Saga Carnival Plans Under Way--Severtson

"Saga Carnival plans are well under way," Erv Sivertson, general chairman for the event which is scheduled for March 19 and 20.

Petitions are now circulating for king and queen candidates. The deadline for these petitions is today, March 5. These should be turned in to either Joyce Genz or Erv Sivertson.

PLC Hosts Nurses' Ass'n

Pacific Lutheran College will be host to the Educators, Administrators, Teacher and Consultant section of District 3 of the Washington State Nurses Association, according to Miss Eline Kraabel, director of the department of nursing.

The group will meet Monday, March 8, at 3:30 p.m. in the faculty lounge.

Featured at the main speaker will be Dr. James Stauffacher, who will speak on "Construction of Test Items."

The EATC group meets once a month at different hospitals and schools. The March meeting is the first time the association has been at PLC.

The purpose of the association is to propose and promote a higher standard of nursing among schools of nursing, and also to study mutual problems.

The senior girls majoring in nursing will act as hostesses for the afternoon.

LADY LUTES MEETING

Make-up and hair-styling will be discussed at the next meeting of The Lady Lutes, next Tuesday in the upper SUB at 7:30 p.m.

Two evening programs will be staged in the chapel auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock each evening. Friday night's coronation program will feature the Kord Kings quartet, the college chorus and Al Cummings of radio station KING in Seattle. Saturday evening the Lettermen's Club will present the annual Minstrel Show. Joyce Genz is chairman for these events.

About 20 clubs, organizations and classes have stated their intention of sponsoring booths at the carnival in the Gym. More booths are needed, and any interested group should see Dick Nodtvedt immediately. Booth construction will be much easier this year due to the purchase of canvas curtains which will serve to separate the booths.

Ted Carlstrom is co-ordinator of prize soliciting. Working with him in prize solicitation are Richard Stuhlmiller, Dave Wold, Roger Aarstad and Don Ogard in the South Tacoma area; Dan Rose, Brian Price, Burt Johnson and Gordie Storm in the Puyallup area; Bud Lester, Walt Ball, Bob Haycraft and Don Gaarder in the downtown Tacoma area; Leland Roseburg and Joel Reitz in the Lakewood area; Paul Running and Dean Hurst in the Lincoln area; Roy Berg, Don Krantz, Rod Bashore, Mike Griffin, Al Silling and Neil Munson in the Parkland and Pacific Avenue area.

REV. GORDON C. RUUD
Mission Emphasis Speaker

Debators Go To Linfield

The senior debate squad and six members of the junior squad traveled to the Linfield forensic tournament, McMinnville, Ore., on March 3 to defend their championship. The PLC squad has won a senior sweepstakes for the last three years.

Those on the senior squad are John Osburn, Eugene Perry, Robert Lundgren, David Hestenes, John Rydgren, Edith Engel, Janet Carson, Joyce Genz and Joan Werle.

The junior squad is comprised of the following students: Shirley Busching, Ruth Heino, Constance Hustad, Judith Bureker, Tom Swinland and Stuart Gilbreath.

The team entered the following forensic fields: One-man debate, Oxford debate, extemporaneous speaking, oratory, interpretive act.

Hanneman, Ruud Are Mission Week Speakers

Dr. Emil Hannemann and Reverend Gordon C. Ruud, two men from the mission field, will be the speakers during Mission Emphasis Week, March 7-13. Both speakers have returned from their missionary work in New Guinea and Madagascar, respectively.

Meetings will be held each evening during this week with fully planned programs including the speaker, devotions, films, and entertainment. They will be held in the upper SUB.

H. S. Tourney Is Successful

The First Annual High School Debate Tournament was held here on Feb. 26 and 27. More than 200 students from 20 high schools in the state participated, with debaters from Stadium, Puyallup and Sumner high schools winning awards.

"We were very pleased with the results of the tournament, and gained our objective by starting and finishing on time," Professor Theodore O. H. Karl, tournament director commented.

Many of the visitors expressed their delight at the friendliness found on the campus.

"The tournament was as successful as we hoped for, and it was more fun than work," Joan Werle and Janet Carson, committee chairmen, said.

The students took part in the following forensics: Lincoln-Douglas debate, Oxford debate, interpretive reading, extemporaneous speaking, after dinner speaking, oratory and impromptu speaking.

