The Board of Trustees of the Pacific Lutheran College met at the school November 17. A great deal of their time was taken up by considering plans for the Endowment and Maintenance fund drive. It was decided that Pres. O. J. Ordal should devote his entire time to this work. In this capacity he is to travel throughout the whole district, visit every congregation and organize committees that will carry out this work. During the absence of Pres. Ordal the management of the school is to be turned over to the "Faculty Council," of which Prof. O. J. Stuen is chairman. The other members of the council are Prof. Ph. E. Hauge, Prof. A. E. Ramstad and Prof. J. U. Xavier. This council was appointed at the beginning of the present school year by Pres. Ordal, and ratified by the Board of Trustees at a (Continued on page 4)

DR. DAVIS GIVES TALK IN CHAPEL

Students Hear Interesting Speech on Prevention of Tuberculosis

Tuesday morning, December 1, at the chapel exercises, the students and faculty were favored with a lecture on tuberculosis by Dr. Davis. Dr. Davis stated that tuberculosis was not a hereditary disease, although at the age of five years many of the children are carriers of the germs, and at the age of 30, 90% are affected by this terrible disease.

The teachers and the parents have the responsibility to teach the children the right habits so that they will be strong enough to resist the disease. In the public schools now they have health charts on which the children record their daily habits that tend to the betterment of their health.

Tuberculosis is a disease that can be prevented if the people are educated enough to know what preventive measures to take. Some of the means of preventing tuberculosis are correcting of defective eyes, mouth breathing, under weight, neglected teeth and diseased tonsils.

The annual drive supervised by the Anti-Tuberculosis League to secure money, is well under way. It is to take care of those suffering from the disease who can not afford medical care. We are asked to help in this important work by buying Christmas seals.

DRIVE BEGINS IN SILVERTON

President Ordal returned to spend Thanksgiving day at home from an inspiring trip to Oregon. While there he spent his time principally in Silvertown where he conducted services in the morning at St. Johns church, Rev. Lindseth's call, and in the evening at The Trinity church, Rev. Hendrickson's call.

In the afternoon President Ordal was present at a young people's rally in the Trinity Lutheran church where the young people society donated their entire "pook on hand," $100.00 to the P. L. C. drive fund.

Sunday, December 13, is set aside as P. L. C. day in both churches in Silvertown. Speeches and music is to be furnished by E. L. C. President Ordal, who at present is in California, expects to return to Silvertown for this rally.

A. W. Ramstad

Head Coach A. W. Ramstad who formerly served as pastor in Seattle and Bremerton, Washington, accepted an offer made by the board of trustees last spring to come to P. L. C. to teach Norse and mathematics, act as Dean of Men and head athletic coach.

He is a graduate of St. Olaf College and Luther Seminary. He played varsity basketball for St. Olaf, and also played class football and baseball. Prof. Ramstad is coaching the girls basketball.

NEW EQUIPMENT IS OBTAINED

Two thousand years ago Aesop said, "Experience is the mother of learning." Again we might agree with Barium, that, "There's one born every minute." Whether, from the looks of things, we are probably more inclined to believe that Barium was right, never-the-less the psychology teachers at P. L. C. are trying to avert extreme cases by applying the former rule.

Since experimentation forms a good half of the study of psychology, a large quantity of apparatus for the extension of this work has been purchased. Among the list of valuable instruments may be found the tachistoscope, the steadiness tester, the mirror drawing sets and a tapping board. The above mentioned instruments are used chiefly for the testing of the physical side of psychology and those below for the mental side, including five sets of tests for speech defects, visual concepts, associations, mental and color discrimination.

With these new apparatus it is hoped that a greater conception of the meaning and use of psychology may be afforded the students.

REPORT ON DRIVE

The first congregation to report in regard to the Endowment and Maintenance fund drive was Our Saviors church in Tacoma, Rev. L. M. Stavik's call, which up to December 1 has collected and pledged $1233. Over $500 of this is in cash. As there are still a few members of the church that so far have not been reached, the total is expected to be considerably larger. Rev. Stavik reported great interest for the college among the members of his congregation, and was very much pleased with the way in which the committee in charge handled its work.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD FOR GIRLS TEAM

Coach Ramstad Is Well Pleased With Available Material; Practice Begins

The outlook for girls basketball this year is very promising. P. L. C. has never had as much experienced material for a girls' basketball team as has turned out for practice this year.

Practically everyone of last year's varsity squad are back and working hard. Among those who won letters last year are: Ruth Bull, guard; Stella Samuelson, guard; Nina Elde, guard; Ruth Fadness, running center; Annelie Dahl, jumping center and Palma Langlow, forward. With this array of girls and the girls who are new at the school a formidable aggregation should be developed.

