were unanimously adopted on May 28:

"Whereas Pacific Lutheran College is now the only Lutheran school of its type in the Western 48% of the United States, and is serving the cause of Christ in a home mission territory in which an endowment fund of $290,000 has been pledged and will be in process of collection for another two years or more; and

Whereas the prospective development of our last national frontier imposes upon our Church the responsibility of developing an educational institution that shall, by the grace of God, be a tower of strength on the walls of Zion which the Lutheran Church is called upon to

Whereas the Pacific District of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America is the owner of Pacific Lutheran College and has, by the adoption and prosecution of a development program for the school, definitely faced and accepted this responsibility, and has, through the Pacific Lutheran College Development Association, provided a satisfactory device for carrying this program through to success, God willing; and

Whereas the prospective federation of Lutheran synods makes the need as well as the possibility of maintaining Pacific Lutheran College greater and more apparent; and

Whereas the appropriation already voted by the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America for the years 1931 and 1932 is inadequate and plans an annual operating deficit of $10,000 in prospect, while, on the other hand, the present accredited status of the institution cannot be maintained if further details are required;

Be It Resolved, that the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America encourage its members everywhere to support Pacific Lutheran College by prayers, by gifts, and by joining the Development Association, whose slogan is "At least a dollar at least once a year," and whose present membership is 4,294; and

Be It Further Resolved, that, in case the support from other sources should prove inadequate for the maintenance of the present accredited status of Pacific Lutheran College, the Board of Trustees of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America be authorized, on recommendation of the Board of Education, to make an emergency appropriation sufficient to avoid operating deficits at Pacific Lutheran College during the next biennium, it being the purpose of the Church by this resolution to assure the uninterrupted survival of this school in order that the Pacific District may cheerfully promote the further development of Pacific Lutheran College, and it being the understanding of the Church that such annual emergency appropriation shall in no case exceed $17,500.

This resolution is undoubtedly the largest and most important single event in the year's development. It means that Pacific Lutheran College (Continued on Page 3)

GODSPEED

This year's commencement exercises will see the largest graduating class in the history of this school. As each one of this group accepts the certificate that is his reward for the work done here, he will do so with the feeling that he is, in a way, breaking relations with Pacific Lutheran College. This thought, which is only a natural one, will send a pang of regret deep down into the heart of more than one senior. It is not easy for a student to break away from the school and from the friends he has learned to love as he has loved no other school or group of companions. It will not be a light task for him to forget this institution that he has learned to look upon as a reverent and almost sacred thing.

But, while there will be a feeling of dismay on leaving the school, there need be no tears shed as though this will be the final parting which will sever all bonds between the school and those graduating; for graduation should not and does not mean the breaking of the bonds that hold up to our school. This has merely been the sad but false impression that too many graduates have held of commencement exercises.

Commencement is but a launching out on the sea of life. You seniors are leaving home to sail out on the great unknown sea of adventure. There will be trials; there will be sorrows; there will be joyous moments and, again, sad hours; clouds may often lower, while at other times the skies may be blue and sunny. But always the spirit of that home will go with you, guiding, protecting, and helping you in whatever you do. Memories of it will cheer you and lighten your burden. What it has taught will help you to press forward with a heart full of courage and hope.

Go, Seniors! The world is yours to conquer. Hoist your sails into the teeth of the gale; brace your shoulders to the wheel, and steer out on the deep. But as you go, carry with you the precious memories that will help to make your journey successful. Remember the friendships you formed here; remember the high ideals you were taught; remember the many traditions of old Pacific; remember the classes and the instructors you learned to love; remember the chapel exercises, and stop to realize their infinite value to you, and, last of all, remember us who remain here for a short while longer.

We regret to see you go, for you will leave a big, empty space that nothing will be able to fill. But our best wishes go with you. We are depending on you so to conduct yourselves that you will bring credit on us as well as on the school. We shall also soon take the same journey, and your success will be ours.

Perhaps the preceding paragraphs can best be summed up in these few words, "Remember Pacific Lutheran College. Goodbye! Good Luck! Godspeed." Olav Hageness

GROWING PAPER

The Mooring Mast is again coming to the end of a very successful year.

From being an experiment a few years ago The Mast has become an established factor in the development of the school and has itself kept step with the development.

This year the paper has been enlarged, about $50.00 worth of books on journalism have been presented to the library, a course in news-writing given to the staff, and financially The Mast finds itself at the end of the year on the right side of the ledger without any aid from outside sources.

To all those who have assisted in making the year a success we wish to extend thanks, to our advertisers our subscribers for their support, but most of all to the staff, who so loyally and unselfishly have worked to give us a paper worthy of a greater P. L. C. O. J. Stuen.

BEST WISHES TO YOU

Two prominent and well-liked instructors are leaving Pacific Lutheran College this year.