"I would like to express my thanks to the Spurs, APO, and those students and faculty members who found time to judge the teams," Professor Karl said.

Lettermen Present Minstrel Show

The Letterman Club's newly elected officers have their work almost all cut out for them with the coming Minstrel Show for the Saga Carnival. Those holding office for the spring term are: President, Vern Hanson; vice president, Phil Nordquist; secretary - treasurer, Larry Eggan; sergeant-at-arms, Iver Ellason; and I.C.C. representative, Jack Hoover.

The group sponsors a candidate for Saga Queen, this year's being Janet Wigen. Those seeing the previous programs can see why this is usually an important event and should not be missed. Black-faced, the chorus sings familiar numbers led by director Paul Steen. Art Wolden is again the "Interlocutor" and end men are Bob Ross, Garnet Lund and Phil Nordquist.

There are 25 in the group, with Pete Lavaas and Bill Borden as the expected soloists for the evening. Much preparation has gone into this show since they have been practicing five days a week, plus some night rehearsals. Vice president Phil, "We're planning some special arrangements of the songs you love to hear."

The purpose of Mission Emphasis is to promote and enlighten the aspects of the missions of our churches and all churches.

The theme will be built around the key verse, John 19:16: "And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold and one shepherd."

As organizer of Mission Emphasis Week, Bobbie Birkedahl stated, "Students of a Christian College will be the future leaders in their Churches as well as in their community and they should understand the importance of missions both here and abroad." She continued by quoting Wilbur Smith, who said, "We pay out more money a month to keep an aircraft carrier afloat than all the Churches donate for all missions."

Displays will be set up around the campus illustrating different mission fields and peoples. Students working on this committee under Bobbie Birkedahl are: Louise Carlson, Elmore Duncan, Mary Estergreen, Pat Gahring, O. B. Fjelstad, Owen Flatberg, Bill Ketelle, Evelyn Peterson, Beverly Pine, Clarence Potratz and Fred Schmidt.

J. P. Carlstrom, Louise Larson and Larry Peterson are in charge of the advertising.

Dr. Hanneman and Rev. Ruud will speak in the dormitories and have private conferences with individuals so desiring. By having two speakers, the speaking engagements will not be quite as limited.

Ogaard Takes First Place in Art Show

Awards of $5 for first prize and $3 for second prize were given at the Omnibus Art Exhibit held last weekend. The students received awards for their displays in the following four classes:

Oils—Don Ogaard, first prize; Larry Peterson, second prize; Jerry Slattum, honorable mention.

Sketches—Ida Jo Gronke, first prize; Roberta Birkedahl, second prize.

Water colors and tempera—Marjorie Reed, first prize; Anwar Zeinal, second prize; Milton Hogen, honorable mention.

Pastels — Jerry Slattum, first prize; Joanne Schwarzwalter, second prize.

J. P. Carlstrom, Kathleen Hinrichs and Darlene DeJardine judged the exhibit.

THE KORD KINGS QUARTET, well known in the Northwest as both a very entertaining instrumentalist group and a top barber shop quartet. They will be featured at the SAGA Carnival Coronation program Friday night, March 19, in the Chapel Auditorium.

Build Character During Lent

Lenten season began Wednesday. Did you add something to your life or are you merely going to quit doing something, like some habit that has almost become a part of you.

Yet how much more effective it would be to do something positive, instead of that negative self-denial. Try writing home every week instead of every other week, being pleasant with your roommates—they're people, too.

OR how about smiling and saying hello to that somber looking person who looks lost.

Re-evaluate your personality—take your weak points and try to make them strong. Let's insert the positive and really Build for Character, beginning now.

CONGRATULATIONS:

To the "Omnibus" directors and to those who helped make the "Omnibus" another success.

To the Choir for their excellent singing.

To the cast in "Comedy of Errors" for their brilliant performance.

To the band and chorus for their fine program.

To the speech and music departments.

Fall Regional APO Convention

PLC will be host for the Fall Regional Alpha Phi Omega Convention, March 26, 27 and 28.

The convention at Washington State in Pullman was the Spring Regional Convention and opened Friday evening with registration and closed following a banquet Sunday noon.

The APO members from PLC who attended the convention were Jerald Sheffels, Dean Hurst, Paul Running, Don Neilson, and Jim Johnson. They met with APO members from Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana.