Among those who are new at the school and who are turning out are: Christina Knutsen, a member of the Burlington northwest champions for the last two years, jumping center; Agnes Wilson, a forward, was a member of Hemet HI school team in California; Leola Hagen, Lillian Lee, Adabelle Allison, Marie Gardin and Leongre Lund are all working hard. The fight for berths on the team this year is to be a very keen one.

The girls are to take a trip this year, details not arranged as yet.

The girls have a very optimistic spirit and say that, if they have enough coaching and practice they will be an invincible team.

Prof. A. W. Ramstad, who is coaching the girls, states: The girls basketball team this year should be as good as any we have had. A long trip and shorter trips are planned and some games at home is the tentative schedule. With a number of last year's regulars turning out and much new material, the outlook is very promising.

REV. HENRIKSEN GIVES CHAPEL ADDRESS

When the board of trustees met Wednesday, November 18th, at P. L. C., one of the members, Rev. George Henriksen of Silvertown, Oregon spoke in chapel.

As his text he had chosen the story of the crippled, blind beggar who each day was placed at the temple to ask for alms. When Peter saw him there he said, "Silver and gold have I none, but what I have, that will I give thee." It is then related how the beggar was healed by Peter, and of his rejoicing thereover.

In drawing his message from this text, Rev. Henriksen brought out many thoughts. He said that most of us expect with our learning to be able to get everything. But unless God stands back of our education, we will be disappointed. (1) As believers we are persons of large possessions. He told of the widow and her mite. She didn't have much of earthly value to give Christ, but "a heart given to God, which is the largest possession man may possess," he said. (2) A believer is a person of large sympathies and liberalities. As Christ, when he came to earth to save men, to must we as Christians, share sympathies with others. (3) A believer is a person of powers. As shown in History, the earth is desolate. (Continued on page 4)

Ed Arthur

Mr. Ed Arthur, who fills the position of student athletic coach here, had a varied career in the athletic field. His start was obtained at a high school in California, where he played football, basketball, baseball and track. During the war he was in the navy, starting on the athletic teams of the S. S. Kentucky. After the war Mr. Arthur became connected with the Tacoma Y. M. C. A. as physical director and athletic coach, and attended five consecutive summer schools of coaching.

BASKET SOCIAL PROVES SUCCESS

Mooring Mast Staff Well Pleased With Outcome of Social

A very successful basket social was given by the "Mooring Mast" staff Friday evening, November 20. After a few games had been played the program was given as follows:

A group of Norwegian songs by Mr. John Hanson accompanied on the accordion by Mr. Marvik.

A mock meeting of the Mooring Mast staff. All this was acted spontaneously but seemed to be a representation quite true to life.

The next and most important feature of the evening was the auctioning of the baskets by Ed Arthur. Baskets of all sizes, shapes and colors were sold. A miniature P. L. C. building was shown, a heart, an old-fashioned lady, and a large triplet basket which had a "Chiney" look. Many of the baskets were decorated with the school colors, black and orange, or some other color scheme.

However, the inmates of the baskets seemed to be more attractive than the outsiders, for everyone was soon busy eating. During the feasting music was furnished by the P. L. C. orchestra.

A traveler's race, by Peter Sognefest and Dorothy Lehman, and a three-legged race by the men caused much laughter and amusement. The evening's party broke up with the singing of "Good Night Ladies," by the men.

A total of nearly $70 was cleared which fits very nicely into the staff's pocket book.

Most of the shadows of this life are caused by standing in our own sunshine.—Emerson.

BASKET BALL SEASON OPENS

Coach Arthur Issues First Call to Men for Turnout

The first call for the 1925-26 basketball season was issued November 19, 1925, by Coach Ed. Arthur at a student body meeting. Mr. Arthur laid down a few simple training rules and stressed the fact that anyone not keeping them would not be permitted to play.

The first turnout, on November 23, showed much new but good material that can be worked into shape. Although four of last year's varsity squad are not here this year, Coach Arthur expresses the opinion that there is enough material to fill the places left vacant.

Those of last year's varsity squad who are turning out this year are Rudy Sanderson, forward; Sid Glasgow, center; Carl Coltum, forward; and Myron Kridler, forward. These men are showing up well in the practice.