Miss Lydia Skirum, supervisor and girls' athletic coach, is leaving to accept a position in the public school system of Seattle. Professor Hellman, dean of men and instructor in English and Bible, is also leaving this year to assume the presidency of Hebron College in Hebron, Neb. Both teachers have rendered a wonderful service and have been a valuable asset to our college. The students and faculty deeply regret having them leave. They are entering their future positions with the best wishes of the school, and we hope they will be happy in their new work.

Joint Chautauqua On P. L. C. Campus

Program Worth While for Every Man, Woman, and Child

A Joint Chautauqua will be held on the College campus June 30 to July 6. Elaborate plans have been made to make this Chautauqua a success. The Joint Snood of Ohio, Augustus Sythod, and the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America will also be represented.

The speakers for the Chautauqua include: Dr. W. E. Schramm from Butler, Pa.; Rev. P. O. Bersell from Ottumwa, Iowa, and Rev. S. T. Benson from Moorhead, Minn.

The meet is so planned that every man, woman, and child will find it worth while. In order to make it so, a boys' and girls' encampment, a Sunday School Institute, a Luthel League Institute, a Women's Missionary conference, and Bible classes, have been provided in addition to the regular Chautauqua meetings.

Sleeping accommodations will be provided in the College building or in tents set upon the campus. Meals will be served for those who do not wish to board themselves.

With something for everyone at all times the Chautauqua promises to be a success. Local pastors are urged to send representatives from their congregations to vacation at the Chautauqua.

SAGA WINS APPROVAL

lege. It contains a complete story of the school written in an interesting and charming manner. Because it is the first yearbook to be published at this school, it was dedicated to the group of pioneers who founded this institution. The dedication reads as follows: "In order that the God of truth might never be lost sight of a group of pioneer Lutherans founded Pacific Lutheran College. To them—with the hope that the faith they thus placed in their posterity may endure through the ages—we humbly dedicate this first Saga."

One look at the cover of the annual is enough to convince anyone that the remainder of the book is good. Two swift and brightly winged ships will sail all set, come sailing gaily upon the crest of the wave. Beneath the picture is the Luther Coat-of-Arms something that no other annual in the country has used on its annual cover.

The book itself is divided into six parts: prologue, administration, classes, organizations, athletics, and college life. Each one of these divisions is cleverly written and artistically illustrated. In all the book contains 96 pages, which is large, when it is taken into consideration that it is the first annual published at the school.

The "Saga" will probably be of more interest to the alumni of the College than to any one else. Not only are the previous years at Pacific Lutheran College reviewed on the written page but by pictures as well. There are pictures of the roof party of 1902, the P. L. A. basketball champs of 1906 the planting of the sickle post, and scores of features of interest to any one who has had anything to do with the school. If the first issue of the "Saga" is any indication, the publishing of a yearbook will become an annual event at Pacific Lutheran College.

Dear Ma and Pa:

Last week was test week, when teachers sample us on what we have forgotten. Its the whole year review—just like the hash we get on Saturday is the whole week's review. Guess I'll have to look up in the Zoo book to see who did things this week in the library they call it the "Who Zoo" book.

Oh! Yes! Lots of things happened. We had a Pep Club meeting—Lots of nice things to eat and a nice program. And cause Eleanor L. wouldn't be on the Program, the girls were going to dump her; and just cause she had null energy to say naughty things and tell us to get out—why we thought she had laundry poisoning, or something like that, and so we dumped her. Mrs. Kriedler gave us a little skidding. We made so much noise that poor Mr. Beck said he was greatly disturbed. That nite I put a sign "We of the dorm firmly believe in woman's suffrage. If she wants to suffer—let her suffer." down on second floor, but no one has suspected me yet.

That night Ted sat up all nite studying and the same nite Millard said he sat up all night picking on a duck—Poor Duck! Somebody said that girls were too dumb to think of doing anything funny—well—they are all wrong—because I did it! I'll tell you how I did it—I took the two litte globes out, I took the doornobs, and then crawled in our transum. Then I through the gloves on the floor and when they popped the kids that it was guns shooting. They were awfully scared and dumb too.

All the kids are getting new things to graduate in, but I'm just going to get new shoes and wear an old dress—that's more economical, don't you think?

And say! Thanks immensely for the beautiful Spanish shawl you sent me—words fall me!—anyhow it is just superfluous.

Irene Dahl tried to give me a little doggie, but as Inga wouldn't let me call him "Goppie," I wouldn't take him.

Warner Quile and I made up a class song, and the kids say that if the tune wasn't so hard, they could learn it if they could remember the words.

