228 Lutes To Get Diplomas

Dr. Harry K. Newburn, president of the University of Oregon, will give the commencement address.

An honorary doctor's degree will be conferred on the Rev. Konrad Koosman, of San Marino, Calif. Mr. Koosman, who is president of the California district of the American Lutheran church, will give the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning.

An academic procession from the Student Union to the gymnasium will precede the graduation exercises. The faculty and senior class will comprise this procession.

Dr. S. C. Eastvold, president of the college, will preside over the program which will open with the singing of the hymn, 'Lead on, O King Eternal.' Dr. J. P. Pflueger, professor in religion and philosophy, will give the invocation.

Choir Will Sing

Two groups of songs will be given by the "Choir of the West," under the direction of Gunnar J. Malmin. The songs include "Beautiful Savior," with Glenna Nelson, Portland senior as soloist; "Savior of Sinners," with Charles Martin as tenor soloist; "Wake, Awake," and "Nunc Dimittis." Dr. H. L. Foss, chairman of the college board of trustees, will speak in honor of four faculty members and will present them gifts of appreciation from the board. These include Dr. Philip E. Hauge, dean of the college who is completing his 30th year on the faculty; the Rev. A. W. Ramstad, professor in chemistry, who has been on the faculty 25 years; Dr. George

It's Senior Day at PLC

Today is Senior Day!

For the first time in the history of PLC the seniors are participating in activities which they hope will become traditional on the PLC campus.

This morning in the Gym the seniors presented to the student body at large an impressive chapel program. The presentation, largely musical in nature, featured vocal solos by Dick Svare, Jean Hesla, Mahlon Reed, and Lowell Wolhueter; a girls' trio made up of Helen Kylo, Evangeline Ordahl, and Glenna Nelson; organ and piano solos, respectively, by Al Kluih and Duane Fods; a violin solo by Eugene Ahrendt; addresses by A. W. Ramstad, Del Zier, and Lloyd Cleven; and a processional by the senior class in caps and gowns.

Following the program the seniors gathered at the SUB to plant a rhododendron. A proclamation was read. The shovel used will be hidden and must be found by the present junior class in order to be used by them in their planting next year. It will be identified by the senior class colors tied to it (blue and gold).

This afternoon the seniors will journey to Lake Kilarny for a picnic. Hal Jensen and Milt Fuhr are in charge of the arrangements.

The planning committee for Senior Day consists of Dick Svare, Emely Sholseth, Edna Haglund, Duane Fods, and Lloyd Cleven.

Olsen's 'A Doll's House' Being Staged

By Bob Brass
A woman have the right to her husband and children just as she wants to become more of an individual than she is allowed to be at home? Those of you who saw "A Doll's House" last night may find the answer, but those of you who have yet to see this production will be able to meditate upon the performances will be given tonight tomorrow evening beginning at 8 p. m. in the SUB.

The action of the play revolves around the home life of Torvald and Helmer, played by Stan Elber and Joyce Taylor. Nora is in a doll's house; she is treated by her husband as she was by her father. Nora has her problem the major one being trying to pay off a loan she had contracted to her husband's life without his knowing about it. She endures a hard day period, during which time Torvald, the man who holds her in thrall, threatens to blackmail her. He is portrayed last night by Dick Sware, who will also be cast in the same role Saturday evening. Bob Brass will be in this role tonight. Her double cast roles are Morry

Hendrickson and Don Graham as Dr. Rank; and Bev Wigen and Lee Bishop as Anna, the children's nurse. Last evening saw Don and Bev in their respective roles; tonight Morry and Bev will be seen in their parts; tomorrow evening it will be Don and Lee.

The roles of the children will be enacted by Jimmy and Paul Olsen, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Olsen; and Margaret Ronning, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ronning.

Also cast are Marguerite Eastvold as Mrs. Linden, Kathy Reule as Ellen, and Phil Thorleifson as the porter.

Phil Falk, well known senior and president of Alpha Psi Omega, student dramatics honorary, is student director of the production. Mrs. Pauline Schaffer is faculty director.