The other men who are turning out are Bert Krangness, who is showing up well as forward; Peter Sognefest, a tall good worker; John Weis, a coming guard; Bill Hopner, who with a little practice can work into shape; Bill Nyman, the only thing holding Bill back is his size; Arthur Knutsen, who, if he keeps up as well as he has, will undoubtedly make the first team; John Westby, a fast but inexperienced man; Lyle Kreidler, who is showing up well as center and forward; Arthur Werson, a good steady guard; Walter French, a coming forward; Olaf Ordal and Sanneud, guards.

The basketball squads are working hard three times a week. As yet actual scrimmages has not started, but passing the ball, catching, and exercises to get the men into shape are being given.

Coach Arthur has given out training rules for the good of the players and for the good of the teams. These rules are to be obeyed by every man on any of the teams if he wishes to remain on that team and play for his school.

Mr. Arthur, makes the following statement:

"Through graduation and other reasons we have lost some of our best material from last year's team. We are unfortunate in not having time enough to develop green material to the extent that it should be developed for an A No. 1 team. We are fortunate though, in always having our best with us at all times and around our best we will try and build a team that will turn in clean hard fought games; that will always remember to be gentlemen on the floor as well as off; that will give their opponents the benefit of no doubt; and that the biggest thing is not the winning of the game but the winning of the respect due a clean, upright, honest group of boys.

STUDENTS ELECT OFFICIALS

At the regular student-body meeting on Thursday, November 19, Nina Elde was elected Girls' Athletic Manager. Lillian Lee and John Westby were elected to assist Alfred Anderson our yell leader.

Ted E. "Prof. Ramstad, have you any acid that will burn ivory?" Prof. Ramstad: "What's the matter, do you want to burn your head?"

EVERY DAY!

Every day! In these two words lies the crest of all attainment. The trees do not grow nor coal beds form in a day, but every day of many successive years are needed. So also are achievements of the great of all time are the results of many a long day's laborious routine. The most honest man is one who is honest every day—the happiest person the one who has, for long years past practiced being happy—the healthiest he who every day follows the rules of health.

Every day! There is much meaning, fellow students, for you and me in these words. Let them sink deep! Consider carefully your past practices. It is evident that some of us are letting slip, day by day, opportunities that are given us here at P. L. C. Some day we will regret it, for every day or fraction of a day that we squander or misuse here where we are preparing ourselves for the duties of life will render us less capable of making good later.

Fellow students, let us all resolve now to practice our school spirit every day, to be kind and considerate every day, to prepare our lessons every day and to it that every day we make the best possible use of our opportunities. Then, every one of us will enjoy a happier and fuller life, there will be less class and less life failures, our teachers will be more satisfied with us, and P. L. C. will be a better place because of us.—L. S.

As students of Pacific Lutheran College we are intensely interested in the endowment drive. We realize how vitally the outcome of the drive will influence our college, and we wish we could help, in some way, to raise the necessary funds. We feel that we cannot do much, but perhaps we forgot that as Christians we have at our command the greatest of powers—prayer.—We can pray for the success of the drive and our prayers will not be in vain, this we know. Let us all remember our school in prayer and ask a blessing on the furtherance of her work which will be made possible by the success of the drive. Remember, "Whatsoever ye ask, in My name believing, it shall be granted you."—M. H.

Somebody Moved

Strange as it may seem, a photographer had the courage to expose his camera to the P. L. C. faculty and student body last week. Although no dire results have been witnessed it is expected that the photographer's tripod will have a had case of rheumatism.

In producing the picture it seems that it is the customary procedure for the faculty to show up in "bold face type," as it were, in the foreground. The main entrance served as a background, and between these two extremes stood some hundred human beings representing the student body. What a picture! Giggles, ripple among the bashful while jaws work hard for the sustenance of sere and composure among the gum-chewers. The photographer counts one—two—as some one prepares for a sneeze, another blinks, a final—and—snap—it's all over. A wicked look from the photographer darts up at an especially guilty looking couple as he prepares for another snap shot. Then—"Alright, everybody ready? One—two—'Nope!'"

But what's the use, the same story always has been, is, and probably ever shall be—"Somebody moved." M. K.

On Laughing
 "There is no dignity in laughter," wrote an eastern newspaper man.
 We can all feel the force of this statement.

A school boy knows if he can make his teacher laugh he need not fear discipline.

Mind and Matter?
The High School defeats the College and the College humbles the faculty. That's what education does for a man. Well, well! And how come the Profs have one player who far outshines the rest?
By the way did you notice the umpire's cute curls and the balcony of admiring feminine gum chewers? Do Wrigleys advertise in our paper?