You have probably noticed a few men running around the campus with blue books tied around their necks; or, you have heard them singing to the girls in the dorm early in the morning. These are the Alpha Phi Omega pledges who are doing their pledge duties this week. In addition to getting their books signed by all APO members, and singing, they are going to repaint the lines on the tennis courts and paint the flag pole on Saturday.

New Study Rooms Are In Library

The "catecombs," formerly the old law book rooms on the first floor of the library, will be open next week for group and couple studying. In this redecorated room, a new feature has been added which will insure the students of complete privacy. The room will be divided into four separate cubicles by shelves containing periodicals. This unique plan should make it an inviting place for students who wish to study with one another. Mr. Haley plans to shift all the back numbers of periodicals to this room on Campus Day, when student help will be available. The current periodicals are to be moved from the Current Periodical Room to the Bound Periodical Room. The student help of the library has undertaken the project of binding the old periodicals which are now located on the fourth floor. The maintenance men are steadily working on the first-floor room which will soon be used by the students as the "catecombs."

From the Clubs . . .

ORGAN GUILD Monday night was entertained by Miss Jane Powers of the Tacoma chapter.

Playing several selections on the Hammond organ, Miss Powers showed the possibilities of the organ in both classical and popular music. Refreshments followed.

MU PHI EPSILON Tuesday evening in the C.M.S. Library installed their 1954-55 officers as follows:

- President, Onella Lee.
- Vice President, Jeanne Friske.
- Treasurer, Faith Beultman.
- Recording Secretary, Jewel Kelly.
- Corresp. Sec., Kathy Gulhaugen.
- Chaplain, Mary Ensberg.
- Warden, Nancy Turman.
- Historian, Marguerite Thompson.
- Chorister, Jeanette Foss.
- Alumni Sec., Jo Schwartzwalter.
- I.C.C. Represent., Connie Hanson.

German musical games were played Thursday evening when the GERMAN CLUB met in the CMS Choir Room.

President O. B. Fjelstad reported that talks were given on the outstanding German composers and some of their music was played. Marlene Stuhlmueller was in charge of the refreshments.

APO is sponsoring a Student Directory for the benefit of the students. It has the home address plus the school address and telephone number of each PLC-ite. The price is thirty-five cents for anyone who wants one. Members of Alpha Psi Omega urge everyone to get one before they go to press.

Debaters Go To Linfield Tourney

Other individual events they entered in the tournament were after-dinner speaking, impromptu speaking, radio speaking, salesmanship interviews and congress.

The debaters left the college at 3 p.m. Wednesday and will return in the early hours Sunday morning. Stanley D. Elberson of the Department of Speech traveled with the squad as an official judge.

Proletarian Profiles

By Steen-Roe-Utzinger

Bouncing across the tennis court in a catgut sarong the object of controversy for this week came dimly in view. Upon closer examination her ensemble appeared not unusual, for it was a close weave and gaily colored. Parting the strings, the mass of tennis balls bore a close resemblance to none other than the face of Christmas Carol (We Three Kings of Orient Is) Bottemiller.

Having Jackelyn Kramer for a mother had no effect on the molding of Carol's avocation, for though she was born with a silver tennis ball in her mouth, her interests were directed elsewhere. Her first love game was her downfall, because, deep, deep down inside Carol was not the sentimental type.

Packing her gym bag with her few belongings Carol set forth to seek her fortune. Three hours later, she donned her sneakers and resigned herself to the perfection of an invincible backstroke. Lady Luck smiled on Carol for the Vanport flood of Nineteen-ought-sixteen struck at that moment and endangered her old Milwaukee homestead, freeing her to roam with a passing Gypsy band.

After winning first prize in the Gypsy Band Division of the Rose Parade, Carol realized she had no talent for growing roses, and so she bought a little Cadillac and sought a college to become president of.

Bottemdollar realized soon, that before presidency, must come some sort of an education. Carol scraped through the entrance exams at P.L.C. by cribbing on her personality test, and was admitted last fall as a conditional student.

Best of luck, Carol! Hitch your little Cadillac to a star and always remember that the very least among us shall be the very most.

We wish to report in closing that the tattoo contest is still awaiting any spark of interest on campus.