Jon Ericson is business manager, Andy Worley stage manager, and Howard Shull technical advisor.

Henrik Ibsen, 19th century author of "A Doll House," was Norway's greatest playwright and one of the world's greatest writers.

Refreshments will be served between the second and third acts. Adults and students will be charged 85 and 50 cents respectively.

PUBLISHING next year's yearbook, the Saga, will be (left to right) Karl Bachner, business administration major, as business manager; JoAnn Nodtvedt, education major of Parkland, associate editor; and George Torgeson, education major of Seattle, editor-in-chief. These three will hold office next year by virtue of their victories in the annual ASB elections May 9 and 10.

Awards Given 3 Girls at Tea

By Harriet Olsen

The AWS Award Tea held May 18 was a success. Beverly Wigen, Mistress of Ceremonies, extended a welcome and introduced Mrs. Holstad, who gave a greeting.

Annie Isaksen rendered a vocal solo before the introduction of the Ladies of the Kiwanis by Miss Hedahl. The Kiwanis scholarship award went to Amy Brown, PLC education major. Helen Hedin received the award presented by the Women of Rotary, and Clarice Gunderson won the AWS-sponsored scholarship.

Amy Knutson played a piano solo. Then the new AWS officers were announced and installed by Doris Johnson, retiring president. The new officers are Joann Nodtvedt, president; Phyllis Isvick, vice-president; Naomi Roe, secretary; Mary Lynn Myklebust, publicity chairman; Roberta Schoessler, social chairman; Hazel Johnson, ICC representative; and Marion Cummings, treasurer.

Kay Lucas then announced the new Tassels—members of the senior women's honorary. The girls chosen were Doris Harvey, Pearl Jacobsen, Amy Brown, Helen Hedin, Beverly Keller, and Lee Bishop.

Background music during the tea was played by Helen Hedin. Dorothy Keebler was tea chairman.

They were the principals in a Tom Thumb wedding given at a special college program when they were 5 years old. Larry and Topsy were "married." Marilyn was a bridesmaid and Dick was an usher. (When Helen Ramstad was born, her father called his sister-in-law and said, "Topsy has arrived." Ever since then she has been called Topsy, in slight variance from Topsy).

When the war came the quartet was separated for the first time. Professor Svare was appointed head of the Lutheran Service Center in Bremerton. So Dick took his high school work there. The other three took their first year of high school at PLC.

We've Got The Finals Blues, Oh Man!

By Hal Grandon

A professor rumbled ominously a week ago, "It is later than you think." The ponderous, intricate apparatus of the students' cerebral cortex, partially atrophied from months of disuse, groans heavily into action. The students' mind, formerly a pleasant blank, focuses on one shocking word. He recoils. "Oh, no! Finals! But it is true.

The tension on the campus mounts as students realize how close they are to disaster. The light and power company is forced to cut in another generator as the electrical consumption in Parkland rises 78%. Students who have not seen the light now see the dawn. Optimists fill sheets of paper with cabalistic signs proving to themselves that with six A's they can raise six D's to six C's.

Test week stands in front of the students like a maze. They struggle with their studies for they know that if they can find the pathway through the maze they will find three months of carefree sunshine on the other side.

Curtain Call Elects Worley President

Howard Worley was elected next year's president of Curtain Call Club at the last meeting. Other new officers are Andy Worley, vice-president; Edna McCall, secretary; Lee Bishop, treasurer; Harriet Olsen, Inter-Club Council representative; Bob Brass, parliamentarian; Rosella Albrecht and Margaret Kutz, executive officers. Miss McGregor was chosen advisor.

Reiman Elected Jr. Class Representative

At an election held on the campus Wednesday, Don Reiman, present sophomore class president, was chosen to be next year's representative to the student council for the junior class.

Others vying for votes were Ralph Hatlen, Don Ellertson, Rosella Albrecht, and Otto Reitz.

Seniors Grow Up Together

Graduation exercises at Pacific Lutheran college Sunday will mark the end of an amazing parallel for four members of the senior class.