Kismet.
It couldn't happen. Ah, no, fate would be kind. She was so unprepared. Hurriedly she searched her pockets, then, resolutely looked up at the professor. He looked at her questionly. Her heart caught, missed a beat, and she was lost in a turmoil of emotion. Reason demanded that she remain composed but instinct demanded an immediate response. Instinct won! Suddenly uncontrollably her face convulsed, her shoulders heaved and in spite of reason intuition and inhibition she sneezed without the aid of a handkerchief.

COLLEGE BATTLES AGAINST FACULTY IN FAST GAME

As a penalty for losing the game to the high school the college men had to play the faculty fast five a game.

The game was fast (and hard on the faculty). The collegians had the edge over the "Red Granges of Basketball" throughout the entire game. Prof. Stuen is a man who knows mathematics and it seems as if he worked out his shots by mathematics because everyone tried for was a clear score. Ramstad was pounding around the floor—nuff sed. Ask Cap about the pounding part of it.

Ed Arthur who played with the faculty puffed up so that his hat had a few days rest. Haage, to scare the collegians, said before the game: "Remember, you are in my English class, fellows." Ringstad was in the game but ran out of wind and it was noticed he was not selling insurance the next day. Edwards, who has had exercise in playing the piano and trying to get the chorus to sing, played a fast game.

The collegians all played a better game than the faculty. Krangness and Glasco played excellent ball and accounted for most of the points against the faculty. The score resulted 23-38.

The lineups:
Faculty: Ed Arthur, Stuen, Ramstad, Haage, Edwards
College: M. Kreidler, Knutzen, Krangness, Anderson, Glasco
Subs: Faculty, Ringstad for Ramstad; college, Oyen for Anderson.

SCORE IS CLOSE BETWEEN COLLEGE AND HIGH SCHOOL

Teams picked from the high school and college battled to a 24 to 27 score in favor of the high school on November 26, 1925.

Getting off with a good start it looked as if the collegians would have the game cinched. Glasco dropped basket after basket but only to have the high school men spoil things by coming in and raising their score in the second half. Frenchy, playing for the high school, surprised even himself by dodging all guarding and dropping the ball into the basket like a veteran.

High point man for the collegians was Sid Glasco, having 15 points to his credit and Carl Coltum for the high school with 11 points.

The lineups:

M. Kreidler	F	Nyman
Krangness	C	L. Kriedler

WHO WAS THE FIRST MARTYR?

Boom! Bah! Boom! Brrr! Bang! Crash!

Sounds were proceeding from the basement—inexplicable sounds. What was needed?—help! The sounds became more terrific and terrible. Did someone hear a moan, then a screech, a yell and then thunder, a roar and then bells?

Mysteries—why even Poe could not have described such sounds. Some students became paralyzed in their rooms, others started down the stairs prepared for the worst. At last the hero among them cautiously descended the last stairs leading to the chapel room whence issued the sounds, and peered in. Suspense—Ah!—what a relief—but what a sight! It was the beginner's orchestra trying to tune up.

Calm your nerves. The sounds will be more frequent from henceforth because the beginners are determined to learn—and they will!

FAST GAME OF BASKET BALL PLAYED HERE

A fast and rough game was played between a tentative first team of P. L. C. and the Eagle Bottling Works of Tacoma on Friday, Nov. 27, 1925, in which the collegians were defeated.

Poor passing and fumbling the ball were undoubtedly the cause for the defeat. The Bottling Works played a fast and clever game. The final score was: P. L. C. 18; Bottling Co., 23.

Sid Glasco distinguished himself for the collegians and Warnick for the Whistlers.

The lineup: P. L. C. Eagle Bottling Works
Haldon F Sanderson 2
6 Bann F Colman
4 Parr G C S Glasco 13
9 Warnick G J Glasco
4 Olwang G A Swinland 3
Substitutions: F. L. C. Nyman for Sanderson.
Eagle Bottling: Camer for Haldon.

"What is the difference between capital and labor?"
"Well, I can tell you. Now, if I loaned you ten dollars that would be capital, but if I tried to get the ten back that would be labor."

pendant on believers. God accomplishes much through them and it is a comfort to know that He is with us in life. (4) Believers have many opportunities. What talents we have, we should pass on to others. We know that we can't be saved by our deeds but we know that we will be rewarded for our good works. The success of a real life is this: "To freely give and freely receive." As God gave us His Son, so He will give us what' else we need.

How to Attain
Your whole thought current must be set in the direction of your life purpose. The great miracles of civilization are wrought by thought concentration. Live in the very soul of expectation of better things, in the conviction that something large, grand, beautiful, will come to you if your efforts are intelligent, if your mind is kept in a creative condition and your struggle upward to your ultimate goal of success.
