

Slewfoot Sue, Pecos Bill To Be Crowned

'Silver Stampede' Set for Tonight

by Gerry Craver

Slewfoot Sue and Pecos Bill are to be crowned as honored guests tonight at the AWS tolo, "Silver Stampede," from 6:30 to 9 o'clock at the James Sales Grange. Girls, be sure to bring your tickets as there will be a drawing to determine which of the 85 couples will be "Sue 'n' Bill." Forthose who couldn't attend the tolo due to the limited number of tickets, this is official "girl-ask-boy" week-end, say co-chairmen Carol Bottemiller and Evelyn Quasa.

A ranch theme will be carried out by brands, saddles, leathers, and wagon wheels. Slewfoot Sue will serve as chow, and cowbells will announce dinner. The girls attending will wear cottons, and the boys will wear jeans or corduroy. "Pecy-grafs" will be taken before or after the tolo for those cowgirls bringing their 50 cents. Chow will be pups in blankets, chuck wagon beans, crisp chitas, dessert cream, cold cider, and fried cakes.

Chestey Sells Tickets

Janet Chestey, chairman of ticket sales, was helped by Carolyn Anderson, Jackie Fisher, and Norita Nelson. The tickets are blue and silver boots made by Marilyn Force, who also made blue and silver programs in the form of cowboy hats. In charge of decorations were Jeri DuBall and Barbara Johnson, who were aided by Meg Evanson, Kitty Murphy, Anne Marie Nelson, Joy Nelson, and Carrie Paulsen.

Chuck wagon chiefs are Dee Dea and Miriam Stoa, while Barbara Johnson will act as hostess and hand out programs. Planning games are Anita Hillesland and Naomi Knutzen; they will be helped at the tolo by Pat Ahrens, Bob Bills, and Dave Steen. Dana Blount heads the cleanup work.

Fleming to Give Reading

Before-dinner music will be provided by Dave Knutzen at the piano. Ed Larson, master of ceremonies, will introduce the program consisting of: Jan BonDurant playing her uke and singing; a reading by Bob Fleming; a trio of Meg Evanson, JoAnn Hanson and Audry Hart; and Ted Meyers on the guitar. After the program Ed will lead in group singing accompanied by Meg Evanson.

Chaperones will be Miss Wickstrom, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Nicholson, and Miss Rouze.

Council To Approve Future Artist Series If Proposal Passes

An Amendment to the ASPLC constitution will be voted upon by the students in Chapel on Tuesday, December 11. The amendment was proposed at the chapel meeting of November 28, and concerns the regulation of the Artist Series.

To quote from the amendment . . . "All expenditures exceeding one hundred dollars ($100) shall be subject to the approval of the Student Council . . ." This change would result in the Student Council having power over the Artist Series committee, which is composed of five students and four faculty members and selects the artists who are to appear throughout the year. The amendment is entitled Article IX, Section 5.

The entire amendment follows: "All money received by the Artist Series committee in lieu of ticket sales shall be used to fulfill the yearly financial obligations incurred by the decisions of the Artist Series committee in conjunction with the promotion of the Artist Series program.

All expenditures exceeding one hundred dollars ($100) shall be subject to the approval of the Student Council during the regular school term, or when school is not in regular session, by those in who power has been invested. This power shall be delegated specifically by the Student Council.

Surplus money in the Artist Series fund at the end of the school year shall remain in the Artist Series fund and be used in perpetuating and improving the ASPLC Artist Series."

Plans Underway For Lucia Bride Festival

Three years ago a yuletide season tradition was started here—the Lucia Bride Festival. This year the festival will be held Friday, December 14, at 8 p.m. in CUB. Candidates will be chosen from girls' dorms and clubs; voting will be next week and there will be three finalists.

This is an old Swedish custom that stemmed from Saint Lucia. In Sweden it is said that the Lucia Bride, dressed in white with a red sash, gets up early and serves the people of her household on the appointed day each year.

The word from the Spurs, who sponsor this festival, is that it will be even more authentic this year as far as costuming is concerned and there will be an array of Scandinavian "goodies."

Spur Teddi Gulhaugen reports the following are candidates that have been turned in to her so far: Pat Ahrens, Joy Nelson, Eunice Peterson, Mary Ann Lovtang, Marie Ostroot, Hazel Hansen, Suzanne Griggs, Gail Holte, and Hildred Hansen.

Yule Decorations To Go Up Monday; All-School Party Will Be Held

It is time to deck the halls with holly once more! Blue Key Club is in charge of the Christmas decorations on campus this year, with Edgar Larson and Richard Schwindt as co-chairmen.

Decorating of five campus buildings will begin on Monday at 7:30 p.m. Three Blue Key members will be in charge of each building. The students are to report to their assigned buildings where materials will be supplied by the student body.