Four of them are professor's children. All were raised in Parkland. They are the youngest in their respective families. They have gone through life together, except for brief interludes the first grade. And they are close friends.

This quartet of graduates consists of Larry Hauge, son of Dean and Mrs. Philip E. Hauge; Helen Ramstad Kylo, daughter of Chemist Prof. A. W. Ramstad; Marilyn Pflueger, daughter of Religion and Philosophy Prof. J. P. Pflueger, and Richard Svare, son of German and Norse Prof. T. O. Svare.

Three of them plan to follow in their fathers' footsteps by going into the field of education. Professor Ramstad's daughter married a PLC football star, Eldon Kylo, last year, but stayed on to finish her college work.

Thanks To A Fine MM Staff

This is the last issue of the Mooring Mast for the current school year. It is only proper to pay tribute at this time to those people who have contributed so much of their time and efforts to the publication of this newspaper.

It is true that interest in journalism has been singularly lacking at PLC during the past year. Many have felt that the Mooring Mast has not been everything that it should be, especially in reference to its size. This is a justified criticism.

However, it should be realized that any deficiency in the MM has been due, not to the efforts contributed by those serving on the staff, but to the absence of effort by the non-participating section of the student body. The MM staff deserves nothing but thanks and appreciation for its many hours of industry on behalf of PLC's weekly publication.

Although everyone who has contributed to the MM in any way during the current semester deserves more praise than he is likely to receive, a few individuals are particularly deserving of recognition. Leading the list is Jim Kerns, who as sports editor has been the workhorse of the staff. Jim has written well over 200 inches of printed copy during the last four months. This adds up to approximately 26,000 words. Also standout contributors have been Arthur Arp (religion and music coverage); Bob Belland (sports); Shirley Molter, Carol Schuler, Marlene Schwenke, Harriet Olsen, and Bob Cook (general news). These people have made publication possible by their consistent participation.

Carrying the biggest load of the all-important ad soliciting work has been Robert "Strech" Ferguson, energetic PLC junior. Also turning in standout performances on the business staff have been Kay Schell, Marion Cummings, Bob Gregorson, and of course, manager Phil Falk.

As stated earlier, many others have helped, but these mentioned people are the backbone of the staff. They are deserving of nothing but credit for their efforts. Thanks a lot.

Also the editor-in-chief of the MM wishes to give himself a pat on the back. It has been necessary that he spend an average of 25 hours per week on the publication of this paper.

From Campus Toddlers To Graduates

down in 1944, the girls went to Lincoln in Tacoma and Larry went to Clover Park.

Leaders in College

In college they have been campus leaders. Three of them were listed in the 1950 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." All of them have been members of the "Choir of the West." Three of them have been in college plays.

Topy and Dick have been campus favorites for their duets sung with a Norwegian accent. Both of them gave senior voice recitals this spring.

All of them have been officers of college organizations, and all have been voted into honorary and service organizations.

They have always been active in the work of their church, Trinity Lutheran, in Parkland. Dick's father was pastor of the congregation for 18 years prior to the war. The fathers' of Marilyn and Topy are also ordained ministers. All four students have been president of their Luther League.

Also Close Socially

In their social life they are a closely knit quartet. They walk into one another's homes without knocking and make themselves right at home. "Dick always eats everything in sight," claims Topy.

When Topy was married last summer, it was a matter of course that the other three were invited to be in the nuptial party.

After graduation Dick will leave for Norway to study one year at the University of Oslo. He plans to teach Norwegian when he returns. Larry and Marilyn will also go on for graduate study. Larry is a speech and history major; Marilyn wants to teach chemistry.

Their graduation will mark the end of an era for children of veteran PLC professors. Larry was preceded by a sister, Topy by a brother and sister, Marilyn by five brothers, and Dick by two brothers and a sister.

66 Glads Placed In Teaching Jobs; 12 In Tacoma Schools

Sixty-six students graduating in education already have been placed for teaching positions next fall, it was announced today by Anna Marn Nielsen, director of teacher training. In addition to these, 12 alumni have been placed in new posts for next year.