Geel! I pudneer broke loose and

The graduation exercises of the Parkland Public School were held Thursday evening, May 22, in the auditorium. Each of the nineteen graduates took an important part in making the program a good one. There were several musical numbers by the pupils, and the welcome address was delivered by Charly Webb who also presented the school with a beautiful picture from the class. Without religion and Christ man may exist but it is impossible for him to live.

After the presentation of the diplomas, eight pupils received penmanship awards, and twenty-four pupils from the whole school were given attendance certificates, indicating perfect attendance for the year.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

It is obvious that, throughout the whole school year, church attendance has been neglected by many students. There may be, at times, valid reasons for not being present at church services, however, there is no excuse for being absent week after week.

Everyone must realize that it is the church that makes him a fine Christian character and aids him in being conscientious individual. The entire life of a Christian is based upon the foundation he has attained in early youth. Without religion and Christ man may exist but it is impossible for him to live. A man who knows not the difference between right and wrong, or one who will not know, is disrespectful by his fellow men. His moral is of the lowest form and his soul is lost. On earth, the church and the ministered Word of God are the only means by which men can learn to prepare themselves for eternal life. The command of God, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it Holy," should never be slighted.—Luther Echo.

SCHOOL IS ENDORSED

will survive and will continue to carry on Christian education on the Pacific coast. The church has spoken in terms that financial agencies, accreditation authorities and friends of the College, present and potential, must respect.

During the convention the church also resolved that the work of Christian education hitherto carried out at Spokane College and Pacific Lutheran College be henceforth consolidated at the latter institution. This means a transfer of good will and an amalgamation of the field which this school is, especially called upon to serve.

At a meeting of the Pacific District at Minneapolis, on May 24, several other matters were also decided. The Joint Chautauque that is to be held on the College campus this summer was endorsed. The development plans were also endorsed again, but the following motion attached: "Knowing that the college main building is in good condition, be it hereby resolved that in future development plans, the present building be retained as long as possible as a monument of our first endeavor for higher Christian education."

Three members of the Board of Trustees were re-elected: Reverend R. Bogstad of Eugene, Oregon, Mr. M. H. Forde of Everett, Washington, and Mr. J. O. Gulbransen of Bellingham, Washington. Mr. Forde is vice president of the board, and Mr. Gulbransen, secretary. Reverend L. J. Floren of Poulsbo, Washington, was elected to fill the place of Reverend A. M. Lund.

The Board of Education will meet Thursday, June 5, to organize financial efforts for the summer.

CHAPEL TALK

"And in the evening He cometh with the twelve.
"And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, verily I say unto you, one of you which eateth with me shall betray me."

"And they began to be sorrowful, and say unto Him one by one, Is it I?" said another, ask is it I?
"And He answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve, that dipeth with me in the dish."

"The Son of man indeed goeth as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the son of man is betrayed! Good were it for that man if he had never been born."

This scene is one of the most intense in all dramatic history. It was the last passover Christ would eat with His disciples, for He was going to leave them for awhile to be dealt with according to the prophecies of the Old Testament. Jesus made known to them that one of them would betray Him. Each one asked, "Lord, is it I?" Each one felt that he might be the one who would betray Him. Not a single one of us should avoid this question. "Lord, is it I?" Every one of us at some time or other has denied our master. Whenever we sin, we are actually insulting, betraying, or denying Him. Is every I who have done that which is not pleasing in Thy sight? Let us every day in the presence of our Master ask that question. Then let us have the courage to know that only He can comfort and forgive us.

SENIOR PLAY SUCCESS

Heath, the self-asserting College President; Eivora Hokenstad as the old friend, Lottie Pringle, all performed well.
"Taxi," a short one-act comedy, excited amused laughter for twenty minutes before the first and second acts of "The Millionaire." This skit was enacted by Stella Sorboe and Clifford Mesford.
The College orchestra provided suitable music before and after the play and between the second and third acts.
Mr. Hauge and Miss Stikrud coached the cast for several weeks previous to the presentation.

Lose Majority of Games Played in Last Two Weeks

C. P. S., Bellarmine, U. of W. Win in Baseball Tilt; One Defeat of Centralia Batters Record

During the past two weeks the Gladiator baseballers have played five games, of which they have lost four and won one. The pitching in the majority of these games has been all right, but the fielding has been erratic, accounting for the larger number of games lost.

On May 21, the Gladiators invaded and lost to the College of Puget Sound varsity by a 6 to 4 score in an erratic game. The Parklanders outthrew their opponents seven to five, but literally threw the game away by making 14 errors to their opponents four. Palo and Johnson both made two hits and were the outstanding players for the Gladiators. LePens showed up well for the Lo'ers.