JUST PLAIN GUNKUM

By Nancy and Ed

In this lull between festivals, plays, carnivals, speech tournaments, parties, and world-shaking games, we gather our waning strength and vitality to steel ourselves for the next tidal wave of extravagunkum, hoping not to be drowned by cultcher. . . . What other college student body could have the opportunity of seeing Tom Swindland on the Chapel stage struggling to keep a celestial birdcage from collapsing like a lawn chair and denting his cardboard halo?

Mr. and Miss PLC and all the ships at sea: This column feels that it is its duty to report to the student body a current emergency. A guard has been posted in the chapel balcony during chapel sessions as the result of a persistent rumor that a disgruntled faction from Old Main plan to force their way in and open fire on the house with hairpins and rubber bands in the cause of a Free Old Main. Stay on your guard. These are troubled times. . . . Cheery note: Only 41 days until Easter vacation.

Our own Mme. Joanne Schwarzwalter, leading soprano with the Mongoose Creek Opera Company, had the great pleasure of terrorizing the clerks at Ted Brown's in search of the music for Mimi's Farewell Aria from "La Boheme" (recommended to her by some broken-down music critic). Mme. S., whose artistic temperament has no patience with inefficiency, worked them over for a good half-hour. As she made her 52-cent purchase and sailed out the door, one of the disheveled clerks breathed a sarcastic sigh and said—in tones of rancid vinegar, "Well, farewell, Mimi." . . . See youse.

Seventy-eight Attain Honor Roll

"From the Bench"

By Ted and Walt

The 1953-54 season has now become history, and it's too bad we lost; but there are several games which will be remembered for a little while. We have picked several standout performances which have high-lighted the past season; the list is not in any particular rank and is probably incomplete.

1. Vern Hanson's seven straight long field goals in the second CPS game at Parkland. (CPS 65, PLC 64).
2. Garnet Lund's 27-point attack on Pacific University, the individual high for the year.
3. Don Koessler's deadly shooting against CPS the first time at Parkland. Don scored 24 in the 71-62 victory.
4. The outstanding backboard work of Phil Nordquist against the nationally ranked Seattle U. Chieftains at the Civic Auditorium, Seattle. Phil snared 18 rebounds from the hands of taller opponents and poured in 20 points besides. (SU 82, PLC 64).
5. Team defensive play in holding Western Washington to 38 points on their own floor. This was the lowest any team was held to among conference teams.
6. The hustle and ball hawking of Ron Billings when the Lutes just missed upsetting the Whitworth Pirates at Parkland in the regularly scheduled game three weeks ago. (Whitworth 57, PLC 54).
7. "Come from behind" play of the Lutes last Saturday which led to a 68-65 win over favored Gonzaga. The Lutes outgunned the Bulldogs 42-34 in the second half.
8. Defense on Jerry Vermillion by Jack Hoover in the Gonzaga contest. Jack held the Northwest scoring whiz to a couple of field goals.
9. The dramatic double-overtime victory at CPS. Jack Sinderson crushed the Loggers 80-77 with a jump lay-in and a free shot while the last seconds ticked off. In a similar situation, Sinderson hit the hoop with 9 seconds remaining and the score tied at Eastern Washington, giving the Glads a 62-60 win.
10. Effective clutch shooting by veteran Bob Ross throughout the home stretch. Bob's howitzers from 20-30 feet out were a vital part of the Lute attack because it made the defense come out instead of clogging the middle.

Phil Nordquist rates as the most improved ball player in our book. For the first 13 games Phil averaged a cool 4.2 points per game, but he suddenly caught fire in the home Central game (here) and from there on out he averaged 14.5 points a game.

Ski Club Travels To Stevens Pass

After many attempts to take a ski trip to Stevens pass, the Ski Club will leave from in front of old "Main" Saturday morning, March 6th, at 7:20 for a day of skiing at Stevens pass. Original plans were to spend the weekend but no lodges could be obtained.

Breakfast will be served early for those going on the trip. Jerry Peterson will be driving one car, with Miss Lucille Schmieder as club advisor. Others interested in going and who have cars are urged to contact Lorin Bloom, president.

Prices for the trip will include $1.25 for gas to be paid to the owner of the car. At Stevens the rates for the ski lift will be $1.50 for the rope tow and $2.00 for the chair lift. Of course only the daring or experienced ones will go on the chair lift or are there other fools?

Let's have a big turnout Saturday morning. Anyone interested in going is welcome and urged to go.