Almost every elementary teacher in the senior class has been placed, but there are fewer posts open in junior high and high schools throughout the state. "The reason for this," Miss Nielsen explained, "is because the high school student populations have decreased due to the low birth rate in the mid-thirties. In about five years the demand for teachers on this level will begin to increase."

Twelve will teach in Tacoma, including Millie Anderson, Beverly Baird, Mrs. Martha Ball, John Buffalo, Richard Colburn, Elmer Erickson, Mrs. Jean Fritts, Betty Loucks, Charles Musto, Eleanor Nelson, Evangeline Ordahl and Donald Williams. The Shoreline district in North Seattle will get eight graduates, including Clifford Allen, Phyllis Anderson, Ole Bakken, Beverly Busch, Lloyd Cleven, Milton Fuhr, Shirley Rovang and William Saas.

Five will teach in the Franklin Pierce district (Parkland area). These are Mrs. Elithe Adams, Beverly Keller, Mrs. Beatrice Konop, Robert Richardson and Delbert Schafer, Aberdeen will get four, including Jean Hesla, Kenneth Hornby, Harold Klett and Richard Weathermon.

The other seniors and where they will teach are Signe Baker, Holden; Jack Bateman, Tumwater; Gordon Birkliid, Lake Stevens; Ernest Cementina, Puyallup; Edna Christianson, Enumclaw; Mrs. Patricia Crouse, Fife; Howard Davis, Bethel; Edwin Dorothy, Vashon; Gerald Faaren, Olympia; Carl Fynboe, Clover Park; Fred Geiger, Centralia; Jack Goetz, Oak

Habegger, Nylander Establish Records

Eastern Washington's awe-inspiring track team scored 54½ points to defend the Evergreen Conference track title in Vancouver, British Columbia, last Monday afternoon. St. Martin's tiny, but mighty spectacular six-man track team placed second with 24 counters. Third place went to Whitworth with 21 points and PLC was fourth with 20. Strung out second was Central with 17½, Puget Sound 12, British Columbia 9, and Western Washington 8.

Pacific Lutheran led the record book department as Hank Habegger tossed the shot 46 feet 2 7-8 inches to set a new record, and Jim Nylander set his own conference record in the broadjump by leaping 22 feet 4 inches.

Speaking of records, the first four places in the discus were at least 5 feet over the old conference mark. First four places were Bob Scott of Whitworth, Hank Habegger and Oliver Magnuson both from PLC, and Frank Smith of UBC.

Probably the most outstanding athlete of the meet was Pete Muir of St. Martin's. He took firsts in the low hurdles and 220 yard dash, and seconds in the 100 yard dash and the broadjump for a total of 16 points.

Other winners included Fred Carpine of Eastern in the mile, Jack Fabulich of CPS in the 440 yard dash, Gordon Petrequin of Whitworth in the 880, Pat Whitehill of Eastern in the high jump and Eric Beardsley of Central in the pole vault.

Ballers Dump Martin's 4-0

The Lutheran diamond men clinched second place in the Western Division baseball standings with a 4-0 shutout win over the St. Martin's Rangers, Monday at Olympia.

Knutson, Lute lefthander, allowed only three hits over the seven innings; while MacNamara, Ranger twirler, limited the Glads to five bingles.

The long blow of the afternoon was a home run by Bill Stringfellow. This win gave the Lute's a league record of 10 wins and 5 defeats for the season.

Sport- Lite

By Kerns

Pacific Lutheran's 4-0 win over the St. Martin's baseball team Monday brought the 1949-50 sport season to a close for Gladiator athletic teams.

Many Glads looked forward to a bad year in Lute athletics after the football team played through a disastrous season during which they garnered two wins, two ties, and four defeats. The team's record for the two previous years had been 12 wins, three ties, and two defeats.

The won-lost record was overshadowed by the spirit and drive shown by such veteran performers as Jack Carbone, all-conference guard, Jack Guyot, captain and a second team all-conference choice at fullback; Bud Hatley, tackle; as well as Blaine McKanna, Gene Strandness, Lowell Knutson, Steinar Gorud, Vern Morris, Hal Fallstrom, Bob Dinsmore, Jack Justice, Rick Daniels, Roy Hagen, and John Jurkovich.