The following day at Athletic Park, the Lutherans dropped a hard-fought game to the Bellarmine Lions by a 2 to 1 score. The game was exceptionally close throughout, with both teams making two hits. The P. L. C. team again showed poor fielding as they made 5 errors to the Lions' 1, which proved the deciding factor in the game. Palo and Johnson showed the best for the Gladiators in this game also. F. Ruffo was the star of the opposing team.

On May 23, the Gladiators showed a reversal of form to defeat the Jayesses of Centralia Junior College at Centralia by a 4 to 2 count. The game was about evenly played although the Gladiators had a little edge on their opponents. There were several errors made by both teams, which accounted for most of the runs. The Lutherans also outthrew the Jayesses by a 4 to 2. Thostenson proved to be the best player of the day. P. L. C. while Nibset played a good game for the home team.

After three comparatively close games, the Gladiators seemed to lose all form and knowledge of the game of baseball and dropped two contests in a row by big scores. On May 28, at American Lake the Lutherans were defeated by the C. P. S. Loggers, 19 to 4 count in a hectic game. The game was fairly close until the ninth inning, when the Loggers made 13 runs on 8 hits and several costly errors to clinch the game. During this inning Johnson, Palo, and Colton all pitched until Johnson returned to the box for a second time before the last Puget Sound man could be put out. Johnson and Nyman played the best for P. L. C. while Spadafora pitched a good game for his team.

On May 31, at Athletic Park, the Parklanders lost another indifferent game to the Frosh of the University of Washington by a 22 to 0 count. The yearlings made nine runs in the second and nine in the third inning, and after that the game was comparatively evenly played. Jolley played the best for the Frosh, getting four hits out of six trips to the plate. Colton, Johnson and Palo showed well for the Lutherans.

The scores:

Team	Hits	Runs
P. L. C.	7	4
C. P. S.	5	8
P. L. C.	2	1
Bellarmine	2	2
P. L. C.	4	4
Centralia	2	2
C. P. S.	14	19
P. L. C.	12	4

Sport Slants

By Harold Gray

Last Saturday when the varsity of this school played the University of Washington Frosh at Athletic Park, the 1929-30 sport season of Pacific Lutheran College was brought to a close. Taking everything into consideration, the athletes of this school have had successful seasons in the different branches of sports.

The athletic teams of this school have been coached by Clifford O. Olson who has done remarkably well toward putting this school on the sports map of Washington. Although the won and lost columns may not show more than fifty percent of the games played won, men from every walk of life are becoming interested in this institution due to the fact that our boys have played such clean ball in all their contests.

Let us take a look at our Sports calendar starting with last September. Although we won but half of the six games played, our eleven was considered one of the best of its class in and around Tacoma. Coach Olson did not have any backfield lettermen to start the season with, but soon developed several good players, several of whom will be back for the next season.

When basketball season rolled around, Mentor Olson had several lettermen, and although the Gladiators dropped the first two games, they won eleven of the next fourteen played, which is an exceptionally good record. The record of the whole season shows that Olson's men won 11 and lost 6 games. Several trips were made by the team, the farthest being to Astoria, Oregon, many of this year's lettermen will be back next year.

The records of the baseball season just finished shows that the Parkland men won four and lost five of the games played. The team did well during the first part of the season, defeating the College of Puget Sound varsity, Bellarmine and Centralia Junior College before they lost a game. They hit a bad slump, though, from which they never seemed to recover, as they lost five of the six remaining games played.

Right here should be mentioned the fact that five of the athletes of this school won letters in the three major sports, football, basketball, and baseball. The men who have achieved this distinction this year are: Wilbert Nyman, Bernard Palo, Arnold Thostenson, Sankey Johnson and Alvane Schiermann. This makes the sports' outlook for next year especially bright, as all with the exception of possibly one of these players will be back for next year's team. Good work, men!

Taking all in all, Pacific Lutheran College has had a very successful sports year, during 1929-30, which will be followed by an even better season next year, unless I am mightily mistaken.

So long until next fall!

PEP SHOWS IN LAST MEETING OF CLUB

The final meeting of the O'lip PEP Club, held last Wednesday evening, proved to be the peppest of them all. Mrs. Kreller and Miss Stixrud were the guests of honor. The club was entertained in the dining room by Eivora Hokenstad, Evelyn Solum, and Becca Jorgensen. Place cards were used, and the girls discovered what funny names they had when written backwards. Thora Rasmussen was given a prize for having the funniest. While the delicious lunch was being served, the guests were entertained by Ruth Norngard, who read a selection; by Peggy Harvey and Agnes Klumpen, who performed a stunt, and by Ruth Brown, who read a selection. The girls then retired to the girls' reception room and were entertained with vocal solos by Mildred Nelson and Eivora Hokenstad. Cora delighted the girls by tickling the ivories for them. Eivora Hokenstad, this year's president, in giving a "short" farewell address to the club and wished it a happy next year.