After the campus has been decorated there will be a program in CB-200. This is an annual event and consists of singing Christmas carols, entertainment and refreshments. The song leader and master of ceremonies will be Chuck Durbow.

On the program there will be Al Ostroot, Audry Hart and Meg Evanson singing; The West Hall Sextet; Touette Erickson and Eddie Larson; Barbara Standard, Janet Turman; and a trio consisting of Sandi Iabbe, Nancy Iverson, and Hazel Hansen. The co-chairmen in charge of refreshments are Beverly Hamquist and Jo Ann Stenwick, and in charge of clean-up are Myrna Hall and Patty Wik.

German, French Clubs Plan Christmas Party

German and French clubs plan to have a combined Christmas party, which will take place in the South Hall lounge on December 12 at 7 p.m.

Recently the German Club held its initial meeting during which the following new officers were introduced: president, Shirley Melman; vice-president, LaVerne Stowers; secretary-treasurer, Carole Jensen; social chairman, Dave Knutson; John Summers and Ken Torvik.

'The Chimes Ring Out'

If you are pleasantly awakened from your studying during the next few weeks, it is not the boys' dorm thinking it is spring but the Organ Guild knowing it is Christmas.

The newly organized Organ Guild plans to play chimes during the early evening hours before Christmas according to Ginny Prochnow, president of the Guild.

Other officers elected are: vice-president, David Dahl; secretary-treasurer, Gail Hendrickson; ICC representative, David Lunde; and the advisor is Mr. Newnham.

Also planned are monthly concerts for the guild and anyone who is interested in coming. The purpose of the group is to further knowledge of students in organ, to become more acquainted with the music used, the different types of organs and to deepen the appreciation for this instrument.

If you are one of those who stand in awe by the many peddled structure in our chapel, you will be interested in following the activities of this group.

Girls Earn Dates

When asked, "What do you think about tolos?" many different answers were given. Among them was Frank Waterworth's "What is it?"

What is a tolo? On checking with the Tacoma Public Library, it can be learned that tolo is a Chinook Indian word meaning to bark or win. All we can say about this is that some girls have worked hard for this date. (The Pacific Northwest is the only place where this word is used).

Some other responses were: John Mitchell: "I don't know her!"

Alang Stang: "Are they contagious?"

Beverly Ackers: "We'll see!"

Art Ntrheim: "I like girls better; Mama warned me about tolos."

Eugene Hapala: "One way to get even."

Karen Osgard: "Nice after you've asked!"

Ardeen Iven on: "It doesn't taste good!"

Jeanette Rich: "Not so good when you haven't enough nerve to ask who you do want; and the person who you've got enough nerve to ask, you don't want."

Robert Rolko: "Chickamaun say, 'Tolo stink! Al La Ph Re Tolo.' In other words, 'Tolo not so fun but after Tolo, you have more fun.'"

"Campus Traffic"

Many factors enter into the traffic problem which is present in this country. Considering the whole country, in 1955 there were three times as many motor vehicle deaths as in 1921. 38,300 people were killed in 1955. This is not the whole story. There were 62,000,000 motor vehicles on the streets last year, six times as many as in 1921.

An analogy may be drawn from these facts and applied to our own campus. A few years ago traffic on the streets surrounding the campus was not a problem, just as in 1921 the traffic problem in the United States had not reached the proportions that it now has. Now in 1956 the situation has changed on our campus. The number of automobiles here has increased so greatly in the last year that the administration of the school has found it necessary to issue parking permits.

There definitely exists a traffic problem here and just as definitely there is a lack of safety measures to help alleviate it. In fact the problem has been heightened even more in recent weeks. The asphaltting of Wheeler and Garfield streets has resulted in greater hazards than were there before. Speeds are now possible on the streets that were impossible to reach without shaking your car apart a few weeks ago.

A situation that could easily cause a pedestrian accident is present in front of the College Union Building. In order to get to the CUB from the main campus, students must dodge between parked cars and cross Wheeler without the benefit of a cross-walk. Adding to the danger is the fact that some people think that Wheeler street is a quarter mile drag strip.

Wheeler street should have a maximum speed limit corresponding to the conditions present, clearly posted, and a cross-walk should be painted across the street near the CUB. It would also help if the cross-walk were lighted. Whether would-be jaywalkers would take advantage of the cross-walk is another problem to consider, however.

You do not have to be a traffic engineer to realize that something should be done about campus traffic problems. Until something more definite is done we offer this advice:

Pedestrians: "Don't walk out of this world."
 Drivers: "Lose a minute and save a life."

Only One Reason for Rejoicing

by Earl Liesener

The spiritual darkness which had covered the earth for four thousand years was about to be rolled away. The way to pardon and peace with God was about to be thrown open to all mankind. The head of Satan was about to be bruised. Liberty was about to be proclaimed to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind. Salvation was no longer to be seen through types and figures but face to face.