Newcomers Shine

Newcomers Glenn Huffman, Jack Johnson, Art Swanson, Hank Habegger, Harvey Burger, Ray Green, Oliver Magnuson, and Chuck Forsland showed promise of fine teams to come.

Bob Brass, J. R. Olsen, Gene Shaw, Bill Stringfellow, and Leland Amundson played a great deal of ball for the Lute eleven during the 1949 campaign. Hard-luck Harry Malnes, letterman halfback, spent most of the season on the sidelines nursing a shoulder injury and a bad ankle received in his gridiron activities.

The hoopsters, under the tutelage of Marv Harshman, had one of their better seasons. Although they placed fourth in the Evergreen standings the team had a season's record of 19 wins and seven defeats. High Harry McLaughlin was selected for the all-conference team for the fourth time. He set a new Pacific Coast scoring record of 1,875 points in four years of collegiate play.

2nd In Western Division

Lettermen performers Harry McLaughlin, Gerry Hefty, Del Schafer, Bert Wells, John Jurkovich, and Fritz Rapp formed the nucleus of the squad. Leland Amundson, Glenn Huffman, Jack Johnson, and Duane Berentson were the outstanding newcomers. Huffman and Berentson started in many of the games.

The baseball season came to a close with the Lutes in second place in the Western Division standings. The season's record was 12 wins and 6 defeats. Lowell Knutson, Wes Saxton, Marv Kasemeier, and Glenn Huffman handled the pitching chores.

The track team placed fourth in the conference meet. Two Lute athletes set records—Jim Nylander and Hank Habegger in the broad jump and shot put respectively. These men, along with Louie Loper and Oliver Magnuson, will participate with the Evergreen conference all-stars against the Northwest Conference all-stars in a post season track meet.

An inexperienced golf team defeated St. Martin's 9-6 in the final match of the year to gain their only win. PLC was not represented in the conference golf tournament.

Gabrielsen Leads Netters

Lou Gabrielsen, playing his fourth year as Lute number one man on the tennis team, lost his only matches of the season to John DuPriest of CPS, the Evergreen Conference champion. LeRoy Spitzer, Kennewick freshman, held down the number two spot. Jack Bowron, number three man, was lost to the team due to injuries incurred in an automobile accident. Ted Karl, speech professor, handled the tennis coaching chores this season.

ATHLETIC DIRECTORS Marv Harshman (left) and Marv Tommervik (right) flank Paul Reiman, president of PLC's Letterman's Club, who holds the beautiful Cliff Olson Sportsmanship Trophy. The club has donated the trophy to the Evergreen Conference to be awarded each year to the member college outstanding in sportsmanship. Central Washington College Education was the first recipient of the trophy.

Letterman's Club Presents Trophy

The beautiful Cliff Olson Sportsmanship Trophy, donated to the Evergreen Conference by PLC's Letterman's Club, was awarded last year to Central Washington College Education at a banquet held in the Hall on the University of British Columbia campus.

Brass, PLC shot-putter, presented the trophy to Leo Nicholson, athletic director, in recognition of the fine sportsmanship shown by the Ellensburg college at athletic competition during the current school year. The Cliff Olson trophy, named in honor of PLC's well-known former athletic director, will be a perpetual trophy and will be presented each year to the most deserving conference member.

Tracksters Dump Western and UBC

By Bob Belland

The Lute track team baffled the experts when they took a somewhat surprise victory from Western Washington College and the University of British Columbia, at Bellingham May 13.

The final score was PLC 76, Western 51, UBC 36. Two-event winners were Hank Habegger in the shot and discus, Harold Anker in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and Bob Belland in the high and low hurdles. Possibly the day's most fascinating race was the mile in which PLC's Duane Ulleiland fought off UBC's Bob Piercy for three grueling laps.

The alumni group backing UBC athletics, climaxed the Evergreen Conference track, tennis, and golf finals. All participants were invited to attend. Athletic awards for the entire school year were presented at that time.