Pirates Are Victorious Over Lutes

Whitworth College downed Pacific Lutheran 69-50 in the NAIA final before a nearly packed house at Parkland Tuesday, and are now in Kansas City, Kansas, for the national tournament.

The Pirates were hot from the start, with Phil Jorden starting things off with a hook from the key. The hustling Lutes, however, stole the ball several times in the first quarter. At that time it was anybody's game. As the gap started to widen, the Harsh-men went into a full court press and sagged as many as three men on the 6-foot 10-inch Jorden. At half-time the favored Pirates had a shaky six-point lead, 28-22. Nine out of 21 shots from the field went in for the Pirates in the first half—42%; while the Lutes shot a weaker eight out of 26 for 30% efficiency.

The Pirates hadn't cooled off nor did the Lutherans warm up to the hop in the last half of play. No one on the PLC team was calling quits, the hard pressing Lutes were whistled down frequently as play continued. Jorden, Ray (Lefty) Beach, and Eickerman added to the Pirate total.

Billings and Ross fouled out while the Whits lost three men on five personals in the rugged contest.

Seniors Ron Billings, Bob Ross and Garnet Lund played their usual hustling game for PLC in their final appearance in the gold and black uniforms. Ross, high man for PLC, had 11, Lund, 8, and Billings, 5.

Tuesday night the Pirates were as good a team as any that has played on the Lute maples, and this includes the Seattle U. team. Their defensive play equaled their fine offensive attack. Phil Jorden's blind passes were as amazing as his hook shots. They should be one of the strong teams in the NAIA at Kansas City.

Phil Jorden and Ray Beach led the Pirates with 24 and 16 points respectively, while Ross and Nordquist turned in with 11 and 9 for PLC.

Lute shooting fell off to 20% in the last half of the contest but Whitworth shot a dazzling 45% in the same time.

You kissed and told,
But that's all right.
The one you told
Called up last night.

Lutes Edge Falcons; Defeat Gonzaga

By Dwaine Brandt

GONZAGA

PLC gymnasium, Saturday, Feb. 27. A hustling PLC team erased one of two barriers standing between them and Kansas City Saturday night as they staged a fourth quarter rally to edge Gonzaga University 68-65.

In doing so, the Lutes reached the finals against Whitworth in the District 1 NAIA finals, which was played Tuesday.

The victory was especially sweet to Lute fans as it recalled a similar close game with Gonzaga last year in the NAIA finals in which the Bulldogs defeated the Lutherans in overtime.

The Glads started out as if they would have an easy time of it. They missed several shots but emerged at the end of the first quarter with a 12-7 lead. However, in the second quarter the game was a complete reversal. During this quarter Gonzaga pressed PLC full court. This bit of strategy by Coach Anderson of Gonzaga proved unusually effective, and for a while it seemed as though the Lutes might fold. Along with these defensive tactics, the Bulldogs scored 24 points to take a 31-26 lead at the half.

It was that "good third quarter" that finally got the ball rolling for PLC. Gonzaga's second platoon employed a zone defense in the third quarter, no doubt to foil the Lute offense which is supposedly geared on a man-to-man basis. Coach Harshman, anticipating such a move, had worked the Lutes against a zone all week. It paid off! Vern Hansen and Bob Ross hit the basket like they had played against a zone all season. As a result, the Lutes trailed by only 48-50 at the end of three.

It was anybody's game from here on out. The Lutes went ahead 56-52 only to have the Bulldogs surge back into a 60-60 tie. Jack Hoover hit a beautiful hook shot to make it 62-60, and the Lutes were never behind again although Gonzaga twice managed to tie the game.

With less than two minutes left, Phil Nordquist hit the "clincher" for PLC. Ron Billings added some insurance with two points from the charity line and the Lutes stalled out the rest of the game. The loudest cheering of the season must have been recorded in those last two minutes.

Phil Nordquist was high man for PLC with 15 points. Lund and Ross had 12 for runner-up position. Jerry Vermillion, one of the leading scorers of the Northwest, was held to 13 points by PLC.

"Hey, dad, I'm home from school again."
"What did you do this time?"
"I graduated."

SEATTLE PACIFIC

The Pacific Lutheran Gladiators closed out their 1953-54 regular season play on a happy note at the PLC gym Wednesday night, downing Seattle Pacific 77-70.