The stone of God's kingdom was about to be set up. If this was not "good tidings," then there never were any tidings that deserved the title.

This is the ultimate meaning of Christmas. If this is not our reason for rejoicing this Christmas season then it can only be said in all seriousness and sincerity that we have miserably failed at grasping its sole significance.

Quietly and peacefully in the middle of the night, with no worldly pomp or ostentation, the Supreme Revelation of God was proclaimed by the angels to the lowly shepherds. Without doubt, questioning, or hesitation they made haste to pay homage to Him. Returning to their flocks they proclaimed to everyone the message, "Christ the Savior is born." Those that heard marveled at what the shepherds had told them.

In the same spirit of faith, love and obedience may we pay homage to Him. May we proclaim above the competing cries of the commercial world the season's stirring message that "Christ the Savior is born." For only they are truly happy this yuletide season who can enter its exclusive meaning and with their hearts subscribe to its inspiring spiritual content.

Pac. U Meets Lutes Here Saturday

The Lutes seem to have the Bakers faked out of position as high scoring Chuck Curtis breaks for the basket in last Saturday's game with the AAU champs. Jim Van Beek (number 35) is shown drawing Baker Ron Olson out of the play. In background is Dean Parsons, along with Les Whittles and PLC's Nick Kelderman.

PLC Visits CPS Tuesday For 4th Practice Game

Bakers Outscore Gladiators, 87-75

Pacific Lutheran meets Pacific University here Saturday night at 8 p.m. Pacific University of Forest Grove has won two games and lost one so far this year, and is expected to provide ample competition for the Lutes. Pacific University was beaten by the Lutherans, 84 to 64, last year.

On Tuesday, the Gladiators travel across town to the College of Puget Sound, where they will take on the Loggers in a non-conference contest. In their last meeting the Loggers lost to PLC by ten points, 88-78.

The fighting Pacific Lutheran College hoop squad put a scare into Seattle's Buchan Bakers Saturday night before they succumbed to a late volley of baskets by the 1956 AAU champions by a score of 87-75.

Chuck Curtis, Jim Van Beek, and Roger Iverson matched basket for basket with the ex-collegians quarter throughout the first half with the score changing hands at least a dozen times in this windup of the TAC Tourney held in the PLC gym. With but three seconds remaining in the first half, the Bakers had the ball out and Les Whittles passed to Charley Koon at mid-court and Koon's shot swished the net for the Bakers' 40 to 39 halftime edge.

Lutes Go Ahead

PLC came back after the halftime intermission to go ahead 41 to 40 by virtue of Jim Van Beek's jump shot from the right corner, but enjoyed this lead only momentarily as the Bakers went on an eight-point scoring binge. PLC narrowed the margin to three points late in the third stanza only to be met with an onslaught of baskets by big Dean Parsons and Ed Halberg the ex-University of Oregon star.

The Bakers' deadly shooting and ball control finesse iced the game in the final five minutes as they kept a comfortable margin of eight to ten points.

Chuck Curtis led the PLC scoring parade with 18 tallies, closely followed by pit-sized Roger Iverson and Jim Van Beek with 16 and 14 points, respectively. Charlie Koon's 21 points were high for the Bakers while the ex-University of Washington ace Dean Parsons was racking up 15 points.

CPS Falls

In the first game featuring Central Washington and College of Puget Sound, Central's Coordes and Keith Tonkin tallied 17 and 16 points, respectively, to lead the Central Wildcats to their 87 to 53 win over the CPS Loggers. Central led at halftime by a 35 to 23 margin. Don Mosseid's and John Barnett's 11 points each contributed to the Loggers' cause.

Lutes Wallop Central, 80-47

From the time that Roger Iverson sunk one of his jump shots in the first few seconds of the game, Pacific Lutheran led all the way to defeat Central Washington 80-47 in the opening tilt of the basketball season, on Friday, November 30.

At times during this tournament game, Coach Harshman had in an entire second string, but the Lutes were still too powerful for the Wildcats, who completed only 25.7% of their field goals.

Through the snagging of rebounds by Chuck Curtis, the hurry, scurry of Rog Iverson, and the lay-ups of such men as Nick Kelderman, PLC racked up a 41-21 lead at half-time. It was Curtis who led the team in scoring, and at the final buzzer he had 18 points.

Time Out

Harshman Speaks Evergreen Conf. Pirates Tough

by Ted Siek

Basketball is the subject and athletic director Marv Harshman the principal authority on what is likely to be in store for the Lutes, defending Evergreen Conference champions. Mr. Harshman was impressed by the Lutes in action last weekend, especially since the Gladiators had been on the practice floor only about fourteen times prior to the first game. "Certain phases of play must be improved," the head coach emphasized, "particularly defense and rebounding." The Lutes were outdone on the boards by the Baker team last Saturday. Lack of experienced reserves who would be ready to replace the first five without loss of team efficiency is another weak spot. "With the exception of Tom Sabli, most of the reserves could stand game experience, which they will pick up playing JV ball," Harsh stated.

