SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS MADE ON CAMPUS

Many improvements were made in the physical plant during the summer months.

Significant changes took place in the administration building where a new suite of offices was installed and other revisions made. Additional offices and an information desk were installed in the part of the foyer, adjacent to the public relations are located together. These include: admissions, alumni, church relations and news bureau. The girl at the information desk will greet and direct visitors to the campus. She also will take incoming calls for faculty personnel when they are in class and relay messages to them upon their return.

An office for the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and a reception area were installed adjacent to the registrar's office. The small conference room was made into an office for the director of the School of Fine & Applied Arts. The bookkeeper's office was sound proofed and made into an accounting machine room. The Dean of Students complex was revamped to make room for the new assistant who was added this fall.

Other shifts in the building have the business manager in the quarters formerly occupied by the vice-president for development, who in turn took over the quarters occupied by the dean of the CAS. To provide more room for central services the mimeograph room was shifted into the former alumni office.

Warden Frank Haley (Librarian) reports several changes in the library. Cell block L-104 now houses stacks and study spaces. We won't try to explain the setup; you'll have to see it for yourself. Our

THE ROUNDTABLE

CONGRATULATIONS to Wayne Aller, psychology, and best wishes to his bride, nee Sharon Cecelia Farry. They were married Aug. 31 at University Presbyterian Church, Seattle. Sharon attended the U.W. and will finish her college work at PLU. Stanley Elberson (speech) underwent emergency surgery for appendicitis in Ashland, Oregon last week. He is due back this week. Stan played several roles in plays at the renowned Shakespearean Festival in Ashland this summer.

CONGRATULATIONS also to Peter Ristuben (history) who completed the work for his doctorate at the University of Oklahoma this summer. He passed his final exam and the degree will be conferred soon.

WELCOME BACK to Walter C. Schnackenberg (history) after a year of study in Germany, Lucile Johnson (English), year of study at the U. of Colorado; and John Larsgaard (student congregation), year of study at Pacific School of Religion....also to Carl Spangler (French-Spanish) who returns after a year of teaching at Grove City (Pa) College.

NE E. KNUDSON (English) spent six weeks at the Bread Loaf School of English at Middlebury (Vt.) College. She returned home with her roommate, Virginia Seaburg, and Virginia's parents driving on the cross-Canada highway.

THE KNIGHT LETTER

This new publication of the University will be published weekly during the school year by the Department of Public Relations. Purpose of THE KNIGHT LETTER is to keep members of the faculty and staff informed about campus events, administrative action and policies, and other news of specific interest. Items for inclusion in THE KNIGHT LETTER should be turned into the PR office, Room 132, Adm. Bldg., or phone Ext. 300, by Wednesday of each week.

ROMANCE DEPT: Dee Arko, who is joining the physical education staff, recently became engaged to Larry Poulsen. Both are Class of '62.

AL BRANCO, grid star at WSU last year, is assisting Roy Carlson on the football coaching staff. Al will be working on his fifth year in education here. Also on the grid staff for the second year is Bob Colleron. Bob has just returned from a six month's hitch in the Army and is teaching at Mann Junior High School in the Clover Park School District.

GEORGE ROSKOS (art) worked on several projects this summer including the sculpture and construction of a steel fountain for a Lakes District estate. Paul Vigness (history) presented a portrait of his father, to St. Olaf College (Minn.) at commencement time in June. Lars Kittleson (art) did the oil painting of the former St. Olaf president.

ANNA ENGE, bookkeeper in the business office, completed her 20th year at PLU August 16. She started working here in 1943.

ARTIST SERIES TICKETS AVAILABLE NOW

Tickets for the Associated Students Artist Series are on sale in the business office. The series opens with a concert by the Portland Symphony Orchestra Oct. 25. Other programs include ballad singer Richard Dyer-Bennett, Dec. 3; UPS-Tacoma Symphony Orchestra with Leonard Rose, cellist, Feb. 20; and the San Francisco Ballet, Mar. 13.

ENROLLMENT INCREASES

It is expected that PLU will have the largest group of new students in its history again this year. Approximately 600 freshmen and transfer students are expected when the orientation program begins Sunday, Sept. 15 according to J. E. Danielson, director of admissions.

ATHLETIC EVENT PASSES

All full-time members of the faculty and staff are entitled to a pass for athletic events. If you have not received yours, stop in at the public relations office and pick one up.

CAMPUS PLANNING NOW UNDERWAY

You may have noticed three well dressed men with blue prints, notebooks and brief cases around campus the last few days. You will be seeing them from time to time during the next few months for they are members of the firm of Quentin Engineers, Ltd. of Los Angeles which has been engaged to study our campus and to come up with a master plan for future development.

The men presently involved are: George Wickstead, director of planning; R. Graham Stubblefield, planner; and Mark Suleiman, engineer. Wickstead produced the master plan recently adopted by Luther College (Iowa).

Out of this study by QE will come recommendations for the location of the new facilities planned for the university in the $7.5 million development program recently adopted by the Regents.

rapidly expanding collection gained much needed space so that it can be used more effectively by faculty and students.

The interior of the Chapel has been painted. The lovely light pink on the walls and ceiling contrasts with deep rose trim to give the auditorium a bright, cheery look.

The paint brush was applied liberally in other spots on campus by the maintenance staff, and most noticeable is on the exteriors of the married housing units.

The new baseball diamond was seeded and clay hauled in for the base paths and pitcher's mound.

Black top paving was applied on the parking strip in front of the gymnasium and in front of Ivy Court.

The senior class gift...combination staircase and amphitheater...was installed on the banks of the hill west of the Science Hall.

So hats off to the Campbellmen, contractors, administration and all others responsible for the "new looks" on campus.

FACULTY RETREAT OPENS IN SEATTLE MONDAY

The annual PLU faculty retreat begins Monday at the Edmond Meany Hotel in Seattle. Principal speakers at the meeting will be Dr. Hubert C. Noble, general director of the Commission of Higher Education of the National Council of Churches in the United States of America, and Dr. Margaret Lorimer, a sociate professor in the Office of International Research, Michigan State University, will be the principal speakers.

President Dr. Robert Mortvedt will deliver his annual address to the faculty at the closing session Wednesday afternoon.