In rounding out their 17-9 record, the Lutes took nine out of their last 10 games. The game was tight for three quarters before the Glads could subdue the stubborn Falcons. The Lutes had held a 19-17 quarter lead, but were behind at the half and third quarter marks by 36-34 and 50-49 scores respectively.

The Falcons gave the Lutherans a scare at the fourth quarter opened by going ahead 55-49 before the Gladiators could score. At this point, however, Bob Ross and Garnet Lund began to find the range and pulled the Lutes out of the fire. Ross was the Lutes' top scorer with 18 points, nine of which came in the fourth quarter. Nordquist and Lund followed with 14 and 12. Lund also scored eight of his 12 points in the Lutes' fourth quarter rally.

Gene Wigens, tricky Falcon center, kept SPC in the ball game with some outstanding shooting.

The Lute Jayvees made it a clean sweep by beating the Falcons' seconds 65-55. The "Texan" was high with 13.

Faculty Leads In Intramural Games

Intramural Director Mark Salzman announced that teams would be able to hold their volleyball practice sessions on Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Tacoma is the defending champion in the league but the Faculty loom as strong contenders this season. See the schedules on the bulletin boards in the Gym, Old Main and the SUB. Be sure and turn out when your district is scheduled.

Also, the table tennis tournament is still in progress. Be sure you play those matches. See bulletin boards for the schedule.

Don't forget that if you are going to enter the Free-Throw Contest you must shoot those one hundred free-throws before Saturday afternoon.

Larry Sieker Invents Dead Battery Cure

From out of the depths of the alchemist's attic a new revolutionary potion has been produced. The proving ground for this elixer for batteries is the physics lab, under the direction of that great exponent of the slow charge, Larry Sieker. After months of painstaking routine tests, Larry has announced that the dead battery will soon be as obsolete as folk gaming, box tops and late leaves. The exact electrochemical process could not be related at this time but the benefits are available to all and sundry. This is an absolutely cost-free offer and is available to all who have a dead battery on their hands. And how do they receive these benefits? Simply direct yourself to the physics lab and ask for Larry, who will supply you with the necessary directions and solution. This product of scientific world is not to be confused with "additive" which was investigated by the Senate, but is a new unmarketed formula.

The reason I'm writing this poem On women—is simply to state That you've got to wed 'em to know 'em And then it's always too late.

Correct your faults by observing those found in others.

The wolf at the door often starts a man climbing.

State AWS Conference Mar. 5, 6

The state conference of Associated Women Students in the state of Washington will be held March 5 and 6 at Seattle University. All the college women from the state will be represented there. From P. L. C. will go Miss Wickstrom, the advisor, the following members of the cabinet: Barbara Thorsen, Luwanna Huber, Marlene Stuhmiller, Jan Whitmore, Annie Stewart, Lucille Lentz, and Jean Hansen, as well as any other girls who are interested in attending the conference. The meetings will consist of discussions of mutual interest among the various colleges such as problems and their solution, money making propositions, financial matters, etc. The purpose of a conference like this is to see what the A. W. S. is doing and has been doing in the other colleges in the state of Washington.

America's Knights of the Sky...

*The Spartan Band that held the pass,
 The Knights of Arthur's train
 The Light Brigade that charged the guns,
 Across the battle plain
 Can claim no greater glory than
 The dedicated few
 Who wear the Wings of Silver
 ... on a field of Air Force Blue.*

EMBLEM OF THE CHOSEN FEW

For Fellowship... High Adventure... and a proud mission... wear the wings of the U. S. Air Force!

● In days gone by, young men in shining armor ruled the age. Today, a new kind of man rules the age—America's Knights of the Sky, the Aviation Cadets! They rule from on high, in flashing silver-winged Air Force jets... a gallant band that all America looks up to! Like the Knights of old, they are few in number, but they represent their Nation's greatest strength.

If you are single, between the ages of 19 and 26 1/2, you can join this select flying team and serve with the finest. You will be given the best jet training in the world and graduate as an Air Force Lieutenant, earning $5,000 a year. Your silver wings will mark you as one of the chosen few, who ride the skies in Air Force jets.

As an Aviation Cadet, your kingdom is space—a jet is your charger and your mission is the highest. You are a key defender of the American faith, with a guaranteed future both in military and commercial aviation.

Join America's Knights of the Sky, new men of a new age. Be an Aviation Cadet!