Whitworth is conceded by the conference dignitaries (coaches, faculty representatives, assistant coaches and cheer leaders) to be the chief threat to dethrone the Lutherans. Four of the Pirates' starting five are back in the fold at the Spokane college, plus 6-11 Phil Jordan who returns after two years' absence from college. Jordan will be eligible only for the last six games on the conference schedule, meaning the tall one will play against PLC at Spokane, but not here.

The Eastern and Central coaches have stated they will be improved over last year, and John Heinrich expects his Loggers to rise from cellar position. Good luck, John (tongue in cheek). Western has a transfer from the University of Washington, 7-foot Gary Nelson, but plans not to use him this season; this may indicate that the Western Vikings don't expect to terrorize the league any. The strategy in this move is that they will preserve the eligibility of the 7-footer for a more prospective season.

What material OBC has is partially obscure; however, they will have the services of one man who played on the Canadian Olympic team.

That the conference will be stronger and better balanced this year is the consensus of opinion among conference coaches.

ODDS AND ENDS

In the current Olympic Games held in Melbourne, Australia, the United States' most able representative in the javelin throw, Cy Young, posted a mark of 245 feet. This is only 17 feet farther than John Fromm's best throw; the Olympic winner threw 281 feet, smashing the Olympic record by over 40 feet; but this would be a story in itself.

Here are some interesting scores: Whitworth 61, WSC 60; Gonzaga 72, WSC 53.

Ron Billings, PLC's Little All-American three years ago, is playing on the Korean Service champion football team.

'The Sharp Trio' Needles Nordholm

by Bev Benson

No, they are not beavers but true porcupines. (Girls, don't put these in your windows if you're trying to advertise your cuddling inclinations).

This interesting picture, "The Sharp Trio," has aroused much comment. The consensus of opinion seems to be "I like it." Mr. Hook's circular composition of the three porcupines shows a sensitive use of color, circles, and straight lines, a good management of what could be difficult subject matter. Also it reveals dramatic and highly developed watercolor technique.

Walter Hook, professor of art at the University of Montana, definitely knows how to control his media, has used sundry subject matter in his prodigious painting career thus tending to alleviate the plateau on which many painters find themselves. To stray even further away from this plateau, he also does sculpturing, having a sculpturing piece in the 42nd Northwest Artists' Annual in Seattle. In case you haven't noticed Hook's diversified paintings, take a stroll into the coffee shop and small dining room. Enjoy yourself! Then, if you feel so inclined, notice the reasonable prices and procure your favorite as a Christmas gift. Needless to say, Mr. Roskos will, with warranted proficiency, be most happy to answer your questions.

Not wishing to restrict himself to the traditional campus teddy bear, Eric Nordholm, speech instructor, is the new owner of "The Sharp Trio."

Music Department To Present Annual Christmas Concert Dec. 16

Choir of the West, chorus, and orchestra will present the annual Christmas Concert to students and public Sunday, December 16, at 3:30 and 8 p.m. in the CMS auditorium.

This year, the Choir and chorus, en masse, and accompanied by the orchestra, will offer selections from Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," and Handel's "Messiah," including the "Hallelujah Chorus." Gunnar J. Malmin will direct.

Added to the program will be separate Christmas numbers by each choral organization under the leadership of Malmin, Choir, and R. Byard Britts, chorus. Gordon Gilbertson will direct the orchestra in further selections of Bach and Handel during the prelude, offertory, and postlude. Soloist Roxie Bergh will offer the soprano recitatives from the "Messiah." As is done each year at these concerts, Dr. S. C. Eastvold will read the Christmas gospel and the audience will participate in informal singing of favorite Christmas carols.

Six Attend Press Clinic

Six students, representing the Saga and Mooring Mast, attended the Evergreen Press Association Clinic last weekend at CPS.

Janet Wiger, Duane Moe and Paul Brewitt of the Saga, were at the two-day meet along with Rolly Oppehl, Don Kvamme, and Pat Rankin of the Mooring Mast.

The Press Association expanded this year and now includes, besides the schools in the Evergreen Conference, Gonzaga, Seattle University, Seattle Pacific and St. Martin's.

Janet Wiger, editor of the Saga, spoke at the clinic on "Year Book Deadlines Can Be Met." A seminar, "News Peg Your Feature Stories," was led by Pat Rankin and Don Kvamme led a discussion on "The Role of the Campus Newspaper in Local and National Affairs."

Paul McNabb, editor of the "Gonzaga Bulletin," was elected at the meet to serve as director of the association for the coming year.
